Sugar Bounty Past and Prospective. WASHINGTON, June 17.—Commissioner Miller has prepared a statement which shows that the total sugar bounty for the fiscal year ending June 30 will be $9,403,989.87.

The Hawaiian Mission.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—There seems to be a general misunderstanding about the office of United States minister to Hawaii. The public have apparently accepted as true the recent report from Honolulu that Mr. Blount has forwarded his resignation to Washington, and many newspapers have discussed the selection of his successor.

Cleveland Taking His Time.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The president is taking his time about acting on the four remaining cases of the six big Federal positions in Virginia. It has been known for two weeks or more that he had all the documents before him, and speculation has had it that he might make the announcement in a few days or a few weeks.

Clerks Back at Work.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The work of the pension and record division of the war department was resumed just one week after the disaster which practically destroyed the old Ford's theater building.

Postmasters Appointed by the President.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Twenty-three postmasters were appointed by the president. Among them George W. Warren, vice R. R. Flanagan removed, was appointed at Hinton, N. Va., and Adrian Norman at Passaic, N. J., vice B. K. McGrew resigned.

Removing Republican Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Virginia and North Carolina congressmen at present in the city seem to think that there will be smooth sailing from now on in the matter of removing Republican postmasters.

Trouble at Tonawanda.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., June 17.—Not a stroke of work is being done on the lumber docks here and serious trouble is momentarily expected. An excited crowd of fully 800 persons, mostly striking Poles and union lumber shovers, through the entrance to the bridge leading to Little Island.

Richmond Terminal Reorganization.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—Drexel, Morgan & Co. have appointed the Mercantile Trust and Deposit company as their agents in Baltimore to receive Richmond Terminal, Richmond and Danville and East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia securities to be deposited under the reorganization plan.

Pennsylvania Town Burned.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 17.—Dundaff village, in Susquehanna county, 6 miles from Carbondale, is on fire, and having no means of fighting the flames the entire place is threatened with destruction.

No Holiday at the Wedding.

LONDON, June 17.—In the house of commons Mr. Gladstone in reply to a question, intimated that there would be no public holiday on the occasion of the marriage of the Duke of York with the Princess May of Teck.

Mr. Jones Starts For Shanghai.

Wealthy Man Missing.

LIMA, O., June 17.—Ex-Councilman Charles Gottfried, quite wealthy, is mysteriously missing. He went away about a week ago, but as yet no trace of him has been discovered.

THEY DID NOT QUARREL

Emma Borden Denies the Story Told by Matron Reagan.

VALUABLE TESTIMONY FOR LIZZIE

Clear and Connected Story Told by a Sister of the Accused in the Fall River Murder Trial—Evidence is All In and After Argument on Monday Verdict Will Be Given.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 17.—Emma L. Borden, sister of Lizzie Borden, was called and testified as follows:

"We have lived in the house we now live in 21 years last May. At the time of the murder Lizzie was possessed of property as follows: $170 in the B. M. C. Duffee Safe Deposit and Trust company; $2,000 in the Massachusetts National bank; $500 in the Union Savings bank; $111 in the Fall River Five Cent Savings bank; four shares of the Fall River National bank stock; four shares of the Merchants' Manufacturing company stock, and five shares of the same, another date.

"My father wore a ring on his finger. It was given him by Lizzie; she had worn it herself before; he constantly wore it after and it was buried with him. I have an inventory of the clothes in the closet on the afternoon it was searched; made up about a week ago from my recollection; there were 18 or 19 dresses there; only one belonging to Mrs. Borden, the others were Lizzie's and mine. I was there when the searching was being done.

That Bedford Cord Dress.

"Lizzie and I both went to the attorney's to assist in opening the trunks. We never made the slightest objection to searches, and asked them to come as often as they could and make as thorough searches as they could. The Bedford cord dress was made the first week in May at our home; it was a very cheap dress, 12 1/2 or 15 cents a yard, and about 8 or 9 yards in it, plainly trimmed. Not more than two days were used in making the dress; Lizzie and I assisted, as we always did; the work was done in the guest room, where it was always done; the dressmaker made several for us at the same time. The painters began work after the dress was made. Lizzie got some paint on this dress within two weeks after it was made; she got the paint on the front breadth and on the side; that dress was hanging in the front closet on the day I came home. I know because I went to hang up a dress and found there was no nail.

How the Dress Was Burned.

Question—Did you say anything to Lizzie about that dress because there was no nail there?

(Objected to, but allowed.) Answer—I did; I said, "You haven't destroyed that old dress yet; why don't you do so?" It was very dirty, badly faded, and I don't remember having seen her use it for some time; it couldn't have been made over because besides being badly soiled the material and color was such as to render it impossible. It was a very long dress, an inch a half longer than her pink wrapper; the sleeves were full and the waist was a blouse waist; the back skirt was longer than any other dress except those cut on train. She had no other dress which she could have got over that dress, because they were made to snug. She could not have had it on under the pink wrapper because it would have shown. The next I saw of the Bedford dress I was in the kitchen on Saturday when I heard my sister's voice; I looked around and saw her with the dress on her arm. She said, "I'm going to burn this old dress," and I said, "I would," or "why don't you," and turned away. I did not see her burn the dress. Miss Russell was there at the time.

What Miss Russell Said.

Question—What happened next in reference to this dress after the burning. Was anything said by Miss Russell in regard to this dress? Answer—Yes, Monday Miss Russell came to us in the dining room and said she had told Mr. Hanson a falsehood and I asked her if what that was for. She said she asked her if all the dresses were in the house that were there at the time of the murder, and she said yes. Then it was decided between us all that she go and tell Mr. Hanson she had told a falsehood. My sister said at the time: "Why didn't you tell him about it; why did you let me do it?" "I remember the story about the quarrel between my sister and I; it was told me by you (Mr. Jennings) the morning the story was published; I never had any such conversation with my sister as was reported; there was never any trouble or quarrel in the matron's room between us while she was there or anything that could be construed into a quarrel."

Matron Reagan's Story Denied.

Witness contended that the relations between Lizzie and Mrs. Borden were entirely cordial. Witness said that the breach caused by the giving of property to her stepmother was never healed so far as she was concerned, although it was on Lizzie's part; she knew of no enmity her stepmother had in the world. Emma Borden said on cross-examination: "I never have seen the handleless hatchet and I don't know anything about it. I don't remember ever seeing but one hatchet and I can't describe it to you; no interview whatever took place between Lizzie and me as stated by Mrs. Reagan; I remember Mr. Jennings saying when he came in that he would like to see my sister alone. I don't remember saying anything in particular; there was nothing but ordinary conversation."

The Evidence is All In, and the Arguments of the Counsel will Begin Monday.

Joe Jefferson's Illness.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 17.—Joseph Jefferson left New York on the steamboat Pilgrim on his way to Buzzard's Bay. He seemed in bad condition for the trip and looked very unwell as he was led on the boat. During the night he was taken quite ill, and a physician was hunted up. It was said that he was not dangerously ill, but very weak.

Crookedness Alleged at Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, June 17.—A startling discovery was made in the affairs of the Central Railroad and Banking company of Georgia. Nathaniel W. James produced correspondence in which it appears that Henry James & Co., lumber merchants of Baltimore, had offered to sell lumber to the railroad company at $7.50 per thousand, and had been requested by Hopkins & Soley of Savannah to bill it at $70 per thousand. The proposition was declined. It was further shown that this character of transactions has taken place with merchants in other cities with a different result.
