NEW ATTACK ON VETERAN BUREAU EXPECTED SOON

WASHINGTON, June 12.—A general overhauling of the United States Veterans Bureau, affecting perhaps even the position of director, now held by Charles R. Forbes, is likely within the next two months as the culmination of dissatisfaction among ex-service men. For months the situation within the bureau has been the subject of serious concern to officers and men of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. Efforts by these organizations to obtain the removal of Justice for suffering ex-service men have made little headway. Instead of improving, the situation is declared to be growing worse.

A certain amount of delay and confusion was expected to follow the recent centralization of bureau work, following the establishment of four regional bureaus. Both the organization and administration of these bureaus, however, is now being subjected to criticism by service organizations. The charge is made that in many districts, instead of providing better and quicker action, they only add to the red tape and delay. The sub-offices, under the district offices, however, where a more intimate contact is maintained with the men, are declared to have been a distinct benefit.

The major part of the attack on the bureau will be directed against its medical organization and delays in providing better and more adequate hospitalization, particularly for tubercular and mental cases. Regular Army Men Make Decisions. The first part of this count will be based on the charge that the medical direction of the bureau is being poor.

Among service men familiar with conditions in the bureau, it is regarded as significant that two civilian physicians of high ability, both of whom are declared to be on the staff of the chief of the medical division, have comparatively little of the work assigned to them. Two regular army medical officers, of national rank in the bureau organization, supplant them in handling virtually all important medical decisions, particularly as to percentage of disability which determines amount of compensation. Tubercular and mental disabilities arising from war service, it looks as if the Veterans' Bureau will be called upon to meet claims amounting to $500,000,000 in the present fiscal year.

How to Keep Well

By DR. R. H. BISHOP. FEET THAT HURT. It was not so long ago that Dame Fashion ruled heedless of hygienic principles. One of her most ruthless decrees was that women must have small feet, whether naturally or otherwise. Successful efforts have been made to bring style into working relations with hygiene. Manufacturers are now consulting surgeons in planning the construction of shoes. The commonest fault in a shoe is too narrow, an instep sloping forward equally from both sides to a point midway between the two margins of the heel of the shoe.

A natural foot has the great toe in a nearly straight line with the inner border of the foot, so that a shoe made on the plan mentioned throws the toes together by a bunch, especially if French heels have been built in. This results in the unromantic buttion which, unlike the corn, is a bony displacement outward—and an ugly one—where the first bone of the great toe joins the rest of the foot on the inside. The same applies to the outside of the foot, if the little toe is misused similarly. Then, in the course of time, friction and irritation produce a thickening and hardening of the skin over the bunion. Then the great toe gets pushed under the other toes and in getting so the phalangeal people the bone of the foot joining the big toe also becomes enlarged and twisted.

Thus in the natural elasticity of the foot altered, the movements restricted, and much intense suffering caused—so bad that surgery may have to be resorted to. The best way to avoid all this is to use a shoe with a straight inner edge. Shoes are made also with divisions between the big and the other toes.

Miss Besse Mason and niece, Miss Mary Mason Helmick, and cousin, John William Mason, are spending several days with relatives at Wadestown.

Miss Edna Brand spent yesterday in Grafton with relatives.

DID COL WAIT COMPOSE APPEAL FOR PAL 'NED'?

(Continued from page one) Washington, says that Chilton was "stunned" by the Neely announcement. It is thought that he will recover, and some of the dope watchers down there say that Chilton will announce within the next few days. This, of course, remains to be seen.

Reports from Huntington say that Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost is being imported to run for the Republican nomination for United States senator. Mrs. Yost is said to have admitted that she was being imported to run by influential men. She admitted that these importunities had become so numerous and insistent that she had given the matter serious consideration, although she would not admit having by any means reconciled her mind to the idea of entering the race. It was rumored in Fairmont today that Charles F. Edwards of Huntington, "mattress king," candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, would be in the city tomorrow. Definite news as to his prospective visit could not be had today, but local Republicans will not be surprised if he pays them a visit tomorrow.

Harry Brand, who has been out of the city the greater part of the time since I brought him out as a candidate for the House of Delegates two weeks ago, was buttonholed last evening long enough to have him make a statement. His statement was valid, and that he was "in the race to stay and win." Cornwell III. The many friends of John J. Cornwell in all parts of the state are sorry to learn that the former governor is in poor health and that he will likely have to undergo an operation of a serious nature in the near future. Dispatches from Charleston state that Mr. Cornwell has been ordered to take a complete rest for a month previous to the operation. The vacation that has been obtained by his physicians will likely take the Hampshire senator out of the state for several weeks.

Backs Ogden. Edward Cooper of Bramwell, W. Va., spent a few days recently in Washington, attending a meeting on occasion of the meeting with Secretary Hoover. Mr. Cooper is a former congressman from the fifth West Virginia district and is one of the state's largest and most prominent coal operators. He has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate.

