Meeting of Woman's Auxiliary.
The joint branch of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Christ's Episcopal Church.

To Preside Over the Vinton Presbyterian Church.
Rev. Frank E. Robbins, of Texas, has taken charge, for the summer, of the Presbyterian Church of Vinton and Woodside.

At the St. John's Parish Building.
A brief service preparatory to the holy communion will be held on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The confirmation class, brotherhood men and others are cordially invited to attend.

First Picnic of the Season.
The first picnic of the season was held at Carr's woods yesterday by a party of young people of Southwest Roanoke. The enjoyable entertainment was gotten up by Miss Hatlie DuPriest and Miss Licklider.

Conference of Division Superintendents.
The division superintendents of the Norfolk and Western were in conference yesterday in this city about the changing of the schedule on the road, which, when made up, will go into effect May 20.

Taken Charge of Bethany Church.
Rev. John Van Lear, formerly of Lexington, has taken charge of Bethany Presbyterian Church. He is a native of Louisiana, and a graduate of the Union Theological Seminary of Hampden-Sydney.

Will Preach at the Old Opera House Sunday.
Elder F. J. Stone, of Stoneville, N. C., a prominent minister of the Primitive Baptist Church, will preach at the old Opera House next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. After preaching the ordinance of baptism will be administered to candidates in some stream near the city.

No Fines Imposed Yesterday.
No fines were imposed in police court yesterday morning. Robert Noel was tried for a misdemeanor and discharged. William Lowery and Tom Marsten, two young colored men, were arraigned for disturbing public worship at High Street Baptist Church and were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Taken Back on a Charge of Abduction.
Deputy Sheriff Price, of Franklin county, passed through the city yesterday in charge of Lillie Akers, a young colored woman whom he arrested in Lynchburg Wednesday night on the charge of abducting Nannie Mills, a 13-year old girl, also colored. Mr. Price arrested both young women in a house of ill-repute at Lynchburg and was taking them to Rocky Mount for trial.

Hustings Court Grand Jury.
Very little business was transacted in the courts yesterday. The special grand jury was in session nearly all day in the Hustings Court, and made one indictment, Maria Pendergraft, colored, for felony, charged with stealing $62 from Joe Bell, colored. The object of the grand jury is to find an indictment against the Radford infanticide, Fannie Bowles, but very few witnesses were forthcoming and the jury was discharged until 2:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon.

Meeting of Third Ward Republicans.
The Third Ward Republican Club held a meeting last night in Sheridan's hall which was attended by a large number of voters. S. E. Sproul presided over the meeting and Louis Smith acted as secretary. Speeches were made by Col. J. W. Hartwell, Capt. Phillip Lockett, Judge Thomas B. Claiborne, J. S. Pattie, John Engleby and Dr. Bowling, colored.

The speakers were liberally applauded and the meeting was a harmonious one.

Juniors Will Go to Portsmouth.
The Junior Hose Company held their regular semi-monthly meeting last night in their hall in the engine house. After transacting the routine business the company decided to attend the sixth annual meeting of the State Firemen's Association, which will be held at Portsmouth, June 6, 7 and 8. It is the intention of the company to take with it the drum corps of the Roanoke Light Infantry if money can be procured to defray the additional expenses. A subscription for this purpose will be circulated among the citizens today.

Captured One of the Thieves.
Thieves entered the bottling establishment of Nicholas & Woodward and carried away a large number of bottles Wednesday night. E. R. Woodward, the managing member of the firm, put his wits to work and traced the property to a junk shop on Robertson avenue, where he found Marcellas Walker, colored, engaged in sorting the bottles. In a twinkling Mr. Woodward was on the negro's collar and in a few twinklings had turned him over to a policeman. Yesterday morning the trial was postponed to Saturday with the hope that Walker's confederates could be captured.

UNION EVANGELISTIC MEETING.

Prayer Meeting and Evening Service Largely Attended.

The fourteenth of the series of union evangelistic meetings last night was largely attended. Rev. R. C. Anderson, Jr., of the Second Presbyterian Church, read the lesson of the evening, and Rev. E. B. Pollard, of the First Baptist Church, invoked the Divine blessing.

Rev. H. C. Garrison, of Fourth Avenue Christian Church, preached an able sermon from the 7th and 8th verses of the 4th chapter of the first epistle of Paul to Timothy, and was followed with prayer by Rev. Len. G. Broughton, of Calvary Baptist Church, and singing of "Just as I am, Without One Plea" by the choir.

The congregation was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Anderson, but many remained for the after meeting. Rev. Pollard delivered an earnest exhortation and many arose and asked that prayer be made for friends.

Afternoon Prayer Meeting.
The union prayer meetings yesterday afternoon were largely attended. In the woman's meeting Mrs. C. M. Fortune had charge of the exercises, which consisted of singing, praying and an interchange of opinions as to the best methods of adopting woman's influence to the aid of the evangelistic services held nightly.

In the business men's meeting Judge W. S. Gooch conducted the services. His comments on the lesson read were impressive and instructive. He was followed by T. T. Fishburne, Rev. Joseph Stras, Capt. John H. Wright, Capt. N. T. Ford, George W. Brasington and D. W. Decker, of Altoona.

BRETHREN CONVENTION.

Second Day's Proceedings of the Annual Event Being Held Here.

The brethren convention convened at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning, Rev. D. C. Moomaw, the moderator, presiding. John Kopp and John Hock were elected to fill vacancies on the board of missions.

Several ministers submitted reports, embracing the number of sermons preached during the past year, number of admissions to their respective churches, deaths of members, amount of collections, etc., which were discussed briefly and received.

George C. Moomaw, chairman of the committee on education, made a verbal report, and Revs. B. C. Moomaw, T. J. Pharoey and the moderator spoke encouragingly of the college at Ashland, and the conference, by resolution, pledged it the patronage of its members.

