NEW DODGE OF BOTTLEGGERS. CHARLESTON, Aug. 8.—Badges and credentials of private detectives agencies, bought for the purpose, are being used by bootleggers and idlers in Southern West Virginia to avoid prosecution under the prohibitory and license and vagrancy laws, it was declared today by Charleston police authorities. With part of the so-called detectives assigned to "dry" territory, and part to "wet" territory, they co-operated in bringing liquor into the State under the guise of having made lawful confiscation it is said. By showing their badges and credentials to regularly constituted officers, they managed to avoid arrest under the Prohibition law and the new statute requiring every man to work at least 30 hours every week.

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Intimations that several of the leading industrial companies may find it necessary to engage in new financing, announcement of the reduction of the Studebaker quarterly dividend from 2 1/2 to 1 cent, and the reported insistence of the administration that war prices to the Allies must undergo radical downward revision were responsible

A BUFFALO INSTITUTION Known All Over the United States

Dr. Richard C. Cabot, who is head of the Massachusetts General Hospital, has been writing for the American Magazine, April and May, on the subject of "Better Doctoring for Less Money."

He says that "A new era has come in the practice of medicine, but most people do not know it yet. We have begun to emerge from that stage of medical work in which the doctor was a peddler selling goods from house to house, into the more advanced and sensible era in which the doctor stays at his place of business, like any other who has goods to sell, and the people who want these goods come to him. The shop where he has his goods to sell is generally called a hospital and he has associated with him there a body of men and women similar to work people, foremen and managers of any industrial plant or dry goods store. He has there some beginning of a satisfactory division of labor and specialization of function. Therefore, he can give the public a much better article for less money."

"The article I refer to is sound medical advice and treatment. This is just what Dr. Pierce has been doing at the Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, New York. Dr. V. M. Pierce has associated with him Dr. Lee H. Smith, who is vice president and head surgical director and operator, and there are a dozen other physicians and specialists, as well as four chemists, and the poor and the very rich get the best medical attention. As Dr. Cabot has properly said, "When you go to a doctor's office you may complain of nothing more abstruse than a headache or a stomachache, yet for the solution of the problem represented by your suffering there may be needed an X-ray examination, chemical tests such as very few experts are capable of making, the consultation of experts in diseases of the eye, the ear and the throat, and the study of the improvement or aggravation of symptoms at different times of day and under different diets and temperatures. This study demands the conditions found in just such a hospital, and nowhere else to be had without expenses." It is also true that the "family doctor does the best that he knows how, and considering the difficulties under which he works, makes a wonderfully good estimate of the nature of the patient's disease and the treatment to be administered."

"But as an accurate diagnosis simply cannot be made in a considerable number of cases without the co-operation of a number of men, each expert in his own field we ask the family doctor to be an 'all-around' specialist. This he attempts, but one cannot truthfully say that he succeeds, for the attempt is obviously an impossible one. Medicine is today far too large and complicated a field for any one man, no matter how wise and experienced, to cover."

We have not the space to speak individually of the professional men composing the faculty of this old, world-famed institution, but will say that among them are many whose long connection with the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute has rendered them experts in their several specialties.

Advantage of Specialties. By thorough organization and subdividing the practice of medicine and surgery in this institution, every invalid is treated by a specialist—one who devotes his undivided attention to the particular class of diseases to which the case belongs. The advantage of this arrangement is obvious. Medical science covers a field so vast that no physician can, within the limits of a lifetime, achieve the highest degree of success in the treatment of every malady incidental to humanity.

By attaching the master belt to the bottom of the washer, permitting the paddles to agitate it as they revolve, a direct-current power is obtained. Attaching the auxiliary belt to the paddles themselves varies this by furnishing an alternating current. In either case the power of the apparatus is proportional to the coefficient of its r. p. m. velocity, in other words its rotary speed. Among the auxiliary appliances which may be attached to this power plant are—shoe polisher, hat brusher, cocktail shaker, auto starter, automatic razor and vibrator for shampooing, cradle rocker, nail file, pants presser, furnace shaker and others. Don't let your motor washer loaf on the job. Keep it in operation at least eight hours a day, getting the full investment value and lightening the manual labor about the house. One simple extra attachment permits hooking the machinery onto rocking chairs instead of the motor washer, thus using the power wasted at any missionary tea or woman's reading circle meeting. A water power washer or an electric washer will operate the device equally well.

DON'T LET YOUR MOTOR WASHER LOAF TRY THIS

By BUDDY BYE. A new, and most helpful, household help about to be marketed is the Motor Washer and Rocking Chair Oscillator, a masterly application of masculine brains to home problems. It recognizes, and uses, the waste in plant overhead due to the motor washer's operation for but one two-hour shift per week, not to be tolerated in an age when these eight-hour shifts keep most factory machines continuously humming. A system of belts and pulleys attached to the paddles of the motor washer delivers the power at a central point, where it may be diverted to various uses by harnessing it to different appliances. By attaching the master belt to the bottom of the washer, permitting the paddles to agitate it as they revolve, a direct-current power is obtained.