While in the capital, Mr. Cooper took occasion to state that he would not be a candidate for the United States Senate this year, saying that, while he had many assurances of support, he thought the list of entrants for the nomination was an unmanageable one, and under no conditions would he oppose H. C. Ogden, whose candidacy was already announced. "Mr. Ogden," said Mr. Cooper, "is the ideal type of a man for the United States Senate, and his candidacy meets with my heartiest and most cheerful support. He is a man of sterling integrity and of great mental calibre and is present in every respect qualified to present his state in a fitting manner." "With Mr. Ogden in the senate, West Virginia need not be afraid of being defeated by senators from other states," Ogden is a fighter and West Virginia badly needs a fighter in the Senate. We need a man who is able to take the place of dignity in the senatorial halls, and meet his colleagues on a basis of mental equality. Such a man is H. C. Ogden."

STUART RACE DIES ON SUNDAY NIGHT

(Continued from page one) Football fight and teamwork. These are counted on by Dr. William Bill Canfield, president Carroll College, Waukesha, Wis. (above) to win him a seat in the United States Senate. He is opposed to Robert M. La Follette (below) who is now senator from Wisconsin. Dr. Canfield was president of Centre College, in Kentucky, when it sprang to fame overnight by its football prowess. West Fourth Street Paving. Decision was made to advertise for bids on West Fourth street paving, following the appearance of Glenn Roop and Bruce Bailey, residents of the street. These bids will be opened at 10 o'clock Thursday at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, June 22. Under the agreement between property owners and the city, the property will pay all the cost of sidewalks and curbs, while the city will pay part of the cost of the paving. Permission to erect a large marquee over the sidewalk in front of the Clark Realty Co.'s proposed new theater was asked by Jones & Nuzum, architects for the building. Provisional permission was granted by the city. The board members asked that new plans be drawn up, showing changes desired by the city, after which absolute permission will be granted. The main objection to the marquee in its present form was that it was too large and would shut off the view along the street. The sign above marquee was said to project out too far over the sidewalk and this condition is also to be remedied. Building Permits Asked. Building permits had not been approved so far this afternoon. The following applications had been filed with the city clerk: Richard E. McLain, Ogden avenue, lumber garage $250. A. L. Nestor, 324 Cleveland avenue, lumber and glass porch and sun-parlor, $500. T. A. Hall, McCoy street, two-story lumber residence, $6,000. Clyde Gaston, High street, one-story cement block garage, $7,000. Mrs. P. L. Merrifield, Wilson $100. B. F. Reese, East Park street, one-story lumber garage, $60. Hugh J. Ball, 308 Guffey street, one-story lumber garage $200. G. Merle Amos, 524 State street, one-story lumber residence, $3,500. G. Merle Amos, 510 Benonia avenue, one-story lumber garage, $300.

'All Aboard!' Shouts Bailey

ELWOOD T. BAILEY "ALL ABOARD!" That is the call to which every railway passenger pays attention: it is final and admits of no argument. Those wishing to reach their destination on that particular train must not delay. Sometimes a later train may be taken, but once missed—that particular opportunity is gone forever.

"All Aboard!" is the subject of Elwood T. Bailey's first night lecture on this season's Chautauqua which opens here on July 1. It is to be one of the big events of the week for in it there's an abundance of humor, inspiration and food for thought. Representatives of the Y. W. C. A., under the auspices of which the Chautauqua will be held this year, held a conference with H. L. Ballentine, representative of the Redpath company, Saturday evening when plans were completed for the seven day program here. Season tickets will be sold this year at $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children with no war tax.

Will Oppose La Follette

Decision was made also to purchase an $825 pump to be used in the city pumping station. The plant engineer appeared before the board and stated the condition of the present pump. Repair bills amount into a large figure every year Director Morris declared, and it would mean a great saving to the city if the new pump were purchased. Action in the affirmative was taken after a short discussion. The center street paving proposition was the subject of considerable discussion. This work will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000 and will cover about 675 square yards of paving. No action had yet been taken by the board at 3:15 this afternoon.

PERSONALS

Dr. and Mrs. Logan Carr have arrived here to spend several days with the former's son, Dr. H. H. Carr, and family at their home in Gaston avenue. They came here from Los Angeles, Cal., and will go from here to Mt. Lake Park for the summer. Mrs. Edward Finerby and little son Teddy have returned to their home at Scottsdale, Pa., after a visit here with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hutchison, at their home in Ogden avenue. Miss Virginia Lee Satterfield, stenographer for Paige Motor Sales, left Saturday for Buffalo, N. Y., on a business expedition. E. F. Ramagosa spent the week-end in Clarksburg with his daughter, Mrs. Homer Williams. M. Earle Morgan is spending several days here, having come from Chicago, where he is temporarily located.

MODERN INTAKE PLANT PLANNED

With an electric hoist for raising the screens when it becomes necessary to clean them. Extending from the well to and on the river bank will be an ice-breaking and retaining wall about sixty feet long. This will prevent ice jams and insure the safety of the well structure. The wall will be of concrete, of a sufficient thickness to answer its needs. Director Morris stated that the best time to erect the well and wall would be in August, September and October, the "dry" months of the year, when the Tygart Valley River is at its lowest stage. To Improve Water System. According to Director of Water J. Clyde Morris, the intake well will be a marked improvement in the present water system. He explained that only in the middle of the Tygart Valley River can clean water be obtained for storage in the city reservoir.

