RIGHT PAVING.
President Pechin struck a popular subject when he brought paving before the Commercial Association. The topic was strongly handled by gentlemen who are authorities on paving.

It was brought out that either vitrified brick or asphalt block pavement can be put down with good sidewalks, curbs and gutters for about $50,000 a mile. Either makes a good pavement.
It has been the experience of four out of five cities that they have lost enough in putting down cheap pavements to well-nigh pay the cost of laying permanent and durable ones. Roanoke is already getting her experience in this direction. The macadam on the principal streets of Roanoke is not of a character to impress the public with its durability.

According to the figures presented last night, $65,000 will pave Campbell street, and Salem avenue from Roanoke to Nelson, Railroad avenue from Henry to Nelson, and Nelson, Jefferson, Henry and Commerce from the railroad to Kirk and Church streets. In other words the business area can be paved for this sum.
The nucleus can be formed for thorough paving.

If the adjoining property owners be assessed two-thirds the cost, the sum named will represent the city's own expenditure on three times the area.
Three miles of pavement would be put down for that amount of money from the city treasury.

President Pechin was right when he said that there should be no attempt to scare the people with talk of 110 miles of streets. Ten miles of paving will place three-fourths of the population of Roanoke within one block and 95 per cent. within 500 feet of improved streets.
What is to be done must be done right.

THE REGISTRATION.
THE TIMES publishes this morning the full text of the bill providing for the re-registration of voters for Roanoke.
Beginning with the 25th of April the registrars will sit in each ward for five successive days and register voters.

The act provides specifically, however, that this act does not prevent any qualified voters from registering on regular registration days as provided by law.
It seems to be the plain purpose of the act to provide five special registration days for the accommodation of voters over and above the regular registration days provided for in the general law.

It will be well, however, for all citizens to bear in mind the special days and get registered. The coming election will mean more to the interests of Roanoke than any in the history of the city, and the citizen who doesn't turn out and vote deserves to have the weak apology for a city government which springs from such neglect.

GOOD MONEY.
The signs of the improved condition of business in Roanoke are visible on every hand. Two hundred thousand dollars will have been disbursed to workingmen in wages within the month by the end of March.

This money will largely go into the pockets of Roanoke merchants, and THE TIMES modestly suggests that the best way to divert a rivulet of this mighty stream is to advertise in THE TIMES.

IF HENRY WATTERSON doesn't announce within the next twenty-four hours that he has hatched another Presidential candidate the unfeeling public will conclude that Henry's mouth is glued to a glass ring so tight that he can't even whistle.

ROANOKE'S rising generation believes in macadam. Its opportunities for a game of spring marbles are a revelation.

RADFORD.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.
News of Interest Gathered
About Town.

George B. Kimball, who owns large interests in several mills near Narrows, has leased the lumber yard of the Radford Land Improvement Company in the west ward, and has already begun to stock the yard with the best of lumber; eight car loads are now on the road.
This is a temporary arrangement, as a large party of Northern capitalists, with whom Mr. Kimball is associated, are expected here this week, with a view to establishing a large plant near the stove works.

Geo. B. Ott, of the firm of Cadwallader & Co., of Max Meadows, is in the city shaking hands with his many friends.

J. H. Woodrum, of the firm of Mason, Woodrum & Mason, was in the city today.

Geo. Donaldson, who was shot by Policeman Shanklin some days ago, is steadily improving, and his physicians are now sanguine of his recovery.

The Pipe Works is now taxed to its full capacity and it has been found necessary to open the third pit, which will be done the latter part of next week. Three large Northern orders are being filled and shipments of pipe made every day.

H. N. Austin, Radford's fine architect, has just completed the plans for the magnificent three-story brick residence of J. K. Dimmicks, which, for style and beauty, is hard to beat.

K. J. Proctor, who was summoned to Culpeper last week on account of the death of his mother, returned to Radford to-night.

A party of gentlemen from a Northern city will arrive in Radford to-morrow night to inspect the pipe made by Rad-ford's champion works, with a view to placing an order.

WHAT ROANOKE NEEDS.

A Citizen Makes a Number of Pertinent Suggestions.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES: Not long since I read in your valued paper some very timely suggestions from a number of the citizens of Roanoke what, in their judgment, was needed for the growth, prosperity and good of the city.

Will you kindly allow me a short space in the columns of your paper to say first that THE TIMES is doing a fine work for Roanoke and it should be held up and supported by every citizen of the town, as our daily papers are, or should be, the channels of information and correction.

If any official neglects his duty, let the people take it up through the press, as every officer is supposed to be the servant of the people. It is right and proper that they should be looked after by the people, given credit and encouragement if they do right, and censured and brought to the post of duty if they do not.

Now, it seems to me that the disorderly proceedings, or mobs as they are sometimes called, are entirely wrong, but there must be some cause for it. Is it not possible that our police is not vigilant enough? Or that the mayor is not as decided as he should be?

It seems to me that it would be better for all of us to live in a law-abiding city, and not have it necessary every time anything happens to sound the alarm and call out the military, and by so doing call out and excite the whole town, and the next day have it heralded throughout the land that Roanoke has had another lynching, or that the military was called out to disperse a mob.

Our police should be men who would not allow these mobs to take possession of the headquarters of justice. Something is very wrong, or the people would not see it necessary to turn out, and take the law in their own hands and cause this disgrace to be put upon the fair name of our city.

