KOONTZ HITS AT EVILS INURING AMERICAN HOMES

Says Character Building Big Factor in Welfare of the Nation.

DEPLORES IGNORANCE

Character Education Neglected Among All Classes—Praises Kiwanis.

MANNINGTON, July 27.—The following address was rendered before the Mannington Kiwanis Club by the Rev. J. V. Koontz at the noonday luncheon Tuesday and is published by request. Members of the club who heard the address say that it is one of the most timely and appropriate ever given before the Kiwanis.

"A few weeks ago I was in several cities. In every place there were organizations such as Kiwanis which were working for the good of the community. Some places they were in favor of some places the Kiwanis Club, some places the Kiwanis Club, and some places all three of these clubs. All were doing splendid work.

"You have chosen a splendid motto for your club. 'We Build.' Surely that is what we need after the great World War. We need to build at all times but now more than ever. War is a tearing down process. It is a terrifically destructive thing, and it always leaves behind it a mass of people who want to go on destroying.

"In the citizenship of our great country today we have two classes of people; the radicals who would destroy everything including law and order, and the conservatives who would let you die because there is a class of people of progress. They are satisfied for conditions to exist as they have for years, although these conditions no longer meet the needs of a community. We are thankful therefore that there is a class of American citizens who take the middle ground between these two extremes.

"In this program that your club has marked out with the motto 'We Build,' there are three ways in which I think you might consider that you are building.

Local Building

"During the war building was a standstill except in certain localities for war purposes. Now all towns and cities are interested in the betterment of housing conditions and in general improvements. I am glad to know that Mannington is not lacking in this spirit. I am glad that the Kiwanis Club is leading in this splendid work. You have been seeking to better conditions in many different ways; by paving streets which have added wonderfully to the town; by impressing upon the citizens the need of clean streets and yards for the betterment of the sanitary and scenic conditions of the city. After seeing what General Gorgas did in Panama in regard to the sanitary conditions here sometimes wished that he had come to Mannington for a model. I am sure if he could carry out his policies here as he did in Panama Mannington would be made one of the prettiest and healthiest towns in the country.

"Since I have seen how General Gorgas dug that great ditch, the Panama Canal, between the oceans I have come to the conclusion that man can surmount many obstacles, and that Buffalo Creek need not be a law unto itself, flooding the city whenever it will, but that by proper dredging it can be made obedient to the will of man. The money spent on it for that purpose would be worth thousands of dollars in saving to the citizens of this town.

"I understand you have had two of the greatest bridge builders in the world here to consult them in regard to building bridges to take the place of the old condemned bridges. Surely there is great need for the bridges and I hope you will stick to it until you get them. They will be a wonderful asset to the town.

"You have shown your interest in trying to secure a larger and better equipped school building for the community. This is surely needed, and must come if the city is to keep abreast with the march of progress.

"You are interested in better play grounds and parks, which every city should have. You are interested in a better water supply and a better equipped fire department, both of which are most essential to the protection and development of such a community as this.

"You are interested in bringing good industries to the town, and in everything that is for the general improvement and development of this community.

"Now, in every community, you will find that selfishness on the part of some individuals is a hindrance to you in carrying out your plans and ideals, but remember this: a community must exist for the good of all, and not exist for the good of certain selfish individuals.

Miss Florence Flappe Not Sure She's Anxious to Wed

—Portrait by Tom Culverwell.

Meet Miss Florence Flappe, an unwilling entry in the great prize contest.

Miss Flappe looked at us haughtily and raised a whole lot of objections when we asked for her portrait. She wanted to know how well H. R. H. dances and how many times he has been vamped. Who're his favorite movie stars—and does he like bobbed hair. Because she's the only unbobbed girl in her bunch and she's thinking of having hers done. Maybe those proud queen mothers might think it was awful, even if he did like it.

Well, she might enter, but she'd say this much: She'd have to look him over before she took him, even if she were the winner. Anyhow, she's bored with men; they're all alike. She's been engaged six times and ought to know. But maybe a prince might be a little different.

We saw she was weakening and pressed the advantage.

"Think of being a queen," we urged.

"Mightn't be so bad. But queens have to be so careful."

"And he's been all over the world—and girls and girls have tried to land him—"

She brightened a little.

"Well—maybe I might—"

"Why, most any American girl would give her head just to be presented at court!" we climaxed.

She brightened still more—then gloomed.

"Go to court!" she scoffed.

"Wear a train—and skirts dragging on the floor—no thing doing!"

"Yes, but that'd just be once in a long while. And think of the perfectly gorgeous clothes queens have."

She looked suspicious.

"How long do queens have to wear their skirts?" she demanded.

And we had to furnish an affidavit that H. R. H. likes 'em short, before we could get on the same side of the street with her again.

and government of the United States. The one who utters them is nothing more or less than a traitor and ought to be sent to experience the forces of his teachings in chaotic Russia. He does not belong here.

"Let us build so as to counteract these great national menaces. It is on account of such radical doctrines as this that this land is filled with lawlessness and disorder."

