

SALEM NEWS.

F. A. LOVELOCK, Agent and Correspondent.

SALEM ADVERTISEMENTS.

SILVER-SPANGLED HAMBURGS, the fowls which were the great attraction at the recent poultry show. Eggs hatch well; chicks easily raised. 18 eggs for $1.50. For sale by S. D. GOODE, Salem, Va. 4 21 1m

MOSES SPURLOCK'S SURE CURE FOR Chicken Cholera and Roup. Easily administered. Highly endorsed by those who have tried it. Full directions with each bottle. For sale by Dillard & Persinger, Salem, and W. R. Engleby, Roanoke. 4 15 1m

ICE!
ICE!
ICE!

Having leased the Crystal Ice Company's plant for a term of years, I am now ready to furnish the trade with ice by the carload or 100 pounds at the lowest market price. Address

A. KALTHOFF,
3 17 4m SALEM, VA.

SALEM MINORCA YARDS.
Minorcas a specialty. Eggs from prize winning birds. Black Minorcas, $1.25 for 13; white Minorcas, $1.50 for 13; securely packed. Address J. B. FOLDBEN, Salem, Va. 2 24 1m

EGGS FOR SETTING.
From prize-winning stock, including Mammoth Bronze Turkeys, Mammoth White Turkeys, Toulouse Geese, White Chinese Geese, Imperial Pekin Ducks, Light Brahmas, Dark Brahmas, Langshans, S. C. Brown Leghorns, Houdans, Silver-laced Wyandottes, Buff Cochins, Partridge Cochins, Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Plymouth Rocks and Pit Games. Write for descriptive catalogue and prices to
R. REID HARDING,
Alleghany Springs, Va.
2 21 1m

FOR 6 CTS.

In Postage, we will send a Sample Envelope, of either WHITE, FLESH or BRUNETTE

POZZONI'S POWDER.

You have seen it advertised for many years, but have you ever tried it?—If not,—you do not know what an Ideal Complexion Powder is.

POZZONI'S

besides being an acknowledged beautifier, has many refreshing uses. It prevents chafing, sunburn, wind-stain, lessens perspiration, etc.; in fact it is a most delicate and desirable protection to the face during hot weather. It is sold Everywhere.

For sample, address
J. A. POZZONI CO. St. Louis, Mo.

MENTION THIS PAPER.

$5.00
$4.00
$3.50
$2.50
$2.25
$2.00
GENTLE

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.
W. L. DOUGLAS Shoes are stylish, easy fitting, and give better satisfaction at the price advertised than any other make. Try one pair and be convinced. The stamping of W. L. Douglas' name and price on the bottom, which guarantees their value, saves thousands of dollars annually to those who wear them. Dealers who push the sale of W. L. Douglas Shoes gain customers, which helps to increase the sales on their full line of goods. They can afford to sell at a less profit, and we believe you can save money by buying all your footwear of the dealer advertised below.

W. L. DOUGLAS
$3 SHOE BEST IN THE WORLD.
W. L. DOUGLAS Shoes are stylish, easy fitting, and give better satisfaction at the price advertised than any other make. Try one pair and be convinced. The stamping of W. L. Douglas' name and price on the bottom, which guarantees their value, saves thousands of dollars annually to those who wear them. Dealers who push the sale of W. L. Douglas Shoes gain customers, which helps to increase the sales on their full line of goods. They can afford to sell at a less profit, and we believe you can save money by buying all your footwear of the dealer advertised below.

MEALS & BURKE, Roanoke.
SMITH & UPTON, Vinton.

THE TIMES COUPON

For the Historical Art Series of the World's Fair, entitled

The Magic City.

Send or bring to this office ONE coupon like this, with 10 cents in stamps or coin, and get any number so far issued of "The Magic City."

OUT THIS OUT.

Spectmen Cases.
S. H. CLIFFORD, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his Stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Christian & Barbee, Drug Store.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

THE TIMES KODAK.

