Famous Autographs Bring Little Money

New York, Jan. 20.—A sale of autograph letters and signatures of various notables was held at Bangs' auction rooms this morning. George Washington's letters sold for less than half what they usually bring. One written by Washington to Richard Henry Lee went for $37. Another to Thomas Jefferson, concerning his continuing in office, brought but $34. The signers of the Declaration of Independence fared hardly better. An autograph of Thomas Lynch, the rarest of all signers, went for $24, while the signatures of modern men of prominence in literary and artistic lines went for a few cents each.

Dr. Herse Arrested.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Dr. Cornelius Herse was arrested at midnight last night on a warrant issued on the demand of the French government on the charge of having been fraudulently implicated in the Panama swindling and corruption. Herse is ill and the detectives remained at his bedside all night.

SUFFERING POOR.

Noble Response to the Times' Appeal.

MANY CASES OF DESTITUTION.

Families Suffering For the Barest Necessities of Life.

The Citizens of Roanoke Come Up Nobly to the Relief of the Suffering—Over a Hundred Dollars Received by the Times Yesterday in Money, Provisions and Clothing—What the Noble Women of this City are Doing—They are Indeed Angels of Mercy, and Brighten Many Dark and Desolate Homes—They Tell of the Awful Suffering in Our Midst—Arrangements Made to Distribute the Contributions Collected by the Times.

"The poor ye have always with ye," THE TIMES FOOD AND FUEL FUND boomed along all day yesterday. The first contribution came from a quiet gentleman who handed in a bundle of clothing. Ten minutes later a lady came in followed by a stout negro staggering under a load of provisions and clothing. The lady was Lady Bountiful indeed. She left enough eatables to provide a good-sized family for a week, and she wouldn't allow her name to be used. But the whole Times office fell in love with her for she was as beautiful as she was generous.

Then came other bearing gifts. Another lady brought flour, buckwheat, beans and potatoes. Brugh & Meadows, the Jefferson street grocer, sent a delivery wagon with a load of meal, flour, bacon, tea, oatmeal, salt, soap, rice, soda, hominy, beans and white sugar.

Several other contributions came in during the day in clothes and provisions.

Mr. Charles H. Fahnestock left an order for clothing which will do some poor mortal good. Col. Thomas Lewis dropped in and told of several cases of destitution which he had relieved. "There is a great deal in extending help in the right form," said he. "A big pot of soup, beef and potatoes is more filling, more nourishing, cheaper and better than bacon and flour. A dollar will go much further this way than the other." The King's Daughters have had substantial reason for the warm thanks which they have extended this open handed and big-hearted Virginia gentleman for timely and generous aid.

THE TIMES learns that the mayor's relief fund is already exhausted, and under advice of Dr. O. F. Flippo, president of the pastors' conference, will turn over to day to the King's Daughters and the Benevolent Aid Society, the supplies received to date as well as the principal funds, not otherwise directed. These societies have borne the brunt of the relief work this winter, and have made a systematic canvass of the city for cases of extreme destitution, and are even now hard pressed for funds and supplies for immediate use.

Ready money came in, too, in good, strong subscriptions. The passenger car department of the Roanoke Machine Works sent in $10.50 in cash, and the paint shop came in with $10 more.

A Times representative was in F. B. Kemp's real estate office yesterday and Mr. Michael Sexton went into his pocket for $2. Then Mr. John Sexton and Capt. Henri Davin got to bantering each other and before they got through Mr. Sexton went down on his leg for a roll as big as a small saw-log and skinned off a V, and Capt. Davin hauled out a pliother pocketbook and selected a crisp new $5. So the good cause of charity got $12 right then. THE TIMES will turn this $12 over to Father Lynch, who will know where it will look as big as a fortune and relieve a sea of suffering and a world of hunger.

Now what do you think of this from a well known citizen, an Elk, and just admitted to practice at the Roanoke bar. S. W. BERT, Pres. WILLIAM POTTS, 1st V. P. J. A. RICHARDSON, 2d V. P. GALEN H. COON, Sec. J. T. BALDWIN, Treas. J. M. ELLIOTT, Asst. Sec. BANKERS' LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANY.

