ASSESSING PROPERTY OWNERS.

The Citizens Will Be Heard This Week.

They Are Preparing to Present a Solid Front to the Street Committee—Work That Has Been Ordered and That Which Remains to Be Let to Contract. Willing to Pay Two-thirds of the Cost, But Not all of It—Result of the Last Public Hearing.

The abutting property owners on Salem and Campbell avenues are getting on their way to meet the street committee of Council next Wednesday. The committee will sit in the office of the board of public works Wednesday evening at 2:30 o'clock to hear the owners on the question of paving those thoroughfares with vitrified brick.

The old Council decided to pave the business streets of the city, and to assess the entire cost of doing the work against the owners of the property fronting on those streets. Under the new charter this may be done, but the owners must be given a hearing. This hearing, however, does not amount to much, as Council has the right to go on with work as though there were no hearing given, even though there is objection raised.

Council decided to pave and improve Salem, Campbell and Robertson avenues and Jefferson, Nelson and Commerce streets the latter part of May. The board of public works advertised for bids, and when they were opened it was found that J. A. Gillespie, of Chattanooga, was the lowest bidder, he agreeing to put down the brick (Chilhowie) at $1.07 per square yard and to do the excavating and curbing at a proportionate low rate. Each of the above named streets were called sections. Jefferson street has already been let to contract. The abutting owners were given a hearing on June 6. Only a small number were present, but several of them objected to be assessed the entire cost of the improvement. Mr. Watts was then chairman of the street committee and argued the question so successfully with property-owners that, before the committee meeting closed, all had practically agreed to the assessment plan except John Sexton.

The committee reported favorably to Council, and a resolution was adopted June 11 determining to make the improvement and letting the contract for Jefferson street, between Railroad and Campbell avenues, to J. A. Gillespie. The rate per foot which each abutting owner on this street is to pay is $5.03. Mr. Gillespie has already started the work, and has reset the curbing, and where it was necessary has replaced it with new, but in consequence of the brick not having arrived but slow progress was made with the work.

The old Council, having fathered the new charter and also this plan for street improvement, was anxious to get the work under way before the new Council came in, and at its last meeting passed resolutions determining to pave and sewer Salem avenue and to pave Campbell avenue. The rate per front foot for Salem avenue on paving is a fraction over $3; on Campbell avenue it is about $4.25. C. G. Smith, proprietor of the Ponce de Leon property, is assessed over $800. The total assessment on Campbell avenue, including the Roanoke Street Railway Company, is $14,300. On Salem avenue it is less on account of the narrowness of the street.

The clerk of Council notified the abutting owners on these streets, according to resolution, of the hearing to be given on the 20th of this month. They are all going to be there, and Mr. Loughery, the new chairman of the committee, may expect squally times.

