

GAME CALLED LATE FOR CHURCHGOERS

'Y' to Meet Marietta on Thursday Night at 8:45 O'clock.

Thursday night when the strong Marietta College team meets the local 'Y' it will be the first appearance in this city of the Ohio boys.

Local teams of the city have played Marietta on its own floor several times and have never yet been able to win from them, but with the 'Y' team playing as it is now it ought to be able to spell defeat to the Buckeye aggregation.

The 'Y' team held a long practice last night at 8:30 o'clock with another light practice tonight. With the trio of Hawkins, Knight and Fleming working together as they are the local should be able to give a good account of themselves. Wilson and Meredith will be able to take care of the defense and cause a great deal of trouble for the visitors.

The game will start at 8:45 o'clock on account of the arrival service. This will give some people who will go to church an opportunity also to see the game.

Into a Far Country.

There are those whose minds never wander very far from home. Content to dream idly, these folks never know the journey into far countries which the adventurous spirit like to take. Filled with the various problems of immediate living, they find back and forth the accustomed pathway from heart to house, street and office. This is the most satisfactory sort of living. But many people delight in longer journeys and once started, the mind delves here and there and is soon farther and farther from home. Something different from the ordinary run of affairs weaves a spell not to be broken, and soon all the familiar landmarks are left miles behind while new and delightful discoveries are made.

The adventurous mind finds many interesting personalities and longs to know each one. Different way of thinking—different angles of thought—contrary ideals—all are absorbing to the wide open heart. New beliefs grow fascinating. At least one can review the kind of mind which finds such a belief possible—even though one disagrees after mature consideration. And in the reviewing and fine sifting of the other man's ideals, come practice for the spirit which is of much benefit. Wandering down many old pathways and lanes grows after awhile one of the many delightful journeys of the mind. Listening, thinking, weighing—soon enriches and enlarges that mysterious sidelong realm of thought. Far from home one looks back and smiles pleasantly. After all—the far country of thought is a wonderful place.

That Reminds Me.

Quite concerned about the too early advent of spring, colder weather hurried breathlessly in last night about ten o'clock, and quite too tired to go further, is resting up a moment in Fairmont. How little spring will have to go. Many people are going to have severe colds unless I'm much mistaken. These are some of the remarks which have been flying about town the last two weeks. "How foolish I was to put on heavier clothing this winter—we aren't going to have any winter at all. I'll just put back my summer clothes." "I always did say it was wiser to dress according to the weather. I shall simply wear my sweater today." "Where's my straw hat? Everybody's wearin' 'em."

That reminds me—when I was a youngster, children had a habit of saying, "Everybody in the whole school laughed!" That meant that when one was really witty, the whole school appreciated and even though after mature reflection it was discovered that only three people in the entire building had actually smiled—nevertheless, "the whole school" was let to be repeated. What a wave of enthusiasm swept over one at the thought of large numbers appreciating one's efforts. How hard it was in those childish days to hear mother say, "Now, my dear, you mustn't exaggerate—did all the teachers laugh—even those out of other rooms? Did ever solitary child find something funny in your remark? Stop and think a moment." "Well," you reply, "pretty nearly everybody laughed, anyway." But your cruel parent was possessed of a very demand for when all counts were in, there were but three children, part of a teacher and a bare possibility of the visiting principal—who had been attended with polite smiles.

Everybody's wearin' straw hats same mighty near to being the truth and work. Not only dull colored

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a safe and sure laxative and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' own research and treatment and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to bring out these little olive-colored tablets.

The little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad effects. They do not injure the stomach, strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes stays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, dullness and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lumpy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "break up" the spirit. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestives are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismuted Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismuted Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) harmless to the stomach, inactive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.
