

An Electric Home

Progressive owners of houses, architects and contractors never think of building or remodeling a house nowadays without including specifications for electric wiring, because the people who buy, rent or build houses have been educated to the point of demanding the necessary electric conveniences.

You would not stay at a hotel that did not use electricity—the requirements of convenience, economy and health in your own home are very much more important. Phone Commercial Dept. 35.

Harvard Football Warriors Prepare to Battle With Yale

Harvard's football warriors are taking daily trials with the new rules. Several blackboard lectures, too, serve to make the time fly. For the first time in four years Dave Campbell's smiling face will be missing from the stadium green sward the last two weeks before the annual contest with Yale. Campbell declares that his business interests will not allow him the time necessary to coach the eleven. Perhaps when the smoke of battle strikes his nostrils that peerless end will be again found at his old stamping ground bolstering up a defense that can stand off Yale's heaviest onslaughts. The prospects for a successful season at Harvard depend in a great way on what disposal the college officers make of the cases of McKay, the big tackle; Minot, the burly fullback, and H. A. Rogers, an "H" end, all of whom are behind in their studies. McKay has been ineluctable since last spring, and it is very doubtful if he can regain a good standing. Minot faced the same handicap last season as this, but emerged from his difficulty with flying colors. Of the sixteen men who faced Yale last fall on the stadium gridiron but four have graduated. Hamilton Fish, G. G. Browne, F. D. Houston and Paul Withington. O'Flaherty had some hitch in his sheepskin program and has to spend this year at the university. Fifteen "H" men will try for the team, thirteen of whom played against Yale last fall. The second eleven will furnish some excellent material, while the 1913 eleven have several men who will stand an even show to nose out some of last year's varsity regulars.

PLAY AT COEUR D' ALENE ON FRIDAY

Aberdeen Game Off and Lake City Taken on for Next Game.

Manager Collier, of the Wenatchee high school football team, received a message from Seattle this morning stating that the second team of the university will be unable to take on a game in Wenatchee next Saturday. Fortunately the decision had already been reached to play Coeur d'Alene Friday afternoon, and word to that effect was telegraphed last night. The team will leave here tomorrow night so as to give plenty of time for rest after arriving at the lake city.

One of the advantages to be derived from making this trip is that on Saturday afternoon the entire eleven, together with the coach, will be given an opportunity to witness the great game between Tacoma and Spokane at Natorium Park. The Spokane players will be called upon at that time to show their entire stock of plays. The training thereafter can be pursued intelligently in preparing for the game with Spokane on November 11.

Another reason why it was advisable to play with Coeur d'Alene at this time rather than stay at home, even though a game could have been arranged here, is that outside newspapers in commenting on the comparative strength of Aberdeen and Wenatchee, say that all of Wenatchee's games have been played at home, while Aberdeen has shown her superiority even while playing on foreign grounds. The game next Friday with Coeur d'Alene will furnish opportunity for the Wenatchee team to show whether their good work depends upon the support of friendly rooting.

Wenatchee vs. Aberdeen.
The Seattle papers are showing considerable interest in the proposed game to be played in Seattle by Wenatchee and Aberdeen high school elevens. Under the caption "Wenatchee and Aberdeen Teams Should Play in Seattle," the Seattle Times this morning published the following:

"From all accounts, two of the best high school football teams in this state this year are in Wenatchee and Aberdeen. The boys from the cities may hate to acknowledge this, but the members of the Lincoln team in Seattle, and the Tacoma team, which claimed the championship last year, have had it proven to them on the gridiron that Aberdeen has something on them, and the Wenatchee boys would welcome a chance to take the three strongest high school teams in Seattle one at a time and lick them all.

"It would be a splendid idea to bring those two strong teams to gether before the close of the season if some one of the city teams does not clean them up in the meantime, and have this question of the championship of the state settled in the right way—in a battle on the gridiron.

"Over in Wenatchee there is plenty of money to say that Wenatchee has the best high school team in the state. If the odds are made right some of that money made out of the good red apples will be bet that Wenatchee has the best high school bunch in the United States.

"They have a $3,000,000 fruit crop over in the Wenatchee valley this year, and the country is simply caked with money. Some men of delicate fibre are running away from there for the winter for fear the microbes of the money will bite them. They intend to return in the spring when the money has thinned out a bit.

"The Wenatchee team is so strong that if it runs up less than 50 points on an opponent, it is called no contest. That team has scored something less than a million points already this season and Thanksgiving Day is still about a month way, so there is a chip on the shoulder of every Wenatchee high school boy and his dad, and the dare is out for any high school aggregation in the state to knock them off.

"A man who has seen both the Wenatchee and Aberdeen teams in action this year, suggests that these teams be brought to Seattle for a game before the close of the season. It is not likely that the Wenatchee boys would care to go to Aberdeen for a game, nor would the Aberdeen bunch care to travel to Wenatchee for a scrap, but they could meet in Seattle, which is neutral territory, and have it out.

