

CANADIAN WOMAN TALKS SUFFRAGE

Mrs. McClung is Confident That Women Will Win in West Virginia.

Mrs. Nellie L. McClung, a Canadian woman of brilliant literary attainments, addressed a large audience at the Circuit court room last night on the suffrage issue. Mrs. McClung pointed out the fact in her address that it appeared peculiar to her that she, a British subject, should be appearing before audiences in this land of the free, asking the republic to give women the right of suffrage. She expressed herself as believing that West Virginia, whose motto is "Mountaineers are always free," would demonstrate this motto November 7 at the polls by making all her citizens freemen. Mrs. McClung is a forcible speaker and she brought many truths home to her hearers.

Howard Swisher, of Morgantown, who is well known in this city, appeared first on the program of the "Flying Squadron" and talked interestingly for a brief time, proving his statements by figures which he gave his audience.

One of the pleasing features of the program was the musical selections given by Mrs. Flora Williams, of Wheeling, accompanied on the piano by Miss Amy Rice, head of the department of music at the Normal school. The songs sung by Mrs. Williams were on the theme of suffrage and she delighted her audience.

The speakers were introduced by Commissioner Ira L. Smith in his customary pleasing manner.

WILSON PORTRAIT DONE IN MARBLE

Joe Davidson, famous American sculptor, has finished this marble bust of President Wilson. It was made in seven sittings in the study of the White House, and is the first Wilson ever had made.

NEW YORK LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent) NORMAL demand on President Wilson that he repudiate his Secretary of War, together with the demand that Secretary Baker resign from office, has been made by the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Woman's Relief Corps, the Ladies' Union Veteran Legion, and, indeed, all the patriotic women's organizations which have headquarters in Washington. This demand is, of course, made because of Mr. Baker's speech in Jersey City in which, endeavoring to defend the Wilson Mexican policy, he described the patriots who followed Washington from Bunker Hill to Yorktown as thieves, church looters and disreputable characters generally. No one will feel more keenly than the members of these patriotic societies the humiliation which Mr. Baker's slurs are bound to prove to all Americans. The chief mission of these noble organizations of women is to teach patriotism, and a correlated duty, especially of the D. A. R., is to correct errors of history. Much work has been done toward correcting the misrepresentation of the heroes of the American Revolution in English histories and especially in English and Canadian school histories, but all that has been accomplished may be nullified in a breath by Secretary Baker's unpatriotic slander. To support their contentions in these unfair foreign histories, the authors can now quote "an American Secretary of War" as their authority for all the labels they may choose to print regarding the American patriots. Everyone is now wondering if President Wilson will, perchance, have the manhood to repudiate his Secretary of War.

"Hang Him": This is the prevailing sentiment in Democratic headquarters regarding Brig. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, Judge Advocate General of the Army, because General Crowder has rendered an official opinion declaring that the United States is "at war." General Crowder was compelled to render this opinion because there arose the question of whether American soldiers who committed crimes in Mexico should be turned over to the local courts for trial or should be tried by military court-martial, in accordance with the provisions of the articles of war for "a state of war." After reviewing the facts, General Crowder decided that the United States is at war with Mexico, having invaded its territory by force, etc., even though this country has not formally declared war on Mexico, and that, consequently, American soldiers guilty of infractions of the law shall be tried by court martial.

The intense indignation of the President and his political managers grows out of the fact that he thus makes a mockery of the chief Wilson slogan. "He has kept us out of war," and that whenever a Democratic spellbinder makes that claim he is likely to be confronted with General Crowder's opinion. Friends of General Crowder, although aware that he rendered this opinion, only in the line of duty, are concerned about his future, as they recall that in every instance where a high-ranking naval officer has, even under oath, stated facts unwelcome to the Wilson administration he has been punished on some pretext or other, sooner or later, Admiral Fiske being the most notable example. Of course this condition has not prevailed in the War department, under Secretary Garrison, but Secretary Baker is a man far more after Woodrow Wilson's own heart than was Mr. Garrison.

Campaign Claims: The wild rainbow chasing of one Vance McCormick, of the Democratic National Committee, of the Democratic National Committee, strikingly recalls another piece of rainbow chasing. It reads, "Within the last two weeks I have caused a careful poll to be made by captains in hundreds of precincts in New York, Indiana and Ohio, for the purpose of obtaining the percentage of Republican loss over four years ago. The result of that poll were amazing. In no instance have the reports shown the percentage of Republican loss in that state (New York) to be less than 25 per cent, and in Erie county the losses to the Republicans run as high as 40 per cent. Equally large losses are shown to the Republicans, not only in Ohio and Indiana, but in 12 other states which the two parties are contesting. These figures mean only one thing, the election of the Democratic candidate by a tremendous plurality." The author of this prediction was Norman E. Mack, Democratic National Chairman, and it was made a few days before the election of 1905, in which Mr. Taft carried New York by 203,000, Ohio by 70,000, Indiana by over 10,000 and Erie county by 7,000, defeating Mr. Bryan by 1,269,000 plurality.

Democratic county officers say they can't stop bootlegging. Elect Republicans who will.