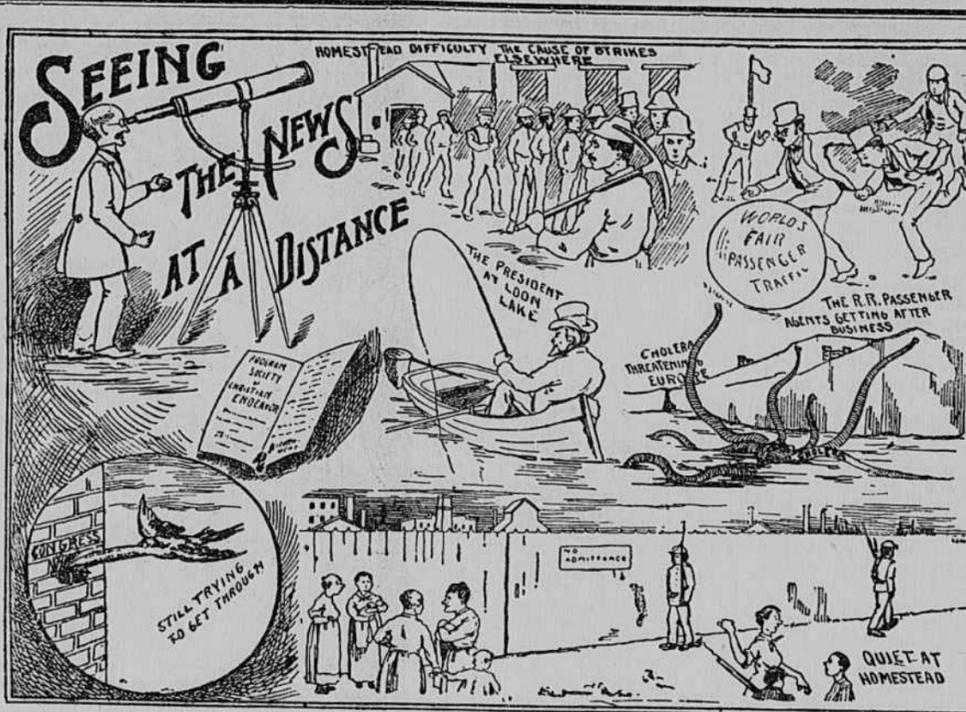

The recent decision of the supreme court of appeals in regard to a similar case, carried up from the city of Norfolk, has made the property-owners more determined to fight the assessment plan as fixed upon by the old Council. It is understood that the decision of the court was (Judge Richardson rendering the decision) that a municipal corporation could not assess abutting owners for improvement of streets. The full particulars in regard to this case have not been attainable yet, the judge still holding the opinion for the purpose of making some corrections. It will, however, be in the possession of the city solicitor in a few days.

A majority of the property owners claim that they would agree to paying two-thirds of the cost of making the improvement, or they would probably pay for all except the intersections. But they affirm that they will carry the case into the courts if the city persists in charging them for the entire improvement. Many of them are very indignant.

The hearing is looked forward to with a great deal of interest, but as Mr. Loughery is a man who does not waste words in an argument, it will not be a long one. Mr. Fackenthal, chairman of the sewer committee, will also have his committee called together on that day at the same time and place to hear what the Salem avenue people have to say about putting down sewers on that street and how they will like paying ninety-five cents per front foot for it.

Against R. G. Dun & Co.

NEW YORK, July 16.—[Special]—Judge Shipman, of the United States circuit court here, handed down an opinion to-day denying the motion for a new trial made by R. G. Dun & Co., of this city, in the case of the bank of Birmingham, Ala., against the mercantile agency of Dun & Co. The suit was to recover losses sustained by the bank through the report received from the agency as to the standing of W. A. Kitts, of Oswego. The bank gave Kitts credit on Dun's report. The court holds that the agency is responsible for the result of the report of its agent.

THE BAND PICNIC.

An Enjoyable Day Will Be Spent at Rocky Mount Saturday.

The Roanoke Machine Works Band will give a picnic in a beautiful grove one mile beyond Rocky Mount next Saturday, July 23, the proceeds to go for the benefit of the band. They have chartered a special train for those who wish to attend, which will leave Roanoke at 8 a. m. and return about 7 p. m. This will be the first excursion over the Roanoke and Southern and to see the beautiful scenery through which the train passes is well worth the price of the ticket, which is only one dollar for the round trip. A very large dancing pavilion is being made in the shops and will be shipped to the grounds at an early date.

Music for the dancing, which is free, will be furnished by the full band, composed of twenty-five pieces. Two concerts will be given by the band, one in the forenoon and the other in the afternoon. Refreshments will be served on the ground by a caterer, and the last feature of the occasion will be a game of ball between the K. & S. club of this city, and the Rocky Mount club. It is generally known that the shops will close on this day so as to give the employees an opportunity to go.

TWO PARTNERS FALL OUT.

Clem Geary Shoots Saunders Franklin in the Shoulder.

About one o'clock yesterday Clem Geary, colored, who runs a little snack house opposite the Southern hotel, shot Saunders Franklin in the shoulder. The fuss arose about a dispute in regard to an account Geary owed Saunders. They were partners in the restaurant until recently, when Saunders withdrew. Geary was on his way home and met Franklin in front of Pettie's saloon, on Peach and Honey hill, and a fuss ensued.

