

Owens Plays Monongah Glass Club Tonight.

Why can't we have at Washington A boss who plays baseball for fun? A man who can in very truth Hit home run wallop like Babe Ruth?

GREAT GAMES ASSURED AT SOUTH SIDE

Traction Game for Today Called Off at Last Minute.

One of those old time baseball games that is sure to make the fans sit up and take notice is booked for this evening at South Side park when the Monongah Glass club of the city league will play the Owens club. The Owens team is the only aggregation to have defeated the Glassies this season, and this makes it certain that the Glassies will be out for victory tonight as they have no desire to suffer another defeat at the hands of the Owens club. Also should the Owens team win they would have to divide first place with the Mining Machinery company, as this morning's standstill shows the Glassies to have won seven games and lost two and the Machinery seven games won and two lost. The Glassies and Machinery are scheduled to battle tomorrow afternoon, and the Glassies want to start the game tomorrow in undisputed possession of first place. Team who will do the pitching tonight is not known, but it is likely that Owens or Kittle will be on the mound for the Glassies, while Brainwood, Keefe or Steadman may pitch for the Owens. An announcement made this morning only one game away from being at South Side park today at 7 o'clock being called off on account of the fact that the Owens team has been disbanded. Pitching was to have played here tomorrow afternoon also. One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to see the Owens-Monongah Glass game this evening. It will be called promptly at six o'clock in order that a full seven inning twilight contest may be played before darkness sets in.

Three and Two

The coach now paces his And... you, To grab each husky high school lad His optics light upon. Whenever he hears of some braw youth He takes a little trip, To lure him to the campus with a college scholarship. Fred Murphy, a Yale gridiron star, and will recently the football coach at Northwestern University, has signed a contract to enter the young athletes at Denver University in the art and strategy of the great college game. The other day there was a story in one of the Denver papers telling how Murphy proposed to give Denver a real eleven even if it required a trip to the furthestmost parts of the country to get promises in catfishes to matriculate in the Rocky Mountain institutions. Probably Murphy isn't establishing any precedent when he goes forth to persuade husky young men to go to Denver. But he shouldn't talk about these things while they are contented, are not supposed to be talked about. Perhaps it is considered part of a coach's job to see that football material appears on the campus every fall. He is not only supposed to teach the agile young collegian how to run, tackle and fall on the ball, but is also required to see that they're daring and heavy young studs are on the job to receive his instructions. The graduates of all institutions have always been a great help in enlisting husky freshmen for their alma maters. They watch the high school stars and use every means at their command to persuade them to pick the right school. The coach is a great help in this work. Stride as it may seem, a youngster will often give more heed to a football coach in these matters than to the superintendent of his Sunday school.

Some Local Sport Chatter

Burns played a good game in right field for the B. & O., despite the fact that he had two fingers of his throwing hand tied up. He made a good throw to second in time to catch Wright who tried to make a double on his single to right field. Hopke's hitting was the big feature of last night's game. He got three hits out of four times to bat. P. Metz played third in big league style last night for the B. & O. Grimes and Toothman both umpired last night. "Phil" was behind the bat while Toothman watched the cushions. Both did well. Hankey who made his first appearance in the league in a B. & O. uniform plays a fair game in the outfield. He made a good running catch in deep left center. Satterfield the big tall fellow who hails from Lumberport was out in a B. & O. uniform but Manager Simon picked Davidson for hurling duty. Jimmie Knight got back in the game last night after being out for several weeks due to injuries. He went to second in the place of Boice in the fifth inning and muffed his only chance. "Goat" Ridgely was at third in the place of Nopie who has left the city. C. Mills' triple was a clean smash to left field the ball rolling to the tennis courts. Hoffman caught another good game last night. Annabelle will be the attraction at Watson for the coming Sunday. McKown was out chasing them in batting practice after being out of the game since the Glassie-Prints game last week, having sprained his ankle. New York at St. Louis. Boston at Cleveland.

BANDO LOST HARD BATTLE

Bad Start Fatal to Railroad Team in League Game.

After getting away to a bad start last night the Bando team of the city league made a strong bid for the game between the Bando and Mining Machinery teams of the city league which the latter took by the score of 7-5. The Railroaders fought up to the last out and might have won if it had not been for Metz trying to score from second on Hopke's single to center with two down and the mighty Burns at the bat. But like the ending of the Owens-Prints game the runner was caught several feet from the plate, when Neffien made one of those Varsity heaves all the way to the plate and all Long had to do was to wait for the runner and touch him. Up until last night the Railroaders were going a fast pace and had a good chance for the pennant. But last night's spill will put them back so they will have to win the next three games in order to get another chance for the pennant or even second place. Much excitement was drawn when the B. & O. team made such a protest when Umpire Grimes called the game in the sixth inning on account of darkness. They declared that it was light enough to play seven innings the regular twilight game but President Bohler said it was too dark to play another inning so the game ended. The Mining Machine lost the game in the sixth inning on account of darkness. FAST CONTEST FOR MONONGAH

Picked to Defeat the Consumers Team on This Sunday.

A very fast contest is scheduled for Blacksberg park on Sunday when the Monongah club will play the Consumers. Both teams have many followers and one of the biggest turnouts of the year will likely be had at the Downs park on Sunday, if the weather is fair. The Consumers have been going badly the last few weeks, being walloped several times by the Traction team, but they still have plenty of pep and will make a hard fight against the speedy bunch who hold out at Traction park. It is not likely that the Consumers will have to face Trader this Sunday, and this gives them one little ray of hope at least of winning the battle. Special service will be furnished to the ball park from all points by the Traction company.
