SPECIAL SERVICES PLANNED SUNDAY

Readings and Dialogs on Program at United Brethren Chapel Services.

MANNINGTON, Nov. 23.—Special Thanksgiving services will be held in the United Brethren Chapel in East Main street next Sunday, and a program of readings and dialogs will be given in the evening. This program will include readings by Miss Elizabeth White and Mrs. Georgia Albert.

The Rev. E. H. Waters of Gratton district superintendent, will preach in the morning at 10:30 and again in the evening at 7:30, choosing appropriate subjects for the occasion. The program will be given in the evening by members of the Sunday school, beginning at 6:30. Special music by a male quartet from the United Brethren Church at Fairmont will be one of the chief attractions on the program.

The purpose of this special service and program is to aid in building up the United Brethren organization in Mannington, and to assist in putting the church in a position that will warrant the members building an up-to-date church later on, it is said. A Thanksgiving offering will be taken immediately after the sermon.

The Rev. V. E. Williams, pastor has extended a cordial invitation to the public to attend this program, and he stated this morning that he believed it will be worth while.

REPORT TO BE MADE ON EXTENSION DRIVE

At this meeting plans for giving improved service to the buying public will be discussed, carrying out the idea of the campaign just ended, that money spent in Mannington should secure the highest values. It is claimed that the recent campaign is far from the end of the Mannington's endeavor to put the city at first place as a buying center for the district.

$2,000 SOUGHT IN RED CROSS DRIVE

House to House Canvass to Obtain Memberships to Be Held on Sunday.

MANNINGTON, Nov. 23.—Announcements from the various local churches next Sunday will open the campaign of the local chapter of the American Red Cross in the annual roll call of members. The budget for this year will be placed at $2,000, and an effort will be made to reach this amount early in the period.

A committee from the Kiwanis Club will cooperate with the Red Cross workers. It is made up of T. J. Jones, D. F. Hollabaugh, and Roy F. Alder. Assistance has been promised by others who are interested in the Red Cross work in Mannington. Soliciting committees will be appointed during the next few days it is said, and the drive will begin in earnest Monday, ending December 3. Present plans include a house to house canvass of the city for the purpose of securing memberships.

Mannington District has its own instances of need, and while these cases are rarely brought to the public notice they exist more frequently than is generally supposed, even in some of the more prominent streets of the city and in the rural district as well. The Red Cross has done a great deal to bring assistance to situations requiring a helpful hand, but in order to carry the work on another year, it is claimed, it is necessary to provide funds to do it with.

WOMAN FINED FOR STEALING CHICKENS

MANNINGTON, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Anna Lachwacka of Downs was brought before Justice J. M. Barrack yesterday on a charge of stealing five chickens from Mrs. Julia Fetcheck. The chickens were valued at $10.

The evidence was believed insufficient to establish the charge for a while, but after several witnesses were examined two were found who had seen Mrs. Lachwacka leave the chicken house with her prizes, and they declared that she was in such a hurry she stumbled and fell down just outside the building. Justice Barrack assessed a fine of $10 and costs.

Yesterday afternoon Ray Shuman was brought up on the charge of assaulting and mistreating his wife, Eva Shuman. The evidence seemed conclusive, and Shuman was sent to Fairmont to the county jail until such a time as he shall furnish a peace bond.

DRAW FOR LOT

MANNINGTON, Nov. 23.—The Elks Band will conduct a drawing with the free lot won at Downs during a recent lot sale as first prize, it has been announced. One hundred and fifty tickets will be given out, one with each purchase of a package of chewing gum bought of A. L. Parrish.

Mr. Parrish won the lot with a number he held, and later it became the joint property of the band in accordance with the agreement of the various members, that if one of the players won the lot it would belong to the band collectively.

MOUNDSVILLE TO BE HARD BATTLE

Victory Expected to Give Mannington Clear Claim as State Champions.

MANNINGTON, Nov. 23.—Moundsville has been sending out bear stories galore regarding the condition of the Mound City players, having as many as six at one time on the hospital list.

