OUR HAVERSACK.

Commander-in-Chief Veazey Suggests Distinctive Colors for Departments and Posts.

By command of Commander-in-Chief Veazey, a circular has just been issued from Rutland, the substance of which follows: For the purpose of securing uniformity in the colors carried by the several organizations of this order, upon occasions of parade or ceremony, the commander-in-chief suggests that all distinctive colors for use of departments or posts, hereafter procured, conform as nearly as possible to the following, viz:

FOR HEADQUARTERS OF DEPARTMENTS.

A silken color, red, (cherry) the same shade as the edge of the badge ribbon worn by department officers; the insignia thorn to be the membership badge of the order, with the regular plain flag ribbon and eagle, having above the eagle two silver stars and eight letters above the stars the words "Department of Vermont," and below the name of the department and the letters G. A. R. or the words they signify. A fringe of bullion or braided yellow, orange and tassels of red and white silk intermixed; size of color, if a flag, about four feet six inches fly and four feet on the pole, including spear-head or angle and ferrule should be nine feet six inches long. If a banner is carried instead of a flag, the size is left optional, but the color and general effect should be as above described. The coat of arms of the State may be upon one side of the flag or banner, if preferred instead of the badge, but the lettering should be alike on both sides.

FOR POSTS.

The same flag except that the color will be blue, the same color or ferrule on the edge of the badge ribbon worn by post officers; the insignia upon the same to be the membership badge with the regular plain flag ribbon and eagle, having above the name, number and location of the post, and below it the name of the department and the letters G. A. R. or the words they signify, in gilt letters; both sides of the color alike, unless the coat of arms of the State be preferred for one side instead of the badge; fringe of bullion or braided yellow silk; cords and tassels blue and white intermixed; size of post colors to be six feet on the pole, including spear-head or angle and ferrule should be nine feet six inches long. If a banner is carried instead of a flag, the size is left optional, but the color and general effect should be as above described. The coat of arms of the State may be upon one side of the flag or banner, if preferred instead of the badge, but the lettering should be alike on both sides.

FOR HEADQUARTERS OF G. A. R.

The headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic will be designated by a flag similar to that prescribed for departments, but the colors will be blue, the insignia thorn four silver stars above the badge and the words Headquarters, Grand Army of the Republic; the coat of arms of the United States to be upon one side in place of the badge; cords and tassels of blue and black silk intermixed.

All colors should be provided with proper carrying bolts and waterproof cases to protect them when furled.

All small "markers" or flags for posts will be blue in color.

FOR HEADQUARTERS OF G. A. R.

The headquarters of the Grand Army of the Republic will be designated by a flag similar to that prescribed for departments, but the colors will be blue, the insignia thorn four silver stars above the badge and the words Headquarters, Grand Army of the Republic; the coat of arms of the United States to be upon one side in place of the badge; cords and tassels of blue and black silk intermixed.

Arrangements for the Celebration of the G. A. R.'s Anniversary—Gen. Veazey's Plans.

Commander-in-Chief Wheelock G. Veazey, his staff and the council of administration of the Grand Army of the Republic will attend the commemorative services of the 35th anniversary of the founding of the order at Bennington, Ill., the place of its origin, April 8. The observance is postponed to that date so that all national officers can participate in their home commemorative services on the 6th.

Bennington, Rutland will have an elaborate celebration April 6. Services will be held in the town hall. An address will probably be delivered by Adj. Gen. Joseph H. Goulding of Commander-in-Chief Veazey's staff, D. L. Morgan, department commander, and others. A song and poem will be prepared for the occasion and there will be other services.

Comrade T. Benton Kelley of Rutland by invitation will participate in the Grand Army commemorative services with Custer post at Bennington.

The Grand Army Anniversary to be Celebrated by Stannard Post—G. A. R. Notes.

Stannard post will hold an anniversary celebration in Y. M. C. A. hall Monday evening, April 6, with appropriate commemorative exercises of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Grand Army of the Republic, to which special invitation is extended by the post to the Sons of Veterans, the Woman's Relief corps, the Ladies Aid society, the clergy, the fire and school children, and the citizens generally. The exercises will consist of addresses by the Rev. Dr. Hawes of this city on the life of Gen. Sherman; by commander W. L. Greenleaf on the organization of the G. A. R.; by Comrade Henry Ballard and music by the glee club.

The 93 birthday of Robert Sargent of Stannard, the only surviving soldier of the war of 1812 in that region was celebrated the other day by the Grand Army post and neighbors. Appropriate gifts were made, patriotic and other songs were sung by the grand army and war reminiscences were given by him and also by Rev. Z. Odell and Rev. Francis Reed, both soldiers in the war. Notwithstanding Mr. Sargent's great age, he appears in full possession of his mental powers.

