ITS BENEFIT TO THE SOUTH.

Democratic Victory Will Advance This Section's Interests.

What The Citizens of Roanoke Have to Say About the Matter—They All Agree That the Southwest Will be Greatly Benefitted by It—Trade Will Increase and Money Will be Easier.

Regarding the effect of Cleveland and Stevenson's election on this section of the country and the benefits accruing from their election, a Times reporter yesterday interviewed some of Roanoke's prominent business men as to their opinion in the matter. W. G. Evans, ex-mayor of the city, said: "I think that Cleveland's widespread and popular policy is calculated to restore confidence among business men, open the money vaults, and brighten business in every line. His policy will doubtless be to favor a reduced tariff commensurate with the difference in the prices of production and thus opening the markets of the world on an equal basis for our manufacturers. Cleveland's election is of vital importance to the South from a business standpoint."

E. R. Woodward was interviewed, but had only a few moments to give the reporter. He said: "Cleveland's policy will help both North and South by restoring the seemingly lost confidence of the people. It will restore credit, that mighty gift of confidence, and the nurse of enterprise, and will be of great benefit especially to the young towns hitherto impeded by lack of capital."

C. Markley said: "The election of Mr. Cleveland will stiffen the backbone of business, effect salutary changes in the now quiet money market, and by spring will work radical changes for the better, and in my opinion, will restore credit in this portion of the South."

F. B. Kemp, on being interviewed, said that he believed that with Cleveland's election would come a great wave of financial prosperity to this section and strengthen the confidence of the Northern investor, whose money in many investments now lies wrapped up in the lands of the South. Mr. Kemp further said that he had a letter from a Northern investor, who has $50,000 in Roanoke property, to the effect that if Cleveland was elected he believed his investments here would be increased in value 25 per cent. The future, he said, looked bright, and a policy like Cleveland's for the people will make the people prosperous.

Col. Jno. E. Penn was next interviewed and said that through Cleveland's election the South will be restored to confidence; that business will not be jeopardized by the tariff bill, which was one of the issues of the present campaign. No other issue, he said, has so great an influence upon a large majority of the voters who are not wedded to party platforms and who have shown an independence in breaking party lines when they no longer believed the party was working for the best interests of the country. The defeat of that measure will convince all parties that sectional strife is over and that bloody shirt issues are past. Cleveland is regarded everywhere as a practical, good sense and conservative man, and his former administration of the Government proves that his election will be an assurance to the people that no hasty, radical or ill-advised legislation will be countenanced while he is in the Presidential chair.

W. A. Glasgow, Jr., was next seen and in reply to the reporter's question said that Cleveland's election would, from an investor's point of view, restore confidence in Southern business circles. J. Allen Watt concerning Cleveland's election: "Judging from the experience of the past the benefit will be very great. There has been no period since the war when the South was so prosperous as during the four years of Cleveland's administration. A national administration—friendly to the section, should beget confidence and bring emigration and capital. The danger of the tariff bill and its effects on the South were enough alone to retard civilization. If this election results in lowering the tariff the whole country should be benefited, and, of course, the South with it."

Capt. M. M. Rogers, who led the county Democracy to victory, said when interviewed: "The election of Cleveland means everything to the South. It will give people of the North confidence in their investments here and issue in a new period of prosperity." J. M. Gambill said: "A new confidence will come to the South and to the great Southwest. Cleveland's election will tend to encourage Northern and European capital, and this being an iron manufacturing center, it will be of great benefit to Roanoke. Taking the result of the election all in all, there is nothing which could happen that would be of more beneficial results. Another benefit that should not be overlooked is the moral effect throughout the United States. This is not a plutocratic government and money cannot be king to sit on judgment over the great principles of right which is the foundation of our government."

