REPUBLICANS

GET OLYMPIA

Olympia, Dec. 3.—Republicans are jubilant tonight over the election returns, which showed the entire republican ticket was elected with one exception. The citizens' party was generally swamped, electing only one candidate and polling only 352 votes for mayor. Jesse McDowell, a "sticker" prohibition candidate for mayor, received 125 votes, and F. W. Stocking, a republican "sticker" candidate for councilman, got 189 votes. W. A. Hagemeyer, the republican candidate for mayor on the straight ticket, was elected over all other candidates with a majority of 97. J. R. Dever, citizens' candidate for city attorney, was elected by 63 majority.

NO POW WOW FOR BRYAN

Belief Grows Stronger that Nebraskan Feels Certain of His Nomination Next Year.

Washington, Dec. 4.—William J. Bryan fears that his modesty will forbid him to attend the next national Democratic convention. This declaration is regarded by republicans and democrats alike as an indication that Bryan feels certain of his nomination next year.

A friend from the west remarked to Bryan that he hoped to see him at the next Democratic national convention.

"Well, I don't know," Bryan replied. "My modesty may prevent me from going. You know I do not get an opportunity to exercise modesty very often, and whenever I do I make the most of it."

"But you attended the last convention," suggested one of the group. "That is true," was the quick reply; "but I did not attend the Kansas City Convention."

The Kansas City convention nominated Bryan for the second time in 1900.

ACCUSED BOY NOT INDICTED

Grand Jury Refused to Bring True Bill Against Harry Kleinschmidt in Oakland.

Oakland, Dec. 4.—The grand jury has refused to return an indictment against Harry Kleinschmidt accused of murdering his friend Frank Bellows, on the grounds of insufficient evidence. District Attorney Brown says he will take no further action in the case. Kleinschmidt was released yesterday on habeas corpus proceedings.

HIS "WANT AD" WIFE A FROST

Ellensburg, Wash., Dec. 3.—D. H. Westcott, the "divorced king" of Kittitas county, has again come out first best in his matrimonial bouts. Judge Ralph Kauffman in the superior court dismissed a suit for maintenance brought by Westcott's fourth wife, a bride of two weeks. In doing so Judge Kauffman took occasion to pay his respects to people who engage in uncertain matrimonial ventures which have their origin in newspaper advertisements.

Westcott is a pioneer of Kittitas county whose business career has been as varied as his matrimonial career. For years he conducted a grocery store here, until it is said one of his brides got the best of his cash register, and he sued for divorce, which he secured. He branched out into other lines of business, and of late has been running a ranch near the city, but in the anticipation of another turn at wedded bliss he traded his ranch for a house in this city, to which he moved his house.

SNOW CLOSES LUMBER CAMP

North Yakima, Dec. 3.—The Cascade Lumber Company of this city has been compelled to close down two of its three camps in the mountains near Easton, owing to the deep snow. About 100 men will be thrown out of employment temporarily by the shutdown. The snow at Easton is about 18 inches deep, which interfered with the logging operations to such an extent that it was necessary to close two of the camps. It is likely they will be opened again later in the winter.

FRUITGROWERS TO INVADE WALLA WALLA

Enormous Gathering of Horticulturists From All Over the State to Meet in January—Wenatchee to Send Delegation

Spokane, Dec. 5.—Five hundred fruit growers from various parts of the Inland Empire are expected to attend the annual convention of the Washington State Horticultural Society, which will meet at Walla Walla, January 29 to 31. Levi G. Monroe, secretary of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Fruit Growers' Association, says that the program for the four days' session promises to be the most interesting in the history of the organization, adding that there will be speakers from the several famous districts in the Pacific Northwest and to explain the methods employed to give the Spokane country, embracing 150,000 square miles in Eastern Washington, Northern Idaho, Western Montana, Northeastern Oregon and Southeastern British Columbia, a fruit crop valued at $14,000,000 in 1907.

Three prizes will be offered by the association for the best displays of fruit. A silver cup will be given the owner of the best ten boxes of apples on exhibition, also a silver cup will be awarded for the best fruit display regardless of quantity or variety. Another silver cup will be given for the best plate display of winter apples.

Fruit growers of the Walla Walla district are making preparations to have on display some of the finest fruit that can be grown in Washington. The contest for the prizes was between Wenatchee and North Yakima in 1906, but a strong effort will be made by Walla Walla to capture the chief awards. While there will be an unusually large attendance from outside points the largest number of fruit growers that has ever attended a similar meeting will be delegates at this one.

It has only been within the last few years that fruit growers in Washington have awakened to the benefits and profits to be gained by modern methods of raising fruit and these annual meetings of the State Horticultural Society have done much to

YAKIMA MAN MURDERED WIFE

North Yakima Jury Brings in a First Degree Verdict after 4 Hours' Deliberation.

North Yakima, Dec. 4.—After deliberating four hours, the jury trying Joseph Flannery on the charge of murdering his wife at Toppenish last May, returned a verdict of murder in the first degree early today.

