Send in That Design For A City Flag

Some time ago The West Virginian announced that it would give a prize of $10 for the best design for a city flag for Fairmont, the contest to close September 1. A number of designs have been submitted but the contest is still wide open, and every one who has a design in mind should send it in.

The idea is the big thing, and when the prize winning design is selected a rough sketch will have just as good a chance as the most finished drawing. Get busy right away. Ten dollars will buy two War Savings stamps and a couple of Thrift stamps, and all you have to do to get it is a little clever thinking. Remember the contest closes September 1.

in action, 45; missing in action, 32; wounded severely, 46; died of wounds, 19; died from accident and other causes, 1; wounded, degree undetermined, 38; prisoner, 1. Total, 153.

West Virginians mentioned in the morning list are:

Wounded severely — William A. Young, White Sulphur Springs.

Wounded, degree undetermined — George W. Jones, Charleston.

Missing in action — William T. Eller, Cameron; Stewart Long, New Thacker; Emerson Arnold Martin, Green Sulphur.

HAS FINE TUBER CROP ON PENNSY FARM

Far to the northland of Pennsylvania Attorney David A. Ritchie, of this city, is boosting the fair city of Fairmont, having named his premises at Ulysses, Potter county, Pa., the Fairmont farms. Mr. Ritchie will leave for a visit to his farms of 450 acres on September 1.

From present indications Mr. Ritchie will have a bumper crop of potatoes and according to the most recent letters he received from his farmer the aphids and blight have not touched the tubers. This year Mr. Ritchie has twenty-five acres of buckwheat; thirty acres of oats and fifteen acres of corn and all of his crops are reported to be very fine.

Naturally his principal money crop will be potatoes because he had fifteen acres of tubers planted. Unless something develops later he anticipates a yield of 150 bushels to the acre, which is regarded as a fair yield in Potter county. This will mean about 2,250 bushels of potatoes. Attorney Ritchie figures upon bringing one or perhaps two carloads of potatoes to Fairmont to dispose of. Prompted by patriotism he will sell them at a fair price to the people of Fairmont, that is, he will sell them to the people at the same price the local merchants pay Marion county farmers, thereby eliminating the middle man. He expects to secure his first shipment of potatoes during the latter part of October.

BITS OF STATE NEWS

Last week's issue of Buckhannon Delta, of which H. A. Darnell is the general manager, contained the following:

Ever since we have had charge of the Delta we have advocated the keeping of more sheep, and the price lambs and wool are bringing this year proves the wisdom of the advice.

J. W. Peterson, formerly of Lorentz, but now of Buckhannon, informs us that he has 14 ewes, and sold his lambs last week and the price he received for his lambs and wool made the income from each of his sheep average $26.44. The total income from the 14 sheep was $370.16.

In the language of the Scripture, "Go thou and do likewise."

Over in Roane county they are so busy helping Uncle Sam win the war, as witness the following editorial from the Spencer Times Record: "There have been so few violations of the law in Roane county in recent months that Prosecuting Attorney Ferguson is seriously considering the proposition of calling no grand jury for the September term of the Circuit court. It might be possible to stir up a few indictments against automobilists, who have not procured license tags, and against violators of the vagrancy law. The vagrants will mostly come under the new draft law and be subject to the 'work or fight' rule, therefore it is hardly worth while at this late hour to drag them before a jury for trial, in the opinion of the prosecutor."

CHICAGO HARD HIT BY THE WAR WORK

Two Hundred Thousand Men Have Left That Center.

By E. C. RODGERS.

It is a mighty good thing for Chicago that the census bureau isn't gathering population statistics now. For Chicago, second of American cities, each day sees its citizens pack their trunks and stream eastward and southeastward.

"Chicago is being depopulated," cried The Chicago Tribune. And Chicago business men are worrying.

Charles A. Munrow, Illinois director of the U. S. labor reserve, says more than 125,000 Chicago men have quit the big city by the lake to work in eastern and southern war industries, shipyards, munition factories, coal mines, and other hand-defeating establishments. Within three months 6,000 men have been sent to the government's high explosives plant in West Virginia. The employment service will take at least 50,000 more men out of Chicago within the next six weeks.

It is estimated that Chicago will lose over 200,000 workers, mostly men, this year. If they remain permanently they will send for their families and thus reduce Chicago's population by a million or so. Should the drain extend over the next two years, and it may if the war lasts, Chicago's 1920 census figure may entitle her to third place in the list, Philadelphia, boomed by the war, going into second.

This population loss does not take into consideration Chicago boys who have gone into army or navy, but only workers who have left the city for employment elsewhere.

In one small section of Chicago a survey made showed 5,000 vacant flats, 800 unoccupied houses and 12,000 rooms for rent. Other parts of the city have about the same proportion of vacant dwelling places. This has had the effect of reducing rentals, and now it is possible to get cheaper flats and houses in Chicago than in any other large city east of the Mississippi.

Chicago's dwindling population is due to Chicago's lack of war work. Other cities, east and south, are filled with men and women working on war orders; Chicago has few of these. Outside of the stockyards district little war work is being done. And, too, excepting the meat packers, war profits are insignificant. Chicago's population has headed toward the cities where profits are being cornered and wages are high.

So it is that Chicago is now setting into motion a somewhat belated program of war effort. The federal government is to be besieged with pleas, entreaties and pressure to send war factories to Chicago. Munition plants, and what else the government may want in war orders, are desired by the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

That's how war — without war work — can depress a city's directory. The other side — how it can inflate it — is found down in a Tennessee corn field and an Alabama cotton patch.

When this year dawned Jacksonville, Tenn., was a well cultivated corn field. Then the government substituted powder for corn, and instead of a few hundred bushels of the latter will make 900,000 pounds of the former. Today Jacksonville has 33,000 homes where three corn cribs stood, and over 50,000 men, women and children travel over paved streets, ride in electric cars and earn big wages.

