

INDUSTRIAL FAIRMONT

The J. E. Haggerty company at Newton and Diamond street, East Side, have about twenty-six men in the rolling department now. They lost three days' work during the cold weather. About eleven girls are working in the stripping room. In a separate building in the rear, four girls are working preparing chewing tobacco. About 16,000 stogies are being made a day and about a ton of chewing tobacco a month. The work is paid for by the piece. The company is having some trouble getting stripping help. Girl workers are also scarce. The Haggerty company formerly occupying part of the old Normal building at the head of Adams street, has moved its factory to Mannington. These two companies are under different management though both using the same name. Mr. Haggerty of the Mannington factory, was employed for six years in the East Park factory and later established a factory of his own—the present Mannington concern.

The Fairmont ice company has at the present time about one hundred and fifty tons of ice in the storage room. It has not been running for two weeks. During the winter it does not make ice as long as the storage room has a plentiful supply. When the supply runs out, it is filled up again. About three men are employed in winter and about seven in summer. The present supply of ice will last until about February 1st. The last supply of one hundred and fifty-seven tons lasted about seven weeks.

A. Auerbach, who is running a small plate-glass factory near the river on the East side, has made himself a furnace during the last week during the time he had to shut down on account of lack of gas, which is answering his purposes admirably. The furnace is made of brick cemented, with bands of iron to hold the arch together. Counting the cost of the grate inside and the iron door, etc., Mr. Auerbach estimates the cost of the oven to be about three hundred dollars including labor and loss of time. Today the furnace is working fine and about four shops are running. Tomorrow about eight shops will be running. The furnace is made so that either gas or coal can be used at an instant's notice. Using the coal will require an extra man. Mr. Auerbach is getting his coal from the mine near. They are too busy to give him much but this does not worry Mr. Auerbach. He sends for it in hand cars and has a track right at the door.

Mr. Auerbach has only been running his factory about six months. He makes small glass plates for electric light buttons. About two thousand are being made a day and are all shipped to Oavenport, Iowa, where the inventor of them attends to the selling. About eight million plates for electric light buttons of different kinds are used every year and glass ones are a very new invention. Most of them were formerly made of brass.

It is interesting to note how Mr. Auerbach came to be located here. The owner of the patented glass plate had been looking about in a number of places for some one to make them and for a place to make them in. He saw Mr. Auerbach's name in a journal and waited for him to return from New York when he made arrangements with him to manufacture the plates. Mr. Auerbach gets so much advice for making them.

The plates are made of different colored glass. A number are made of amber colored glass and painted gold on the back, making them resemble brass. The finished plates are boxed and taken to the express depot in wagons. Mr. Auerbach depends on the railroad to bring him his boxes and is having a great deal of trouble through delayed shipments.

The Columbia glass factory was shut down eight days on account of the bitter weather and lack of gas. The factory was started again yesterday morning but was not running full force until today. Antonio Scalise thinks he will get a man from Pittsburgh to come up and install an oil system to use when the gas fails. Mr. Scalise is still looking for another location for his factory and says he may move in the spring. He has several places in view. Small jars of all kinds are made at this factory and more labor is employed than at any other factory.

Perfect Health Is Every Woman's Birthright

Parkersburg, West Va.—"I have had benefit from 'Favorite Prescription.' I had trouble with my back and limbs. The pains were constant, especially in my back. I saw 'Favorite Prescription' advertised and I used one bottle. I gained and felt easier and better every day."—MRS. LINA ASCONE, 642 1/2 6th St., Parkersburg, West Va.

Richmond, Va.—"I have given birth eight children, and as a precaution to guard against many of the unpleasant features and the many discomforts, I took it all through my delicate state with four of my children, and could not have had an easier or more comfortable time. For a catarrhal condition I never found anything to equal your 'Lotion Tablets,' which entirely cured me of this disagreeable feature."—MRS. L. M. EASTMAN, 1703 W. Carry St., Richmond, Va.

OLD ALADDIN HAD NOTHING ON HIM

Here's a modern Aladdin who doesn't even need a lamp to wish himself into opulence and happiness. He turns copper into gold by the simple process of saving his pennies. J. "Frenchy" Lambert is a San Francisco newspaper boy who knows that "coppers" make dollars and dollars win wars. From sales of one-cent papers he's saved enough to purchase $1,500 liberty bonds. And he's going to purchase an equal amount of the next bond issue. Some magic, that!

tory of its kind, with the exception of A. H. Donnally is solving the coal problem quite satisfactorily as far as getting hold of it is concerned. Mr. Donnally has about a half acre of Pittsburgh vein peacock coal and is hiring three men to dig it out. Mr. Donnally is located across from the Marion Products company. Mr. Donnally wants to grade his property and takes this way of letting it pay for itself. He is selling the coal to anyone who wants it at strictly government price. Mr. Harden, of the Marion plant, has some teams and is doing a good deal of the hauling. Mr. Donnally has a machine shop on the location. It is to be used this winter for storage. Later new machinery may be installed and business carried on as before. What Mr. Donnally intends to do with his graded ground has not been decided upon yet.

