SPORTS

TODAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS.

1896—Kid McParland and Owen Legler fought a 20-round draw at New York. Ziegler and McParland were among the greatest lightweights of their day, although neither attained the championship. Owen, who was born in Lonsdale, Pa. in 1871, was amateur champion of America before he entered the professional ring in 1892. He took part in more than 150 regular battles, besides touring America and meeting all comers. He fought welters, middleweights and heavyweights, as well as men of his own class. On one occasion he fought Bat Wilkinson, a heavyweight, in Ohio, and knocked him out in the 37th round of a battle fought with skin gloves. Ziegler, after drawing with McParland, was later defeated by the Kid in two long battles. McParland, who is now about 43, is still interested in the game, acting as referee in New York bouts. He took part in over a hundred battles, most of them over the long route, and was seldom defeated. He fought Kid Lavigne for the championship in 1897, but was outpointed in 25 rounds.

1890—Jem Ward, "the Black Diamond," champion of England, born near Bow, Eng.

1888—Jack McAuliffe knocked out Jake Hyams, English, in the 9th round at Brooklyn.

1908—Jack Johnson defeated Tommy Burns in 14 rounds for title at Sydney, Australia.

Abe Martin

Life Bud, who served in the 'Siege of Chattanooga,' in 1898, says he hopes he'll never have to love another country. Bein' all dressed up an' no place 't go is bad enough, but bein' an ex-president an' no place 't fight must be th' limit.

Being Irish, the fighting blood was in his veins, and as a lad he boxed with his companions, using stuffed stockings as gloves. After several unimportant bouts, he whipped Dick Acton, a good fighter, in 1822. Then he nearly ruined his career by quitting in a fight with Bill Abbott. This fake, which Jem finally confessed, was so flagrant that Ward was expelled from the Pugilistic Club. His regret was so sincere that after a time he was taken back into the good graces of the sports, and in 1825, after several victories over other aspirants, he became the champion of England. In 1827 he lost the title to Peter Crawley, but the latter was so badly punished that he relinquished the honors rather than fight Ward again. In 1828 he defeated Jack Carter and was again proclaimed champion. Ward again fell into disrepute by engaging in another fake, and for a second time was ruled out of the ring. After another period of deep disgrace, Jem was given another chance to redeem his blackened reputation, and was permitted to fight Simon Byrne, "the Emerald Gem." Ward defeated the Emerald Irishman, and for the third time was presented with the championship belt. Jem then held the title until 1839, when he retired and handed over his belt to Bendigo.

Bicycles Used For Horses By French Cavalry

TROOPS MOUNTED IN THIS WAY MAKE A VERY EFFECTIVE CHARGE.

CYCLISTS RIDING AT A TOP SPEED, USE RIFLES AND BAYONETS.

DUNKIRK, France, Dec. 24.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—That troops mounted on bicycles may be used at times for purposes of the charge, with fully as good results as cavalry, is said to be proven by the fighting at Apremont.

The Germans attacked the French defending Apremont, and compelled them to abandon one trench after another, and finally the town itself. A desperate struggle was kept up, however, at the main bridge out of the town. The German regiments surged to the attack with fierce shouts, and it looked as if the French were to be completely routed, when unexpected reinforcements came up in the form of a company of cyclist chasseurs.

The cyclists had unslung their rifles and fixed their bayonets. Riding at a top speed, with their bayonets in front of them like lances, they swept through a cloud of dust straight into the crowded masses of the enemy at the bridge head. There was an indescribable melee of men and machines, and the cyclists, some mounted and some dismounted, used their bayonets with such good effect that in five minutes the Germans were in retreat. By this time the French infantry had reformed and swept up at double-quick to reinforce the cyclists and make the recapture of the town secure.

Britain Army From India, Like An Evil Spirit

THOUSANDS RUSH ON GERMANS, AS IF SHOT OUT OF A FOG.