"James N. Bock, solicitor general of the United States, said recently that pending criminal indictments in our federal courts have increased nearly seven hundred per cent during the last decade. Corresponding figures were given regarding burglaries, embezzlements, thefts, hold-ups and murders in all our larger cities for which there are no convictions."

Building Personally

"To make all of our building a success whether local or national, we must build personally. The men and women who make up this great republic must be men and women with noble characters like the founders. The strongest, noblest and finest characters, which are those which inculcate into their lives the teachings of the Man of Galilee.

"We long for pure politics; to know that our liberties are not secretly bartered and desecrated. We seek a democracy so thorough, real and all-inclusive that the thoughtful purposes of the people cannot be diverted nor those purposes formed in darkness or bewilderment. We want a country where the quality of living will be more important than the quantity of things. A country where the laws will be just and right where no man or set of men of their own license shall set them aside or foil their operation, or seek to change them save by persuasion and process. To this end we must live personally. We must build noble characters.

"There is only one Master Builder for our shattered times, only one to whom we can trust the work of our country. No other contemporary is sufficient for our needs.

"Gentlemen, in all of your building, whether it be local, national or personal character, I beg you not to neglect or reject the chief cornerstone, the Son of Man and the Son of God; the Savior of the world.

National Building

"But not only do we build locally. We must build nationally, as well. What a wonderful foundation our forefathers laid for the nation! Think of the great noble, and fearless men who laid that foundation: Washington, John Hancock, Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, John Witherspoon, Richard Henry Lee, John Adams and others. These were men who had high and noble purposes and firm convictions. They stood for the right and they stood for it fearlessly.

These were brave, patriotic men. Our nation was founded by men who were willing to suffer, bleed and die for the principles and convictions they held to be sacred. They have given us a rich and priceless heritage, and as a jeweler guards his precious jewels—so we as American citizens must guard well.

"Now, what are these precious jewels? One of them is the sacredness of the home. The home is fundamental to the nation. We need a great deal about optimism these days. I am not an optimist as some are. There is a new name for the incorrigible optimist of these days. He is called by speculators a 'hypnotist.' His usual characteristic is a tendency to see things not as they exist, and to govern his conduct accordingly.

"I read of a preacher who declared himself an incurable optimist, and then proceeded to drench his hearers with pessimism as black as night. There are so many optimists of the pessimistic style. Let us face the facts as they are.

"Not long ago Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, in speaking of young lawyers, said that one of the chief reasons they lost their first cases is because they do not pay enough attention to the facts.

"Dangers to the Home

"Now this sacred institution, the home, is threatened with grave danger today. There are frightful immoral forces at work in our land which are endangering the home. Look at the divorce evil! What is the cause of this? It is the great evil continues? Dr. Walter F. Crafts, head of the International Bureau who has just completed a tour of middle western states gathering first-hand information regarding what he terms 'the new peril for girls,' has discovered that not only are the girls of the country in grave danger from a moral standpoint, but that the men and boys also are in need of paternalistic protection from the government.

"Among the curses of the day which Dr. Crafts mentions are modern dances which he says, in agreement with a certain dancing master who condemns them, are of such a nature that a marriage license could be required for every couple that dances in public. He also denounces the 'primitive, barbaric love films' as having a terrible influence upon young minds.

Pithy Paragraphs From Mannington

Deacon Slapapple says that when the new bridges are built here he intends to see that there are no subways made down through the piers.

At least, if there is, Mannington will never allow them to become such as those in the "Million Dollar" bridge have.

Mannington man said he never was so surprised in his life as when he looked down one of those subways in Fairmont.

Flaggy Meadow correspondent says the candidates out there are almost as thick as berry pickers.

Maybe they'll get hung on telegraph poles too.

Begins to look as if the miners hadn't struck after all. They must have quit.

Big circus coming to Mannington. If it doesn't draw better than a baseball game the owners will go broke.

TEAMS TO BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

MANNINGTON, July 27.—The first game in the series of three to be played between the American Legion and Boys' Club will start at 5:30 this evening. The series is held to decide the championship of the city, and all proceeds will be turned into the High School Athletic Association.

Tomorrow evening at 5:30 the Mannington Athletic Club will meet the fast South Side Independents at South Side Park, Fairmont. Both these teams have been playing fast ball, and fans believe the contest will be a close one. Keefe or McCartney will occupy the mound for Mannington, and either Charley Long or Jacobs will toss 'em over for the Independents.

Manager Port Knight of the fast Idamay team will tempt the manager man again Sunday when he plays his stars against the Fairmont Giants at Blackshere Park. Seems like Knight had incurred the displeasure of Old Jope Fluke in some way, but if the weather is fine fans will undoubtedly see a good game Sunday.

The second game in the championship contest between the Boys' Club and American Legion will be played Saturday afternoon probably at Hough's Park.

FAST TRAIN DELAYED

MANNINGTON, July 27.—Train No. 4, Wheeling to Grafton, due in Mannington at 3:47 p. m. was held up at Glovers Gap last night until a relief engine came at 1:20 this morning.

The delay was caused by engine trouble which prevented sufficient steam to move the train. No. 4 is a passenger train ordinarily considered one of the best on the line.

Entertained at Midway.