56 WALL STREET, NEW YORK CITY. Agency at Roanoke, Va. Room No. 210 Ferry Building.

ROANOKE, VA., January 21, 1893. TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES: My dear sir, enclose I hand you fifty dollars as a contribution to Times Food and Fuel Fund. I wish you success in your effort. Yours truly,

GALEN H. COON. All honor to Galen H. Coon. Now here is what the King's Daughters and the Benevolent Society will receive to day at THE TIMES office:

- Cash, $70.50
- 1 order for groceries, $2.
- 2 bundles of clothes.
- 1 order for clothes.
- 3 bags flour.
- 2 pails lard.
- 2 packages tea.
- 2 " oatmeal.
- 1 " salt.
- 5 " sugar.
- 2 " cornmeal.
- 3 " hominy.
- 1 " rice.
- 1 " buckwheat.
- 1 " baking soda.
- 3 " beans.
- 5 bars soap.

In order to aid deserving poor who are out of employment THE TIMES will, for the next three days, print all advertisements, wanted situations or work, one time for nothing. Send in your advertisements early and plainly written.

- 1 shoulder bacon.
- 1 side pork.
- 1 sack potatoes.

FUTURE CONTRIBUTIONS. Now the ball is rolling? THE TIMES wants a word with you, reader; you who have this paper in your hand. What have you done this winter to help the deserving poor through this terrible stress? Much, we hope. What more can you do now? Can you spare $10? $5? $1; 50 cents then? Have you not some old clothes hung up or stored away in closets that you will not miss? Send them in, lad e ard gentlemen.

Have not your children some outgrown or cast off clothing? You love them. These are other children as dear to their mothers as yours to you, who are even at this moment blue with cold and pinched with hunger for want of what you can well spare. Send them in. Do not be backward about it. Articles which you may think worthless will be Godsend to scores of poor people. Send them in. Send them now.

There are 500 men in Roanoke who have suits of clothes which they will never put on again. There are 500 ladies who have dresses that will never be put on again. There are 500 children who have outgrown clothes which are put by. These all ought to be sent into THE TIMES for distribution.

A pitiful tale was told at THE TIMES office yesterday. A gentleman said that a few days since a woman came to his house who had borrowed a pair of shoes to come in, with a borrowed shawl to keep warm in. Her husband had no coat, and was wearing an old basque of his wife's to keep off a little of the cold. They had neither provisions, fuel, money nor work.

The cold spell has suspended nearly all outside work and hundreds are out of employment who depend on mild weather for a living. One man, a carpenter by trade, and earning $2.50 to $3 per day, having no outside work, hunted for a job until he got one driving a wagon for $1 a day. This admirable spirit of self-help should be an example for others in like case.

THE TIMES is confident that the people will rise to the situation and relieve all existing distress.

AMONG THE WORKERS.

The Ladies Tell of the Large Amount of Suffering in the City.

The poor of Roanoke are suffering not only for food, fuel and medicines, but there are cases where worthy people are destitute of clothing. Only yesterday some of these people were taken care of by the ladies of St. John's Church. Their condition was discovered only by accident, and when found these unfortunates were almost nude. There is a depth of charity in the benevolent organizations of the city. Though they give with anxious hands it is with the utmost difficulty that these societies are able to learn of the distress. The worthy poor are cautious even in their indigence.

A Times reporter who visited last evening a number of ladies, who are devoting their time and means to the amelioration of poverty in the city, was surprised at the unusual numbers of actual distress they cited. In every instance numberless new cases were spoken of. There are two benevolent societies in the city composed entirely of ladies. They are the Ladies' Union Benevolent Society of Roanoke and the Circle of Charity of the King's Daughters.

Of the latter Mrs. Frank Huger is president; Mrs. Horace Patterson, vice-president; Mrs. George R. Henderson, treasurer, and Mrs. W. E. Mingo, secretary. The former has for its officers Mrs. Lillie W. McCoy, president; Mrs. Stuart, secretary, and Mrs. Van Horn, treasurer. They are doing wonderful work. One of the earnest workers of last named society, Miss Josephine M. Woltz, said to the reporter last evening, while speaking of the amount of poverty in the city:

"Mayor Trout said to me to-day that the sum appropriated for the poor was almost exhausted," and in reply to a query by the reporter, she said: "There are a number of cases of absolute destitution in the city, but it seems as if they would not ask our aid."

"The most necessary thing that we need to further our object is the earnest assistance of the ladies of the city. We want workers. Our meetings take place on the second Saturday of each month, but if necessary a special meeting could be called in order to have a thorough understanding as to the disposal of the funds now being collected by THE TIMES. There is great need of an immediate disposition of the donations. We are obliged in our organization to deal with various kinds of cases. We see, for instance, husbands who will not work, yet are surrounded by families who are in absolute want, but we cannot withhold our charity from these two-fold sufferers."

