B. A. Scott, organizer, is at Leadon Brook today. James Diana, organizer, is in Lilly, Summers county, Sam Ballantyne, district board worker, is at Independence today.

East of Grafton, Yesterday east of Grafton the Baltimore and Ohio railroad drew 47 loads of which 195 were coal. The B. & O. practically has the coal cleaned up in the region.

Mr. Isner Returning, R. B. Isner, district representative of the United States fuel administration, is expected to return from New York City tonight. He was in Pittsburgh this morning on his way to Fairmont.

Mr. Williams Returns, Yesterday U. B. Williams, local representative of the United States railroad administration, returned from Wheeling where he spent the weekend.

Anthracite Notes, In the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania in 1913 there were 354,000 more tons of coal mined over 1917 with 31 fewer deaths.

For the purpose of fight against and prevent destructive forest fires in the hard coal region the Anthracite Forest Fire Association has been organized with a new lookout tower to be erected by the association at Upper Lehigh. Sixty per cent of the mine workers of the Lehigh region are members of the Red Cross and have contributed to a war chest and general work of the Red Cross.

There are 34,000 jobs open for mine workers in the anthracite region, according to The Anthracite News.

No Cut in Labor, "Positive, definite notice has been served by American labor that there will be no reduction in wages," says The Miners' Journal.

"Any attempt to lower the wage standards will be opposed in the most vigorous manner. This was made clear by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in his answer to W. H. Barr, head of the American Founders' Association, and by Frank J. Hayes, president of the United Mine Workers, in his recent public statement on the subject. President Hayes is the head of the largest labor organization in the world, and his words are the words of that body. President Gompers represents nearly three million organized American workmen."

Coal Notes, The Gilmer Fuel mine, located at Gilmer, opened and operated by foreign capital, has been sold to a West Virginia corporation composed of S. A. Hayes, George Work, C. T. Hiteshaw, Parkersburg; Dr. E. M. Peary, Joseph Steinbeck, Clarksburg, and John E. Arbuckle, Glenview. Joseph E. Beury, formerly general manager of the Turkey Knob Coal Company at Glen Jean many years, is dead at his home at Glen Jean. He was forty-two years old.

Filing Schedules, In the United States court in Pittsburgh today a schedule for distribution is being filed in the bankrupt estate of J. V. Thompson, the Uniontown coal baron, which aggregates $2,100,000. This sum will pay all of the taxes and mortgage creditors in full and a portion of the judgment creditors.

NO MORE BLUE

he said: "I didn't get these skates to give up on. I got them to learn how on." So every one who comes into the kingdom of God must have the determination to learn "how" by getting up every time he falls down. God does not give credit for the number of times you fall but for the number of times you have grit enough to get up and go on again.

The Christian life was compared to an engine which without the care of an engineer will soon become so out of repair as to be perfectly useless. So the Christian without Divine help or guidance will make a useless effort. An incident of his boyhood days in traveling over a very lonely road on a dark night was related and the inspiring and encouraging thought while going over the road was that it led to his home. So however dark the road in the Christian's life he can have the comforting assurance that it leads home to God. A short time was then given for Christian evidence. Large numbers in the audience testified to many years of Christian service and one aged man present had been a Christian for sixty years. The invitation was then given. Rev. Wells said: "Get ready, get sand in your boots and make the plunge." During the singing of the invitation hymn several young people decided for Christ and came down the aisle to the altar. The prayers of the Christian people were asked for a man who is deeply interested in his soul's salvation but is unable to attend the meetings on account of working at night.

After the dismissal of the large congregation an after service was held which was one of the most fervent and impressive that has been held since the beginning of the meetings. Several of those who came forward confessed having found Christ during this meeting and there was a season of much rejoicing among those present. The meetings for this week are starting out with much spirit and enthusiasm and those in charge predict a series of splendid meetings throughout the week.

BERT LYNN

In a new role. He will be a Roman Senator in this show and will appear as a tragedian of deep and dark design. Bert also commits murder this season and acts so realistically that he will bring tears to the eyes of the most hardened sinner.

SQUARE DEAL FOR ALL AT ELKS SHOW

No Favorites Will Be Played in the Sale of Tickets.

Enthusiasm is the keynote of the rehearsals for the Elks show which comes to the Grand February 3, 4 and 5. Meetings are being held every night and rarely is there an absent member which speaks well for the success of the production.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the advance sale and the committee announce that they will do everything in their power to see that all are treated alike. There will positively be no tickets laid away unless paid for, nor will any reservations be received by telephone, thus insuring to all an even break. This year's efforts will break all records both for artistic merit and financial success.

