New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The supreme importance of the foreign situation upon financial, industrial and commercial affairs in this country was emphasized with telling force today, the stock market becoming almost panic-stricken as a result of the exploits of Germany's submarines in neighboring waters.

Declines were most startling and bewildering at the opening and suggested a recurrence of the apprehension manifested on previous occasions when relations between Washington and Berlin were admittedly under a severe strain.

Such leaders as United States Steel, Union Pacific, Mercantile Marine and the better known "war brides" broke from 5 to almost 20 points, the list for a time showing little support. This condition, however, general readjustment, however, before the end of the morning session, much of the setback being retrieved, but an undercurrent of uncertainty prevailed to the end.

Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10.—Taking it on the whole the local market was very little affected by the turmoil and excitement of New York. During the early period traders appeared to be satisfied to watch developments in the East, and very few transactions took place. Those issues, which are usually influenced by the trading in Wall street, reflected here the movements of the bigger market.

The strictly local issues were as strong as ever and high records were made in some of them.

SPORT NOTES

A procession of baseball magnates is our idea of a veiled profits parade.

Dispatches from St. Louis indicates that those fans who bet on the Browns to win the pennant have organized a Yessamit club.

After all, we get it, to be a successful baseball player, is merely a combination of dollars and cents.

A western scribe suggests a revival of finish fights. If he realizes this ambition said scribe will work a fearful hardship on the free lunch counters—about the only thing some fighters ever worked.

Certain boxfight promoters oughta qualify for blue ribbons at the horse shows. They're rather spirited charges, y'know.

If the barbers all vote the way they shoot, C. Evans Hughes stands a swell chance of being trimmed November 7.

You gotta admit John McGraw's a great manager, but he's no stronger than Harry Hempstead's check book.

Janitors in charge of the court house at Cleburne, Tex., have put the ban on dominoes within the sacred portals of that edifice. They say the game no longer is on the square.

Low Pounds is head of the Brooklyn fan army in the world series. They gave him the job because he's heavy on the chin goods.

Fred Stone, the comedian, has taken up golf. It is said Stone's golf is funnier than anything he ever pulled on the stage, though not intentionally so.

An eastern wag rises to suggest that Uncle Sam send an army of paper hangers to Texas. He claims they'd stick to the border.

NEW YORK LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent) GOVERNOR HUGHES continues to pour hot shot into the administration because of the Adamson bill. Asserting at Newark, that it was nothing less than deception to call it an "eight-hour bill," Mr. Hughes quoted the statement of Senator Underwood of Alabama in the Senate debate. Relying to another Senator, Mr. Underwood said:

"If the Senator would go and consult with any of the gentlemen who represent the employes and who have been contending here in this matter, they would tell him candidly, as they told me, that the question is a question of wage; that they are not contending for an eight-hour day, that a man shall work only eight hours; they do not want that."

Mr. Hughes is showing up in conclusive manner the absolute hypocrisy of President Wilson's persistent misrepresentation of the Adamson bill as an "eight-hour bill." "What is the purpose of this attempt to make the public believe that this bill fixes an eight-hour workday?" inquired Mr. Hughes, answering his own question thus: "Manifestly, in order to endeavor to justify this extraordinary action of the administration in its object to humiliating surrender of principle in demanding and securing this legislation without any proper inquiry, as the price of peace. Evidently, it is felt that a wage increase could not be justified in this manner. What is fair and right can afford to be described correctly and can stand on its merits." Referring to President Wilson's assertion that "the eight-hour day has the sanction of the judgment of society" Mr. Hughes demanded to know, if that were true and the bill had been an eight-hour bill, how President Wilson dared to limit the eight-hour benefit to 20 per cent. of the most highly paid railway employes and leave all the others to work far longer hours. He also warned the labor men that the Adamson bill was very likely to prove a boomerang to labor, because with eight hours made the basis of a day's work, those men who completed their runs in less than eight hours were in grave danger of being compelled to turn to other work and put in the full eight hours.

Gompers' Misrepresentation: There is developing serious question among labor leaders as to whether Samuel Gompers has not betrayed labor and the Federation of which he is the head by advocating the Adamson bill and supporting President Wilson because of it. In November, 1914, the American Federation of Labor adopted the following resolution:

"RESOLVED, That the American Federation of Labor, as in the past, declares that the regulation of wages and hours of labor should be undertaken through trades union activity and not by legislation, except insofar as the employment of women and children, health and morals, and the employees of the National, State and Municipal governments are affected."

This same resolution was approved again in November, 1915. How Mr. Gompers can reconcile present attitude with that resolution stands unexplained. The result which the Federation wisely foresaw is rapidly approaching. Railway managers are already asserting that by the Hepburn bill Congress has fixed the rates which the LaFollette bill (providing a maximum of 16 hours) Congress has fixed hours of labor; that by the Adamson bill Congress has fixed the wages of 20 per cent. of the railway employes; and that it remains only for Congress to fix the compensation of the remaining 80 per cent. and then by law to prohibit strikes, and all labor controversies on common carriers will be forestalled for all time. As one labor leader warns his fellow unionists, "Do not want your organization to become simply an insurance association, and have your hours, wages and grievances disposed of by legislature? That is just what the Adamson law means."

Character Gives Weight. The emphasis in what you say, comes after all from what you are. The girl who tries to make her words emphatic by putting in superlatives, only succeeds in seeming futile. It is character which gives weight to words.—Exchange.

TO END CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your drug-gist and get one ounce of Par-mint (double strength) and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Any one who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. Holt Drug Co.