Interesting News Items Gathered Around Salem.

Evans Morgan, one of the guards in the penitentiary, is home to spend a few days with his friends and relatives in the county.

The town yesterday invested in a lawn mower and Jailer Lloyd improved the shining hours by cutting the courthouse lawn.

The town of Salem registration books show that there are now 840 voters registered, 333 of which have been registered since 1892.

Miss Alice Spindle, who has been teaching in Heywood, N. C., has returned home to spend the summer with her father and mother.

The children of the public schools are rehearsing their parts in the commencement exercises which will take place in the town hall on May 24.

The Roanoke County Protective Association will meet at the hall at Hollins on Saturday, May 12, at 2 p. m.

Mrs. D. C. Shanks, wife of Lieut. D. C. Shanks, U. S. A., is here visiting her father-in-law and other relatives.

Revs. Spencer and Lilly, of the Disciples denomination, will commence a protracted meeting at their church across the river on the night of the 14th inst.

R. E. Hickok, druggist of Christiansburg, attended the meeting of the district stewards here yesterday and incidentally visited his brother, J. S. Hickok.

Mrs. J. B. Cameron died at her home in Mason's Cove, about seven miles from Salem, Tuesday night, aged 25, leaving a husband and several children, one a babe only a week old.

Miss Alice Hargrove, one of the brightest of the teachers at the Salem public school, will shortly go the Randolph-Macon Academy as assistant instructor of mathematics.

The Salem barrel stove factory commenced work yesterday morning, but had to stop on account of being short of water. This will be remedied at once so that work can proceed.

Mrs. Mary Whitesides, who for the past few years has suffered from softening of the brain, is now thought to be critically ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. G. Morgan, on Broad street.

A cablegram received from Lieutenant Thomas Griffin, U. S. A., announced the fact that the cruiser Charleston left Montevideo, May 8, for Callao, Peru, which port she should reach in the next few weeks.

The Jeff. Davis Rifles will meet in their armory Saturday night to determine whether they will go to Richmond on the 30th of May to take part in the ceremonies attendant upon the unveiling of the Confederate soldiers' and sailors' monument.

The annual meeting of the district stewards of the Roanoke District, M. E. Church South, took place yesterday in the study of the pastor of Salem station, some eighteen or twenty members being present. Amongst the business transacted was the levying of the assessment among the different churches to pay the presiding elder's salary of $1,400 and the assessment of conference collections on the basis of salaries paid the preachers throughout the district last year.

Mr. FRANK SPARKS, of the Philadelphia office of A. D. Dick Company, representing one of the most valuable of Edison's inventions, the mimeograph, is now exhibiting throughout the State this well-known device in connection with the new mimeograph typewriter, and we learn will stop over in Roanoke a day or two on the 9th inst with a view to interesting some of our merchants, etc.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price, 25 cents per box. For sale by Christian & Barbee.

Those "Magic City" bindings are going like hot cakes. Bring in your numbers and get them exchanged for a bound copy—costs 75 cents or $1.50.

For Over Fifty Years:
Mrs. WINSLOW'S SCORING SYRUP has been used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pains, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle. So do "y's" druggists throughout the world.

SAVE ICE AND MONEY by using the celebrated "Wayne" self ventilating refrigerators, for sale by THE E. H. STEWART FURNITURE COMPANY.

It Should Be in Every House.
J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free Trial Bottles at Christian & Barbee's. Large bottles, 50 cents and $1.00.

MAGNETIC NERVINE quickly restores lost manhood and youthful vigor. Sold by Christian & Barbee.

Those "Magic City" bindings are going like hot cakes. Bring in your numbers and get them exchanged for a bound copy—costs 75 cents or $1.50.

A LADY at Tooleys, La., was very sick with bilious colic, when M. C. Tisler, a prominent merchant of the town, gave her a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says she was well in forty minutes after taking the first dose. For sale by the Chas Lyle Drug Company, druggists.