SURPRISE AHEAD FOR FAIRMONT FANS

High School Hopes It Also Will Be a Surprise for Huntington.

The High school basketball team is putting the final touches on its improved team work and shooting in preparation for the game with Huntington Friday.

Coach Kahn showed the team a new style of passing in last night's practice and when the High school team practices, it again it hopes to spring a surprise on the fans and Huntington. Huntington has some stars in her lineup including Workman, a fast forward, and several others of worthy mention but Fairmont is determined to get revenge for the defeat last Friday by winning from Huntington and a large crowd is expected out to see the game.

No Accumulated Mail Here Now

Matters at the postoffice are improving. All mail has been cleared out nicely today. There is no second class mail on hand, merely the day's mail which is fast disappearing. Thomas V. Cook, city distributor, has had a relapse from influenza and is unable to attend to his duties for some time yet. Though there is a small shortage of help at the postoffice, those on hand are working overtime so that the work may be kept up to standard.

Eighteen new mail boxes and a number of package boxes have been ordered from Washington to replace broken ones about the city but it will be several weeks before the order can go through.

FAIRMONT "Y" HOPES TO TRIM MARIETTA

Locals Realize That They Have a Very Strong Team To Face.

Aware of the fact that they will have to travel some to trim Marietta College, the Fairmont Y. M. C. A. is whipping a good team into shape for Thursday night. Practice will be frequent and the men are expected to show up well. The locals are not taking any chances on the visitors, who unquestionably have a good team and this will be the most difficult contest that Fairmont has gone up against thus far at home.

Fairmont "Y" alone has bowed in humble submission but once and that was to West Virginia University on W. V. U.'s own floor. Fairmont has six victories dangling at her belt. Fleming, a member of the Fairmont Normal championship team, will be found at his old place. Whiting, Hayes, Martin and Stewart loom up as strong men on the Marietta line up.

The Kaiser's Finish at Burt's Theatre

A dramatic pictorial prophecy of America's final accomplishment in the world war is to be shown at Burt's Theatre on Thursday, under the title of "The Kaiser's Finish". It is a special attraction, in eight parts, visualizing the retribution visited on the Imperial War Lord by one of his acts of lustful brutality in the home of a young German peasant wife twenty years ago.

Throughout the story of the last days of his life is interwoven numerous stirring scenes of actual warfare. Actual combats between Allied and enemy aeroplanes, photographed from observation machines, shows Hun flyers plunging down thousands of feet to death, their engines flaming shafts of fire from Allied machine gun bullets.

The dramatic tension is maintained throughout, at no time being made secondary in the importance of the action. The story concerns itself so closely with actual events on the various fronts that the producers were able to get many exclusive scenes of bombardments, attacks, authentic hand-to-hand struggles in the trenches, raids on many observation balloons, and countless other vivid pictures of facts which are now famous in the history of the great war.

The plot of "The Kaiser's Finish" is a first-time revelation of the least known of the intimate facts of the Kaiser's private life. It is a production of great moral value, according to those who have seen it in a private showing, demonstrating how every act, every purpose and every ambition of the mad freak of Hunland in the last thirty years has contributed its part to the ultimate destruction of imperialism by the very forces which he has buldied in its defense.

Three Cases Before Mayor This Morning

The case of Mary Brown, colored, arrested last night on a charge of having robbed Isaac Boice, an aged resident of the East side of the river of the sum of two dollars, came up in police court this morning but owing to complications which developed in the case and the failure to locate an important witness Mayor Bowen held it over until this witness could be secured. The girl was arrested on Water street and released on putting up a forfeit of ten dollars and she appeared at police court this morning to answer to the charge.

Carl Andre was arrested last evening on a charge of having driven an automobile recklessly on Jefferson and Main streets and was taken before the mayor last evening and fined ten dollars.

Frank Henderson, arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, was assessed a fine of ten dollars in police court today.

A will of only 16 words, probated at Edwardsville, Mo., reads: "I hereby bequeath all my belongings, both real and personal, to my wife, Lydia A. Feigenbaum." A will probated in the same county in 1910 had only 14 words, including the designation of both devisor and devisee: "John T. Ryan, will leave to my wife Margaret, all my property."