Franklin struck Geary several times and succeeded in tearing his coat nearly off, whereupon the latter drew a revolver and fired, the ball striking Franklin in the shoulder and coming out near the center of his back. Geary then beat his face up fearfully with the pistol. Friends interfered and the fight was stopped. Geary came over and surrendered himself and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Franklin, who is now under the treatment of Dr. Howling, the colored physician. Clem is languishing in the city jail at present.

Interesting Cricket Game.

The cricketers played a very interesting practice game yesterday afternoon on the Jeannette track, which was witnessed by a large crowd, among whom were quite a number of ladies. This game seems destined to prove quite popular with the fair sex. The following is the score:

BLUE RIDGE.

The Season Fully Opened at This Resort.

Hargrave says "Women are the poetry of the world, in the same sense that stars are the poetry of the heaven. Clear, light giving harmonious, they are the terrestrial planets that rule the destinies of mankind." If this be so, then Blue Ridge Springs revels in a constellation of loveliness, ready to shed its halo of fascinating power on some bonighted wanderer.

The season is now in full blast and the following are here for the summer season: Mrs. A. B. Brown, New York city; Mrs. Russell Kendrick and daughter, Tampa, Fla.; Mr. and Mrs. James C. A special train is now running between Roanoke and this place, leaving Roanoke at 6 p. m. It enables many to run away from business and care to take a pleasant evening and have a cool night's rest near the summit of the mountains, from which this favorite resort takes its name. No watering place can boast of more beautiful and charming young ladies than this.

For amusements we have tennis, croquet, bowling, ten-pins, billiards and pool, card playing in all its various forms, horseback riding, walking rambles through the mountain forest, etc. For immaculate drapery, cuisines and general cleanliness Blue Ridge takes the lead over all competitors.

It is to be hoped our fair and accomplished hostess will pardon me for saying much of the enviable reputation the place enjoys is due to her zeal, energy and painstaking care in supervising these three cardinal points in every well regulated establishment. Referring to the social feature we are like no large family, all intent on doing something for another's pleasure. With eager interest we watch the daily increasing arrivals glad to welcome them as members of our social circle.

The Rev. Mr. Meade, from Radford, will give us a service on Sunday evening; so you see our spiritual comforts are looked after as well as the sporting. This happy blending of the two catches a gleam of the celestial and gladdens the dark places of our earthly pilgrimage. The music furnished by Mr. Tromer and his associates is soft and sweet, just such as may have charmed Calypso and her nymphs. They also combine a commendable spirit of accommodation to the dancers and caused all who participated in the German to spontaneously applaud when the last faint sweet notes of "Home, Sweet Home" were dying on the "wee sma' hours." FRANCIE, Blue Ridge Springs.

MINERS BEING ARRESTED.

It is Reported All of the Members of the Union Will Be Locked Up.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 16.—[Special]—The Review's advices from the Coeur d'Alene district state that the military has arrested Jack Wallace at Cataldo. He is suspected being the ringleader of the Mission massacre. The troops are deploying from Cataldo and through the hills which will be scoured for other suspects. The troubled district has been closed to travel, nobody being permitted to go in without a military passport.

Gen. Carlin has 1,000 troops under his command, and has called on all the members of the Miner's Union to come in and surrender. Notwithstanding the presence of the troops the strikers continue to make their presence felt. Newspaper correspondents are particularly objectionable to them. A special list received by the Review says that three carloads of men, besides President O'Brien, the secretary of the Miners Union, and 25 other members of that body, were arrested. Coroner Sims and a provost guard were taking men in right along during the evening. Several citizens were also placed in custody, including Robert Neill and Walter Jones, who were formerly members of the union. It is reported that all the members of the union are to be locked up. If this is true it means the arrest of over one thousand men.

MRS. HARRISON IS VERY ILL.

The President's Wife Threatened With Consumption.

All Efforts to Arrest the Symptoms of This Dread Disease Have Failed—The President Has Little Hope That She Will Recover—She Caught Cold at a Drawing Room in March, and This Was Aggravated by a Cruise on the Bay—Now in the Adirondacks.