Major John H. Zarthoff, surgeon, now on duty at Fort Wadsworth, barracks, N. Y., will proceed to Fort Wayne, Mich., and report in person to the commanding officer of that post for temporary duty.

Chamberlain post, G. A. R. of St. Johnsbury, is arranging for a concert in Music hall, April 16.

Chamberlain Relief Corps of St. Johnsbury are making preparations for a jubilee party to be given at the opera house, April 10.

A Woman's Relief Corps was organized at Lyndonville March 13 with 23 charter members.

The anniversary of the organization of Post 40 at Bennington occurs April 6. It will be fittingly observed as usual.

Bellevue post, G. A. R. of Brattleboro, has received from Secretary of War Fred T. W. war maps, showing all the important battlefields of the war for the Union, and the location of the various divisions in the battles. These maps have been mounted on frames on rolls so as to be convenient for reference. They will be invaluable to every student of history.

Capt. P. D. Blodgett of St. Johnsbury is again honored. This time a camp of Sons of Veterans has been named after him at South Royalton, henceforth to be known as "Camp P. D. Blodgett, No. 14."

Department Commander D. L. Morgan of Rutland has been engaged to deliver the Memorial day address at Orwell, Rev. E. M. Haynes, D. D., of Rutland at Watfield, Col. George W. Hooker at Belows Falls, Gen. W. W. Grant of Barton at Essex Junction, Rev. E. L. Walker of West Rutland at West Rutland, Rev. L. Simble of Monkton at Huntington, Gen. T. O. Saver of Woodstock at Montpelier, Rev. N. H. Farr of Randolph at West Randolph, Prof. Walter E. Howard of Middlebury at Wells River and Rev. J. P. Rhoades of Belows Falls at Barre.

Mrs. Della M. Needham, the installing and instituting officer of the Woman's Relief Corps of Vermont, assisted by Mrs. May Fisher of Roberts Relief Corps, Rutland, instituted a corp at Vergennes recently with 15 charter members. This will be an auxiliary to Ethan Allen post.

The Sons of Veterans of Fairhaven will give their anniversary ball April 5.

The Ketchikan Guard of Brattleboro have decided definitely to make the trip over the mountain at the time of the Bennington battle monument dedication, using only one day.

At a meeting of committees on a county convention of Sons of Veterans, to be held in Rutland May 8 these officers were appointed for a two year term: President, Sergeant-General O. A. Grew of Brandon, first vice-president, Past Capt. F. A. Gleason of Rutland; second vice-president, Past Capt. F. A. Saver of Pawlet; chaplain, Past Capt. W. H. Hoole of Danby; secretary, W. N. Proctor of Fairhaven; inside guard, Capt. Grant Livens of West Rutland; outside guard, F. S. Bonfield of Poultney.

GUILTY OF ONE HUNDRED OFFENSES.

Arden H. Flint of West Randolph suffers the Penalty of the Law.

WEST RANDOLPH, March 29.—The trial of Arden H. Flint under two indictments for selling, furnishing and giving away liquors and for keeping a general tavern and gambling rooms, did not begin until 1 o'clock this afternoon, owing to delay being caused in producing witnesses and drawing a jury. State Attorney John R. Peckett, Jr., appeared in behalf of the State and N. D. Hayden for the respondent. Throughout the afternoon a large number of witnesses were examined and the number of offenses already proven ran up into the hundreds. The evening important documentary evidence was introduced, including a search warrant officers raided the basement of Smith's block and discovered $125 worth of whiskey. The same evening the officers raided Flint's den over J. C. Dyer's stable and found cards, dice, gambling tools and absconce staff. They also found a United States revenue tax receipt.

Since August 21, 1890, Flint has received at least 400 gallons of liquor at this station and therefore, part of it coming in violation of the law. The officers have had their eyes on this place for six months and although they seemed to be enough evidence that the case would be won, the people are surprised over the result as it was not generally known about the place. State Attorney Peckett has been working very hard on the case, although meeting with much opposition, and he deserves credit in winning it.

Later in the evening the jury found respondent guilty of 100 first offenses.

WEST RANDOLPH, March 27.—The court assembled a little after 10 o'clock this morning for the sentence in the Arden H. Flint case. After a few remarks the justice gave sentence that the respondent should pay $10 for each of the hundred offenses for selling liquor, as found by the jury, with the taxable costs, amounting to $100, or the alternative sentence of over 94 years incarceration in the work house.

