

THE DAILY WORLD FAVORS ED S. RUSSELL FOR MAYOR

Believes That Interests of City of Wenatchee Will Be Subservied by Election of Well Known Pioneer Citizen—No Fight to Pick With Mr. Halbert but Russell's Past Service Entitles Him to Honorary Position

The Daily World favors the nomination of Ed. S. Russell for mayor of the City of Wenatchee at the primary election to be held next Tuesday.

No Disparagement to Halbert.

The decision to support Mr. Russell means no disparagement to Councilman C. B. Halbert who is the candidate in opposition to Mr. Russell. Ordinarily the Daily World does not believe that it is the province of a newspaper in a city the size of Wenatchee, to be embroiled in petty political contests, and would not become partisan in this case were the contest conducted along fair lines. Mr. Halbert is a conscientious, level-headed business man. He has rendered the city good service as councilman, but an effort has been made through certain interests in this city to belittle the actions of the city council for the past year and the impression gave publicity that Mr. Halbert was the champion of the laboring class, standing between the laboring man and the small property owner and an "extravagant council."

The facts of the matter are that Mr. Russell has probably given more time to city business than any other member of the council. Furthermore his work has been along business lines. The council has not been a blundering council as has been published, and has needed no champion to stand between the council and the public. The councilmen have all been indefatigable and used their best judgment in the prosecution of all public work and though mistakes possibly have been made, yet they are such as any business man might make.

Why Mr. Russell is Favored

Mr. Russell is favored by the Daily World because it believes him to be the stronger man of the two. Mr. Russell has been tried as a presiding officer of the city council. During the absence of Mayor Gellatly on various occasions, Mr. Russell's duty as councilman at large, has been to preside and he makes an admirable officer. He is not only a successful real estate man but he is a developer as well. Eleven years ago he foresaw the possibilities of Wenatchee soil, developed an orchard. Since that time he has been instrumental in developing a number of others. He appreciates the future if the present lines of work can be carried on.

Position Right on Local Option.

Mr. Russell is right on the local option question. He has definitely announced his policy through the public press as believing that the local option question should be settled at the forthcoming election. Should the voters decide on a dry town, he has pledged himself to see that the town shall be dry. Should the voters decide wet, he has pledged himself to the granting of saloon licenses only under the most rigid inspection.

Would Reflect Credit on City.

The mayor of a city the size of Wenatchee should be under salary. Mayor Gellatly has given over half of his time to city business during the past four years. In the performance of this business it has been his duty to meet and preside at many public functions, and it is a well known fact that Mayor Gellatly has always upheld the dignity of the city of Wenatchee. Wenatchee's mayor has given added luster to Wenatchee and the royal welcomes given by its presiding officers have been of great advertising value. As a successor to Mayor Gellatly, Wenatchee should not only put into office as good a business man as possible, but a man who will lend dignity to the office and such a man the Daily World believes Mr. Russell to be. He has a good presence, is a good speaker and has the faculty of making friends.

Believes in Fair Play.

The career of Mr. Russell has been in favor of fair play for everybody. While there have been some misunderstandings relative to city improvement work, yet it has been the aim of the city council, of which both Mr. Russell and Mr. Halbert are members to give every property owner fair play in the matter of assessments, in the matter of street improvements, in the matter of light, water and the many requests that come before the city council.

The Daily World wouldn't do one thing to belittle Mr. Halbert, rather in all seriousness, it knows him to be one of the city's best men—but after it is all said and done don't you think that he ought to wait till next time? It's Ed's turn this trip.

All Public Spirited.

One of the reasons that the name "Wenatchee" has become a synonym for progress in the west is on account of the character of its citizenship and especially of its men in public office. It has been the history of the past that when the call for duty came citizens and officials responded nobly. It is a well known fact that Wenatchee has the only commercial club building owned by its commercial organization in the west and probably the most leading spirit in this achievement was Mr. Russell. Not only for months did he give his time and best efforts to the securing of funds and the construction of the building but he gave of his own private resources over $1,000. He did this in recognition of the work being done by the commercial club and also because he had an abiding faith in Wenatchee. This is the character of men the Daily World likes to see elevated to public office. This one deed alone entitles him to the greatest honor that it is possible for the people of Wenatchee to bestow.