Chance for Boys
WIDE-AWAKE boys can make money selling THE ROANOKE TIMES. Apply at once to Circulation Department and earn some money to jingle in your pockets.

BERMUDA SKETCHES.

Varied Phases of Social Life and Pleasure There.

[Special Correspondence.]
HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 9.—The sight that greeted my gaze upon coming on deck after those three woeful days spent in the seclusion of my cabin drove every unpleasant recollection from my mind. The profession of green tropical foliage scudding past us on the shores of these 365 islands, the wonderful radiance of the bright blue sky and the soft, balmy springiness in the air afforded a marvelous contrast to the weather we had left behind us in New York only 65 hours before.

We went immediately to our hotel, where a note from a member of the one Bermudian family whom we were fortunate enough to know informed us of the death the night before of a near relative, whose funeral the next day would prevent our friends from coming to us until the afternoon following. Later, upon inquiry, I was told that on account of the warmth of the climate and the total absence of ice—except in the largest hotels, which manufacture their own—it was found always necessary to give interment the day after death. Since it would be impossible to procure mourning at such short notice, it has become the custom of the islanders to borrow from one another the requisite habiliments for the funeral.

It will be remembered that Bermuda is one of England's most powerful strongholds, second only to Gibraltar in being the strongest fortified place in the world, and therefore the military and naval society ranks among the highest to be found in any of the British possessions, the finest regiments and battalions being sent out from "home" to protect this important station. It is curious how faithfully the British colonists speak of "home." Even those of them who have never been to England, and whose ancestors for generations have never set foot there, always speak of the motherland as "home."

Prince George of England, now Duke of York, with his late lamented brother, the Duke of Clarence, passed several months in Bermuda during the winter of 1891. The loyal-hearted, hospitable Bermudians vied with one another in good natured efforts to give the royal guests a good time.

A certain wealthy Bermudian matron was giving a lawn party in honor of the royal visitors—a formal affair, after the approved custom of heavy English hospitality—when suddenly in the midst of the uncomfortable mantle of constraint that enveloped the party Prince George made a dash for an open space in full view of those assembled to do him honor and proceeded to turn a series of somersaults, much to the embarrassment of his subjects.

DRIVING IN BERMUDA.

Soon after our arrival we discovered that a donkey cart ride was unquestionably the proper caper with which to while away the morning hours. We captured one of these picturesque little vehicles that are always lying in wait for patronage at every turn and set out on an exploration of the two largest islands, with a feeling in our hearts of placid satisfaction at having secured "the most reliable animal in these yer parts, miss." As here are a good hundred miles of highway in Bermuda, the two principal islands being connected by a huge causeway, we soon found that frequent inquiry as to our route was necessary, and, having prodded my quaint little beast with the butt end of my whip as a reminder that in the next field beyond stood an old negro whom I desired to interview before he should reach an adjoining pasture for which he was walking, I uttered a series of forceful ejaculations at the utter indifference of my long eared jack to even my most energetic efforts at persuasion. I had just settled myself back in the trap, with a resignation born of necessity, when, with a distant bray resounding in my ears and an answering salute from close at hand, I became conscious of a tremendous bound, then a mighty lunge of the cart, and finally a sensation akin to that one experiences in shooting the rapids of the St. Lawrence during a storm, but intensified a hundredfold. For an interminable second I was dazed. I wasn't quite sure whether Bermuda was in the throes of an earthquake or whether indeed I was in Bermuda at all! Finally I pulled myself together and opened my eyes and beheld the somewhat disconcerting spectacle of a black skinned face twisting in most extraordinary contortions of silent mirth above me. On seeing my eyes fixed upon him he ventured to assure me, between writhings of the most wonderfully and fearfully repressed laughter I have ever witnessed, that nothing serious had happened. "The cart warn't injured, the critter's all right, and the other lady a-sittin' plunk's a book in that yer bad o' onions." My mentalities not yet having grasped the situation, my mirthful friend proceeded to enlighten me further. It seemed that on hearing the hospitable bray of the donkey in the field my "critter" had responded in friendly fashion and concluded to accept the urgent invitation of his brother. A low stone wall being the only obstruction between him and his desideratum, he had unceremoniously leaped the barrier, dragging the cart, and incidentally ourselves after him.

