MAN'S BODY CUT IN TWO.

Freight Cars at Winooski Killed Theophile Menard.

Aged Man Was Deaf and Could Not Hear Shouts of Warning—Accident Occurred Nearly Opposite Railway Station.

Theophile Menard, aged 74 years, was run over and instantly killed, by a section of a freight train in the railroad yard at Winooski about 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Menard, who was deaf, was crossing the tracks at the Malletts Bay avenue crossing, at a point almost opposite the station, when four cars of freight train No. 48, which were shifted from the main line to a siding, struck him, knocking him down and passing over his body at the time, cutting the leg in two and also severing the left arm just above the elbow. The body was dragged a distance of about 50 feet before the cars were stopped.

Station Agent Beauregard, Engineer Pouchard and Conductor Patrick Free, as well as several others, who were near the station, saw the danger as the old man approached and called to him loudly, but he paid no attention. The cars were so close to the man that no one had an opportunity to save him. Mr. Beauregard stated that only Tuesday he pulled the old man out of harm's way as a train bore down on him.

Selectman D. J. Greeney was called and after viewing the remains ordered them removed to the undertaking rooms of A. E. Clark, where they were prepared for burial.

The dead man resided at 25 Railroad street and was a blacksmith but for the past few years he had not worked. Formerly he resided at Stanbridge, P. Q., coming to Winooski about two years ago. Mr. Menard had been married twice, his first wife dying about 30 years ago. Four children by the first marriage survive. Mrs. Joseph Cadus of St. Hyacinthe, P. Q., Francis Menard of Central Falls, Mass., Theophile and Henry Menard of Stanbridge, P. Q. Mr. Menard was married a second time in Canada. His second wife and five children survive him. They are Mrs. Jennie L'Eauyer, Misses Augustine, Albertine, Joseph and Irene all of this village. The arrangements for the funeral were not completed last evening.