The Daily World has no disposition to dictate to its readers as to how they should vote. It suggests however that in the matter of the selection of a mayor next Tuesday very careful consideration should be given and if Wenatchee is to keep in the line fight in the future as it has done in the past, its foremost citizens of the Russell type should be elevated to office. Let the men who have been doing things get the recognition that they deserve and in the years to come Wenatchee will have a citizenship vying with each other to make Wenatchee a bigger and better city.

FOR TO SETTLE STRIKE

It is Expected That Both Chicago and New York Strikes May Be Settled.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The Garment Workers' strike which called out 40,000 persons in the clothing trade, produced numerous small riots today. It is expected that the strikers will return to work Monday.

New York, Nov. 5.—There is renewed promise of peace in the express strike situation today. A meeting of both sides will be held in the city hall today.

Mrs. Agnes Scott left this afternoon for Portland, to join her mother, Mrs. Lenahan, who left here three months ago for Reno, to visit her son. Mrs. Scott will accompany her mother back to Wenatchee, where she makes her home with Mrs. J. M. Duffy.

PUBLICITY THAT PAYS

Price Shoe Company Doubles Advertising Contract.

The Price Shoe Company of this city opened for business on September 1st, in the Wenatchee Hotel building. The manager purchased advertising space in the Daily World and as a result of the publicity gained, the business has grown by leaps and bounds, and the manager of the company called in the Daily World advertising manager and signed up a contract for double the space originally contracted for. The contract runs through the coming year and shows that new comers as well as the old patrons of the Daily World appreciate the fact that the World covers the North Central Washington field like a blanket.

THE NEXT GENERATION. The way our necks will grow in time if this interest in aviation continues.

AT VANCOUVER PRIZES ARE $2000

Wenatchee Exhibitors Expect to Capture 100 Prizes.

Mayor John A. Gellatly returned last night from his trip to the Sound. He left Vancouver at four o'clock yesterday afternoon and states that the Wenatchee exhibitors, Green Brothers, Tedfords, Black, John Scott and Mike Horan were making the name of Wenatchee famous in the Canadian metropolis. The exhibitors expect to carry off $2000 in prizes and will take in all about 100 prizes.

Kawawa took first prize in carload exhibits with a car of Jonathans, Vernon secured second and Mike Horan third with a mixed car. Green Brothers took first prize with 10 boxes of Spitzbergers, scoring 998 out of a possible 1000. They also took second prize with 10 boxes of McIntosh Reds. This variety is peculiar to the Canadian territory and is the chief apple in that country and the local exhibitors feel very good in securing the second prize. The Greens were also awarded first prize for five boxes of Rome Beauties, Rhode Island Greenings and Black Twigs, and secured second prize for Arkansas Blacks. The local exhibitors were not competing against each other and they arranged the exhibit so there would be no competition between them.

The Tedfords took first and second prizes on Winesaps. Black and Scott carried off second prize on Jonathans and White Winter Pearmaines. Mayor Gellatly states that the attendance is very poor, 5000 being the maximum for any one day. This would not be considered a good attendance in Spokane or in fact in Wenatchee. The local exhibitors are very much pleased with the work of the judges. They are giving fair and impartial treatment.

Carload Awards.

The awards, according to the Vancouver Daily Province, were as follows: Mixed, first and second in sweepstakes, Summerland Agricultural society; second, Vernon Board of Trade; third, M. Horan, Wenatchee, Wash.; Northern Spy, first: Coldstream Estate, Ltd., Vernon, Grimes Golden; First, W. W. Sawyer Land company Sunnyside, Wash.; Tompkins King, first Victoria Fruit Growers' association, Yellow Newtowns; First, and third in sweepstakes: E. Renshaw, Medford, Ore.; second, C. Starcher, Yakima valley.

In the second sweepstakes prize of $500 Summerland secured 934 points with its mixed car of Spitzbergers, Yellow Newtowns, Winter Bananas.

HARRIS FINED $50 AND COSTS

Case Will Be Taken to Superior Court—May Mean Fine for Each Day.

