Stock complete for the season.

"Opening Days."

Opening brought out a crowd as usual and as usual all were well paid. Stock this season larger and handsomer than ever.

"What Was Said."

As far as we know all agreed that "The Old Hee Hive" shows the best line in the city.

"What We Say."

We control the same manufacturers' garments that built up and made the garment department the largest and best known in the State. Customers come here from great distances every season to purchase. There are good reasons for it. We carry the best styles. They fit the best, are the most stylish and most durable. All this counts and gives us an advantage over our dealers.

The Kind We Sell.

We don't advertise bargains in garments. Our manufacturers don't make the kind that are sold as bargains. We deal in reliable, stylish goods. The most reliable and most stylish made in the country. Ladies' styles for themselves, misses and children can both find and buy them here and less than elsewhere.

This Season.

Our stock better than ever. It has become quite the thing to buy ready made suits. Our stock has been pronounced the best in town. We believe it for the reason that we have already sold nearly as many as we sold all last season. This tells the story better than anything else.

Waists.

Stock for the season complete. We opened the Waist Season February 15th. Many things sold out and duplicates already made. A usual we were the first in the field. Prices from 49 cents to $1.75. We and $1.17 are leaders. The Old Hee Hive. You'll find them elsewhere.

P. S.—We invite all to visit our Cloak Department. It's the largest and best.

The country roads are in a bad condition now, a condition due in some part to the negligence of town road commissioners who, instead of shovelling a driveway through the deep drifts, are waiting for the sun to melt them. Monday the Hinesburgh stage got stuck near the Jeham place in South Burlington. The only damage done was a broken even, but it caused a delay of half an hour.

News has been received of the death of Timothy P. Strong, which occurred at Fond Du Lac, Wis., last Wednesday. He was born in this city in 1840 and had lived in Wisconsin since his 11th year. Burlington has long felt the need of a feed mill and the well-known firm of Jones & Isham have decided to enlarge their business by putting a mill for grinding feed into their new building on Main street, using electricity for power. An order has already been given for a 25-horse power motor and mill that will grind from one to three tons of grain per hour. Mr. Jones' long experience as a miller in the West will be sufficient guarantee that their work will be promptly and satisfactorily done.

A drummer whose vision had been temporarily impaired from some cause that should not be possible in a prohibition state was standing on the west side of Church street between College and Main streets, yesterday, when his gaze rested on C. H. Powers' iron covered building. The traveling man laughed so heartily he fell on his back. The drummer, who was with him inquired the cause of his hilarity. The reply was: "Look at that tin house over there."

Nothing has yet been heard of W. C. McCausland, who told his wife March 28 he was going to St. Albans. His nearest creditor is Mr. E. P. Shaw, who occupied an office with him in the Hotel Burlington block. Mr. Shaw had loaned him money at various times, but some of it had been repaid until the amount was reduced to about $100. Mr. McCausland had collected $100 for the Connecticut Building and Loan association, but neglected to turn it over before his sudden departure. Secretary Linn was in the city Thursday to look the matter up.

The Burlington & Lamotte train Friday morning carried a number of Burlingtonians to Underhill, Cambridge and Jeffersonville. The train was stopped at Cambridge and it went to Jeffersonville. They stopped at the Melody House and after an excellent dinner they returned to Burlington.

A snow storm prevailed all day and when the party took the train for Burlington at 6:30 o'clock the flakes were falling so fast it was almost impossible to see across the street. Jeffersonville, where there was not only no storm Friday, but the snow had almost entirely disappeared.

Now that the new city government has been inaugurated there can be no harm in referring to an incident of election day in which a local clergyman, who took a prominent part in the campaign, figured for reasons which undoubtedly seemed sufficient to himself for mayor whose prime was given on the ballots but wrote the name of a well-known republican lawyer. When the returns were printed in the Free Press the next morning he was surprised that his candidate's name did not appear and that he had been quietly but he failed to mark his ballot properly and an election officer in the ward where the church was located made one ballot on which the voter had written a name for mayor was thrown out because he failed to make a cross opposite the name. The voter was very positive that he had not neglected the requirement of the law and it was not until the boxes were opened the other day, prepared to destroy the returning of the ballots, and his ballot shown him that he acknowledged its illegality.

MEDICAL COLLEGE NOTES.

J. H. Buffum, one of the junior class and of the '96 class of the academic department, while at work upon a cadaver recently, lacerated his finger with a scalpel, which was followed by blood poisoning. He returned to his home in East Dorset and a few days ago the report reached the college that the disease was rapidly overcoming him and he had died. The report was unfounded. A subsequent telegram refuted the report and states that while Mr. Buffum has been quite sick since reaching home, he has not been so dangerously sick, and at the present time is convalescent.

George Roberts, vice-president of the graduating class, is confined to the house with a gripe.

The class in laboratory histology numbers about 110, and has been divided into three divisions for laboratory work.

WIFE OF REV. CHARLES H. PARKHURST.
She Tells How Paine's Celery Compound Has Benefited the Famous New York Preacher.

Dr. Parkhurst's best aid in his untiring crusade against crime in the metropolis is his wife.