"There is unusual suffering in the eastern portion of the city, especially among the colored washerwomen, as during the cold weather they have been unable to procure water with which to do their washing. It is a peculiar circumstance that we are never obliged to help widows, the calls being made mostly by mothers who are burdened with indolent husbands. The poor need clothes more than anything else. We advanced $3 to-day for clothes to a family in the northwestern part of the town, who were almost nude."

"There are some undeserving poor who are taken care of for the sake of their children, yet they still write begging letters. For this reason charity should be organized. The Pocahontas Coal Company has been very generous, having already donated three car loads of coal, which has been disposed of."

HAYES LAID BESIDE HIS WIFE.

The Funeral Services of the Ex-President Held Yesterday.

The Services Were Brief and Simple. Many Distinguished Men in Attendance—President-Elect Cleveland Was Among Those Who Followed the Remains to the Grave—Cabinet Officers, Representatives of the Senate and House and State Officials Also Present—A Large Military Display.

FERMONT, Ohio, Jan. 20.—On the crest of a snow-clad slope by the side of his beloved wife, the bier surrounded by his children, the President-elect, members of President Harrison's cabinet, representatives of the army and navy of the United States, delegates from both houses of Congress, the Governor of Ohio, members of the legislative bodies and masses of military commands, whose blue uniforms with scarlet and yellow facings and bristling bayonets on a landscape of driven snow added warmth of color to the wintry scene, the remains of ex-President Hayes were laid to rest this afternoon. The entire arrangements of the obsequies had been placed in the hands of Assistant Adjutant General H. C. Corbin, United States Army, and from the opening of the house in Spiegel Grove to the crowds of citizens in the morning until the last echo of the salute fired over the grave late in the afternoon, everything passed off with military precision.

The remains of the ex-President lay in the large family dining room during the morning, where an escort of Grand Army veterans stood guard while the people of Fremont and its surrounding towns were permitted to gaze upon the features which have grown so familiar to them all. The veterans of many fields, troops of school children marching in soldierly ranks behind the grape bound American colors, farmers who had come for twenty miles over all but snowbound roads, marched for hours through the spacious hall to view the dead. General Hayes' remains rested in a neat grave covered casket, the corners rounded into Corinthian columns, while a silver plate bore this brief inscription:

RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, January 17, 1893.

Across his breast was the tri-colored ribbon of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion with the insignia of the same, while on his breast was a badge of the Army of West Virginia. A spray of graceful palms alone rested on the casket, while on the flag covered table were many floral emblems which had arrived from every portion of the country.

It was 11 o'clock when train No. 3, on the Lake Shore, with the special car "Grassmere" bearing President-elect Cleveland, reached the depot. Company D, Sixteenth regiment, had with difficulty maintained an entrance-way through the crowd at the station, and came to "present arms" as the President-elect and Private Secretary O'Brien stepped from the rear platform of the train. They were met by Webb C. Hayes and Colonel Corbin and driven at once to Spiegel Grove. The crowd was motioned into silence as the carriage passed through the crowded streets.

The meeting between the President-elect and members of General Hayes' family was impressive in the extreme. The sons of the late ex-President and his daughter, Miss Fannie received him in the large hallway and Mr. Cleveland clasped each of them fervently by the hand and remained with bowed head. The two ex-Presidents have been closer friends than the public knew for many years, and Mr. Hayes had completed arrangements to attend the inauguration of Cleveland next March, expecting to be the guest of Senator Sherman and Colonel Corbin. It was shortly after 2 o'clock when the funeral ceremonies began. The remains had been carried into one of the larger rooms of the house and the rooms were filled with numerous and distinguished guests.

The services were extremely simple. Dr. James W. Bashford, president of the Ohio Wesleyan University, in which both General and Mrs. Hayes had long been greatly interested, and Rev. J. L. Albritton, pastor of the Methodist Church of this city, officiated, the latter reading the twenty-third Psalm and the former delivered a prayer. A double quartette, led by Prof. Alfred Arthur and David H. Kimberley, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Dorr, of this city, rendered two hymns, of which the ex-President had always been extremely fond. These were "When peace like a river," and "God be with you till we meet again." The beautiful notes of the hymns filled the spacious house as though from some seraphic choir, and were broken only by the occasional sobs of the mourners, while men who had faced an enemy on a hundred fields gave way to their pent-up feelings.