The report of the committee on queries was called for and submitted. The several queries were discussed pro and con by members of the convention.

Afternoon Session.
The report of the committee on church literature reported through its chairman, Rev. B. C. Moomaw, and a collection was taken up for the benefit of the book and tract work.

The committee on ministerial support was not ready to report, but Revs. B. C. Moomaw, T. J. Pharoey, E. B. Shaver, George A. Copp and others gave their views on the reciprocal duty of churches and ministers.

They Want Names.
The Russell Art Publishing Company, of 928 Arch street, Philadelphia, desire the names and address of a few people in every town who are interested in works of art, and to secure them they offer to send free "Cupid Guides the Boat," a superbly executed water color picture, size 10x13 inches, suitable for framing, and sixteen other pictures about same size, in colors, to any one sending them at once the names and address of ten persons (admirers of fine pictures), together with six two-cent stamps to cover expense of mailing, etc. The regular price of these pictures is $1, but they can all be secured free by any person forwarding the names and stamps promptly.

A SILK WORM'S THREAD.

The Wonderful Creation of a Still More Wonderful Insect.

Silk! What a wonderful product it is, and what a marvelous trade has sprung out of it! One of the astonishing facts in the history of the human race is the way in which great results are attained for it out of little causes. It is conceivable that the food of man might have been derived from some of the largest fruits or nuts or roots which grow upon the earth. The bulk of the bread of mankind—"the staff of life"—is, however, drawn, as all know, not from the heavy broad fruit or big tubers, but from the comparatively minute grains of wheat, barley and rye, millet and rice. In like manner the larger portion of the garments of human beings is obtained from the short wool on the backs of sheep and goats or from the small pod of the cotton plant, which hides its seeds in a ball of white fluff from which we spin the cotton. Silk is an especially notable instance of the way in which our race makes much out of little for its needs.

Here is an insignificant worm which feeds upon the glistening leaves of the mulberry and gradually fills itself with a sticky compound which has for its direct purpose to compose the cocoon. When the time comes for the worm to undergo that strange metamorphosis into the chrysalis, it ceases to eat and slowly weaves round itself a casing composed entirely of one long thread. Its spinning finished, the attenuated creature takes the intermediate form preparatory to its winged state as a moth, nor is anything in nature more full of creative mystery and design. What the worm does for its own lonely ends man undoes for objects of beauty, fashion and comfort. The silk grower patiently unravels the lustrous thread from the point where the silkworm began to that where its filmy house was finished, and from this tiny plunder springs the whole vast edifice of the silk industry. To the small pale worm beauty owes her most lovely and glittering raiment, nor has art anything more exquisite to fashion, to embroider, to bestow in splendid folds or to imitate in painting than the soft shining web which is made from the poor worm's patient labor.

Extraordinary is the difference between the minute cocoon and the great bale of Lyons or china satin—the unconscious toil of the caterpillar and the looms that in a thousand factories and workshops interlace the thin fiber into such superb and dazzling patterns. Nothing can imitate, nothing excel the charm of that fine microscopic tissue drawn by the worm's magic from the mulberry leaf. It possesses a natural glitter which is shared by nothing else in the world and which makes it resemble under the microscope waving circles of gold. Manufactured into cloth, it gives us a substance at once light and warm, durable and freely taking all sorts of dyes, each creature contributing in his cocoon about 1,000 feet of the thin thread. The west knew nothing of silk at all before the reign of Augustus, though the Chinese had woven it ever since 2700 B. C. Some Persian monks first brought eggs of the silkworm in a hollow cane to Constantinople, A. D. 552. The Emperor Justinian took the business up, and so it spread to Italy, Spain and southern France, although China was still the chief source of supply.—London Telegraph.

Keep Plant Leaves Clean.

One of the difficulties in the cultivation of plants in a sitting room is that the dry air and dust tend to clog the pores of the leaves. Deprived of the rain which would naturally cleanse them and not often watered with a rose-pot or syringe, the plants kept in a room are apt gradually to lose their health and look miserable, if they do not altogether die. The best remedy for this is the regular use of a small piece of soft old sponge with slightly warm water, and if a little soft soap is added all the better. Especially is this necessary in the winter when dust is rife, and as "blight" is then at its weakest point a thorough cleansing during the cold months will result in freedom from it during the summer. Practice and delicate handling are needed for success. Some plants are much easier to sponge than others. Among these may be mentioned the india rubber plant, and also small specimens of palms, both of which need frequent washings when grown in a room. Orange trees and many other plants exude a kind of sticky essential oil, which catches the dust. They therefore require special attention. Aspidistras and many other plants need sponging often to keep them in health—in fact, all plants with overgreen foliage and others which will bear it are strengthened and improved by the free use of the sponge.—Cleveland Leader.

Loosing.

We learn to love by loving. It grows by practice. Like everything else, it gathers strength through exercise. The more we keep at it the easier and more natural it becomes. We can form the habit of looking at people with love, thinking about them with love, speaking of them in love and acting toward them lovingly. Our deeds will react upon our thoughts, and our thoughts and feelings will prompt to action. So we may become steeped in love. It will radiate from us as the light from the lamps. We shall be charged with it as the battery is with electricity, and power will go out from us. So instead of crying idly, "Oh, for more love!" let us lay more stress upon the practice. If we continually use what we have, it will increase.—New York Ledger.

Florida's Lakes.

Florida is one of the greatest of lake states, if the number of its lakes and lakelets entitle it to be so classed. It has a half score of considerable lakes, including Okechobe, with more than 600 square miles and many scores of small lakes and ponds scattered over an area 40 or 50 miles wide and several hundred miles long.—Chicago Herald.