Walter P. Huff said touching the election of Mr. Cleveland: "An honest government benefits all classes of people and all sections. Cleveland's intention to veto fraudulent pension bills will reimburse the treasury, thereby decreasing general taxation. I have every reason to believe that the progress of the South, which had its conception in the days of Cleveland and which died in the days of Harrison will awaken from the dead and the frosted bones of depression will radiate before the eyes of progression." M. C. Thomas, a member of the legislature, said: "Mr. Cleveland's election will have a tendency to break down the sectional lines heretofore existing and restore the political equilibrium of all sections. It will restore confidence among the business people, invite capital and foster enterprise, bringing about a general feeling of security among our people. With Grover Cleveland as the Executive, who sprang from the people, we may be assured that his rulings will not be for the few but for the great masses of the people, the rights of whom he has always championed. With Cleveland's election the force bill is dead and the South will feel in the future the impetus of a new and vigorous life."

Blooded in South Carolina. COLUMBIA, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Details of an election affray Tuesday at Holland's Store precinct, show that three men were killed and several wounded, all whites. It appears that R. G. Carter, Republican supervisor, and James W. Earle, Democrat, became involved in a political quarrel just outside the house in which the voting was going on. Carter pulled a pistol and fired at Earle but missed him and hit Columbus Green, Democrat. Green was killed instantly. Earle then began firing and both men emptied their weapons. Both men went behind the store to reload. Earle ran through the house and picked up a shot gun and poured the contents into Carter. In the confusion three bystanders were wounded but not seriously. Carter was terribly wounded and died a few hours afterward.

Killed by an Explosion. PETERSBURGH, Va., Nov. 10.—[Special]—John Sull, better known to steamboat men as John Amsterdam, was killed in an explosion this morning on the tug Viking. When the explosion occurred several men were sitting by the grating over the fire room and all escaped unhurt save Sull, who, in the blinding steam, stepped in the hatchway. A scrawl revealed his lifeless body lying in the fire room badly scalded.

The Situation at Homestead. HOMESTEAD, Pa., Nov. 10.—[Special]—The situation at the steel works shows no change in favor of the strikers. The Hungarians have been sizing up the situation and are returning to work by twos and threes. No general break is expected among the strikers.

Waverly on Fire. Capt. Johnson, conductor of passenger train No. 17 on the Norfolk and Western railroad, reports Waverly to be on fire. No 17 passes Waverly, a small town at the junction of the Atlantic and Danville and the Norfolk and Western at 9:25 in the morning. Seven houses were burning and the streets were filled up with goods saved from the angry flames.

"Wait Till the Clouds Roll By." From the Easton Express, Easton, Pa. The original Frank M. Wills appeared last night at the opera house, in his new comedy, "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By," by W. E. McCann, of the Baltimore News, and the performance was one of the best musical comedies ever witnessed. From beginning to finish the audience seemed convulsed with laughter. Mr. Wills, the bright particular star of the occasion, is a comedian of intrinsic merit, able alike to portray the ridiculous and the pathetic, while the company supporting him is in all respects worthy of the star. In reviewing such an excellent performance, it is difficult to discriminate without doing an injustice to someone.

The musical numbers were rendered in such a manner that encore followed encore, and the audience seemed never to tire. Mr. John Wills is inimitable, his singing and dancing very clever. Mr. Al Fowley was excellent, as were Messrs. Wallace, Gardner and the other male members. Miss Norma Wills, pretty and graceful, with several songs added to the performance. A gem is Miss Jessie Demaine, who is as sparkling as a diamond, and as full of comedy as the effervescence of champagne, and the contralto solo of Miss Jessie Ollivier was of surpassing sweetness. The specialties we do not believe have ever been equaled in a musical comedy. The young ladies are attractive and accomplished artists of ability. Mr. Wills' new play is an unequivocal success, and will always receive a warm welcome and generous patronage in this city. Mr. Wills will appear at the Academy Monday night, November 14.

Wm. Winter, a well-known liquor merchant of St. Louis, committed suicide yesterday morning. He had been suffering from a virulent cancer and knew his disease was incurable.

