U. M. W. DIST. PRES. DOES NOT LOOK FOR A WAGE REDUCTION

Thinks Operators Will Stabilize Conditions in the Region.

THE KENTUCKY FIELD Organizers Have Tough Sailing There and Activities Are Called Off.

Speaking of the future working conditions in the Fairmont coal region, C. F. Keeney, of Charleston, president of District 17, United Mine Workers, said today that while there might be a slight shake up in the coal trade, but he did not look for a reduction in wages. He said in part:

"I feel the wages will not be cut. The operators should standardize wages so that the stable conditions might be brought about. The miners should receive the same prices for similar kinds of work, which means that the trade should be stabilized. After the ratification of peace there might be a lull for a short time, but operators should endeavor to stabilize the coal industry. There should be no cut in wages because there is no cause for it as operators will be able to establish a market for their product."

While in Fairmont today C. F. Keeney, Charleston, president of District 17, United Mine Workers received a telegram stating that some of the independent coal companies of the eastern Kentucky field were discharging the men because they had joined the United Mine Workers. One mine let out 22 men. The seat of the trouble appears to be at Pikeville Pike county. At the present time there are 2250 miners organized in the field. Mr. Keeney added that the Consolidation Coal Company's operation in the Elk Horn region has not resisted the United Mine Workers, and have permitted the men to go ahead and organize, and have tried to lead mine.

For the past few weeks there has been much disturbance in the Pikeville section, and William Pettry, of Charleston, vice president of District 17 United Mine Workers, and a brace of organizers, were met at the depot and assailed at a hotel, according to Mr. Keeney. Later they were arrested on an alleged charge of disturbing the peace and Pettry and his co-workers were jailed until the next day when attorneys of the United Mine Workers hastened to Pikeville from Charleston, this state. A man named Johnson said to be a guard for the Solvay Coal Company, preferred the charges, according to Mr. Keeney.

Mr. Keeney said today that the work of extending the work in the eastern Kentucky field has been called off until the international board meeting which will be held at Indianapolis on January 6. Mr. Keeney will attend this meeting and present the subject personally.

Yesterday there was a total of 495 cars sent out of the region as fuel for eastern railroads. None of this was questioned, however.

Today's Cars. Today's cars dropped down to 798, which is a tumble of 124 cars from Thursday's total, which was very poor also. The cars in the region today are classified as follows: Open 723; coke, 57; team track 18. The placement at 7 o'clock this morning was 645.

Letter to Hotels. Within the next day or two R. L. O'Neil, director of fuel conservation of the state of West Virginia, will send out to the 330 hotels in the state the following circular letter, which is now being prepared:

"The fuel administration requests hotel managers to conserve fuel in every possible manner during the coming winter months and pursuant to these instructions, you will kindly caution all employes especially housekeepers maids and housemen to turn off lights and heat in rooms immediately after departure of guests. This also applies to all corridors and public rooms."

Kitchen employes should also be instructed to handle range and boiler fires carefully, and reduce fuel consumption as much as possible. An expert inspection of heating, lighting and power plant would no doubt be of benefit. In fact anything you may do along the line suggested will meet the approval of the administration."

Another Refund. In this morning's mail J. Walter Barnes, state fuel administrator of the state of West Virginia received a check for $7.50 from C. H. Hamilton, of Murraysville Jackson county, as a refund from Smith Bros. on shipments of coal made subsequent to August 21, 1917. These refunds go to Red Cross funds. Mr. Barnes stated today that he had not decided to which Red Cross fund this check should go.

United Mine Workers. James Diaz, organizer, is in Kingmont today. Isaac Scott, Joe Angelo and Ira Marks, organizers, are at Phillippi today.

C. F. Keeney, of Charleston, president of District 17 United Mine Workers, will address a mass meeting of miners in the carpenter's hall at Clarksburg, this evening. Three or four different locals will assemble. President Keeney will explain the contract, the principles of the organization and the collective bargaining.

Fred Mooney, secretary and treasurer of District 17, left last evening for Charleston.

On Friday evening at 7 o'clock C. F. Keeney, president of District 17, will address a mass meeting of the miners in the carpenter's hall at Clarksburg, this evening. Three or four different locals will assemble. President Keeney will explain the contract, the principles of the organization and the collective bargaining.