This closed the services at the house, and the remains were then carried to the hearse by members of the Twenty-third Ohio Infantry Association. The honorary pall-bearers were Secretary Foster, Governor McKinley, Gen. Wager Swayne, of New York; Brigadier General Joseph G. Breckinridge, U. S. A.; Captain Howell, U. S. N.; Congressman Haynes, Dr. Culver and Gen. Jacob D. Cox, of Cincinnati. Following them came President-elect Cleveland and William Henry Smith, as a special representative of the family; Postmaster-General Wanamaker, Secretaries Rusk and Noble, members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives, Col. George D. Ruggles, Lieutenant-Colonel Marshal F. Ludington, U. S. A.; Commodore David McComb, Henry D. Pierce, ex secretary of state of Massachusetts; Col. Edward T. Bouve and Col. A. A. Raad, of Massa-husetts; Commandery of the Loyal Legion, officers and ex-officers of the Twenty-third Ohio Volunteer association, Commander I. F. Mack and officers and ex-officers of the Grand Army of Ohio, Governor McKinley and staff, Ohio state officials, trustees of the Ohio State University, officers of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Homes of Xenia and Sandusky; mayors of Fremont, Cleveland and Toledo, with members of the councils of those cities next. Then came the military parade under Colonel Bunker, including the first city troop of Cleveland, Toledo cadets, Sixteenth regiment, National Guard, and Battery D, of Toledo. The civic societies followed and the cortege took up its way with muffled drums under the frost-clad trees and snow-covered roads to Oakwood Cemetery.

The ceremony here was brief, Commander Green, of Eugene Rawson Post No. 32, of this city, reading the soldiers' burial service from the ritual of that order. The silent and motionless troops stood at parade rest on the marble like mound as the remains of the ex-President were lowered to his last resting place beside that of the companion who had been closest and dearest to him in life, whose meeting smile had wooed him across death's dark river into lands of everlasting bliss.

DEMPEY FOUND GUILTY.

The First One of the Homesteaders on Trial for Poisoning Comes to Grief.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 20.—Hugh F. Dempsey, master workman of District Assembly No. 3, Knights of Labor, was found guilty as indicted this afternoon for causing poison to be administered to non-union men employed in the Homestead mill. The jury retired at 10:20 a. m., and after being out until 1:10 p. m., came in for further instructions from the court. The judge told the jury that if they found the prisoner guilty at all it must be on the first count, charging Dempsey with assaulting W. E. Griffiths with intent to commit murder.

Several questions of an unimportant nature, but which showed plainly that the jury intended to bring in a verdict of guilty, were asked and answered by the court. Ten minutes later they returned their verdict and were discharged from further service with the thanks of the court. Dempsey was in a measure prepared for the verdict and betrayed no signs of emotion. He left the courtroom and the crowd outside gathered about him and offered their sympathy. His attorney said the verdict was a false one and he would move for a new trial to-morrow morning.

AS BAD AS DYNAMITE.

A Natural Gas Explosion Wrecks a Store and Injures Several.

RICHMOND, Ind., Jan. 20.—A terrible natural gas explosion occurred last night which destroyed the grocery building and dwelling house of Thomas Crabb, at Tenth and North I streets. Four persons were injured: Mrs. Baker, 80 years old, skull fractured and four ribs broken, will die; Mrs. Thomas Crabb, leg broken and badly bruised; Thomas Crabb, Jr., arm mashed; George Boyce, arm and leg broken.

Funeral of Col. Duff Green Read.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Funeral services over the body of Col. Duff Green Reed, who died in Ward's Island Hospital Monday, were held this afternoon at 309 West Twenty-third street. Col. Reed was sixty-six years old, and was born in Virginia. On the breaking out of the civil war he joined the Confederate army, and was promoted to chief of General Joe Wheeler's staff on the cavalry branch of the Confederate army. He was a brave soldier and distinguished himself in Wheeler's raids. Reed came to New York and became a member of the Confederate veterans camp of this city. Death is said to have resulted from shock caused by the amputation of his leg. Rev. Dr. W. W. Page read the service of the dead of the Protestant Episcopal Church. The body will be buried in the plot of the Confederate veterans camp in Maple Grove cemetery.

This Wasn't a Forgiving Father.

ONONCOCK, Va., Jan. 20.—John Nock, aged 14, eloped with Ella Ailworth, aged 14, and they were married in Maryland. On their return the angry father-in-law opened fire on Nock's house with a double-barreled shotgun and filled it with holes. No one was hurt. Nock had his father in law arrested and bound over to keep the peace.

