"PROTECTING" INSURANCE COMPANIES.

One needs no special gift of discernment to understand the plain meaning of the evidence brought out in the insurance inquiry regarding W. S. Manning of Albany. Manning like many others received an annual retainer from the Equitable Life Assurance society, paid him through John A. Nichols, a legal agent. The retainer, Nichols admits, was paid Manning because he was "inimical", to the company. He was formerly an actuary connected with the insurance investigation in 1877 and knew much about life insurance affairs. Hence the company found it desirable to "do business" with him. Manning himself says his function was "to shield and defend the insurance companies against pernicious attacks at Albany."

One of the favorite excuses of the insurance officials for some of their peculiar performances and expenditures has been that they were reluctantly compelled to "care for" state legislatures to protect themselves from blackmail. The Manning case suggests that these officials were so easy prey for sandbaggers because their own methods were rotten and they knew it. They had facts to conceal from the public and the policyholders and they had vicious features of mismanagement which they did not wish to have reformed. They were bad and they did not want to do better. The facts throw a flood of light on their plan about getting necessary protection.

From legislative activities has led to the policyholders' interests they need have little fear if their methods had been clean.

Public sentiment would have attended to that. It was because they were crooked and knew they were crooked that they lived in perpetual fear and an easy prey for blackmailers both in and out of the legislatures. The "protection" which they say they had to buy was chiefly protection against exposures of their own actions.

Murder is still the leading industry in Russia.

London would appreciate it if some one would furnish a job to its army of unemployed workmen.

King Alfonso does not see the use of being a king if he cannot marry the girl with whom he is in love.

There is nearly as much red tape about electing a king of Norway as there is about digging the Panama canal.

For Mr. Roosevelt the problem of retiring will be not "what to do," but which of a vast number and variety of things not to do.

Still, the fact that the foreign engineers want a sea level canal would carry more weight if the foreign governments had to foot the bills.

President McCall does not seem to have observed that the country is eagerly awaiting a few remarks from him on the salary question.

The president of the Mutual life insurance company will try to worry along on a salary of $75,000 a year. In the great work McCurdy is doing for humanity he can afford to be deaf and blind to mere monetary considerations.

Mc Tarball cannot even claim that he did not know the premiums were "loaded."

WILL CHURCH RETURN HIS TAINTED GOLD?

Delicate Problem to come before the Directors of St. Mark's Church of Seattle--Pastor has become More or Less Prominent in Case.

SEATTLE, Nov. 28.—What will St. Mark's Parish do with the money that it has received from George Edward Adams, the cashier of the assay office, who has confessed to stealing $35,000 and is accused of taking much more? Will the church retain the regular contributions that it has received from Adams, knowing that the money was stolen, or will the money be turned over to the United States government to be used in making up the sum which will the miners that were robbed by Adams?

This question has caused no little discussion among the members of St. Mark's congregation, although there has been nothing done about it officially.

This problem will doubtless come before the directors of the church, and it is a delicate one to handle from any standpoint. In his capacity as spiritual advisor to Mrs. Adams, Dr. Llywd of St. Marks, has been thrust more or less prominently into the Adams case.

AUTOMTBILE STRIKES AMBULANCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Dr. A. P. Barlow, ambulance surgeon of Roosevelt hospital, was killed while on duty tonight on his ambulance. He died within ten minutes.

SPECIAL PLEA OF PACKERS IS DENIED

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Unequivocal denial of the allegations of the packers in their special plea, as filed some time ago in the beef trust hearing, were made by United States District Attorney Morrison in his reply, which he filed today.

The assertions of the packers that they were compelled to appear and testify supplemented later by a more definite plea that they testified and were promised immunity from future prosecutions, are declared by the district attorney to be not founded on facts. The charge that documentary evidence was seized by force is also denied.

It is the expectation of the attorneys for the government and for the packers that the reply of District Attorney Morrison will raise issues of fact which must be tried before a jury.

PUPIL STABS TEACHER

ST. JAMES, MO., Nov. 28.—Harry Evans, teacher at the Collier school, seven miles northwest of here, allows no smoking at school. Dan Bailey, a grown pupil, smoked on the play grounds today at noon. He and the teacher became involved in a fight, in which Evans cut Bailey in the abdomen and neck. Two doctors were called to dress the wounds, which were pronounced serious.

Herr Von Schoen, the German ambassador, will arrive December 10 and the Austro-Hungarian ambassador is cutting short his leave of absence and will return immediately. American Ambassador Meyer, who is now in England, is expected to arrive soon.

It is understood that the Russian government has given an intimation to the foreign powers of the advisability of the presence of their ambassadors here during the present crisis.
