

ALASKA DOGS TO BE BANISHED FROM THE NORTH AS OUTLAWS

Alaskan malamute, one of the wolf-strain, and reindeer burden bearers the Nushagak district proposes to substitute for the dog.

JUNEAU, Alaska, May 7.—Western Alaska wants to outlaw its oldest friend, the wolf-strain dog.

A bill which would effect this and substitute as burden bearer the gentle reindeer is now before the territorial legislature here.

It is the coming of white children to this far wilderness—the conversion of the sordid into a family man—that is responsible for this changed attitude toward the shaggy trail runner.

Within the past few years many children have been scarred and maimed, and a number killed, out in the Nushagak country, by savage husky and malamute.

The result has been the development of a furious hatred by white fathers and mothers toward the roving packs of half tamed dogs ranging the western villages.

As long as the men of this lonely district lived and worked and battled alone with the brutes that were mild one minute and ravening killers the next, this dog-savagery was stolidly accepted.

The unattached sourdough could cope with his team, though he too, was often slashed and mauled.

But now conditions are changing and either the wolf dog must go or the children be subjected to constant menace.

Because the average Alaskan is deeply sentimental, and because the history of the North has been written with sledge and dog—a will, however, meet with considerable resistance.

Difficulty in getting reindeer into regions where the dog is still a necessary beast of burden also may be expected to delay its adoption.

And the natives, though they treat their dogs heartlessly, will not readily relinquish the half wild packs to which they and their children are attached.

It is only a question of time, however, until the wolf-strain dogs must move on, out to the last edge of the Arctic silence with the half tamed

No Pleasure in That.
"Darling," he cried, "the firm is going to give me a 15 per cent raise to help us to meet the general rise in prices." "Oh," she replied, "if we've got to use it for that, what's the good of it? Why couldn't we have had it for some of the things we haven't been able to afford?"—Judge.

Dangerous.
Friend—"So you allowed that conductor on one of your own cars to jostle and talk back to you all he pleased? Why didn't you tell him who you were? That would have settled him." President of Traction Company—"Yes; and it would have settled me. He might have told the other passengers."—Puck.

Egyptian Wheat.
Egypt in the most ancient times was celebrated for its wheat. The best quality was all bearded. The wheat was put into the ground in winter and some time after the barley. In the Egyptian plagues of all the barley suffered, but the wheat had not appeared, and so escaped injury.

UNIVERSITY MEN DOING THEIR BIT

Forty Men Will be Given Commissions in the U. S. Army.

(Special Dispatch to West Virginian) MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 7.—West Virginia University in all its departments has not failed to sense the spirit of the times and already one hundred and seventeen men have gone out to help throughout this and adjoining states in raising bigger and better crops and winning the war through adequate food supply. Till today forty others had taken the examinations incident to their application to be placed at Fort Benjamin Harrison at Indianapolis, Ind., with the Officers Reserve Corps. These forty, of course, are men from the Cadet Corps. They are allowed to apply for any officers berth from a second lieutenant to a major. The term of service is five years, but the men are only required to serve in case of actual hostilities such as exist at the present time.

The hundred and seventeen who have gone out from the Agricultural department are scattered throughout West Virginia on farms. Twenty-two are acting as special assistant county agents. The others are located either on farms owned by their own families or on large farms owned by neighbors. In all cases these loyal men are using all their time, and all their knowledge of the best agricultural methods in order that larger crops may be produced.

While only forty have so far taken the examination for the Officers Reserve Corps, sixty more are waiting in line to be examined just as soon as the medical corps can put the work through. The Cadet Corps has so far, too, assisted in two big celebrations, one at Brownsville, Pa., some time ago and the other at Point Marion today. Both these celebrations were planned to stimulate recruiting and the local authorities were glad to help by exhibiting the well drilled W. V. U. Corps.

BONA COFFEE

"Bona" is good because labor, skill and experience have made it so.

Thousands of people daily drink this delightful beverage with a keen relish for its fragrant coffee odor and deliciously mellow coffee flavor.

No product can gain favor with the buying public unless it possesses intrinsic merit. It took labor skilled blenders and roasters and the ripe experience of the O. W. Peirce Company to produce "Bona" Coffee.

"Bona" has justly earned its wonderful popularity with critical coffee drinkers. Thousands of "Bona" drinkers are now enjoying to the full real coffee satisfaction. Are you one of them?

BONA COFFEE

NEVER FAILS TO PLEASE.

Selection.
We import the best coffees grown. These coffee berries must be perfect in size, color and texture. Every berry must possess its full quota of strength and flavor.

Roasting.
Only the most experienced men are employed in this department. The roasting is carefully timed and a certain degree of heat is maintained that every berry may become perfectly and uniformly roasted.

Cleaning Process.
After selection and inspection all coffees are cleaned by our perfected blower system, removing every bit of dirt and foreign substance.

Blending.
No one coffee alone possesses all the qualities essential to coffee goodness. To produce the best results coffees are blended. "Bona" quality is largely due to blending. This work is done by experts.

Steel Cutting.
After roasting all coffees are taken to the steel cutting room and ground with fine, sharp knives, removing all chaff and leaving only the best portion of the coffee berry.

Packing.
They are then hurried to the packing room and put in air-tight tin cans, preserving intact their original freshness and coffee flavor.
