cover the damages to which they were entitled; and he saw that court delays and costs further contributed to defrauding those who needed and deserved damages. Hardly had he been elected Governor than he declared in a public speech, "The interests of labor are the interests of all the people, and the protection of the wage-earner in the security of life and health by every practical means is one of the most sacred trusts of society." Fighting continuously and earnestly along these lines, Mr. Hughes accomplished the enactment of fifty-six labor laws, which the Legislative Labor News described as "including among them the best labor laws ever enacted in this or any other state," and which led the same publication, when Mr. Hughes resigned to go upon the Supreme Bench, to say of him, "He was the greatest friend of labor laws that ever occupied the Governor's chair at Albany."

G. A. R. Protests.
Colonel McElroy, one of the most widely known officials of the Grand Army of the Republic, has demanded of President Wilson that he immediately disavow Secretary Baker's infamous slander on the heroes of the American Revolution. Colonel McElroy says he has heard and is hearing from Grand Army camps in all parts of the country, and that Grand Army men everywhere are deeply incensed and demand immediate action on the part of President Wilson. The view entertained by the Grand Army men is that expressed by Colonel Roosevelt, who says, "Mr. Baker has been engaged recently in a defense of Mr. Wilson. He attempts to defend Mr. Wilson's attitude toward Carranza and the Mexican bandits generally by alleging that Washington and his soldiers stood on substantially the same level. He is by no means as sincere and straightforward as he certainly understands nothing of efficiency in war, and it is now apparent that he regards all wars as standing on the same level of infamy and all soldiers as equally disreputable. Among his recent exploits was an elaborate comparison of Washington and his followers and soldiers in the Revolutionary War with Carranza and the other bandits who are responsible for the present wretched Sabbath in Mexico."

How to Vote at General Election

ATTORNEY GENERAL ISSUES STATEMENT EVERY VOTER SHOULD BE FAMILIAR WITH

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 26.—Rulings of the Attorney General have been made public concerning the requirements in voting in the general election, November 7. "Where a voter puts the cross mark in the circle under his party emblem he thereby votes the straight party ticket," says one of these rules, "unless he should then put a cross mark opposite the name of some candidate or candidates on another or all other tickets. In that case the candidates on the straight party ticket will be voted for except those on front of whose names on the other ticket or tickets the cross mark appears."
Another ruling is that any voter who has not registered shall be registered by the commissioners of election on election day when he files with them an affidavit executed before one of the commissioners or before some other person qualified to administer an oath. The oath must contain information as to why registration had not been made before and the names of two creditable and reliable voters of the precinct. These two persons so named must make oath before the commissioners that the statements made by the prospective voter are correct to the best of their knowledge and belief.
For the sake of a few votes the Democratic county ring protects bootlegging and makes a joke of the Yost law. Vote the ring out of office.

ACTED AS A WET BLANKET
Indignant Lady's Rebuke Sounded Somewhat Incongruous, but Playgoers Will Understand.

