HATFIELD SAYS CORNWELL HELD OUT BRIBE TO HIM

Sensational Charge Made in Speech at Berkeley Springs.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL STORY

Democrat Pretended to Be Ill in Order to See the Doctor.

(Special Dispatch to West Virginian) BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Oct. 17.—Governor Hatfield against whom the Democratic candidate for governor has centered his fight, tonight opened a five-days tour of the eastern Pan Handle with a speech here to a crowd that packed the court house. The Governor was inspiring in his references to the man who is going about the state vilifying him and mistating facts. Former Speaker Vernon E. Johnson presided. Following a discussing of national issues he took cognizance of Cornwell's either willful or ignorant statement. "I do not," he said, "that the Democratic candidate for governor says that it takes 40 per cent. of the money in the compensation department to run the other 60 per cent. A candidate for governor or any public office should seek to make plausible statements. He certainly must have a low estimate of the intelligence of his audience."

"The Watson candidate for governor continues to go about the state on his numerous railroad passes, which I am informed he has over all the railroads of the state, maliciously misrepresenting the true state of affairs. If Mr. Cornwell stands for so many good civic principles why is it that his record as a senator does not stand out boldly in the cause? Did he advocate Workmen's Compensation law? Did his party advocate the abolition of the fee system, an accomplishment of Republican legislation which saved the state $100,000 annually? I challenge Mr. Cornwell to point to one constructive law placed upon the statute books by his party during their 25 years of state control."

Governor Hatfield declared that the word extravagance has become a creed with the Democracy but when it is the candidate for governor was called by the man he was attacking and challenged to a joint debate the Democratic nominee backed down to a point. "I now challenge him to a point to any one of the numerous offices he would abolish if elected governor."

Taking up the cost of the Workmen's Compensation departments of the several states Governor Hatfield showed that in Oregon it was seven per cent. of the gross premiums collected, Washington nine per cent., Ohio eight, California twelve, while in West Virginia it was less than five per cent. West Virginia rate was declared to be the lowest of any state.

The Democratic candidate was accused of persistently and maliciously misrepresenting the present governor and his administration. Every one of the falsehoods has been proved false, said Governor Hatfield, yet this man asks you to elect him to an honorable position through deception and misrepresentation playing the same political party that he attempted in his former campaign. Reference was made of a meeting with Mr. Cornwell in the latter's former campaign during which he charged the Democratic nominee with coining to continue his connections with the West Virginia miners' hospital at Welch if he would be good.

"It was in that campaign," said Governor Hatfield, "that he sent for me to see him professionally at General Rucker's home, no Democratic doctor in that section being good enough to administer to the ill he was complaining of at that time. I looked him over. I found his pulse and temperature normal the only signs or symptoms of disease noticeable was betrayed by his glib tongue which held out promises to me of political preference in case I would be a party to crucifying the nominee of my own party. If he was suffering from any disease it was gubernatorial mania of the stagnation type."

Referring to a recent published utterance of Mr. Cornwell the governor said Mr. Cornwell quoting from a newspaper of nine years ago stated he would not refer to me in that vein. If so why did he refer to the utterance at all Mr. Cornwell's own utterances nails him as a malicious abuser.

Alleged Slayer of Town Marshal Taken

Tight-Rope Walker Was Without Pull

HE LOST OUT WHEN THE WILSON CLUB WON WITHOUT ANY TROUBLE.

The Times which apparently does not have a very well developed sense of humor this morning printed the following as part of its report of the Monday meeting of the Board of Affairs: A tight-rope walker called at the city building yesterday asking permission to stretch a rope across Main street between any two buildings to give an exhibition.

He was not permitted and city officials were disgusted at the way so many people think Fairmont is a rube town. The general method of tight-rope walking is to have several pickpockets along who operate when everybody is looking up. Recently a carnival company tried every scheme known to force the city to let them show in the streets.

They were told it was against the ordinance and that such affairs were but remainders of outworn history. People who daily pass under the Wilson club banner must have smiled broadly over that statement. "They were told it was against the ordinance."

The tight rope gentleman took his application to the wrong place. The Democratic gang and not the Board of Affairs runs this town, as the Wilson club banner incident conclusively proves. The gang protects bootlegging and worse. If it is properly approached it might even look with favor upon the ancient trade of frisking pockets—assuming for the nonce that the Times' frankly expressed suspicion is correct.

At all events if the gang did the Board of Affairs would "go along." It would have to.

HAGGERTY DELAYS YOST LAW TRIALS

State Cases Placed at Last of Docket on His Motion.