"No district separate and apart from this district will be formed at Star

City," said C. F. Keeney, president of District 17 today.

Big Coal Meeting. The executive committee of the West Virginia Coal Association held its December meeting at the Kanawha hotel Charleston, yesterday. Two matters that were discussed was that of finding a satisfactory market for the export of surplus coal produced in the state and also to the weighing of the coal shipped to tidewater. Railroads will be asked to establish official weighing points near the eastern border of the state instead of weighing it after it is dumped as this involves too much time in determining the freight charge, which holds up the settlements. The West Virginia Coal association is composed of the several district associations in the state and the membership of the executive committee is as follows: S. J. G. Bradley, of Dundon, president; W. H. Cunningham, of Huntington secretary; J. H. Thomas, of Cabell and G. H. Caperton, of Charleston; E. E. Drennen, of Elkins; J. E. Jones, of Pocahontas; A. B. Rawn, and J. D. Francis, of Huntington; George Patterson, of Vivian, and George Wolfe, of Winding Gulf.

Yesterdays Loading. A total of 933 cars were loaded in the Fairmont region yesterday. Of this number 828 loads went east and 105 west. The eastbound coal totalled 820 cars and the coke was 3 cars while the westbound coal was 30 cars and 25 cars of coke.

The Railroad. Loads drawn east of Grafton yesterday were 748, of which 656 car loads were coal. Of the western traffic there were 146 loads of coal west of Fratton. Yesterday there was diverted 97 loads of coal over the Fairmont, Morgantown and Pittsburgh route to Connellyville. There were 49 loads diverted this morning.

Unconsignat Coal. Right now, according to telegraph reports, there are 1000 unconsignat loads of coal standing at the mines and at the scales along the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, it is said because of the recent zoning order of the fuel administration cutting the selling field of the mines adjacent to Huntington to about 20 per cent of its former territory.

An official order yesterday practically closed the main avenue of West Virginia operations to the east. Orders were issued that only 100 cars could move to the tidewater every twenty-four hours.

Interpret it here as meaning that only 100 cars of coal daily are needed by the United States navy, which formerly received the entire output. The zoning apparently affects the C. and O. and The Virginian railroads.

Coal Notes. Miss Mary Geary Cornett, a stenographer in the office of E. E. Rightmire, administrative engineer is spending a week in New Martinsburg.

John M. Wolfe, manager of the Jamison Coal and Coke company, will leave today for a business trip to Pittsburgh.

Charles Johnson head, clerk of the Fairmont business office of the Jamison Coal and Coke company, is down with laryngitis at his home on Walnut avenue.

U. B. Williams, local representative of the United States Railroad administration, will return this afternoon from a several days' trip to his home in Wheeling.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 19.—Practically all the employes of the Fort Wayne branch of the General Electric company, numbering between 4,000 and 5,000 men and women, went on strike today in support of the strike in the Erie branch of the company. There is no disorder and little confusion.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 19.—Less than one thousand workers of the General Electric company's plant who went on a strike December 10, still were out today when the sympathetic walk out began at the company's plant in Schenectady, Lynn, Pittsfield and Fort Wayne.

The discharge of 400 women workers as the result of cancellation of war contracts was said to have been the cause of the strike. The demands of the strikers called for reinstatement of the workers and inauguration of four six hour working shifts instead of the eight hour basis upon which the plant is operated.

Company officials said today they did not intend to meet the demands and that the strike caused them no inconvenience as 3,000 of the 4,000 workers employed still were on duty.

Petura Forces Reached That Black Sea Port Some Time Sunday.

ODESSA, Sunday, Dec. 15.—(By Associated Press)—Troops under command of the anti-German Ukrainian leader Petura today are occupying Odessa.

A London dispatch Wednesday said that unconfirmed reports had been received that Odessa had been occupied by the Petura forces. Dispatches dated a week previously at Odessa said that the Petura forces were marching on Odessa.

The Allied naval forces there have taken steps to protect the wharves and Allied nationals, but had decided not to interfere in any fighting in the city.