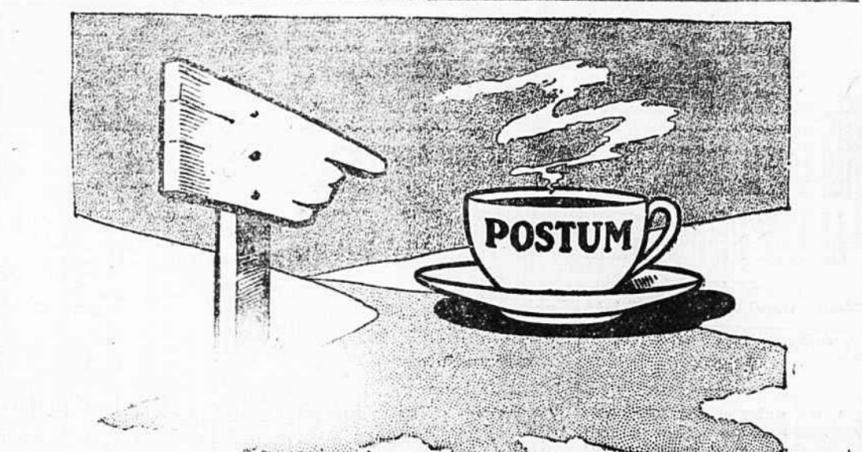

It was a sweet, and play, and there was hardly a dry handkerchief in the house. But one man in the gallery, "among the gods," irritated his companions excessively by refusing to take the performance in the proper spirit. Instead of weeping, he laughed. While others were mopping their eyes and endeavoring to stifle their sobs his own eyes brimmed with merriment, and he burst into inappropriate guffaws. At last the lady by his side turned upon him indignantly. "I don't know what brought you here," she cussed, with streaming eyes, and pressing her hand against her aching heart; "but if you don't like the play, you might let other people enjoy it!"

Many Funny Things.
Ever see a dog limp when his tail is stepped on? Ever see the wise man of the village get out on a limb and saw it off? Ever see grandpa lead two frisky calves out to the lot? Ever see a book agent trying to get over a barb wire fence quick before the bull got there? Oh, yes, there are lots of funny things besides owning a goat, or being one.—Wisconsin Agriculturist.

NEW YORK LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
ROBERT T. FRAZIER, who is leading the fight in the interest of the 1,209,000 railway employees who are not affected by the Adamson law, has brought out the fact that Representative Clark, of Florida, made a valiant attempt to induce Congress to make the law apply to all railway employees. Mr. Clark offered the following amendment: "Provided, further, That this section shall also include and apply to station agents, train dispatchers, trackmen, office employees, workers in railway shops, and all other employees of a railroad carried engaged in interstate carriage of passengers and freight." Mr. Clark made an impassioned appeal for his amendment. He said that he was opposed to the legislation at that time, and added, "but if you intend to legislate, then, for God's sake, legislate fairly and give all these people the advantage of what you propose." The Democratic leaders consulted the heads of the brotherhoods and found that they bitterly objected to having the legislation apply to all railway employees. The amendment was rejected by a vote of 81 to 120, the Democrats voting for it and the Democrats voting against it. If the eight-hour day had the sanction of the judgment of society," as President Wilson contended, there was no excuse whatever for refusing to make the law apply to all railway employees, but Mr. Wilson had been persuaded that only the brotherhoods could deliver their vote solidly on election day, and that, therefore, it was folly to try to do anything for the less well organized railway employees. As things have turned out, however, it is not improbable that the employees not included will have occasion to be grateful. Present prospects are that the brotherhoods will have to urge Congress to repeal the Adamson law before the time for it to go into effect.

Hughes and Labor.
Democratic efforts to injure Mr. Hughes in the eyes of labor have served only to strengthen the Republican candidate, because they have brought out the fact that, while Governor, Mr. Hughes appointed the first commission ever created to study the problem of industrial accidents. This was the Wainwright Commission, of which John Mitchell was a member. Gov. Hughes, who had made the insurance companies clean house and do justice to the widows and orphans, realized that the "unholy trinity" of "assumption of risk," "contributory negligence" and "the fellow servant doctrine," was being effectively used to make it impossible for the dependents of those killed and injured to re-

FELL FROM LOFT; HURT; THEN WELL

HOW A MAN WHO LANDED ON WOOD PILE AND WAS SORE FROM HEAD TO FOOT FOUND QUICK RELIEF.
Once upon a time Edwin Putnam, who lives in the quiet, pretty hamlet of Wendell Depot, Miss., climbed up into a loft to rest some building material, just as many another man living in the country must often do. Suddenly he slipped and fell. Ten feet below was a pile of wood, knotted and gnarled. It was a hasty tumble, and Mr. Putnam was injured painfully in his back, he was covered with bruises, and was sore from head to foot.
The next day he bought a bottle of Sloan's Liniment which had been recommended to him. Within a very few hours the soreness had vanished and the lameness had disappeared. He was an active man once more.
Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months. I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.
Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.
At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.
I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."
If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.