"They could meet on the gridiron of the University of Washington, the best in the state; get the benefit of competent officials and go to it. The Aberdeen fellows are always ready to back anything that bears the Aberdeen brand so it is not likely that they will balk at the proposal.

"So come on you Apple Kings and Lumberjacks and fight it out here in Seattle."
In the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, under a Wenatchee date line, the local correspondent hands out the following strong talk for the perusal of the Sound partisans:

"Wenatchee high school wants a football game on October 28 or 29 and so far has been unable to cinch a date. Aberdeen high school sent word over last week that they would be in a position to play in this city on the 29th if the expenses of sixteen men would be paid. The local management immediately wrote them that expenses would be paid or any other condition within reason met with, and it was considered that the game was a certainty. Yesterday Manager Collier received word from the management of the "self-coached" team that the game would have to be called off. Whether they scented danger from the big scores which Wenatchee has rolled up lately or not is not known at this end of the line, but the Wenatchee management is going to issue a challenge to the west siders to play a game at any time and at any place Aberdeen might designate.

"Broadway, too' is coming in for her share of ill-feeling on the part of the local management. Two years ago Broadway was signed up with Wenatchee for a Thanksgiving game, but asked for a release to play with the Lincoln high. Solicitations were made by Supt. Cooper and others from the Seattle schools for the release, and it was finally given with the understanding that Broadway would play the next year. They never have signed up since. Coach Borleske stated a couple of weeks ago that he had dates open and saw no reason why Wenatchee shouldn't be taken on. While passing through Wenatchee Sunday with his team after the Spokane game, he was interviewed by the local boys, and he stated that a game between the two teams was now impossible.

"Broadway plays North Yakima for a Thanksgiving game, and it is known here that North Yakima is not at all anxious to play. The game could be canceled and Wenatchee taken on, for Wenatchee has beaten Ellensburg this year 78 to 0 and Ellensburg trimmed North Yakima 12 to 0. It seems evident to the local bunch that Broadway is trying to fight shy."

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 26.—Forty proprietors of soft drink stands today gave up their government liquor licenses, following the decision of the state supreme court Saturday that the holding of a liquor license from the federal government was prima facie evidence of illegal sale of liquor in Tennessee.

WILL NOT SELL LAND IN DOUGLAS

State University Regents Will Seek Legislative Aid.

The board of regents of the University of Washington, in monthly session yesterday afternoon, passed a resolution suspending the sale of all University lands. An effort is to be made to have the present laws so changed as to give the board the authority to fix the price and name the conditions under which such lands shall be sold or leased.

Many Applications to Buy.
Applications have been coming from Douglas county asking the board to offer for sale the university lands there, some 34,000 acres, constituting one-third of the university's land endowment. Students and alumni vigorously protested against any action that would allow the lands to be sold, holding that the university's land endowment should be held intact.

Believe Minimum Price Too Low.
The regents have favored the sale of some lands at a price equal to the surrounding land, but the state land commissioner has rigidly adhered to a decision to keep the minimum price at $10 per acre. The regents consider this price far too low and will exercise their veto power over any proposed sales.

The regents present were M. F. Backus, John C. Higgins, Alexander F. McEwan, John A. Rea, A. L. Rogers, F. A. Hazeltine in the chair.

RECORD APPLE CROP

William Kryger Will Harvest 15 Carloads from His Orchard at Bridgeport.

Bridgeport, Wash., Oct. 26.—William Kryger is in Wenatchee this week, where he is marketing four carloads of apples. Recently he went to Iowa with two carloads of fruit from his Bridgeport fruit ranch. He has about 15 carloads this year, the biggest yield ever taken from one orchard at Bridgeport.

Henry Keys is moving the Bridgeport ferry this week. The ferry was formerly some distance below town, and located at a point where it could only be run a portion of the time. The new location will be easily accessible to the business portion of the town, and at this point it will be operated every day in the year. The move was necessitated by the growing trade which this town is receiving from the Colville Indian reservation, just across the river.

The State Aid road between Bridgeport and Brewster is being pushed rapidly. The work is already one-third done, and the road will be completed by December 1. It will be the best road in this locality.

BIG SUM PAID INDIANS

Sales of Rights of Way and for Fighting Fires Amount to $2,000.
Omak, Wash., Oct. 26.—Two thousand dollars was paid out to Indians by B. F. Emery of the Indian service at Omak last week. The money came as the result of the sale of rights of way for the Great Northern line down the valley and for services rendered fighting fire on the reservation during the past summer. A large crowd of Indians thronged Omak during the day and the residents were treated to impromptu races and bucking exhibitions, which furnished amusement for several hours. The department has lately issued orders that no money shall be paid the Indians in towns where liquor is sold and this law will be strictly adhered to.
