HEADLINERS TONIGHT.
 The Stage.
 Hippodrome.....Palmer's Show Girls
 The Screen.
 Nelson.....Her Game
 Dixie.....The Vagabond
 Princess.....A Broadway Saint

DRIPPED into the Odson, Clarksburg, last night for a moment and had a pleasant chat with Mr. Williamson, the genial young manager who is responsible for the success of the house. A Zarrow show being billed, we decided to stay and look it over. To our surprise, Lake Kellum, Marie Moore, Sue Burke, Ralph Smith, "Dixie" Alfreds and all the other "Follies" were there. We didn't recognize the bill, however, and then Manager Williamson explained that he, Smith and Kellum rubbed their noses together and evolved a new bill. How well it was done was best evidenced by the way the packed house fell for it. The Follies had played Clarksburg not so very long since, and such a close return engagement made the management fearful that the company would not draw, hence the emergency bill. By the way, we also ran into the right hand man of the Doc Nicola show, and he is still full of memories of the excitement he had here a year ago, and insists that he will never forget the Saturday night performance. A passing glance at the entertainment houses in Clarksburg indicates that they are very successful, and believe in the big spreads with a blazing front, and a metropolitan style of stopping the public gaze.

Louie Says It's All Right.
 Had to miss the Hipp yesterday, and will fall back on hearsay evidence which is taboed in a court of law, but Louie Hammond, who is a good judge of pretty women, good shows, etc., volunteered the information that the Palmer Girls show had his approval. Judging from the applause the audience was pleased with the strangers, and encorces were the order of the evening. The same bill repeats tonight, and then tomorrow night, comes the usual mid-week change.

Million Dollars Makes a Difference.
 Numberless stories have been based on the contrast of ideas prevailing in small towns and cities, and the five-reel World Picture, "A Broadway Saint," at the Princess, is one of these. It plays in a slightly satirical way with the idea sometimes found in small communities that everyone who comes from New York City is dyed in the deepest sort of villainy. The fore part of the picture is devoted to this theme and is perhaps the most amusing portion of the feature. Later, when the scenes revert to New York, there is a drop in the interest, and the conclusion seems rather pointless.

Montague Love plays the role of Dick Vernon, a poor young man who lives in a cheap boarding house in the city. When vacation time comes he decides to visit his Uncle Galt, in Boonsburg, a course of procedure which will save him considerable money. He arrives in Boonsburg, and, greatly to his surprise, finds himself looked upon as a bold adventurer, and the Women's Friendly society takes pains to spread abroad unfriendly rumors concerning him. In the course of the story, his Uncle Galt inherits a million dollars and goes with Dick to the city, where he finds that Dick has always lived a quiet life.

There is a love story in this number, but the subject is lacking in dramatic incidents, and the characters are not made to seem real. As a whole, the production is only of average interest.

Diele Repeating.
 Jackson Gregory's western novel, "Six Feet Four" is the title of the drama which is repeating at the Dixie today. It was reviewed in this column yesterday. An added attraction today is the Charlie Chaplin, "The Vagabond."

Love, Wealth and Honor.
 Such are the stakes in the Nelson drama "Her Game," which is featuring Florence Reed. A corking good sunshine comedy, "Footlight Maids" will likely entice the younger folks who like something spicy.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

Old newspapers make excellent stove cleaners.
 After the fire is low in a coal range take a double sheet of paper, crumple it up and rub the top of the stove briskly and thoroughly. It really is surprising how clean this treatment will make the stove. The nickle as well as the iron is brightened up.
 A gas stove responds to newspaper cleaning in the same way. While there isn't as much surface to a gas stove as to an iron range, it seems to me that a gas stove gets stickier, or rather, more gummy. A big, really piece of paper takes away this gummy coating as if by magic. A daily rubbing will keep a stove in good shape and make the weekly oiling and cleaning a mere pastime.

Menu for Tomorrow.
BREAKFAST: Stewed prunes, creamed dried beef on toast, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Salmon croquettes, creamed peas, pickled peaches, raisin brown bread and butter, tea.
DINNER: Broiled steak, French fried potatoes, tomato jelly salad with mayonnaise dressing, old-fashioned loaf cake, floating island, coffee.

My Own Recipes
 Once in a great while I shut my eyes and ignore the voice of conscience and buy a porterhouse steak. And then I discover that it hasn't cost so much more than a boiling piece of beef and has been such a treat. Although there is no more nourishment in the "cut" of one piece of meat than the other, there is more in a broiled piece of meat than a boiled one.

SALMON CROQUETTES.
 1 1/2 cups cold flaked salmon
 2 tablespoons butter
 4 tablespoons flour
 1-2 teaspoon salt
 1 cup milk
 2 teaspoons lemon juice
 Dried bread crumbs
 1 egg
 Add lemon juice to salmon. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk. Add salt and pepper and cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add salmon to sauce and spread on a platter to cool. Beat egg slightly. Shape mixture into balls, roll in crumbs, dip in egg, roll again in crumbs and fry in deep fat. Drain on heavy brown paper.

CREAMED PEAS.
 1 cup canned peas
 1 tablespoon butter
 1 tablespoon flour
 1 cup milk
 1-2 teaspoon salt
 1-2 teaspoon pepper
 8 teaspoons under running water.
 Heat. Make a sauce of the butter, flour and milk and add peas. Season with salt and pepper. The peas may be poured over the croquettes or served separately.

OLD-FASHIONED LOAF CAKE.
 2 cups light bread dough
 3/4 cup butter
 1-2 cups sugar
 2 eggs
 1 nutmeg
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1 teaspoon soda
 The melted butter, beaten eggs and seasonings may be added to the sponge before it is kneaded stiff with flour in this case flour must be added so make a stiff dough. If the cake is made after the bread dough has been allowed to rise for the last time before making into loaves no extra flour need be added, but it will take a lot of "mixing" to perfectly blend all the ingredients.
 The longer one thinks about doing a washing the bigger it gets.

MARY.
Most Elephants Are Cowards.
 Only about twenty-five out of every 1,000 elephants in India can pass the tests for courage which are put to them before they are used in tiger hunting.