PHILADELPHIA, July 16.—[Special]—The Inquirer prints the following special from Washington this morning: There is little likelihood that Mrs. Harrison will survive much longer. Quick consumption is apparently doing its work. Since the return of the President from Loon Lake he has manifested more open anxiety concerning the condition of Mrs. Harrison than at any time previous to her departure. While she remained at the Executive Mansion, there seemed to be daily hope of a favorable turn in her illness, but this seemed to be in vain, and when she was taken away the actual situation became appallingly realistic.

The beginning of Mrs. Harrison's illness was in March last. While feeling much indisposed, in her usual spirit of sacrifice, she consented about the first of last April to hold an informal drawing room for the convenience of a number of resident and out of town official and unofficial friends. Mrs. Harrison was then not exhibiting her usual vivacity, and wore a pale and tired expression upon her ever-cheerful face. She had several slight coughing spells, which she repressed with difficulty. For several days she had been ill at ease on account of an affection of the larynx. Before the entertainment had concluded she excused herself and retired to her apartments, leaving her guests in the hands of her daughter, Mrs. McKee.

The next day the household physician pronounced her illness as one of the eccentric forms of la grippe. The bronchial organs were next affected and from that involved the lungs, with pronounced symptoms of serious pulmonary tendencies. Medical treatment, with excellent nursing, seemed to cope with the determined nature of the disease. The family physician then proposed the cruise of ten days in the Chesapeake bay towards Fortress Monroe and Hampton Roads. The lighthouse tender, Sapphire, a trim little craft, was put in order for the distinguished invalid and combined a cruise of convalescence for Mrs. Harrison with a visit to the lighthouse stations along the Potomac and western coast of the Chesapeake bay. A very few days' experience amid the salt-laden moisture of an ocean climate and the marked change for the worse in the patient conclusively demonstrated that a serious mistake had been made.

The little steamer hastened back to Washington and Mrs. Harrison was conveyed to the Executive Mansion, where she lingered for days in the balance of life or death.

With all the medical treatment and ceaseless attention bestowed upon Mrs. Harrison since, human skill has been powerless to bring her back to the encouraging point of convalescence.

It was planned to take Mrs. Harrison out of the enervating summer climate of the Capital more than a month ago. Her condition, however, had now become so alarming, "quick consumption" being threatened, that it became necessary to exercise much care and judgment in the selection of the spot to which she should be conveyed. The sea shore was out of the question. The health-giving air of the higher altitudes of the Adirondacks were proposed and are now being tried.

The President, in conversation since his return from his depressing journey, has talked a great deal with his close personal friends on the subject of Mrs. Harrison's condition. It is evident that the sad prospect is constantly on his mind and that he is deeply troubled. Even in conversation with his friends who come to talk national committee and campaign politics his thoughts and words tend to the sad subject which is so near his heart and which the perplexities and uncertainties of his candidacy and Presidential politics cannot divert.

VICTORY FOR ROANOKE.

They Win a Close and Interesting Game From Lynchburg.

LYNCHBURG, July 16.—[Special]—An interesting game of ball was played on the Rivermont grounds this afternoon between the Roanoke and Lynchburg teams, which resulted in a victory for the former, the score standing 5 to 4. Boyd and Sanderson were the battery for Roanoke, while McKenna and Glass were in the points for Lynchburg. Glass struck out nine and Boyd struck out eleven.

Lynchburgs got 6 hits off of Boyd and the Roanokes 7 off McKenna. The errors were Lynchburg 7, Roanoke 4. Two three baggers were made by Scott and McGinnis, and Brodie, Riley, Stanley and Adams each made two baggers. The feature of the game was the beautiful work done by Adams the centre fielder for Lynchburg.

The Miners Ordered to Disperse.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—[Special]—The President to-day issued a proclamation setting forth the disturbed condition of the society in Idaho resulting in a call upon the Federal authorities for assistance and commanding "all persons engaged in said insurrection and in the resistance to the laws to immediately disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes." The proclamation was telegraphed to the military authorities in Idaho with instructions to promulgate it.
