

Hat Designs By Peggy Hoyt Rejoice Hearts Of Actresses and Strike True Fashion Note

MARLYN MILLER

LENORE ULRIC

ANITA STEWART

INA CLAIRE

By BETTY BROWN.
NEW YORK, Jan. 2—The heart of more than one actress has been made glad this season by the fortune of having a hat of Peggy Hoyt. Fifth-av hat designer of deserved renown.
For Miss Marlyn Miller was fashioned this three-colored trowador hat of roseta green velvet. At one side a soft ostrich feather in the same shade of green adds to the youthful effect. A companion hat for Miss Miller is a charming turban with a brim of fluted satin-backed nasturtium velvet ribbon. The crown is of citron felt.
Two hats of individual style were designed by Peggy Hoyt for Miss Lenore Ulric. One of these shown in the illustration is fashioned of multi-colored metal ribbons, softly draped and deftly tied in an unusual bow at one side. It is particularly effective with a dancing costume. A skating hat of soft roseta green velvet was designed for Miss Ulric. It is so made that the frill of ostrich makes a halo for the face.

Below, in the illustration, are shown designs made by Peggy Hoyt for Miss Anita Stewart and Miss Ina Claire. Miss Stewart wears a soft blue velvet toque, heavily embroidered with electric blue chenille.
Miss Ina Claire wears a youthful hat of natural caracul. The final note of richness is attained by the jeweled pins which give a realistic suggestion of lovely old mosaic.

LOCAL SOCIAL EVENTS

Miss Pauline Jamison will return this evening from Pittsburg, Pa., where she had spent the past ten days as the guest of friends. Miss Jamison was maid of honor at the marriage of Miss Margaret Hosack and Frances O'Hara Mooreland which was celebrated on New Year's day at Pittsburg. The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times says the following of the marriage:
"At 7:30 o'clock on New Year's night in the Third Presbyterian Church the wedding of Miss Margaret Hosack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hosack, of South Negley avenue, and Francis O'Hara Mooreland of Fifth avenue took place. The Rev. Dr. W. L. McEwan officiating before an altar of ebudium ferns, bamboos, and highly colored ferns, which formed a background for two standards filled with flowers and tied with white satin ribbon. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin and pearls, with bodice of rose points lace. Her tulle veil, fashioned in a coronet effect, was held in place by a band of orange blossoms and pearls. She carried a shower of white orchids and sweetheart roses.
The colors of the opal were carried out in the taffeta and tulle gowns of the attendants. The procession was led by Miss Besale Watson of New York, in yellow, Miss Nancy Evans Dillinger in green, Miss Ruth Phillips in blue and Miss Athella Berryman, pink. They were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Pauline Jamison, of Fairmont, W. Va., in a gown of orchid satin and silver cloth. All the attendants carried arm bouquets to harmonize with their frocks.
The men in the party included J. Robert Showalter as Mr. Mooreland's best man and the ushers were George M. Hosack, Jr., Phillip Hench, Russell Moon, Frank B. Wickersham and David N. Denham. A reception in the Ritzenhouse followed the ceremony, the bridal party receiving before an embarkment of ferns and bamboos. The wedding supper was served in the room adjoining the ball-room. The colors of the opal were carried out in the centerpiece at the bride's table, and was lighted with tall tapers in crystal colonial sticks.

By BETTY BROWN.
NEW YORK, Dec. 16—A veil may be trimly tied close to the face. It may hang in loose ripples held only at the top. Or it may be tied closely enough in a bow high at the back, but for all that, hang rather loosely at the chin. That's the style from Parisian shops as shown in this sketch. The veil is of castor lace, tied in a large knot high on the turban hat.

BELOW ZERO FOR THE FIRST TIME

Got as Low as Ten Below as Registered on Unofficial Thermometers.

Last night the temperature registered one below zero, the coldest night so far this winter. Friday morning at eight o'clock the temperature registered zero which was the coldest morning this winter. This morning at eight o'clock it registered three above zero and with little wind felt fairly comfortable to the warmly clad pedestrian. There is little difference in the way the weather feels to the man or woman who is compelled to be out in bitter weather whether it registers zero or a bit below zero. In fact a temperature of 10 above zero is harder to bear than a temperature of zero, as very nearly everyone will admit. Zero weather without wind strikes the traveler as "not so cold after all."
The Monongahela river is frozen to such a state that on yesterday a number of young people in the city, with a few older persons enjoyed the popular game of skating. More boys and men were seen on the river ice pond than were girls and women though the latter appeared in greater numbers after noon. This is practically the first skate of the winter season though a few boys braved the possible danger of skating on too thin ice several days ago.
Reports from surrounding towns show that in more exposed places the night was a very cold one indeed. Hammond thermometers registered 10 below. Advises at the B. & O. this morning were to the effect that it was 8 below at Tunnelton and 22 below at Altamont.

S. Ennes is in Grafton Today
Stanley Ennes, Baltimore, general manager of the B. & O. eastern lines is in Grafton today. He went there from Baltimore.
G. F. Ebrly, Baltimore, assistant engineer of maintenance of way, representing the B. & O. corporation, is in Fairmont today, being en route to Grafton. He came here from Pittsburgh.
Claims have been paid especially promptly by the American Railway Express company. Today the John P. Casey Construction company received a check for the settlement of a small claim in less than a month after complaint had been made.
Everett H. Walker, expense clerk at the Monongahela freight station, is home from a trip to Mason City, Pa. He was accompanied by Mrs. Walker.

UNDoubtedly HELPFUL.
"You told me to diet," said the young doctor's wife.
"Yes, I told him to eat only the very plainest food and very little of that."
"Do you think that will help him?"
"It will help him pay my bill."