Definite information seems to prove that the Moundsville eleven is in first class condition, and will come prepared to give Mannington the stiffest game they know next Saturday. Rubie's men put up a loose game against the Martins Ferry team at Moundsville Tuesday, putting over the only touchdown made in the last four minutes of play.

If the dope is right, Mannington has almost a clear way to the state championship if she wins from Moundsville Saturday, and Coach Blake is preparing for the finest demonstration of football tactics shown on the local field this year. Huntingdon has won from Parkersburg, but tied with Charleston last Saturday, Charleston lost to Parkersburg, but tied with Wheeling earlier in the season and later played a tie with Huntington. Should Washington Irving win from Huntington at Clarksburg next Saturday it will almost put the flag in Mannington's possession this year.

The green and white warriors were never in better shape, and every man on the varsity will be ready when the whistle blows in the game with Moundsville. Jones, Ryan, Gump and Pritchard are all in fine fettle, and will be ready to put up the best they have.

The game will be played at 3 o'clock at Blackshere Park. Competent officials have been secured to handle this important game. Charles Hodges of Morgantown will act as referee. Harold "Goat" Ridgely of the Fairmont Times will be head line-man, and Mr. Underdonk of Wheeling will umpire the game.

WOMAN'S CLUB CENSORSHIP

Criticism and comment on the editorial at the local theaters appearing in this column are furnished by the movie censorship committee of the Woman's Club of Fairmont. The West Virginian does not assume any responsibility for the opinions expressed.—The Editor.

The Princess It is said that when Rex Ingram was asked to direct "Turn to the Right," appearing today at the Princess, that he objected very strenuously, but the persuasive power of the good natured scenario staff finally prevailed, and the result is, as could be expected, a picture that is the best, from every standpoint, of its type.

We can fully appreciate Mr. Ingram's position in regard to spending his time and energies in the making of a production of a simple rural story after having given to the world such a masterpiece of screen art as was "The Four Horsemen."

And we do not think it is a spirit of egotism upon his part, but we take it that possibly he considered it a step backward in his progress toward heights sublime in his chosen field of endeavor.

But after seeing the two pictures, widely contrasted as they are, we are of the opinion that Mr. Ingram could direct, most anything he attempted with credit to himself.

Our comparison between the two films is not intended to underrate "Turn to the Right" however, for it is one of the best of the kind—the story of a country boy who leaves home and friends to go to the city totally unprepared to meet the responsibilities and temptations that come to him.

Back home the good mother and young sister are struggling to make ends meet in the meantime, but after many trials and tribulations every thing turns out happily.

Alice Terry is charming in the role of the country girl who remains true to her prodigal lover the part taken by Jack Mulhall. There is a good sprinkling of sentiment and bright bits of comedy interspersed judiciously.

The Nelson. One of the features of "Her Gilded Cage," in which Gloria Swanson is appearing at the Nelson today for the last time, is the method employed by her publicity agent to place her in the limelight.

She never would have gotten there through the dancing, as done in the role of Susanne Orloff and later as Fleur d'Amour, for at no time did she display anything but ordinary ability along that line, but her sparkling beauty attracted the attention of King Fernando who happened to be dining in the cafe where she first made her appearance, and the press agent did the rest.

Miss Swanson is represented as being a sweet, retiring and modest French girl, who becomes famous, over night, but she remains always true to herself and those whom she is hoping to aid.

Throughout the picture Miss Swanson plays with fine restraint the role of the girl who feels out of her element in the surrounding in which her position as a broadly-heralded dancer has placed her.

much, expresses a great deal in the opportunity given her.

The Dixie

Seldom do we find on the screen more finished acting than Guy Bates Post has brought to his dual role impersonation in "The Masquerader," showing for the last time today at the Dixie.

The story is one of intense interest, containing as it does all the elements that made of it good reading as a novel; strong material for a stage production, and now, in the silent drama drives home with compelling force its great lessons of life.

It is truly a study in character—laying bare the very soul of two men—showing how the victim of evil habits has become warped and finally ruined, and the other expands and develops.

And Mr. Post interprets the dual roles of two cousins, alike in feature, but totally unlike in character, in a really amazing manner, substituting as he does, a poor struggling journalist for the man who had reached one of the highest positions in England. A member of the parliament.