To Suppress Anarchist Publications.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The press law amendment bill passed its final reading in the senate this afternoon. The bill is designed to enable the government to deal summarily with anarchist publications. It provides for the seizure, by administrative decree, instead of by judicial order, of objectionable criminal publications, and for the imprisonment of their authors and publishers.

City Auditor of Richmond Dead.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 20.—City Auditor Miles H. Turpin, formerly a leading tobacco manufacturer, died to-day.

THE BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

A Great Deal of Important Business Transacted.

The Attendance Was Large and Enthusiastic—A Resolution Passed Urging Virginia's Representatives in Congress to Use Their Influence to Have a Session of the United States District Court Held in Roanoke—Other Resolutions—New Constitution and By-laws Adopted.

The board of trade had an interesting and enthusiastic meeting last night in the circuit courtroom. A large attendance was out and questions of vital importance discussed.

The report of the board of directors was submitted, and the special committee appointed at the last quarterly meeting of the board reported its efforts to have the city of Roanoke properly represented at the coming Columbian Exposition in Chicago.

J. Allen Watts offered a resolution asking Congress for an appropriation to assist in the establishment of a naval rendezvous in Hampton Roads in May; also a resolution urging Virginia's representatives in Congress to use their influence to have a session of the United States District Court for the Western district of Virginia held in Roanoke.

A resolution was offered by O. S. Hawkins petitioning the United States Senate to pass the bill, recently passed by the House of Representatives, granting the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company leave to extend its line into the city of Washington. N. B. Johnston offered a resolution urging Congress to take decisive steps to insure the early completion of the Nicaragua Canal. The resolutions were all adopted.

The constitution and by laws, as revised by the committee in charge, were submitted for approval. They were read and adopted by sections. The clause providing that in future meetings of the board shall be held monthly, instead of quarterly, elicited a heated discussion. It was finally decided that hereafter meetings of the Board of Trade should be held on the first Thursday in each month, opening promptly at 8 o'clock. The next meeting will, therefore, be held on the first Thursday night in February.

Under the new constitution and by-laws all the committees will be revised and several additional ones appointed, which will add much to the usefulness of the board.

THE FARCE KEPT UP.

The Kansas Legislature Still Flinging Away Time.

TOPICKA, Kan., Jan. 20.—The Democratic-Republican combine, by which the State printer and United States Senator were to have been elected, has practically come to grief. Three Democrats this morning failed to answer to their names when the joint convention met to elect a State printer, and it has been given out that unless the Republicans agree to elect a Democrat to the Senate no further negotiations will be entered into.

This morning in the Populist house seven Republican members were ousted and the Populists seated. The reports of the election committee were placed in a hopper and railroaded through. Campbell, Republican, of Doniphan county, who had 46 majority was unseated because he had been postmaster at a small town when he was made the Republican nominee, and Sherman, Republican, of Shawnee county, who had 400 majority, was also unseated. The Republicans and Democrats still continue to recognize the Republican house and all legislative proceedings will be a farce until the court passes upon the legality of the two-house organization.

A Train Goes Through a Bridge.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Jan. 20.—A Lake Erie and Western passenger train went through the bridge spanning the Wabash river at Peru at an early hour this morning. So far as can be learned no one was killed outright, but every passenger on the train was more or less injured. One has since died. Three others are not expected to live. One end of the spans of the immense bridge went down, carrying the train with it. Fire immediately broke out, and in less than an hour the entire train was burned.

Fishermen Strike For Higher Wages.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Jan. 20.—The fishermen's protective association of this city, to get a better remuneration for their labor, have struck for higher prices from shippers of fish from this place.

Farmers Plowing in Montana.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Jan. 20.—Farmers about Great Falls have been plowing for the last three weeks. The thermometer now stands at 50 degrees above zero.

No Choice Yet in Montana.

HELENA, Mont., January 20.—The ballot in the joint assembly for United States Senator to-day resulted as follows: Sanders, 32; Clark, 23; Dixon, 11; Collins 2. No choice.

An Empty Honor for Elkins.

CHARLES TON, W. Va., January 20.—The Republican caucus last night nominated Stephen B. Elkins for the long term and Judge Edwin Maxwell for the short term in the United States Senate.

The Weather.

Forecast for Virginia and North Carolina: Fair, except probable snow in Northern Virginia by Saturday night warmer; winds shifting to southerly.