The message was signed "Mrs. A. Barry," and stated that they were leaving the same day for New York City.

Election at Chelan.

Chelan, Wash., Dec. 3.—At the town election held here today the results were as follows: Councilmen, H. D. Higgins and C. T. Black; for treasurer, J. A. Van Slyke and A. V. Harper were tied. At Lakeside, Mr. Ellengsworth and Roy Barton were elected councilmen.

TO WATER OVER 30,000 ACRES.

Seattle and eastern capitalists who have had a party of engineers in the upper country taking a preliminary survey, are planning a big irrigation scheme which will embrace over 30,000 acres of ground in the Methow valley. The ditch, as outlined by the survey, will have its head gate in the Methow river, near Carlton. It is estimated that the cost will sum up over a million dollars.

This is one of the largest undertakings of its kind yet planned outside of the valley here, and will reclaim a tract of land that has great agricultural and fruit growing possibilities.

The survey just completed is the third that has been made for the same ditch, the present one running some thirty feet higher than the previous two. Seattle capitalists made the first and the last. The second was made by the Sunnyside Canal Co.

The men plan to erect an electrical plant in the Methow.

OBITUARY

To the World's Readers:

Today I retire from the editorial management of this paper.

To those of you who have aided me in the pursuit of elusive news, I say "Thank You." We've had good times together, and I shall miss the pleasant associations of the past few months.

Some people in Wenatchee may not have appreciated this paper's method of handling the news in the past. The criticism has been raised that the Daily World "printed too much;" the smallpox, the bad meat, the bad water, the avenue improvement, the Columbia street disgrace, etc.—we have been variously told—should not be mentioned.

We answer all this by saying that a newspaper's function is to print the news—if you don't want your name in print—be good.

The Wenatchee public is peculiar.

It is composed of people from everywhere—and what one likes in a paper another weeps over—

That's why, after all, it's up to the judgment of the man with the pencil.

When news is suppressed, a paper is short-changing its subscribers in not giving them what they pay for.

What stings you is a "swell dish" to the other fellow, and what you chuckle over may make another wince.

That's human nature; that's newspaper work—telling all the world about the other fellow.

Since my advent on the World my one effort has been to give Wenatchee ALL the news, and in conclusion, I wish again to thank those citizens, public officials, policemen, and loafers who have helped in what has been far from a picnic.

FRED SIMPICH.

N. B.—No flowers. Salt Creek papers please copy.

The Mascot Cigar Store will remove to Rosenberg Block where it will be in larger quarters and display its up-to-date line of goods after December 9.

STILL LOCKED IN BASTILE

Bert Kennedy, Accused of Stabbing Greenwald, Held Pending Result of Victim's Injuries.

Pending some change in the condition of Matt Greenwald, who is still in Gilchrist's hospital suffering from stab wounds in his abdomen, Bert Kennedy is held in the county jail. His trial was first set for Monday, then adjourned to Wednesday, and is now postponed until the extent of Greenwald's injuries are ascertained.

Kennedy is very reticent about the whole affair, as also is Greenwald. Other workmen on the bridge have very little to say of the affair. It is claimed by some that in the event of his recovery Greenwald will not testify against Kennedy.

The police, working with the prosecuting attorney and the sheriff's office, are making a thorough investigation of the affair, and all the circumstances will be brought out at the hearing, when it finally comes off.

TERROR REIGNS IN SPOKANE

Spokane, Dec. 4.—On account of the reign of crime in this city Chief of Police Rice has asked for thirty additional policemen. Daylight as well as night holdups are reported to the police by the dozen.

Women are surprised in their kitchens by robbers and under penalty of death are compelled to allow burglaries committed. Women are held up on the streets and their gloves torn from their hands so that the jewels upon them may be secured.

Preacher to Get Barrel.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of M. E. church are packing a barrel for a frontier minister and family. Any one wishing to contribute anything in the shape of clothing, secondhand or new, or groceries, please leave same at Reading Room before next Wednesday.

Boy Stops Runaway.

About 9:30 this morning what might have been a serious runaway occurred in the upper part of the city. Charles Ogilvie had taken an Eagle Barn single rig up to his house, and Mrs. Ogilvie and their young son were about to start for a ride. The small boy, four or five years old, was left alone in the buggy for a moment, and the horse started and ran away. The frisky animal came down Orondo avenue at a lively clip, when 13-year-old Frank Callender, who was passing on horseback, took in the situation and stopped the fleeing animal.

The boy was sitting in the bottom of the buggy unhurt.

Mrs. W. R. Whitney, sister of Mrs. J. A. Brown, is here from Cour D'Alene City, Idaho, on a visit.

He left no statement. He came to the hotel yesterday afternoon and had no baggage. Martin was tall and sickly-looking. There were no letters or anything about him to aid in his identity. A paper dated July 13, published in Mantoba, was found in his coat pocket.
