BRATTLEBORO AHEAD

Windham County Town Likely to Win Pennant for Sale of Seals The returns so far received from the towns and cities in the State from the sale of Christmas seals by the school children have not, as yet, been tallied. Tuberculosis association seem to indicate that Brattleboro will win the pennant to be awarded to the town making the greatest per capita sale.

Harold W. Slocum, secretary of the Vermont Tuberculosis Association, stated yesterday in a Free Press representative that Brattleboro, with a total sale of $17.20, was leading in the race for the pennant. In 1917, Brattleboro, with a total sale of $47, and a per capita sale of 6.75, won the pennant by a narrow margin over Bennington, whose per capita sale was 7.00. Bennington has not made complete returns this year, but preliminary reports from that town seem to indicate that it will not equal its 1917 record. Last year the pennant went to St. Johnsbury with a sale of $29, but the complete returns from that place for 1920 show a considerable drop from that figure. Rutland seems to be the only city which has made a complete report, with $69, showing a decline in sales this year of 400 over those of last year.

In previous years it has been the custom to send out letters containing seals to people in the State, with the idea that they would be sold to the school children for them, or if they did not feel like contributing to the project, to return the seals. This method, while very effective, entailed considerable expense. This year the idea was to let the school children sell the seals themselves.

The association believes that if the children have fully impressed on their minds the dangers of this dreadful disease, and the proper methods to use in guarding against it, they will use precautions against contracting tuberculosis.

HANLON FOUND GUILTY

City Court Scene of Hard Fought Liquor Case, Following Seizure City Court yesterday passed the verdict in a hard-fought case of the State vs. Theodore Hanlon, who was charged on the 18th of December with keeping and exposing intoxicating liquor with the intent to sell. The sensation of the afternoon came when, after all the testimony had been introduced and the witness stand had been made, the State's attorney, Charles E. Black, representing the respondent, immediately took exception to these statements and asked the court to set aside the verdict if these facts were so, and could have been proved, they would have been introduced as evidence.

Hanlon was found guilty by the court of the charge and was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, with costs, or in default of the fine and costs were not paid to serve the alternative sentence of 300 days in the House of Correction at Windsor. The sentence was stayed until the Supreme Court of Vermont decides on the exceptions taken. Hanlon was then placed under bail of $500, pending the decision of the Supreme Court.

Two witnesses, Sheriff James H. Allen and Edward J. Lockwood, a member of the federal prohibition enforcement crew, were the only witnesses called by the State. Sheriff Allen told of conducting the search at Hanlon's home, 32 Intervale avenue, and finding 16 bottles of liquor. According to the sheriff's testimony, the liquor was in a trunk that was locked and upon Hanlon's return to his home he found Sheriff Allen and Lockwood, who accompanied the sheriff on the search. At that time the sheriff stated that he had found a bottle that contained a small amount of alcohol which a woman said was used for bathing purposes.