It is thought by many who saw the stage production in which Mr. Post starred that the screen version is even more dramatic and forceful.

OLD TIMERS HOLD LIMELIGHT TODAY

Stars of Yesteryear Feature at Blue Ridge Show Starting Today.

"Favorites of the Past" is the feature act at the Blue Ridge today, and at the matinee this afternoon the act went over big before an appreciative audience. Caterina Marco is one of the members of the troupe. She was shaking the rattlers of the opera houses of the country with her rich soprano notes when Farrar and Gall Curci were taking their first lessons. She is well over 70 years old and made her first appearance in New York in 1872.

Charles A. Leder is another of the old timers in the act. In his early days he was a famous German dialect comedian and starred in "The Prince of Pilsen" and other big shows.

Harry Bartlett, now more than 70 years old, is still able to perform feats of contortion with grace and suppleness. Years ago he was a member of the famous variety team of Bartlett and May.

Completing the troupe is Francis Cinglehurst, a dainty ingenue 15 years old, who plays the part of the granddaughter, while Harry Bartlett, the grandfather, recalls his old theatrical friends as they appear and do their old-time specialties.

Other acts offered this afternoon were the three Falcons, excellent gymnasts, Neil O'Connell, the "Rose of Song," and "Radium Visions."

Hours of Shows Changed Beginning Monday, several changes will be made in the time of the performances at the Blue Ridge Theatre. The feature picture will be shown at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, followed by the four vaudeville acts and a second showing of the picture at 4 o'clock. From 5 o'clock until 6:50 there will be no program, but at that time the picture will be shown again, followed by the vaudeville acts at 7:50 and the picture again at 8:45. Under this arrangement the vaudeville acts will not begin at the last show until 9:45, with the final curtain at 10:45, an hour that will enable the out-of-town patrons to catch all interurban cars.

A thousand letters have been mailed out by the Blue Ridge management, entitling as many ladies to free admission at any matinee next week.

Buell Barrows Murdered In California Recently

It became known in police circles here yesterday that Buell Barrows, a former resident of this county, had been murdered in California on November 15. E. P. Simmonds of Pittsburgh, a member of the Pinkerton Detective Agency, came to this city to make an investigation in regard to Barrows' death.

Letters from a girl in this county were found on the body of the slain man, and among some of his effects names of other Marion County persons were found. The Pittsburgh detective says that the persons here are not suspects in the murder case but that he was just here to get information from them about Barrows, which may help the detectives in finding his slayer.

WASHINGTON NEWS GOSSIP

By CHARLES BROOKS SMITH

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 23.—Adjutant General John H. Charneck of the West Virginia National Guard, accompanied by his assistant, T. C. Davis, Col. Wm. E. Eshank of Welch, State Auditor John C. Bond and State Superintendent Geo. M. Ford, the latter two formerly connected prominently with the guard organization, are in Washington to appear before a special committee of the general staff of the army to ask that West Virginia be given a second regiment of infantry and a brigade headquarters establishment.

Senator-elect M. M. Neely was in the audience that heard President Harding's address to the joint session of Congress Tuesday. He was on the floor of the House, a courtesy that he was doubly entitled to, by reason of being both an ex-member of the House and a senator-elect. Senator Neely was seen meeting and greeting old friends which he made when he was a Representative, and was, of course, the recipient of many hearty congratulations from them over his "come back." Representative-elect George W. Johnson of Parkersburg, elected successor of Representative Harry C. Woodyard, was also seated among the members of both bodies when the president delivered his message.

Mrs. Emma Douglass Woodyard, wife of Harry Chapman Woodyard, representative in Congress from the Fourth West Virginia District, died Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Washington Sanitarium, Takoma Park, to which institution she was removed from her Washington residence, 1721 Lamont street, November 11. She had been critically ill since October 1, at which time she returned here from a visit at her home at Spencer, W. Va., so as to be under the treatment of her physicians in this city.

Mrs. Woodyard was one of the best known women in official social life in the national capital, a leader in the congressional "set" admired by all who knew her as a woman of brilliant intellect and impressive force and charm of personality and character. For the last eighteen years she had resided much of her time in Washington, her husband having been elected to serve in Congress for fourteen years of that period of time. Few women were better known nor more generally highly esteemed in the capital than Mrs. Woodyard.