In looking after her husband's health, Mrs. Parkhurst is doing more than all the members of the women's campaign. "Am I worried about the doctor?" says Mrs. Parkhurst. "Not at all. I feel that he is tired, but he recuperates, and I never try to hinder him from a piece of work, because I feel he will have the strength for it. My greatest pleasure is in helping him to carry out his ideal." Mrs. Parkhurst wrote Wells & Richardson Company, January 22, 1896.

Dr. Parkhurst has used Paine's celery compound for two weeks with beneficial results. It has helped to keep him up while very tired. April days have a druggist, on January 23, said: "I am sure the Paine's celery compound is doing Dr. Parkhurst good. I am under obligation to Mrs. Parkhurst for bringing it to our notice."

If it were possible to reproduce in cold type the emphatic tone in which men and women from every part of the United States speak and write of Paine's celery compound, not a word more would be needed.

Unfortunately, when published in the stereotyped pages of a daily paper, these enthusiastic letters can't help losing part of their earnest, persuasive character. Paine's celery compound is not one of the many sarsaparillas or nervines that make to make themselves public, as far as their mere names go, but without making themselves known to suffering people by actual use. Paine's celery compound has been used and enthusiastically recommended by the most judicious, considerate, careful men and women in every city in the United States, as an absolute cure for nervous debility and exhaustion, neuritis, atrophies, melancholia, hysteria, headache, dyspepsia, rheumatism, kidney trouble, and all blood diseases. It is the best spring remedy in the world.

Take Paine's celery compound in the "celery" and "bitter" April days have a stronger heart of hope about them than any other days of the year. Now is the season appointed by Nature herself for new growths, and a casting-off of the old parts that have served their purpose, and are outworn and diseased. That terrible throbbing of the heart, the neuralgia, the headache, the leaden weight over the eyes and in the forehead of the head, need only Paine's celery compound to vanish forever.

Paine's celery compound has come legitimately by its present tremendous reputation, as an invigorator, nerve-regulator, blood-restorer, and body-recuperator. There is nothing experimental about it. No remedy in existence ever received such emphatic and plain spoken testimonials from sick, ailing, tired, and run-down men and women.

It is no half-way cure that is attempted by Paine's celery compound, but a clean sweep of every trace of neuralgia, rheumatism, constipation, headache, dyspepsia, and blood impurity from the system.

Take Paine's celery compound in the "celery" and "bitter" April days have a stronger heart of hope about them than

CLOSING AN ADMINISTRATION.

Reception by Mayor Van Patten to the Mayor and Aldermen Elect.

About 60 gentlemen who have served the city in some capacity during Mayor Van Patten's two administrations gathered at his residence on Pearl street, Saturday evening at a reception tendered to the mayor and aldermen-elect. It was an informal affair, affording an opportunity for the new officials to get acquainted with the mayor and aldermen-elect. The guests were received by Mayor and Mrs. Van Patten and three of the retiring aldermen assisted in making the company feel at home. At 9:30 refreshments were served. Mrs. Van Patten presiding at the table. The gathering broke up with many expressions of good wishes for Mayor Van Patten's continued health and prosperity in returning to private life.

A BURLINGTON BUSINESS MAN.

Mr. M. Abraham, who commenced the manufacture of cigars and opened a retail cigar and tobacco store in Burlington seven years ago this month, has perfected arrangements for the opening of a similar business on a larger scale in New York. Mr. Abraham has built up an enviable reputation while here, his excellent brand of cigars are well and favorably known and his trade is a large one. The Burlington store and factory will be continued as now. The Albany store will be fitted up in elegant style that is expected will outdo anything of a similar kind in that city. Mr. Abraham will divide his time between the two places.

DONE UP BY MRS. DUNN.

A Special Police Victim of His Wife's

"If I were done up I were done, then 'twere well it were done quickly." Thus spoke Shakespeare 400 years ago and also Mrs. Policeman William Dunn yesterday afternoon when she proceeded to "do up" her better half, but it was only stopped by the intervention of the sheriff. Mrs. Dunn bears a rather unsavory reputation as a "scraper" and the scurrilous she had with her hubby yesterday afternoon was by no means the first. About 3 o'clock she was telling her husband some stories she had heard about him and he told her to shut up. Then her ire rose and she picked up a chair and went for him.

After they had a couple of rounds of the chair, new tactics were adopted and she went at him with a knife, fork and a pair of scissors successively, but each time he disarmed her and once he got a good grip on her neck, held her under a faucet to let the water cool her off, but it didn't. She next went at him with her finger nails and from the way the policeman's face is distorted with red stripes, running in every direction, the trouble must have been a hot one. The sheriff arrived during the finger nail fight and escorted her to Justice Davis' office, who fined her $10 and costs. There was a previous case against her which she hadn't paid up, and for which her husband had gone jail. This last affair broke the camel's back, however, for he withdrew his bail and she was forced to settle up that case also. Everybody who knows Mr. Dunn knows that he doesn't look like a hen-pecked husband, in his earlier days he was a well-to-do man, the grace of an Adonis. Mrs. Dunn also tips the beam at about 175 but it is evident that what she lacks in avoidability is amply made up in temper, and that a phrenologist would diagnose her lump of combativeness as "hot stuff."
