Vermont Notes

Harold E. Somerville, who has been the night editor of the Free Press since January 1, 1911, has resigned his position and is succeeded by Frank L. Freeman, who has been on the local staff of the paper for the last year and a half.

Charles Bowles, original American Red Cross Advocate. With His Distinguished Wife Had Lived in Seclusion in Rutland—$15,000 Offered for Pitcher Ray Fisher.

Charles Bowles, whose death occurred Monday in Rutland one month after that of his wife, was the original representative of the United States at the Geneva convention when the Red Cross work of the world was initiated. It is said that few people in Rutland realized the prominence of Mr. Bowles and his wife, who lived in partial seclusion.

After the Civil War Mr. Bowles founded an international banking house, known as Bowles Brothers & Co., with offices in New York, Boston, London, Paris and Geneva, and conducted its vast interests in behalf of the Red Cross cause.

POLICE FIND MEN.

Wanted in Bristol and Turned over to Authorities. Officer Miles rounded up yesterday afternoon two men who were wanted by the police in Bristol. Chief of Police Russell received a card from George S. Parr, deputy chief at Bristol, stating that Frank Yount, alias Frank Wilkinson, who was wanted in Bristol on an assault charge, a man, whose name was not given but whose clothing and personal appearance was minutely described, who left with him, the deputy also asked to have him held if found.

Yount was on duty on his boat on Church street, where his picture had been seen at the office, and conducted him to the police office. The man maintained that he was innocent and that for some reason would have to be made to him for some reason. Later the police were successful in finding the other man, whose name was given as Harry Ferguson. The men were locked up at the county jail and the police at Bristol notified Deputy Parr with another officer made the trip to Bristol in an automobile, returning with their men yesterday afternoon.

LAKE MAIL SERVICE.

Burlington Business Men Ask That It Be Re-established. At a meeting of the Burlington Association of Credit Men, held last evening at the rooms of the Merchants' association, action was taken toward the re-establishment of the delivery of mails by the steamer of the Champlain Transportation company to Plattsburgh, Port Kent and this city.

Resolved by the members of the Burlington Association of Credit Men to present at a special meeting held July 21, 1910, that: Whereas the United States postal authorities have discontinued the delivery of mails to Plattsburgh, Port Kent and Burlington by Lake Champlain steamers, which has very much discommodated the business of the city, it is the sense of the association that the carrying of mails by the steamer on Lake Champlain should be restored, and the secretary-treasurer is also directed to forward a copy of this resolution to the postmaster-general with a request that he reconsider his decision in the matter and renew the contract with the Lake Champlain Transportation company, which has been in effect and of great service to patrons of the postoffice for over 50 years.

Another important step taken at the meeting was the changing of the name of the association from the Burlington Association of Credit Men to the Vermont Association of Credit Men. This was done after considering all points of the question. The association already has members from other parts of the State than Burlington and it is expected that many others will take advantage of the opportunity to join such an organization, which is affiliated with the National association. By the way, the secretary of the association were also read and adopted.

CITY COURT CASES.

Ira Carpenter Fined for Intoxication after Larceny Charge is Dropped. In city court yesterday morning the case against Ira Carpenter, charged with taking $15 from Joseph Kitchener, was postponed. State's Attorney Hopkins indicated upon investigation that sufficient evidence for trial was lacking. The man was, however, retained on a charge of intoxication and was found guilty of a third offense, for which he was fined $5 and costs of $6.75, with an alternative sentence of 30 days in the county jail. The sentence was suspended and Carpenter made arrangements to pay his costs in advance. Fred Mator appeared in answer to the charge of violation of the license and was found guilty. He was fined one dollar and costs of $5.25, with an alternative sentence of 15 days in jail if paid.

In the afternoon Alexander Milgrom, whose place of business on Battery street was successfully raided by the police Saturday night, appeared in court and was sentenced to serve not less than six months nor more than eight months at the house of correction at Rutland. In April when the woman lived at 29 Cherry street, her phone was raised and intoxicated, but she made her own arrangements for a lawyer and was found guilty. He was fined one dollar and costs of $5.25, with an alternative sentence of 15 days in jail if paid.

Three Badly Hurt in Runaway. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Gould of Ludlow and Merritt Edson of Chester were seriously injured Tuesday afternoon when their carriage was overturned at the railroad station at Chester. The horse became frightened and in crossing the railroad track overturned the vehicle.

Was Best Liked Boy. Holden Parrot of Montpelier has received the fraternity cup which was presented at the close of the school year at the Boardman Military Institute for friendship and loyalty in athletics. The boy at the close of the school year, and if there is any dissenting vote the cup cannot be awarded.

Aid for Vermont Youth. University of Vermont to Assist Boys to Obtain Higher Education. The University of Vermont is desirous of assisting the youth of Vermont in completing their education. This is made possible through a special endorsement known as the Juddville fund. The opportunity thus afforded will be doubt be accepted by many Vermont youths.

Waiting for Somebody. In sitting up for some one, For some one who is late, His bed time's half past seven, And it's nearly half past eight, Half past nine I hear him coming, And very soon I'll know, What I missed by not attending, The muffin-pretzel show.

Forgery Charged. Robert Dale Said to Have Given Worthless Check. Robert Dale, who has been living at the Elmwood a short time past, was placed under arrest yesterday on the charge of forging a check to the amount of $300 on the Bridgeport Trust company of Bridgeport, Conn. The check was made payable to Dale and signed by the Herald Printing company, C. M. Allen, manager. It was returned as not good.

Curious Condensations. The albatross is the largest of sea birds. Greyhounds belong to one of the oldest kinds of dogs. General Joffe never has less than 20 officers working with him at headquarters. Light takes eight minutes and 33 seconds to travel from the sun to the earth.

Passing Thoughts. A psychological moment is the one that most of us fail to recognize. A man would never wish to be a boy again if there were the remotest possibility that the wish could be granted. A study of faces in the audience at an amateur entertainment leads one to believe that most of those present would rather have paid for the privilege of remaining away.

A Modest Request. Karl Fred Bundy answered the telephone. An excited woman was on the line. "Is this the New York Railway?" she asked. "Yes, madam." "Is the general manager there?" "This is his office, madam." "Well, you know how warm it is this morning, and then how terribly cold it turned shortly afterward?" "Yes, madam." "Well, my daughter Ned went downtown early this morning and she wears only a light waist and a skirt. You know how the general keep the car windows open in the summer time, and I'm afraid she'll catch her death of cold coming home. Can't you issue an order to have all the car windows closed today?"
