DOINGS OF A RED HOT TOWN.

Tom and Jerry is now the great drink among nearly all the business men of the city.

Theodor Borup left yesterday on a flying trip to Junction City. He will return on Saturday.

Chris Hehl has partitioned off his his sample room, and placed therein several gaming tables.

Johnny Dance, has charge of A. J. Maxwell's health office, and is kept busily engaged in mixing hot drinks this cold weather.

Ladies dressed in male attire are frequently seen parading up and down Main street. Miles City is full of changes and such things.

Col. Jas. Rosborough, the gentlemanly proprietor of the Merchants hotel, who has been very sick, was reported better last night.

The handsome photographs of Mrs. Langton are now in this city. They were sent to Mrs. Gordon, by a very near friend of the lady herself, and are highly appreciated.

Mr. Charles Lewis, who has been traveling through this territory with a fine company of performers, will arrive here shortly and give a few choice entertainments.

Mr. Miller, a partner of Doc Zohl, arrived in town yesterday, from his camp on the Little Sheep Mountains. He says that in the last six weeks he has poisoned 350 wolves and taken about 200 buffalo hides.

B. Mason, of the Powder river merchant, is in town and stocking up with goods for his store. He will shortly go into partnership with Mr. Douglass, who has for some time been book-keeper for Leighton, Jordan & Co, this city.

H. H. Mund, of the new banking house of Stebbins, Mund & Co., will leave for his home in Billings, to-day. During his visit here, he has made many warm friends, and will doubtless find that his bank will be appreciated in this city.

L. J. Reedy, formerly clerk in Leighton, Jordan & Co's, has returned from Deadwood, after an absence of six months. He looks hale and hearty as ever, and has the general appearance of having had plenty to eat, while sojourning in that city.

Capt. Butler says that the soldiers who deserted with the two deserters, mention of which has been in the JOURNAL recently, have been captured, and were taken to Keogh. It seems now that the guards were overpowered and had to accompany the deserters.

John Davis, of the United States signal service, from Bozeman, is at the Inter-Ocean. While in the city he is making arrangements for a mother-in-law. Women always were scarce in Bozeman, and we consider he has taken a wise step in coming to Miles City to make a selection.

B. F. Tenbroek, better known as "Sandy," was on the streets yesterday, with his faithful horse Patsy Boliver. This is the noted war horse on which "Sandy" carried the United States mail from Fort Laramie to Deadwood during the summer of 1876, at the time that the country was alive with hostile Sioux Indians. He is now well cared for by his owner.

A Sociable.

Mr. and Mrs. Cahn and daughters will give a pound sociable at their residence on Tuesday evening, Dec. 19th. All are invited, but at the same time should not fail to bring a pound of something, more or less valuable, from a pound of rice up to a pound of diamonds, the proceeds to go towards the building fund of the Presbyterian church.

Claiming Their Rights.

As an old saying is, dog fights make quarrels among men. Yesterday, while a great many of our citizens were at the depot awaiting the arrival of the eastern train, a well known painter and his dog made their appearance on the platform. The herder for Guthrie & Ming came along and the sheep dog that followed him made an attack on the painter's, but they were soon separated by his (the painter's) No. 14. This the herder took for abuse and at once attacked the man who handles the brush, and at that time the reporter thought he would have the pleasure of penning a Sullivan-Ryan fight; but in the end it was all talk and no fight.

The Russell Case.

DEADWOOD, Dec. 7th, 1882.

EDITOR DAILY YELLOWSTONE JOURNAL:

DEAR SIR:—I have just seen an article in the Montana papers the miners publish at Butte. The article I will enclose. It is copied from your paper, and the account of my brother's murder is so erroneous and unjust, that I feel compelled to write to you and ask to have the testimonies given at the inquest published in your paper, so that justice may be done to his memory, and his relations that are living. It pains me to be writing about the dreadful murder, but I feel that something should be done. I trust you will have the correct account published, a copy of which I now enclose. Yours truly,
M. R. RUSSELL.