CLEVELAND'S GREAT MAJORITY.

this morning are: Weaver, 14,864; Walte, for Governor, 5,672; Fell, Congressman from the Second district, 10,937; Pence, Congressman from the First district, 2,378; Goodard, chief justice of the supreme court, 11,317. The Democrats claim they have elected their legislative ticket in this county, but the vote will likely be so close that a recount will be demanded by the side declared defeated by the first count. Should the Democrats be successful both branches of next assembly will be controlled by Democrats for the first time in the history of the State.

Indiana. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special]—Returns from all over the State show Democratic gains over the vote of 1888. Cleveland's majority in the State is conceded by the Republicans to be not less than 5,000, probably more. This county, Marion, is solidly Democratic by 1,000. The Congressional delegation will be Democratic by a good majority.

At noon to day the returns from all but thirteen counties in Indiana compiled at the Democratic headquarters show a Democratic plurality of 6,656. The counties not yet reported are expected to swell this to 10,500 and possibly 11,000. The People's party vote will probably reach 25,000 and the Prohibition vote 12,500. The Democrats have elected ten members of Congress, the Republicans two in the Sixth and Ninth districts, with the First district still in doubt. Many of the legislative districts are still in doubt, but the most reliable estimates have it that the Senate will stand: Democrats, 34; Republicans, 16. The House will probably stand: Democrats, 65; Republicans, 28; People's party, 7.

Kansas. TOPEKA, Nov. 10.—[Special]—The general belief at Topeka is that the Republican State and electoral tickets are defeated and that not more than two or three Republican Congressmen of the eight have been chosen. The legislature is in doubt. An incident of some note is the election of Harris for Congressman at large. He is an ex-confederate soldier. It is also of considerable interest that he was elected, not by the voters of a single district but by a franchise from the entire State and that State the State of Kansas.

LATER—The State Journal, Republican, has posted a bulletin conceding the election of Weaver and Lowell by 8,000 to 10,000 majority.

West Virginia. CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 10.—[Special]—The Democratic headquarters are closed. The majority for Cleveland and the State ticket is placed at 5,000.

Wheeler, W. Va., Nov. 10.—[Special]—Returns from three-fourths of the State of West Virginia are now complete and show the Democrats will have between 3,800 and 4,000 majority. The Democrats will have a majority of at least fifteen in the legislature on joint ballot, insuring the return to the United States Senate of Charles J. Faulkner. The full Democratic Congressional delegation is elected.

Wisconsin. WILWAUKEE, Nov. 10.—[Special]—With fifty-one out of eighty-six counties in the State the complete figures give Cleveland 6,768 plurality. Peck, Democrat for governor, 68,879 plurality. The remaining counties will not change the figures 1,000 one way or the other. Returns up to noon show that the Democratic plurality in the State is fully 5,000. Four Congressmen are Republican and six Democratic. The legislature is Democratic by twenty-nine on joint ballot.

South Carolina. CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 10.—[Special]—The Congressional count will not be made up officially till next week, but all the precincts have been heard from. In only one district, the Seventh, is the vote close. In that district, Moise, straight Democratic candidate, is elected by 600 majority. Returns thus far, unofficial, gave Moise 366 majority. The South Carolina delegation to Congress will, therefore, stand as follows: Democrats, 3; Alliance, 4.

Massachusetts. BOSTON, Nov. 10.—[Special]—A careful revision of the Associated Press returns of the total vote for governor of Massachusetts, as furnished by correspondents and town clerks, was made to-day and all clerical errors eliminated. The following is the result: Total vote, minus the People's party and scattering, 376,834; Hamlin, prohibition, 7,111; Halle, Republican, 183,943; Russell, Democrat, 185,850. Russell's plurality, 1,937.

Iowa. DES MOINES, Nov. 10.—[Special]—The latest and best figures place the total Republican vote in Iowa at 228,000; Democratic, 208,000; Populist, 18,000; Prohibitionists, 8,000. This includes the estimates for several counties. These figures cannot be far from correct. Of the eleven Congressmen ten are Republican, though one district, the Eleventh, is still claimed by the Democrats, but merely as a possibility.

