The prince further thanks the people for his election and the regents and ministers for the able conduct of affairs during the difficult crises, pays tribute to the patriotism and bravery of the people during the recent events and concludes: Long live free and independent Bulgaria. There is no reference to Russia in the proclamation. After the ceremony of installation the ministers tendered their resignation and the Sobranje dissolved. Neither Turkey nor any powers replied to Prince Ferdinand's note asking their approval of his election. Prince Ferdinand will on Tuesday start for Phillippopolis where he will arrive Thursday evening. The garrison here has taken the oath of Plegiance. legiance.

The Attitude of the Powers,

LONDON, Aug. 15.-The Standard's Vienna correspondent says: England, Austria and Italy sent Turkey an identical note declaring that they consider the sal note declaring that they consider the election of Prince Ferdinand legal. It is reported that Turkey's attitude is becoming friendly. The situation now depends entirely upon Russia who handed the porte a formal protest against Ferdinand's proceedings which protest Russia expects Turkey will endorse.

TRAIN DITCHED BY ROBBERS.

Escape.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The west bound passenger express train on the Southern Pacific was run off the switch, near Papago, about 15 miles east of Tucnear Papago, about 15 miles east of Tuclast. On the track beyond where the trait was brought to a standstill the robbets and fastened three torpedoes to warn the engineer and compel him to stop his train. The plan to turn the switch and ditch the engine was evidently thought of later. As soon as the train went in the ditch one of the robbers went in the ditch one of the robbers who was upon the bank commenced firing his Winchester rifle. He shot twice. They then went to the mail car and made the men come out and go to the express car. They ordered the messenger to come out but he would not open the doors. They then blew the door open with a giant cartridge and forced the mail agent to go into the car shead. Two of the robbers then went and one of them held koute Agent Gault in one end of the car, while the other covered Smith, the messenger, with a revolver and made him open the safe and put the money in a sack. They struck him over the head with a revolver once, but did not injure him much.

their respective candidates. The bishop of Hilinois addressed the meeting and expressed the opinion that the transfer of an Arcan bishop to a British colonial see a do agreat deal toward the unity of the churches. There was considerable discussion over Bishop Perry's American utizanship, but it was shown that Bishop Parry, having been a born Englishman, no amount of naturalization by the finited States could divest him of his English nationality. Bishop Perry is expected to arrive here to morrow from England, where he went to preach a sermon on the centennial of the consecration of the first American bishop. In case Bishop Perry refuses to accept, the selection of a bishop for this diocese will be referred to the archaishop of York and Canterbury and the bishop of London.

The United States as a Factor in European Polities.

By Hjalmar H. N. Boyesen in the Congrega-tionalist.] Sir Charles Dilke has, in a recent series of articles in the Nineteenth Century, drawn a dark picture of the political con-United States as the hope of the world. We should, in fact, be supporting an army of non-combatants at a cost greater than was ever borne by any nation in times of peace. The significance of this alarming waste-

I once heard the late Jules Favre talk in the chamber as if our country were the veritable Atlantis, a Garden of Eden, unvexed by problems introduced by the serpent: and a venerable royalist responded by depicting our social conditions as being horrible beyond compare. He too had read De Tocqueville and perhaps Bancroft, and had derived the impression that our republican experiment was chiefly

The robbery occurred at the same point where the west bound express was robbed in April last. On the track beyond where the trail that things were not so bad here as German official circles affected to believe, and the socialist members also occasionally "point with pride" to our freedom from the ills that oppress king-ridden Europe. They boast of our prosperity as if it were only necessary to adopt their measures, in order to make Germany equally blessed. But they deal chiefly in generalities, distort their facts, if by chance they get hold of any, and subject them to all sorts of wild interpretations. The late Friedrich Kapp had, however, more influence than any one else in restraining the German admiration for the United States, which existed as a sort of vague sentiment with the liberals between 1848 and 1870. He had spent many years in important positions in our republic, and had returned home distillusionized and disgruntled.

A favorable disposition toward American democracy being thus, as a rule, characteristic of liberalism, it is, of course, but natural that conservatism should cherish the opposite sentiment. And there are several circumstances which tend to make the conservative case a strong one.

Hundreds of thousands or rather millions of these letters annually cross the Atlantic, and go into every parish and village, stimulating every one who reads them to reflection concerning the causes which have produced a state of society so different from that to which he has been accustomed. In most cases, they awaken, no doubt, a desire to shake the dust of the Old World, with all its wormeaten institutions, from off one's feet, and to go in quest of a more favorable fortune in the New World. But those who are in a position to do this are, after all, the ex-The great nations of Europe, he says, are spending their revenues in enormous ar manents, each being determined to outdo the other; and for the privilege of bullying each other are curtailing their industrial and many retarding their retarding their industrial and many retarding their retarding their industrial and many retarding their many retarding their reductions. These who remain behind are feather the text end of the partial retarding their free and th ure, due to this reflex influence of the American immigrant upon the father land. There are other causes, of course, which lie more on the surface, and which every one is sure to seize upon. But in so far as America is responsible for this propagandism, she suffers a sufficient penalty in receiving, sooner or later, the converts which she has unintentionally made. And it is in this latter capacity—as the lumber room and garbage barrel of Europe, where all human refuse and odds and ends that do not fit into the old system can be disposed of—that she is of the greatest value to the ancient monarchies. borne by any nation in times of peace. The significance of this alarming waste fulness, in its economic and moral aspects, could, however, scarcely be appreciated at a distance. It is, moreover, the unack knowledged programme of liberalism in all lands where it exists to take a rose-colored view of American conditions. The Colored view of American conditions are colored view of American conditions. The European liberal, exemplifying the working of the reform which he is advocating. He has his eyes constantly differenced across the Atlantic, and sees there very much what he wants to see. It may be the extension of the suffrage which he has at heart. In such a case he is apt to find that American prosperity is due to universal suffrage. In the Norwegian Scorthing during a recent debate, lasting for weeks, on the introduction of trial by jury, both the government and the opposition pointed to American experience, and drew exactly opposite lessons from it. which could only be kept in order by the enormous armies, standing on the lid, have made their escape to this side of the Atlantic, and are here ranging about and stirring up mischief to the extent of their power. The habit of discontent has grown to be constitutional with them. They are trying to avenge in their new home what they suffered in the old. But there is a limit even to American patience in this matter of suffering vicarious retribution for the sins of Europe, and that limit has now been reached.