On returning the "critter" to his master I gave vent to a verbal explosion that I trust may benefit the next unsuspecting mortal who unwarily sets out "to do" the islands behind the fractious little beast.

JANE DOBSON O'HERN.

RED TERRORS OF MEXICO.

The Fierce Yaqui Indians Again on the Warpath.

[Special Correspondence.]
HERMOSILLO, Mexico, April 14.—Many ethnologists believe that the Yaqui Indians of northern Mexico are identical with the Apaches, who for so many years set the troops of the United States at defiance and made travel dangerous and settlement well nigh impossible in parts of New Mexico and Arizona. The Apaches, until conquered after a quarter of a century of fighting, had their hunting grounds in the Sierra Madre mountains, which, from central Colorado down to Panama, form the backbone or great watershed of the continent. The Apache language so closely resembles that of the Yaquis, who occupy the same mountain range just to the south, that they can communicate with each other without using the sign language; but, language apart, the appearance and habits of these two blood-thirsty tribes would point to a common origin even if they were far removed from each other instead of being neighbors.

The Apaches have been conquered, but their kinsmen, the Yaquis, are as bold, defiant and cruel today as they were when, 350 ago, they threw themselves across the path of Coronado and his malleable explorers and taught them that if they found an Eldorado to the north they must mark their trail with their own graves.

Those parts of the states of Sonora and Sinaloa lying along the Yaqui river, which has its source in the spur of the Sierra Madre, known as the Yaqui range, have been again and again devastated by these fierce Ishmaelites of the hills, whose hands are against every man, and who glory in the knowledge that every man's hand is against them.

Again and again the Yaquis have routed the best Mexican troops under the ablest officers. At any time they can bring a thousand hardy, well armed warriors into the field, and when hard pressed they retreat to the mountain fastnesses, where, if pursuit is not absolutely impossible, they can set it at defiance. They pay no heed to the changes of government going on about them. The white man or the man with a drop of white blood in his veins is their foe, and that is enough.

It is said that the Yaquis hold as slaves hundreds of men and women whom they captured as children after slaying their protectors, and more than once they have carried off men high in authority and forced the government to treat with them for ransom. In the whole history of social war there is no record of a contest so long continued, so bitterly persistent and so cruel and sanguinary as that which the unconquered and unconquerable Yaquis have waged against the white conqueror and his descendants.

As it is a year or two since there was a Yaquis outbreak those who did not know them well were beginning to nurse the hope that for the future these mountain desperadoes would remain content in their inaccessible homes in the Sierra Madre; but, as so often before, we have been doomed to a bitter disappointment.

In the hope of peace many Mexican and American settlers have within the past two years taken up land and established homes along the beautiful and fertile valley of the Yaqui river. These peaceable people were entirely unprepared for the fierce raiders who two weeks ago suddenly came down like mountain wolves on the folds of the husbandmen and burned his ranches, murdered his family and carried off his herds.

With spasmodic energy the governors of the northern states of Mexico have sent troops after the Yaquis, but no one expects they will accomplish anything. These red marauders have a perfect spy system. They know to a man the strength of their opponents, and where it is not safe to fight they can always retreat without loss.

It is a curious fact that while these Indians are supposed to have no communication with the white man they are well supplied with the latest and best arms, and they use them as expertly as the best drilled soldiers in the world. Outside of the awful loss of life caused by these people and the wanton destruction of property, it is estimated that Mexico has spent fully $20,000,000 in trying to exterminate them. Yet after centuries of fighting they are today as strong, self-reliant and dangerous as when they first used their arrows against the Spanish invader.