The Intermediate Court docket was read by Judge G. A. Vincent this afternoon when the court was opened at two o'clock and on motion of prosecuting attorney, Haggerty, the entire criminal docket comprising 114 state cases, two of which are new Yost law violations and twenty-nine are Yost law violations appealed from the Justice's courts, was placed at the foot of the docket.

There but eight of the members of the bar present when the motion was made and two more came in shortly afterward and when no objection to this procedure was made the cases were placed at the foot of the docket and will not come up until after the civil and chancery business has been finished for the term.

The civil and chancery docket is long and voluminous having few new cases but many of the old favorites still on it and at a late hour this evening no case had been set for trial.

The jurors that were drawn for this term of the Intermediate court will report Monday. In the meantime the court will continue in session and dispose of what routine business may come up. A number of judgments and chancery orders of routine nature were entered this morning by Judge Vincent.

SEN. HARDING BROUGHT TARIFF ISSUE HOME TO FAIRMONT VOTERS

Told Them What $10 a Week Foreign Glassworkers Would Do to Our Prosperity After the War Ends.

More than seven hundred representative citizens of Fairmont and Marion county gathered in the court house last night to hear Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, deliver what both Democrats and Republicans who were present called the "best speech he had ever heard."

Senator Harding's address was filled with the little anecdotes of appealing human interest that make his reputation as one of the most delightful and interesting speakers in the country. One of these was a story of a young man from his own home town in Ohio who had gone to Mexico and in order to make his life in that country safe during the recent bandit wars had been forced to become a British citizen.

"Hughes and the Republican party are not for war but will protect American rights and American citizens," said the Senator, "that is our issue, and we stand for protection to American trade and American industry and American labor." "We are not too proud to fight and Lincoln was not too proud to fight, yet we do not seek war but rather a fixed policy that will keep the nation in one position long enough for other nations to discover our attitude on disputed questions."

Senator Harding clearly showed that the Democrats had never in their history had a fixed policy and in each campaign since 1892 had used a different "paramount issue." "At one time," he said "their cry was down with the tariff and since they found that this would work disaster they have now formed a tariff commission, again they were for a silver standard and abandoned this with the promise to lower the cost of living, which ridiculous promise they have long since abandoned."

"The cost of living has increased because the raise in the standard of living," declared the Senator, "and for this reason it is foolish for any party to try to make people believe that this condition can be changed by anything the administration can do."

The Senator ably disposed of the Democratic idea that a tariff should be enacted for revenue only and urged the vital necessity of a protective tariff to keep this nation from ruinous competition when this war is ended.

MARINES ARE IN POSSESSION OF ATHENS CITY HALL

King Constantine Hurries to Capital to Receive New Note.

VENIZELOS RULES CRETE

Entente Consuls Have Been Instructed to Recognize Him.

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Oct. 17.—Vice Admiral Fournet, commander of the Anglo French fleet in the Mediterranean handed the Greek government a new note of an extremely grave character, says a dispatch to the exchange Telegraph company dated Athens yesterday. The note, it is said, brought King Constantine to the capital at once from the Royal residence in Tatoi. The railroad stations of Athens and Piraeus, the city hall at the capital and the Castalia barracks have been occupied by French and Italian sailors to the number of 1000 while 150 bluejackets with two machine guns have been stationed in the municipal theatre according to a Reuters dispatch from Athens today.

The city is quiet. An urgent cabinet council has been summoned. It is officially explained adds the dispatch that a detachment landed will assist the police in stopping demonstrations which threaten trouble. The entente allies have formally recognized the provisional government of Greece in the island of Crete set up by former Premier Venizelos. The entente consuls at Candia, the capital of Crete, have been instructed to act in union in this matter. An official statement issued here today says it is only in Crete that the question of official recognition has yet arisen.

Tonight he will be at Wayne court house and tomorrow in Huntington and Kenova. At Princeton yesterday C. C. Lilly, brother of Attorney General Lilly, and private secretary to Congressman Edward Cooper, presided over the meeting. Introducing the speaker, Mr. Lilly said: "First, I am a Republican, and if I could have had my personal choice as to who would have been your candidate here today for governor it would have been Abe Lilly, and I would rather have been a listener, hearing someone else introduce him, to this large gathering of people, but, as that is not the case, then I take great pleasure in introducing to you the man who is your standard bearer for governor, and who, I feel certain, will carry you to victory on November 7, and that he will be then not only the governor of the Republican party, but of every body in this great State of ours. Having been in several counties of the southern section of the state, I predict a great landslide for both the National and State Republican tickets. The man I introduce to you is Judge Ira E. Robinson, who will be our next governor. I expect to do everything I honorably can do for this election, and my friends and family are doing the same"