"We regret the necessity of publishing the particular of the shooting affair in which James D. Russell, one of our prominent citizens, came to his death at the hands of G. A. McArthur. It would seem that the parties had some business dealings over which they quarrelled. From what we can learn Russell had advanced money to McArthur to clear off the indebtedness on his business on condition that he should each evening turn over the receipts to Russell's clerk until such time as the amount was paid. McArthur, failing to comply with his part of the agreement, Russell took charge of the business. On Thursday evening they had some high words on this subject, and on Friday afternoon they met at Matt Rademaker's billiard parlor, where they commenced the quarrel which, according to the evidence given at the inquest, resulted in McArthur shooting Russell three or four times, so that he died almost instantaneously. McArthur was arrested immediately after the occurrence, and was yesterday morning taken to Miles City. Fears were at one time entertained that he would be lynched, but the vigilant officers prevented this additional crime. A grand jury was at once summoned, who returned a verdict that J. D. Russell came to his death by pistol shot wounds in the hands of G. A. McArthur, and that the act was committed wilfully, feloniously and unjustifiably. The deceased was well and favorably known, not only here but in the Black Hills, where he was in business for some years. He leaves a wife, who has the sympathy of the entire community, to mourn his untimely end. Altogether, the affair and its sad conclusion are most lamentable. It is the first death by violence that has occurred in Billings, and we hope it will be the last. Too much cannot be said against this practice of carrying firearms. No necessity can be pleaded for it, and the results are such affairs as this, which plunge a whole community into the deepest gloom.

Hunter's Hot Springs.

HUNTER'S SPRINGS, M. T., December 10, 1882.

EDITOR DAILY YELLOWSTONE JOURNAL:

DEAR SIR:—It has been reported by some one down the line, and at Miles City, that in the event of any party buying lots and building a hotel at my place, that I, having the water, would put the price of baths up so that my house would control and monopolize the hotel business. Such an idea is false. I have a hotel, and it is for sale, and the price of baths shall be equal and the same. I care not how many hotels are put up. The reason I wish to sell is I am getting old and don't want the trouble and labor of a hotel. I will also rent to the purchaser the bath houses and water for one year, or I will lease one of the springs for a term of years, and there is water enough in one of the springs to bathe twenty thousand persons per day.
Respectfully,
A. J. HUNTER.

Wants.

A situation for a lady in a hotel or private family, to do general housework, apply at the Metropolitan lodging house. 50-52

The Weather.

We don't intend to say anything about sunshine, balmy breezes, blooming flowers, and singing birds in this article. We won't refer to the "banana belt" or "orange groves," or the delightfully warm, mild and salubrious climate of Dakota. We don't want to be hard on one subject all the time. Our readers will begin to think we have nothing but climate if we don't quit talking about it. Every know we never have any cold or disagreeable weather in Montana, and what is the use in talking about it all the time? We don't see any people out on the streets to-day—business is so brisk that they can't leave home.

Stolen Stock Recovered.

John Lynch, of Rosebud, who advertised stolen horses last week in the JOURNAL, received news yesterday that his horses were found near Park City. They were stolen by Crow Indians, and were taken out of the Indian herd at the above place. Thus by investing a few dollars in advertising, he had the good fortune to find his stock.

Kittie wishes to announce that she will give a grand supper to-morrow evening, on the occasion of the reopening of the well known house, "27" Good music will be furnished. 49-50

PERSONAL POINTS.

Lieut. Grimes, of the United States signal corps, is visiting at Fort Keogh.

J. B. Bradden, who holds justice court at Junction, left for his home yesterday.

The familiar face of A. Keyes, the well known contractor, is again seen on our streets.

County Treasurer W. W. Carland is still in St. Paul, and was registered Monday at the Merchants.

B. Mason, from Powder river, and in western language a rustler from "away back," tarries at the Merchants.

Davis, a telegraph operator at Bozeman, has been summoned to appear at Fort Keogh as a witness in various cases.

Robert McKee, from Billings, who is authority for the statement that Miles City is a lively city, took his departure yesterday.

C. E. Wilson, foreman for Pratt & Ferris cattle company; of Fort McKinney, Wyoming, is in the city, stopping at the Inter-Ocean.

Hon. J. B. Hubbell, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Custer County, will remain in St. Paul until the 10th of the present month.

C. E. Foote, at one time a newspaper writer in this city, and who left the Yellowstone valley under a cloud, is now at Fargo, reporting for the Argus.

J. R. King, an old timer from what was formerly known as Coulson, now East Billings, passed through the city yesterday, en route for the above point.

C. W. Savage returned from the east yesterday, where he has been purchasing heavy for the holiday trade. He reports Miles City as being the liveliest town on the road.

W. H. Cotant, the good-natured foreman for Scott & Hanks, cattle men, of Upper Tongue river, is stopping at the Inter-Ocean. Billy is one of the boys, and knows how to amuse any one, either in town or on a cow ranch.

A. K. Yerkes, a newspaper man of wide experience, was a passenger on yesterday's west bound train. He goes to Bozeman, to accept a position on the editorial staff of the Weekly Chronicle, soon to be issued in that town.

George Bohon, who is well known in this city and along the line of the Northern Pacific railroad as the rustling Pioneer Press man, has severed his connection with that paper and gone into the real estate business at Fargo.