Late yesterday afternoon a verdict was reached in Judge Palmer's court that Hyman Harris, of the Wenatchee Department Store, was guilty of violating the city building ordinance and he was fined fifty dollars and costs, which amounted to $9.25. The juryman received $1.20 each and the court expenses were $3. By mutual agreement the number of jurors was only four, and included John Ferryman, W. A. Grant, J. H. McGohan and George Hillman. Their verdict was reached in short order.

Immediately after the decision was rendered, Attorney Parr filed notice of appeal to the superior court.

In arguing his client's case, Mr. Parr took the position that the building ordinance was not valid. The jury disagreed with him on this point but made the fine only half of what the law allows.

Commenting on the case this morning, Hyman Harris said that he was being guided entirely by the advice of his counsel. If Mr. Parr had said to pay the fine, he would have done so immediately. Being advised to appeal, he is simply following instructions.

It is not thought possible that the validity of the ordinance can be destroyed in the superior court. Judge Grimshaw, in making his decision on the injunction case, clearly stated that the ordinance was in effect providing only one penalty, a fine of not over $100. City Clerk Sumner, candidate for city attorney, believes that the object of the appeal is not to escape payment of the fine levied yesterday, but to quiet any further action in the case by the city. As it now stands, the Department Store may be fined each day that the building stands as a violation of the ordinance. Such is the most serious effect of the jury's verdict against the defendant.

In case Judge Grimshaw turns down the appeal, the city will have the legal right to bring suit against the offender every day and ask for an additional fine each time.

Delivering 1910-11 Directory.

R. L. Polk & company's directory of Chelan, Grant, Douglas and Okanogan counties is being delivered in the city today. This book will be of great convenience to the business men and is very complete for the four counties.

Washington Weather.

Washington—Fair in the east and rain in the west portions tonight; Sunday fair.

WENATCHEE TOOK CLOSE GAME FROM QUEEN ANNE

By a Score of 15 to 14 Red A pple Team Had Closest Call of Season—Seattle Grounds Were Slippery, Thus Putting Local Team to Disadvantage—Queen Anne Tried a Dark Trick That Signally Failed.

Wenatchee 15; Queen Anne 14.

After making two touchdowns during the first eight minutes of play, the Wenatchee-Queen Anne football game in Seattle yesterday looked as though it were going to be a duplicate of the three slaughters which have been witnessed on the local field recently. Literally swept off their feet, the over confident Seattle boys came to a sudden realization that only most desperate resistance would save them from disgraceful defeat.

They did not seem to have a ghost of a show, but here is where the Queen Anne team showed the kind of stuff it is made of. Coming back with irresistible energy, they made a lightning-like attack for which Wenatchee was unprepared. Before anybody had time to realize the situation, Bryant, a Seattle half-back, intercepted a forward pass, taking Wenatchee's ball and racing down the field, planted it back of the goal posts. Thus ended the first quarter. With neither team able to score in the second, the first half ended with the figures still reading 12 to 6 in Wenatchee's favor.

In the third quarter Queen Anne got the ball on another fluke and made six points more, to which were added another two points on a safety. Score 14 to 12, with 3000 rooters yelling their loudest for Queen Anne.

The real superiority of the Wenatchee eleven began to tell in the last quarter. The ball was in Seattle territory nearly all the time. Foster was finally able to make a place kick from the 35-yard line. This was the last change in figures and the final score was 15 to 14 in favor of the visitors.

The Wenatchee full back was with in striking distance of the enemy's goal twice more within the last few minutes of play and made attempts to kick the ball between the posts. Each time he was prevented from doing so by Queen Anne players getting outside at least six feet. If the officials had given the deserved penalty, Wenatchee would have been within a few feet of the goal and another touchdown would have been certain. When time was called, the visitors were pushing Queen Anne hard while Wenatchee boys were all comparatively fresh with the exception of the cripples.

Straight Football.

Coach Slevor's pupils were unable to play the game as they have been taught. The grounds were so slippery that every effort to use the forward pass resulted disastrously. Only five attempts were made, four in the first quarter and one in the third. It was by intercepting these that both of the Queen Anne touchdowns were accomplished, while none of Wenatchee's gains were made except by plain, old fashioned football.