No good law abiding people want to live in such a place and those who are not here will not come. Let our mayor issue a proclamation against such proceedings, and instruct the police force and let them understand that it is their business to put down crime and protect the people and their property. And, furthermore, that it must be done even at the peril of their lives, or let them be put out and others put in who will do their duty, and not every time that a dozen men are seen moving at a hurried gate, ring the alarm bell and call out the whole city.

The writer has noticed some other things that does not seem right. For several weeks Campbell street has been closed, or at least a rope stretched from one side to the other, and cobble stones scattered along for many rods on what was intended as a sidewalk. Now it seems to me that it is hard enough for the people to have to plod over the irregular and muddy walks without having to pitch and tumble over a lot of stones six or eight inches in diameter.

A few nights since the writer, at a little after dark, was compelled to take the middle of the street. He had gone but a little ways before he brought up against the rope that was stretched across the street. If it has got to take from six to eight weeks to macadamize a little piece of street that ought to be done in so many days, let the men take one side at a time or a short piece that they can finish in a day and leave it at night so that people can get by without endangering their lives.

The people who are doing this work do not seem to realize that piles of large stones should not be left on the walks for persons to tumble over. It is about time that Roanoke began to put on the appearance and air of a city and throw off that of a country village.

HOW TO PAVE THE STREETS.

away and talk about it and thereby advertise the city. At present visitors take away with them mud and dust."
"I beg to call your special attention," said Mr. Wilkinson, "to the application of the terms heavy traffic and light traffic in what I have to say. The term heavy traffic means the use of a street paved by from 1,500 to 12,000 vehicles of all classes, but largely heavily laden, per day. The minimum number might be denominated medium heavy traffic, the maximum heaviest traffic.
The heaviest traffic street in Baltimore is Pratt, over which from 3,000 to 4,000 vehicles, mostly drays and trucks, either empty or heavily loaded, pass daily.
In New York there are streets over which 12,000 pass daily.

"It will at once be seen that even when Roanoke shall have attained the position, population and business anticipated by its most hopeful friends it is not likely to have upon its streets even what I denominate medium heavy traffic, so that in dealing with the pavement question you can safely assume that a pavement which will successfully endure a traffic of 1,500 vehicles for a long term of years, with the slight expense of maintenance, the first cost of which is moderate, sanitary, smooth and comparatively noiseless, is well adapted to your needs.

"Now if you can produce such a pavement in your own city and thus, at the same time, add an important industry to your already flourishing city, you will have accomplished two most desirable objects in one operation."

Mr. Wilkinson proceeded at length to advocate asphalt block as the best pavement for Roanoke, supporting this claim by letters and figures which carry weight with them.

President Pechin asked many questions of the authors of the papers, as did members of the board of public works, as to the cost of the pavements recommended.

The meeting was a most successful and interesting one, and should increase the attendance at future sessions of the association.

The Band Concert To-night.
The prospects are that the concert of the Machine Works Band at the Opera House to night will be largely attended.

A large number of tickets have been sold and others will be disposed of today. The programme of the entertainment was published in THE TIMES Sunday morning, and contains an excellent array of talent. The piano to be used on the occasion is of the celebrated Sohmer make, and will be furnished by the Hobbie Music Company.

A Former Roanoker Married.

An Interesting Sermon.

Presbyterian Church, preached an interesting description of his travels under which Christian workers labor in that country.

A large audience will doubtless greet Tabernacle to-night. He has been engaged by the Y. M. C. A. to deliver his famous oration on "Dr. Jekyll and Mr.

Hyde."

VIRGINIA NOTES.

The case of John T. Jarmans, administrator, against the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad for $10,000 damages, was concluded in the Circuit Court at Lexington, Saturday, the jury giving a verdict for $5,500 for the plaintiff.

Edward B. Wade, of Christiansburg, who fell down a shaft forty feet one day last week while prospecting for ore, died Saturday. He was a son of Capt. J. C.
Wade, ex-county clerk.

In the trial of Richard Campbell, in the County Court of Rappahannock, last week for maliciously shooting his wife at his home, near Woodville, the jury failed to agree. Eleven were for penitentiary of the prisoner and one for acquittal.

man W. L. Wilson for the gubernatorial nomination. It inclines its preference

Ex-Postmaster David R. Windsor died at Alexandria. He was a leading citizen, business partner of General Mahone, and carried on in the firm of Windsor & Ford extensive brick works in Washington and owned considerable real estate there.

There was recorded in the Clerk's Office at Lynchburg this week, a general mortgage deed from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company to the Central Trust Company, of New York, and Henry T. Wickham, of Hanover county Va., trustee. It is to secure the payment of $70,000,000 1/2 per cent. gold mortgage bonds for the general uses of the corporation, redemption of bonds formerly made, &c., and additional bonds not to average over $25,000 a mile for the purpose of double-tracking the Chesapeake and Ohio system. The same deed is now being recorded in the clerk's office of Albemarle county.

A correspondent of the Rockingham Register writes from Mount Clinton March 7, the following: "Last Sunday morning, March 5th, a ewe belonging to Mr. B. D. Bowman produced a lamb of the following monstrous description: It had two perfect heads, each supplied with a perfect mouth, nose, pair of eyes and ears, separate neck. It possessed two tails with which to keep the tormenting flies dodging had it lived until summer time. The body was one single lamb.