SPRINGING FORWARD LIKE CATS, BROWN MEN CANNOT BE DEPISED.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 24.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The Frankfurter Zeitung publishes the following letter from a German officer, commenting on the prowess of Britain's Indian troops:

"Today for the first time we had to fight against the Indians, and the devil knows those brown rascals are not to be underrated. At first we spoke with contempt of the Indians. Today we learned to look at them in a different light. For three days we were shell-ed continuously; the British thought we were pounded into a jelly, so they sent us a little surprise in the shape of a visit from their brown allies.

"Satan only knows what the English had put into those fellows. Those who stormed our lines were either drunk or possessed with an evil spirit. With fearful shouting, in comparison with which our hurrahs were like the whining of a baby, thousands of these brown forms rushed upon us as suddenly as if they were shot out of a fog.

"We opened a destructive fire at a hundred yards. It mowed down hundreds, but in spite of that the others advanced, springing forward like cats and surmounting our obstacles with unexampled agility. In no time they were in our trenches, and truly these brown enemies were not to be despised. With butt-ends, bayonets, swords, and daggers we fought each other, and we had bitter hard work until our reinforcements arrived and we drove them out of the trenches."

Sherwood McGee Traded to Boston

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 26.—Sherwood R. Magee, the hard-hitting outfielder of the Philadelphia National League club was traded to the Boston Nationals for cash and some players. The deal was put through at a meeting held in New York today by President W. F. Baker of the Philadelphia club and President James Gaffney of the Boston club.

Magee went to New York today and after the trade was effected by the two presidents, the outfielder signed a two-year contract with the Boston club.

The amount of cash that figured in the deal was not announced. The players the Philadelphia club will receive from the Boston team will be selected at a meeting to be held in New York next Monday by Baker, Gaffney and Manager Moran of the Philadelphia club.

There have been persistent reports in circulation since the baseball season closed that Magee would be signed by the Federal League. Federal League agents, it is known have been after Magee but he failed to reach an agreement with them.

Magee is 27 years old and joined the Phillies in 1905, direct from the minors. He has a reputation as a heavy slugger, leading the National League in 1910. He hails from Titusville, Pa.

Harvard Athlete May Earn Four Letters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 26.—Unless the advocates of restricting Harvard athletes to two sports prevent, Richard H. Harte, Jr., of Philadelphia tucked away by next year a new record for major letters, being the first man to win the "H" in four sports.

"Tack" Harwick now holds the crown among the Crimson undergraduates, being the proud possessor of three "varsity" insignias won in football, baseball and track.

But Harte, who already has tucked away an "H" winning the intercollegiate doubles tennis championships with R. Norris Williams, is now out to land the position of goal tender on the "varsity" hockey team, and Dick's chances are rather bright, as the job is a free-for-all fight.

If Harte cops in hockey that will give him his second "H," and he is almost certain to earn another letter in the baseball series with Yale in June, as the youth is the most promising backstop at Harvard in years.

Papa Harte, who is commissioner of health in Philadelphia objected strenuously to his son participating as a member of Harvard's football squad, despite the fact that Dick was the star as a freshman. Mr. Harte felt sorry that he had done so after seeing the big doings at New Haven and will undoubtedly give his consent next fall.

Johnson's Steers Repay Feds $6,000

COFFEYVILLE, Kansas, Dec. 26.—With the money obtained from the sale of a herd of steers, Walter Johnson, star of the Washington Americans, mailed a draft for $6,000, representing Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federal League club, to the advance given Johnson when he signed a Federal contract.

Johnson, after signing a Federal League contract, made a new bargain last week with the Washington club. "As far as I am concerned the incident, which has proven an unpleasant one to me, is now closed," Johnson said. "There is nothing more I can do. I shall report to the Washington club when the spring training season opens. If any complications arise they will have to be fought out between the two leagues."

Why HE WEPT. It was a soiree musicale. A singer had just finished "My Old Kentucky Home." The hostess, seeing one of her guests weeping in a remote corner, went to him and inquired in a sympathetic voice, "Are you a Kentuckian?" And the answer quickly came, "No, madam; I am a musician."—Chicago News.