Sterling's ankle was in such bad shape that Foster seemed to fear shooting the ball to him very much. The plucky end played desperately to the end, but was unable to leave the field without assistance. With Wenatchee's star ground gainer in such crippled condition, it may be said that Seattle has not yet seen the team play its game.

If Wenatchee suffered by interception of its forward passes, it is some satisfaction to know that Queen Anne was equally unfortunate in that regard. Once a Seattle player fumbled and a colleague grabbed the ball and tore down the field with the sphere for what the crowd thought was another touchdown. The umpire called him back amid much groaning because the rules forbid any other than the man who first touches the ball from completing such a play. Again Captain Foster intercepted a forward pass and allowed only a safety when it would otherwise have been a touchdown.

The Trick That Failed.

Promptly at 3 p. m. the crowd filled the grounds and the Wenatchee players were ready to play. For fifteen minutes the Seattle lads remained in the club house without offering any explanation for their delay. When the crowd would not permit any further loitering, the Queen Anne bunch came trotting upon the gridiron.

Later the object of this move became apparent. Ed Gensinger overheard several of the home players say to each other—"Not yet. Wait till it gets a little darker." A little 117 pound wonder seemed to be the object of especial interest in this conversation; so Gensinger watched him in particular. He had on a long loose sweater. Finally, when it was getting quite dark, the ball snapped to the "Little Wonder." He quickly tucked it under his sweater, but made a motion as though he were passing it to another player. The whole team then tore down the field in a criss-cross of interference as though to protect a man carrying the ball. The trick worked on ten of the Wenatchee players who fought to hold the line. Meanwhile the "Little Wonder" was quietly stepping back and away from the scrimmage and just started to run when Gensinger pounced upon him and carried him back ten yards. That was the blow that killed the "Little Wonder."

Ross and Koehler Stars.

On defense, Floyd Ross was the bright particular star. He made two brilliant runs which prevented touchdowns. Queen Anne men had secured the ball and made a 20-yard run in the one case and 40 yards in the other. In each case it was Floyd Ross who took after the fleeing runners and overtook them before the goal was reached while thousands of hearts were beating wildly in suspense. He tackled low and brought his men to the ground instantly.

On offense, Koehler is known in Seattle as "the human bullet." Owing to the slippery field and the condition of Sterling's ankle, "Gookie" was thrown into the brunt of the fight. Time after time he went through the line until it would seem that the limit of human endurance must soon be reached. His punishment was terrible, but he always came up with greater bulldog tenacity than ever and never once failed to make his gains.

In spite of his bad shoulder, Tweed played the game wonderfully and made one of the touchdowns. In the second quarter, he was so badly injured that he was taken out for a while and Otto Ross took his position.

Pike received applause even from the Seattle rooters for his excellent passing of the ball and recovering of fumbles. Foster saved the day by the heady game he played at all times keeping the whole team balanced. His kicking was a sensation.

Won Against Odds.

That Wenatchee has by far the superior team is conceded by all who saw the game yesterday which is spoken of on all sides as the most sensational exhibition of high school football ever seen in the Northwest. Queen Anne's only disadvantage was in weight—about seven pounds to the man less than Wenatchee. The visitors had four serious handicaps: (1) A wet field and slippery ball to which they were unaccustomed; (2) Sterling, Wenatchee's star ground gainer, was almost helpless with his bad ankle; (3) The crowd of 3000 rooters cheered themselves hoarse for Queen Anne. The Wenatchee boys were unused to hearing such hostility expressed against them; (4) Conditions compelled them to play a different kind of game from the open work in which they excel.

Wenatchee won on straight football and earned every one of the 15 points. All of Queen Anne's score was obtained on flukes.

Seattle professional football men say that more different plays were made in the game yesterday afternoon than in any high school game they ever saw. The consensus of opinion is that if Queen Anne had put up such an article of football the week before against Broadway, the result then would have been far different. On that occasion, Broadway made its one touchdown on a fluke. The fact that Wenatchee positively earned every one of its points yesterday by straight football and against great odds leads to the belief that she has a team which could defeat Broadway with less effort than was demanded to whip Queen Anne.

Broadway or Aberdeen Next.

The Wenatchee eleven are next.