limit has now been reached.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 14.-It given out to-day on good authority that yesterday some of the leaders of the Boston and Maine, movement, among whom were Frank Jones and Charles Sinclair, signed a bond to immediately construct a raila bond to immediately construct a railroad from Alton Bay along Lake Winnepistukee to Laconna, to be called the Lake Shore railroad, in case a charter is granted by the present Legislature. In case of failure to build, the forfeiture is supposed to be about $30,000. This is regarded as a shrewd move on the part of the Maine people, as a charter was granted two years ago to those now identified on the side of the Concord road, and no step toward construction has ever been taken. Saconstruction has ever been taken. Sa-gacious politicians think that this move will undoubtedly gain votes for the Hazen bill from the lake section of the State.

RIDDLEBERGER JAILED.

THE SENATOR GETS INTO A PRETTY SCRAPE AND IS LOCKED UP.

Judge Newman Has Mr. Riddleberger Pulled in for Contempt of Court. Party Feeling High and Violence Threatened by the Factions.

WOODSTOCK, Va., Aug. 12.-Senator Riddleberger got himself into a pretty scrape here yester lay, and spent the night amid the discomforts of a squalid county jail as a consequence of his felly. The senator was in-terested in a case on trial in the county court, which had some local political significance. Judge Newman, who tried the case, was no friend of Senator Riddleberger. In fact, some of the papers hereabouts have often referred to the two men as Phitter personal enemies," No one was surprised, therefore, when the verdict in the case was exactly the reverse of what Riddleberger desired it should be.

SENATOR REDDLEBERGER. But everybody was very much surprised, and, moreover, very much excited at the spirit in which the senator took the verdict, and his peculiar manner of calling public attention to his anger. At Riddleberger's suggestion the prisoner who figured in the case was hauled through the streets of the town with a placard around his neck containing some pretty severe and caustic reflections on the judge. Troops of people followed the prisoner on his travels, most of them highly unused at the curious turn an old personal quarrel had taken, but many of them very indignant at the aspersions put upon the judge.

Finally one of the judge's fri nds went to afterward pelicemen were running around looking for Senator Riddleberger. He was found and summoned before his old enemy, the justice, to answer for contempt of court, There was a tumult in the streets around the dons as the news spread around town, and partisanship ran rampunt. Raidleberger's friends swere they would get him out before midnight if they had to burn the fail to do it.

Upon hearing these threats Judge New-man's friends vowed they would defend the jail by force if necessary, and many of them volunteered their services to the sheriff. All Riddleberger's influence availed him nothing in his efforts for release. As darkness settled down on the town the senator was making a fair meal off prison rations and preparing to make himself comfortable for the night. He was very auxious that his friends should not step beyond bounds of the law in manifesting

Less Favorable Reports as to Crop Prospects in Some Sections.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.-The business failures occurring throughout the country durng the last seven days, as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., of the mercantile agency, num-ber for the United States 151, and for Canada 29, or a total of 180, as against 183 last week and 184 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year there were in the United States 141 failures and in Canada 16-a total of 157.

Short crops in 1881 proved the turning point of business for seven years, and the drought this year, though resulting in less injury to crops, comes at a time when real estate values at the west have been unusually inflated. Heavy rains have broken the long drought during the past week, but only after the official bureau report had shown how serious was the injury sustained, and the relief came too late to do good in extensive districts of the northwest. The bureau re-ports losses which cannot be repaired to a considerable part of the hay crop, and to oats, tobacco, potatoes and fruit, a little in-jury to cotton and wheat, and a decline of 17 per cent, in the condition of corn. The work of destruction continued ten days after bureau reports were made before rain came, and the aggregate loss of the farmers must exceed $300,000,000.

Iron production increased 15,540 tons weekly in July, ninetera colle furances re-suming, while nine anthracite stopped. The weekly output was, nevertheless, 19 per cent, less than May L

Interior reports are less favorable as to crop prespects, but uniformly good as to the volume of business, though at Gulveston a good many orders have been con terminded. Coffeetions are dull at Kansas City and slow at Omahe, and money is more stringent at Philadelphia, with continuing closeness at Kansas City and Cleveland.

THE OHIO DROUGHT.

The Miand Valley District Bally in Need of Rain.

DAYTON, O., Aug. 13.-While patches of territory within the ten counties of Miami valley district have had showers, drought has partially prevaled for three months. Early potatoes, burley, wheat, oats, flax and hay were good yield. The parched condition of the soil prevents farmers getting out over half stand of tobacco and the drought has reduced the yield to one-fourth of the average. Berries, except strawberries, were an utter failure. Grapes would be a splendid crop but for the fact that bees having nothing else to feed upon are de-stroying vineyard prospects. Leaves are falling in towns and in the country like is usual in late September. Pastures are so burned that live stock must be fed grain tell him what was going on.