North Dakota. FARGO, Nov. 10.—[Special]—The Republicans have probably lost the seat of Mr. Casey in the United States Senate. Returns received so far indicate that the fusionists will control the legislature, which will choose Casey's successor. It is believed that the entire fusion ticket has been elected except for Congressman, and that Secretary of State Shortridge is elected governor over Burke, Republican nominee.

South Dakota. PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 10.—[Special]—Complete and partial returns from nineteen out of fifty-one counties give Harrison 14,503; Weaver, 11,559; Cleveland, 4,145. The counties to hear from it is believed, cannot reduce Harrison's majority. The Democrats and People's committee still claim the State for the Weaver electors. The Republican State ticket is surely elected.

Alabama. BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Official returns from all but five counties give Cleveland a majority of 41,455.

All nine Democratic Congressmen are elected. All of the counties except two are heard from, making Cleveland's majority 47,330. The Fusionists carried only 14 counties out of 64.

California. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Two-thirds of the vote of California gives Harrison 97,809; Cleveland, 99,738; Weaver, 1,780. Indications now are that the State will give Cleveland a plurality of 3,000. The legislature returns still indicate a small majority for the Democrats on joint ballot.

Virginia. RICHMOND, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Every return increases the Democratic majority. Arrangements are being made to have a demonstration here next Tuesday. Every Democratic club will participate. There will probably be 1,000 horsemen in line, with ten times that number on foot.

New York. NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—[Special]—The latest returns from New York State give Cleveland 44,954 plurality.

Rusk Blames It on the Tariff. CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Secretary Jeremiah M. Rusk, on his way back to Washington, after voting for Harrison in his home in Wisconsin, was at the Grand Pacific to-day. "We were cleaned out; that's all there is about it," he said. "In my opinion the tariff was the whole and sole cause of it. There had been a howl about the tariff everywhere, and then the Homestead affair made the laboring class discontented. Undoubtedly there has been a change of public sentiment as to the tariff. The reform spirit is growing and the result has been a clean sweep."

Mr. Cleveland Will Not Write a Letter. NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Several hundred letters and telegrams were received by Mr. Cleveland this morning. A number also came addressed to Baby Ruth. Mr. Cleveland refuses to be interviewed with regard to the result of the election. Mr. Cleveland's private secretary denied that the former was preparing a letter to the public. He volunteered the information that this step was considered yesterday, and that Mr. Cleveland decided not to write such a communication.

O'Neill Will Make a Contest. ST. LOUIS, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Congressman John J. O'Neill decided to-day to contest the claim of Charles F. Joy to election in the Eleventh district by going into the United States court and asking for a count of the vote in that district. He is confident that this will show that he was elected by men who voted legally. He claims that the ballot boxes contain illegal votes for Joy, and that this will appear in the count.

Carter Gives It Up. NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—[Special]—Chairman Carter, of the Republican national committee, sent the following telegram to President Harrison this afternoon: "The returns show that we have been defeated by a pronounced majority. The defeat can only be attributed to a reaction against the progressive policies of the Republican party."

Valuable Mining Property. The Rorer Mines Yielding an Immense Amount of Good Ore.

Very few of the people of Roanoke have any knowledge of the extensive deposit of iron ore so close to this city, or the extent of the deposit that is within five miles of the center of the Magic City. The mines of the Consolidated Mining Company, or more familiarly known as the Rorer iron mines, are the largest of any in South-west Virginia.

In the month of October there was mined and shipped from that property 800 tons of ore. These mines furnish employment to about 200 men which would represent with their families about 500 people. The mines cover an area of over two miles and the deposit up to the present time has shown itself to be one that can be worked for a number of years.

While this is not strictly an industry that can be classified with Roanoke, yet its interests are so closely allied to this city that it is simply a question before the advancing interests of the Crystal Spring Land Company will closely enroach on the borders of this mining property.
