

FOR THE LADIES.
Spring Fashions in Millinery.
 Now that spring is believed to be near at hand, and with it a more favorable and certainly desirable change in the weather, it is reasonably expected, a natural question among the ladies is, "What kind of a new hat or bonnet shall I get?" Hats and bonnets in almost every conceivable shape and design are displayed in such a variety that the most people are at once, and fastidiously

The high stiff flat crowns, with wide slightly curved brims in front, and especially narrow brims in the back, are greatly admired, showing the callosities, which are told to grow high, to great advantage.

The bonnets imported for the spring and summer are marvels of fineness and elegance. The trimmings are based on toques instead of being placed on the left side, as formerly. The fronts are taller and brim narrower and trimmed more.

Fine feathery-like golden tissues, drawn, folded or bunched on wire foundation mingled with delicate golden fabrics of exquisite design, are very lively.

Children's hats for boys and girls are very picturesque in effect. A special style is very prominent—single top crown with large flowing trim. Sometimes a band can made in the Berlin winter, utilizes to change the style of hat with good effect. While the Berlin and wife appear like any festive woman with taming of some darks, yet velvet, which is almost solely used for such hats.

Oversize tips and feathers are as popular as ever. The fashionable, with the prettiest hats, has, perhaps, the preference, and when dazed with brilliant wings, feathers, humming-birds and tassels, they are very handsome. The hats are decorated with flowers, arranged with points of velvet, and in large, or small, or light, or dark, or in a fine effect. Ribbon and lace in a ruff Sparring Suits.—A waxy line is seldomly found to be in San Francisco south of the latter part of August.

The new machine is greatly envied by 200. Thirty, of England, because of being very easily converted into a bus. When used on the road the machine is a satisfactory steamer. For special work carrying 100 it is a bit slow—only half as fast, and will complete a four-hour clock, and all the necessary equipment for 100 passengers is a heavy one.

Brothers, James McLoughlin, has awarded the two prizes offered by the New York sportsman to the jockey and jock with the largest average of winning miles and winning the largest amount of money. One of the prizes is a handsome sash of gold, with diamonds and set jewels, the design being a jockey cap, crown of which is a star sapphire, and body, rim and peak gold, studded with emeralds. The cap is set in a gold horse's head with crossed gold whips at the back. The pendant is a diamond watch chain.

SENSATIONAL STORIES FOR BO
The Demand for Such Literature
the Increase—Stories for Girls.
 (New York Mail and Express.)

al character," said the manager of a news company, "has been on the increase for several years. There are now a 1 dozen boys' papers published weekly in this city that have a circulation of 500,000. They are sold throughout the United States and Canada. They have the half-dime libraries. Several publishers make these a specialty work on nothing else. A new num appears either weekly or semi-weekly. Their circulation depends altogether stories which they contain. One or two something very thrilling appears and perhaps 60,000 or 70,000 copies are sold. The next week a novel of every day type appears, no blood is shed, no assassinations take place, and the circulation drops down to 10,000 or 15,000 copies. But the greatest circulations are not attained in papers that are intended for boys' perusal. Another class of sensational literature caters to the taste of the world's girls of America. Millions of copies of sheets of this description are sold

The boys' papers are trashy and sensational enough, I will admit, but they eclipsed by the journals for young women. The plots of the stories are sometimes extremely offensive, the dialogue is sentimental to an idiotic degree, and the description of the perfunctory appearance of the hero and heroine often occupy the serial. There is not a working man in New York City who does not purchase two or three of these papers every week. Of late years the illustrated police

A well-known publisher was found in his office when the reporter called. "Yes," said he, "the field of sensational literature is spreading. There is good profit in the business. We have two or three writers who are each paid a $5000 per year. They furnish us with a stated amount of copy per week."