Glenn Rymer and Edwin Haggerty pleasantly entertained a number of friends at Dew Drop Inn, Midway, last evening. The recent additions to the little park have made it a delightful place. Those to whom invitations were extended were Miss Helen Hess, Miss Helen Hammel, Miss Louise Beamus, Miss Eugenia Vance, Miss Helen Hybert, Miss Emma Gump, Miss Grace Kerr, Miss Gladys Connelly, Miss Dorothy Connelly, Miss Olive Rymer, Miss Pearl Snodgrass, Miss Evelyn Forney, Miss Alberta Brady, Miss Myrtle Magee, Miss Louise Forney, Miss Christine Robinson, Miss Venetta Forney, Miss Betty Leonard, Miss Walter Price, Charles Rymer, William Jones, Hite Clelland, Edwin Haggerty, Earl Brumage, Clarence Ryan, Arthur McCarnes, Charles Spencer, Glenn Rymer, and George Hart. The out town guests were Miss Cathline Downey of Parkersburg, who is visiting her cousin Miss Betty Leonard in Dancer avenue, and Miss Hazel Connelly of Akron, Ohio, who is here visiting her parents. The chaperons were Miss Cathline Downey of Parkersburg, Beamus and Mr. and Mrs. William Millan.

ANDERSON 'SIX' IS NEW IN MANNINGTON

MANNINGTON, July 27.—Lem Harvey has just received a car. The Anderson motor cars, including one five-passenger touring, one sedan, and one speedster. Mr. Harvey has secured the distributing agency for these cars in this territory.

The Anderson motor car, built at Rock Hill, S. C., is declared to have made a record as a hill climber. The territory worked strongest by the factory is the hill country of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and other surrounding states.

Each Anderson body is individually built for the car and all wood parts are cut to fit, no steam- or bent wood being used. Twenty coats of paint are applied to each car, and full standard parts are used throughout the construction.

The manufacturers of the Anderson Six have been designers and builders of the cantata, Durston transmission, Salisbury floating type rear axles. The wheel base is 120 inches. A speed range of from two miles to fifty-five miles is possible in high gear, it is said.

Lem Harvey will receive another load of Andersons soon, consisting of one ultra sport touring, and two more five-passenger touring cars. The Andersons are awakening a great interest among automobile men here.

The new "Red Seal" Continental six-cylinder motor is used in the Anderson Six. It has a cast-iron block, Durston transmission, Salisbury floating type rear axles. The wheel base is 120 inches. A speed range of from two miles to fifty-five miles is possible in high gear, it is said.

MASTERS AND ROOT MANAGING CONTEST

MANNINGTON, July 27.—Big Chief Masters says he is sure to win, and Bill Root insists that there is some mistake in Masters' argument, since he is bound to win himself.

This difference in opinion is about the membership drive being brought to a close by the local Moose Lodge. Chief Masters is captain of one team and Bill Root, captain of the other. They estimate that a class of at least fifty members will be taken into the lodge August 9.

The entertainment committee is at work on elaborate plans for the proper reception of the cantatas. Many good things to eat are being promised by the entertainment committee for the big feed on that night. The committee is composed of C. J. McNeely, chairman, G. C. Judd, and Everett Wood. The degree team, led by a rehearsal of the degree work last night and stated this morning that he is very well pleased with the progress made. He declared that the sands on the trail to Moosehead would be made plenty hot and that the goat will not be fed between now and August 9. It is intimated that Root is a past grand master at hanging the antlers.

IRREGULAR TONE SHOWN IN STOCKS

Market Strengthens at Mid-Session After Heaviness During Morning.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Short covering was a feature in the irregular balance of price in the stock market. Sales approximated 700,000 shares.

The market became more irregular during the first hour because of the increased heaviness of Mexican Seaboard common and the certificates. Motors strengthened under lead of Studebaker and Chandler and steels came forward on buying of Crucible and Gulf States. Mexican oils were firm to strong, notably Mexico and Pan-American petroleum and several of the Pacific group. Stronger features among rails embraced several of the coalters. Southern Pacific, Atchison and Great Northern preferred. Equipments were represented by General Electric and Westinghouse at material advances. Call money opened at 3 1/2 per cent.

Independent steels, especially Crucible oils and coalters, all at further gains were the prominent features of the final hour. Extreme gains of 1 1/2 to 7 1/2 points were shown by those shares. The closing was strong.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, July 27.—Hedging sales, together with the absence of speculative buying, led to early down turns in the prices of wheat today notwithstanding a little firmness at the start. The transient initial gains were ascribed to high quotations at Liverpool. This was later offset, however, by lack of any signs of important export business. The opening which varied from 1/4 to 1/2 higher with September 11.07% to 11.10% and December 11.09% to 11.10% was followed by a slight further rise and then by a set back to well below yesterday's finish.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. Demand for corn was confined chiefly to shorts. After opening 1/4 off to a like advance, September 62 the corn market declined a trifle all around.

Oats started 1/4 @ 1/4 lower to 1/4 advance, September 13 3/4 @ 1/4 to 1/4 and later receded somewhat.

Provisions reflected weakness of the hog market.