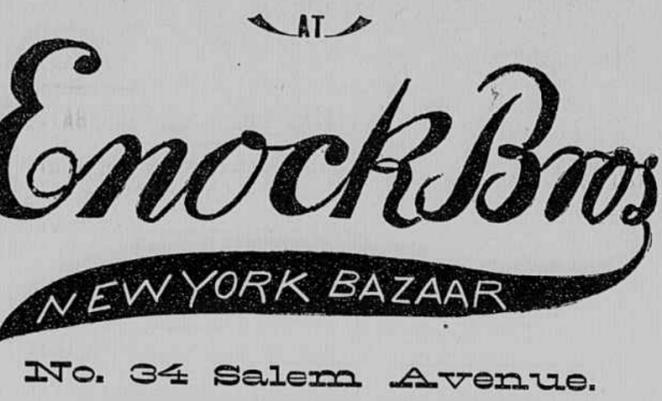

J. T. MANNING.

Which Is the King of Beasts?
In discussing the question, "Which is the king of beasts?" an old African hunter says:

"Come with me to a desert pool some clear moonlight night, when the shadows are deep and sharply cut, and the moon herself in the dry, cloudless air looks like a ball. All is nearly as bright as day, only the light is silver, not gold. Sit down on that rock and watch the thirsty animals as they drink—buffalo, rhinoceros, antelope, quagga and occasionally, if the water is large, lions too. But what has frightened the antelope and quagga that they throw their heads up for a second and fade away into the shadows? The other beasts, too, are listening and now leave the sides of the pool. Nothing but the inevitable, irrepressible jackal, that gamin among wild things, remains in view. As yet your dull human ears have caught no sound. But very soon the heavy tread and low, rumbling note of an oncoming herd of elephants reaches you. They are at the water. The jackals have sat down, with their tails straight out behind them, but not another creature is to be seen. The king drinks. Not a sound is heard. He squirts the water over his back, makes the whole pool muddy and retires solemnly, leaving his subjects, who now gather round to make the best of what he has fouled. This is the king in the opinion of beasts."

A Comforting Faith.
An African belief is that angels spend their time pulling off the bills of mosquitoes.

A Money-Saving Sale

No. 34 Salem Avenue.

You Can Buy New Spring Goods In Many Cases At Half Their Real Value.

We Will Not Carry Anything Over Till Next Season. Every Piece Must Go Now.

CUT PRICES on Everything. We Mention a Few Items Below.

DRESS GOODS and SILKS.

- Handsome All-wool Dress Goods, 38 Inches Wide, Former Price, 50 cents. Now 33 cents.
- Beautiful All-wool Fancy Serges, 44 Inches Wide, Former Price, 75 cents. Now 60 cents.
- Very Pretty Dress Goods in Fancy Serge, 36 Inches Wide, Former Price, 33 cents. Now 25 cents.
- New Shirting and Dress Duck, Pretty Designs, Former Price, 17 cents. Now 10 cents.
- New Outings in all Colors—Stripes and Figures, Former Price, 12 1-2 cents. Now 10 cents.
- All Colors in "Moire" Silks, 50 cents.
- Handsome Figured India Dress Silks, 50 cents.

BEAUTIFUL LAWNs, GINGHAMs, PERCALES, SWISSES, DIMITIES, INDIA LINENS, Etc.

LACES, RIBBONS, EMBROIDERIES, HANDKERCHIEFS, SILK MITTS, GLOVES, UMBRELLAS AND PARASOLS.

MILLINERY.
THE VERY LATEST, THE LARGEST ASSORTMENT, AT THE VERY LOWEST PRICE.

"Nuff" Said.
Respectfully,
Enock Bros
NEW YORK BAZAAR