The Dickerson Building Supply company is busy filling orders for mine houses at the various mines.

BITS OF STATE NEWS

Men are so scarce in the southern part of the State that the superintendent of the Dumplin mine at Farmdale is a woman.

A Grafton choir gave a concert Sunday night, occupying the time generally devoted to the entire service.

Both Mannington and Keyser have water troubles; both towns are obliged to call upon private concerns for water—Mannington on the South Penn Oil Co., and Keyser on industrial plants.

There will be a Christmas tree at the Cold Spring church near Cornstalk on Christmas eve.

The Lewisburg Seminary orchestra, which is composed almost entirely of girls, gave an interesting recital at Carnegie Hall in that town on December 17.

The Hotel Ruffner, in Charleston, which was damaged by fire recently, is once more taking care of its patrons.

A big revival started at Huntington December 20, in a tabernacle and Dr. Anderson is the principal talker.

Woo Tong, prominent Chinese resident of Huntington, is dead and his passing is widely regretted by a large circle of friends.

Parkersburg Elks gave a dance Tuesday evening, December 17, which was greatly enjoyed.

Robert Morris, of Harrisville, is editor and owner of seven weekly newspapers—The Ritchie Gazette, The Carlo Enterprise, The Mason Republican, The Point Pleasant Gazette, The Putnam Leader and the Wetzel Republican.

Miss Zoia Anderson is manager of The Upshur Record and Miss Marion Shaw is owner of The Mannington Telegram.

There is a feeling around Weston that The Weston Republican, now in the hands of receivers, will resume publication. The plant will be offered for sale shortly.

The West Virginia News, published at Ronceverte, which claims to have the largest circulation of any weekly in the state, got out a special Christmas supplement.

With the last issue in December, the Mountain State Patriot, a prohibition paper edited by Rev. J. W. Bedford, will suspend publication.

The Guyan Valley Thunderer brags that The Huntington Advertiser published an item sixty-five days after it appeared in The Thunderer. The Thunderer is all puffed up since E. E. Meredith wrote it up in The Pittsburgh Dispatch as a rip-snorting wild-west movie picture paper.

The Morgantown Post-Chronicle, always patriotic, leads off with the suggestion that there is no exchanging of Christmas presents after the holiday—an effort to lighten the work of the stores.

WISHING YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS

New January Numbers of Columbia Records

From Concert Hall to Battle Front goes Percy Grainger.

The popular young Australian pianist, now "doing his bit" in a United States Army Band, is here introduced as an exclusively Columbia artist in his first record, Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody." An interpretation of charming individuality reproduced with an amazing fidelity that sets a new mark in pianistic recording. A6000—$1.50

Lazaro—flaming through 'Di Quella Pira!'

In this most dramatic song of Verdi's most dramatic opera, Lazaro gives us a thrilling example of the emotional possibilities of the human voice. A record that explains why opera audiences respond with such thunderous applause to Lazaro's singing of this solo. 47211—$2.00

Barrientos' Loveliest Love Song, 'Caro Nome!'

For this record the celebrated Metropolitan Opera soprano has chosen "Caro Nome," from "Rigoletto," an aria that for over half a century has been continuously growing in popularity and adding to Verdi's fame as a master of melody. A beautiful song made more beautiful because a great artist has added simple sincerity of expression to a faultless technique. 48649—$3.00

Margaret Woodrow Wilson sings the People's Songs.

The daughter of our President has inherited his sympathetic understanding of the people. She has chosen to devote her genuine artistic talent to the simple songs everybody knows and loves. In a double record she gives this month most appealing renditions of "My Laddie," and "My Old Kentucky Home." A2416—$1.00

Sixty-five other numbers are included in this wonderful January list of Columbia records. Straccini, Rother, and Elena Gerhardt, are also included among the artists. There are unusually fine selections of popular hits and dance music, as well as many specialties, including an absolutely unique record, "Life in a Trench in Belgium," a sensational word-picture of the great war.