Flint pleaded guilty to the complaint of keeping gambling and common nuisance rooms. He was fined $80 and costs, or he was forced to skip town to evade the officers. Returning in a few months he hired rooms over J. C. Dyer's livery. From August 21, 1890, he has received liquor in great quantities, as stated in yesterday's Free Press.

The State considered they had proven 200 offenses. Men of middle age, young men and mere boys, 15 or 16 years old, were in the habit of daily frequenting his so called "Billiard rooms" for liquor and to gamble. The States attorney says "It was one of the lowest, meanest, dirtiest and most contemptible holes that can be found. The people had no idea what a place they were harboring in their midst."

The States attorney asked the court this morning to drop the case against Lewis Bean, who was arrested for the same offense as Flint. The attorney considered that Lewis was but a boy, only 24 years of age, and not wholly responsible; that he had received a lesson that would not fail to have an important bearing on his future life. Justice Smith heartily consented, believing that he had had sufficient punishment. He hoped and believed that this affair would have great influence on others.

Flint appeared but withdrew the appeal late in the afternoon. Sheriff Buswell will take him to Rutland tomorrow on the 10:15 a. m. train.

Fish For Secretary Proctor's Corral.

A quantity of fish that was being carried to Secretary Proctor's home attracted much attention one day recently. A number of the United States fish commission had 14 men of California trout varying from two to six inches in length. The total number was not far from 1000. They had come from Washington with a slight loss. The California trout is something like our brook variety, but in place of the bright spots has stripes along the sides. They say, and here, and around about a weight of four pounds, but the average is from one and a half to three. The secretary is going to stock a private pond.

A Promising Young Vermont.

A. W. Barnum of Montpelier, formerly of Milton, who is connected with the Montpelier and Wells River railroad, has just distinguished himself in the line of typewriting. He went to Boston and entered a contest in which there were some ten writers, but he won first prize, writing 250 words in five minutes, or at the rate of 50 words a minute. The prize was $25. He was at once offered an important position with the Thompson-Houston company in Boston to take dictation direct upon the typewriter, but he preferred to stay general work with the railroad company. Mr. Barnum, who is not yet 25, is a nephew of A. G. Waittmore, esq., of Burlington.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

E. D. Nash, Train Master of the Rutland Division—Railroad Matters at Watfield.

General Superintendent Ross of the Central Vermont railroad has issued the following circular: Mr. E. D. Nash, in addition to his present duties, is hereby appointed train master of the Rutland division. Appointment to take effect April 1, 1891. He will have immediate charge of all train movements, including engines and freights, the making up of all trains, the transfer of freight and will assume all duties incident thereto.

Our Watfield correspondent writes: "A very enthusiastic railroad meeting was held at hotel hall on Thursday evening to hear the report of the delegates at Rutland March 29. The delegates reported that the road seemed feasible. A town meeting is to be called in the near future to see if the town will vote to raise the required money."

Another Bridge Across the St. Lawrence to be Built.

The latest rumor comes from Kingston, in form of a dispatch, to the effect that the New York Central Railroad company intends to bridge the river St. Lawrence at a point between Kingston and Wells Island. It is said that another scheme which the New York Central company has in view is to build a bridge across the St. Lawrence river from Hogsburgh, N. Y., to Cornwall and from there run a line to the Saint Lawrence, also that the company have been granted funds to enable them to build this road. As Cornwall Island, pretty well occupied by a bridge, could probably be built across the St. Lawrence there is no doubt that at any other point.

The Canadian Pacific Gains Entrance to New York Over the New York Central. The Canadian Pacific is now a full-fledged trunk line out of New York. According to a New York dispatch, Mr. Van Horn, General Manager of the New York Central, has been granted a right-of-way by the New York Central railroad to the Canadian Pacific line at the point of the New York Central bridge, which will be built across the river St. Lawrence there is no doubt that at any other point.

Mr. Boley, assistant roadmaster of the Central Vermont railroad, has been appointed roadmaster of the Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain railroad, in place of Mr. Leach, deceased.

The Delaware and Hudson company expects to complete the double-tracking of the road from Genesee to Whitehall, so as to have everything in shape for use when the summer trains will be put on in June.

Frederic Dewey, who has been train master of the Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain railroad, resigned to accept a confidential position in the office of the vice-president of the New York and New England railroad.

It is now a certainty according to the Malone, N. Y., Palladium that a direct connection of the Northern Adirondack railroad will be made with the New York Central system. Mr. Hurd has already sent engineers at work locating a route from Tupper Lake, and the Central has also put a corps of engineers in the field at Poland, who will work northward looking out a route to the Northern Adirondack railroad.