Also, there's Sheffield, Ala. On January 1, 1918, that was one man's cotton patch. Two tenant families lived on it and a dozen people had a hard time making a living. Now Sheffield has 30,000 population, street cars, miles of paved streets, suburbs, and a young army of real estate experts are selling subdivisions so fast that the street naming bureau can't keep up with them. The government's nitrate plant did all this.

When Chicago's million has gone, maybe there'll be enough good farming land near Michigan boulevard to grow quite a few bushels of corn, and being grown near the feeding pens of the stockyards, will be worth more than if raised in Tennessee or Alabama. Chicago yet may become a fine little agricultural center.

Oh, Man!

I shall never ask Hobbs for his advice again.

What's the matter?

He never thinks what I have made up my mind to do is right.—Boston Transcript.

New England's labor problem recently became so serious that one of the largest shoe manufacturing concerns in the country advertised for women with babies or small children who are experienced shoe etchers. The company has installed a large nursery and will have a staff of kindergarten teachers on hand to care for the youngsters while their mothers work.

Worthington

Stole Grapes.

A number of young boys ranging in age from thirteen to eighteen years visited Oscar Cochran's grape arbor recently and made way with about five bushel of grapes. They were discovered on their second visit and we understand they will be prosecuted. It will be probably necessary to make an example of some one before the petty thieving is stopped here.

Returned Home.

Bismark Pinnell, of Elkins, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Finley Oakes for several days, departed for his home on Thursday. He was accompanied as far as Fairmont by Misses Mary Leeper, Lenore Hale and Clarice Oakes and Mr. Lowell Oakes.

Heavy Rainfall.

Although the rainfall here on Thursday was not more than ordinary the reports from Helens Run and Tevrough indicate an unusually heavy downpour partaking somewhat of the characteristics of a cloudburst.

Personals.

Millard F. Boggess, of Mill Fall, was a business visitor here on Friday.

Messames Arley L. Parrish and A. J. McDaniel were recent shoppers in Fairmont.

Mrs. Jos. Wallbrown was transacting business in Fairmont on Thursday.

Mrs. Walter F. Morgan, of Everson, was visiting relatives here on Thursday.

Mrs. Pluma Beeson, formerly of Weston, has accepted a position as saleslady in McIntire's store.

Elias Wolfe, of Monongah, was visiting his son, Clarence M. Wolfe, on Thursday.

Claude L. Davis was a business caller in Fairmont on Thursday.

S. A. Judy, store manager at Bethlehem, was transacting business in Worthington on Thursday.

Mrs. J. C. Jacobs was visiting relatives at Barrackville on Thursday.

HOULT

Mrs. Gladys McElfresh has received word from her husband, James R. McElfresh, stating that he has arrived safely in France. Relatives have also received word from his brother, Archie McElfresh, who has been at the front since the big drive in March, saying that his is well and now back of the firing lines and out of serious danger.

Mrs. C. B. Satterfield returned from Fairmont Thursday where she had been visiting at the homes of Dorsey People and Tom Hall. She was accompanied home by her niece, Miss Fanny Hall.

Miss Erma Watkins has been visiting friends in Conneville this week. Mrs. Sarah Watkins, of Fairmont, was visiting relatives here Tuesday and Wednesday.

James Diamond and family, of Barbour county, are visiting relatives here.

Miss Annie Snider is staying with her aunt, Mrs. Will Bunner, near Owens bottle works.

Miss Gladys Watkins has returned from Buckhannon where she attended the Epworth League Institute August 10-18. She reports that she has many useful things to tell of which she hopes will be of great interest to both the Epworth and Junior leagues.

NEW RULING ON FLOUR AND SUGAR

Grocers Who Sell Flour Without Substitutes Subject to Stiff Fines.

County Food Administrator Joseph Rosier is in receipt of the following detailed regulations for the government of public eating places:

Wheat.

Not more than 2 ounces, gross weight, of Victory bread or rolls, or 4 ounces, gross weight, of quick breads (containing not more than 33 1/3 percent wheat flour) shall be served any person at any one meal.

Sugar.

1. No sugar bowl shall be placed on any table or lunch counter in any dining room.

2. No sugar shall be served to any guest except on that guest's order, but the waiter or waitress may inquire whether or not sugar is desired and, if so, what kind.

3. For coffee or tea, hot or iced, only two half lumps or one rounded

(not heaping) teaspoonful of either sugar, may be served to each person.

4. For cereal or fruit, one teaspoonful only of granulated or powdered sugar or its equivalent per person. If a person orders cereal and fruit, no more than one teaspoonful shall be served for both.

5. No sugar shall be served to guests for any other purpose than those in these rules specified.

6. Service of one guest's portion to another guest (where first guest does not desire sugar and orders double portion to second guest) is forbidden. Managers of restaurants and boarding houses as well as their patrons should note these new regulations carefully.

Hotels and private homes that pledged themselves to us no wheat flour have been released from that obligation, but there is no modification of the regulation concerning the purchase and use of wheat flour substitutes.

A few complaints have come to the food administration of merchants who are selling flour without substitutes. Such dealers are liable to fines, and the government will get them sooner or later. Grocers in Preston county recently paid approximately two thousand dollars in fines into the Red Cross treasury. Grocers in Marion county who violate the food regulations may have the privilege of making a similar contribution.

AGAIN AND AGAIN WE SAY BUY WHAT YOU NEED WHILE THE SUMMER SALE IS ON

We will, whatever happens, always be found selling reliable merchandise for lower prices than can be found elsewhere. But we do not know when we can ever sell quality merchandise as low as they are now.