She was one of the charter members and organizers of the famous Women's Congressional Club, and under her direction as chairman of the entertainment committee last season, it achieved its most brilliant success, its reception to President and Mrs. Harding, the latter a member of the club and the first member to become the First Lady in the Land, being the climax in its list of brilliant social functions. To this strenuous work her friends attribute the beginning of her ill health which ended in her death Tuesday.

Mrs. Woodyard had met the tables who lived in the capital for a time or visited here from abroad during the many years she resided in this city. Many of them became closer to her than mere formal acquaintances. She was a close friend of Mrs. Harding, their friendship starting when the First Lady was the wife of a senator. Last year, Mrs. Harding was entertained informally and sub-rosa at the Woodyard home in Lamont street a party of four ladies who had a little club of their own that met weekly in the time Mrs. Harding was the wife of a senator. Among the accomplishments of Mrs. Woodyard was her talent as a writer. Among musical education and her wonderful grasp of practical politics and knowledge of politicians and their ways. Her help to her husband in his public career was well known, and no one paid higher tribute to it in public and private than Mr. Woodyard himself.

With all her semi-official and social interests, Mrs. Woodyard was essentially a home woman, managed her domestic affairs with consummate skill her first devotion being dedicated to her husband and her three sons, William, 23; Edward, 25; and Henry 23 years old. Her ability to do so much and to do it with success in every way, was the cause of marvel on the part of her friends.

During the critical period of her illness from October 1st, Representative Woodyard abandoned his campaign for reelection, returned to Washington and was by the side of his splendid helpmate day and night. Her three sons were with her much of the time, always one of them here all the time during the final weeks. When the end came Henry was with her and Representative Woodyard.

Mrs. Woodyard was a native of Harrison County, born on a farm near Clarksburg. As a young woman she went to Roane County to teach school and there met and married her husband. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. She was 54 years old. Her death was widely mourned in the capital when news of it spread to her multitude of friends and acquaintances. Messages of sympathy were received at the Woodyard residence by the score. One of the earliest received by Representative Woodyard came from President and Mrs. Harding. The remains were taken away to Spencer Tuesday midnight, and funeral services will be held in that town probably this afternoon.

TRIAL SCHEDULED TODAY Ernest O. Conley, arrested last evening by members of the city police force, and Constable C. C. Wheeler on a warrant charging him with committing an assault upon Mary Hultquist, will be tried on the charge in Magistrate J. L. Blocker's court at 4 o'clock today. Pending trial Conley is being held a prisoner in the county jail.

TO HAVE SUPPER

The Community Club will have an oyster supper this evening at the home of Mrs. L. B. Throckmorton in Sixth street. The proceeds will go to help send Mrs. Armstrong to the hospital. The Community Club has also issued a statement thanking the public for its cooperation in the tag day a few days ago.

SIX-DAY WEEK GRANTED

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—A six-day week has been granted Chicago policemen. According to Chief of Police Fitzmorris, the action virtually nullifies the value of 1,000 policemen recently added.

Buy a Columbia and have a REAL Thanksgiving! THE folks are all going to be there with you. There's going to be a big, fat turkey and all the fixings and pumpkin pie—good stories, laughter, fun and good cheer at table—and then what? Wouldn't it be joyous if you could all troop into the front room, some one roll up the rug, some other one start the Columbia and then have a real old-time dance and frolic? Sound good? You bet! And you needn't postpone the happy time of owning a Columbia Grafonola another day. Go to the nearest Columbia Dealer to-day. See the handsome stream-line Columbia models he has on display. Let the Columbia man explain the ten individual and superior points of merit that make the Columbia the most satisfactory phonograph that money can buy. Then make inquiries about prices. You will be astonished that this instrument, with more improvements than any other worth-while phonograph, can be bought for so little—and, too, the Columbia man will likely tell you of a Community Club purchase plan, by which you can get the instrument of your choice at once and pay for it on "a mutually satisfactory arrangement."