The depth of water at the point of intake is about fourteen feet. Mr. Morris explained that the water of the river consists of three strata: a thin top strata, containing leaves, sticks and light rubbish; a heavy bottom stratum containing acids and mineral substances from the coal mines farther up the river, and the middle strata, from which the cleanest water is to be obtained. With this information in mind, it was found necessary to build such a well as would permit of using only water from the middle strata of the stream. In order to do this, a concrete box, six feet by six feet in size, will be built in the stream. The box will extend to about twenty feet under the surface, giving it a foundation of six feet under the surface. The box will insure its permanency against flood water.

To Ask Bids at Once. Figures submitted by Fuller & McClintock, architects, for the proposed intake well for the city, indicated that the well can be constructed at a cost slightly less than $15,000. Advertisement for bids is to be made in the city papers, and bids will be received on Monday, July 10, at a regular meeting of the board. Payment for the intake well will be made out of receipts from the city water service. Director of Water Morris and Director of Finance Z. F. Davis agreed that the year's rentals will furnish enough surplus to care for the cost of the well.

Intake well for our water system is something we have needed for some time," declared Director Morris. "It is necessary of clean water and safe water all the time. Other cities the size of Fairmont have them. We need one and are financially able to build one. It will mean a big improvement in the city water service. The capacity of the intake well will be ten or twelve times what is needed for Fairmont at the present time, the director of water stated, thus making it capable of taking care of the city for all the time. Even a greater capacity can be obtained, if necessary, he added, merely by enlarging the opening of the well. Will Have New Pump. Decision was made also to purchase an $825 pump to be used in the city pumping station. The plant engineer appeared before the board and stated the condition of the present pump. Repair bills amount into a large figure every year Director Morris declared, and it would mean a great saving to the city if the new pump were purchased. This work will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000 and will cover about 675 square yards of paving. No action had yet been taken by the board at 3:15 this afternoon.

George A. Vincent appeared before the board for J. W. Clemm and Luke Cordray stating that those two men were willing to pay 25 per cent of the cost of the grading of Highland street. Mr. Vincent was asked to prepare a proposition, obtain the signatures of Mr. Clemm and Mr. Cordray, and present the paper at the next regular session of the board.

West Fourth Street Paving. Decision was made to advertise for bids on West Fourth street paving, following the appearance of Glenn Roop and Bruce Bailey, residents of the street. These bids will be opened at 10 o'clock Thursday at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, June 22. Under the agreement between property owners and the city, the property will pay all the cost of sidewalks and curbs, while the city will pay part of the cost of the paving. WOMAN'S CLUB CENSORSHIP

Criticism and comment on the attractions of the local theater appearing in this column are furnished by the woman's club committee of the Women's Club of Fairmont. The West Virginian does not assume any responsibility for the opinions expressed. The Editor.

The Princess. Alice Lake plays the part of Betty Ellen Eastbrook at the Princess today in "Kisses," a story that is almost as sweet as the confection from which it takes its name. It relates how Betty Ellen conceives the happy idea of making and selling candy kisses to help her father, who is financially embarrassed. The plot is very engaging if not deep, and the film is one that will provide clean, wholesome entertainment for all. Harry Myers, the hero, will be best remembered for his work in the title role of the "Connecticut Yankee," and he is equally good in modern comedy. The added feature is a two-century comedy.

The Dixie. Dorothy Dalton appears today at the Dixie as a girl in a rather wild frontier town who is seeking to retrace the path of her father, and a fearless and daring rides forth to accomplish her purpose, and while doing so gives a splendid example of her ability to keep well in hand a spirited steed. There is, as usual, beautiful scenery, shooting matches, saloon scenes and fast riding, with Jack Mower playing opposite Miss Dalton, both of whom acquire the roles in a very creditable manner. It is not for nervous folk or children. News and comedy are the added features.

The Nelson. The attraction at the Nelson today is "A Virgin Paradise," a film of a sensational nature, and a questionable moral tone the influence of which could not be good. Some of the scenes are pretty, and the roles are very well taken, but it is very improbable that a girl who grew to womanhood with animals as her only companions, until a member of the male species appeared upon the scene and a romance followed. On the whole it is not a film that we can commend. Urban Movie Chats is an interesting added feature.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS. The following real estate transfers have been filed in the office of County Clerk Lee N. Satterfield: M. W. Ogden, special commissioner, to Nellie B. Gillis and W. H. Gillis, a parcel of land in Morrow Addition of Fairmont. Consideration $1,000. Mose Shuck and Lena Shuck to Ralph E. Davis lot No. 31 of block No. 4 in Edgeway Addition of Fairmont. Consideration $3,500. The Appraisement Bill of the estate of Ida A. Conrad was filed in the office of County Clerk Lee N. Satterfield today. The report of the appraisers, R. M. Flaherty, M. J. Lantz and J. H. Snider, shows that the estate is valued at $880.37.
