CITY ITEMS

The postoffice at Forsythe was burned Monday night.

All election bets herabouts have been paid, or will be to-day.

Several fine sleighs were seen on the streets yesterday, drawn by swift and sure-footed horses.

The girl who goes to church merely to show her scalak in saque is looked upon as saucereligious.

Chas. A. Archer has been appointed night watchman, and was last night religiously performing his duty.

T. B. Burleigh has his hardware store all nicely fixed up, and with the large stock of goods therein he is drawing much trade.

The pleasant jingle of the sleighs going to Cahn's party last night enlivened the cool and bracing air for a number of hours.

Oxley, the agent of the London & Globe Fire Insurance company, has received a large number of calendars, which he will distribute gratuitously to all who will call.

Capt. Kriedler left last night for Forsythe to see a Mr. Uppercoe, whose wife telegraphed the Captain that he was quite low with a complication of diseases and not expected to live.

Diamond R. Lumber and Manufacturing Co. filed articles of incorporation December 11, 1882, in the office of the secretary of Montana. Incorporators, Louis C. Currier, Louis B. Hubbell. Place of business, Miles City, M. T.

The members of Yellowstone lodge, A. F. & A. M. are notified that the annual election of officers will be held at Union hall Saturday evening, the 23d inst., at seven o'clock. A full attendance is required.
E. A. KRIEDLER, W. M.

George Trishman and James Alexander, well known by all the old-timers in this city, who came down from Fort Custer a few days ago, have bought enough goods to supply all the citizens at the post. They leave this afternoon. They have already secured several draymen to haul their outfit to the depot.

David Doucett is canvassing the city to make arrangements with our business men and citizens in general for the planting of cottonwood trees on each side of our streets. This is a good move, and we hope our citizens will subscribe liberally, as we could make the city equal to Salt Lake City for ornamental shade trees.

A new and valuable acquisition to Custer county is being organized in the shape of a cattle company. The capital stock of which it is reported is $1,100,000. Quite a number of cattle have been bought, and some very fine ranches can be built with that sum. The range will be on Clear Creek, and will be utilized to its head waters in the Sheep Mountains.

C. W. Wilson, a brother of Wilson, the rancher, from Eureka valley, has entered into a contract with Mr. E. Williams to carry the mail from this city to Williams' ranch, up the Yellowstone. Mr. Williams put in the lowest bid; his opponent, W. H. Watson, of Buell, being the next lowest bidder. The contract, however, is only for letters directed to Williams and Wilson, and therefore we can expect our friend, T. J. Thompson, in the city every week for the WEEKLY JOURNAL.

Dead by the Bullet.
A man by the name of Wm. Buckley was accidentally shot in a railroad camp a few miles beyond Livingston, on last Sunday night, by Jas. Emerson, well known in this city, and at one time foreman for Hugh Benn when Benn's freight outfit was employed by Broadwater, Hubbell & Co. It seems some disturbance occurred in the camp over some trifling affair, and during the excitement a six-shooter was accidentally discharged, the ball taking effect below the unfortunate man's eye and came out on the left side of his neck. The wound did not seem to be fatal at the time, and he was put on the first east-bound train to be taken to the post hospital at Fort Keogh. He lived up to within a few hours of this city, when death relieved him of his sufferings. The corpse was brought to this city and placed in charge of Undertaker Remond. Buckley was from Illinois, and was about forty-three years of age, and had been following grading on the Northern Pacific road, and was highly spoken of by all who knew him.

WINTER WORK.

Continuous Progress of the Northern Pacific.

The advance of winter in no perceptible degree serves to check railroad building in Montana. The Northern Pacific continues in the field with large forces of men, and grading and track laying are going ahead east and west on the converging ends. Strong bodies of graders are assaulting the Belt Range, west of the Yellowstone, and every hour of the twenty-four is utilized in pushing the work over the divide. Huge fires blaze on the mountain sides, lighting up the busy scene of operations at night time, and pick and shovel, blast and barrow, are kept employed by gangs of scores and hundreds without a moment's stop or intermission. The steel railed track, parting from the Yellowstone, which it has followed in one unbroken stretch of 300 miles, is now surmounting the most formidable barrier on the entire road, and in a fortnight or three weeks at most will have reached the valley of the Gallatin and sighted the Three Forks of the Missouri. Every effort is being put forth to finish up the several cuts and fills on the range, towards which the track layers are marching at the rate of a mile a day. By New Year's day the whistle of the locomotive will be within hearing distance of Bozeman, and before the first month of 1883 is gone construction trains will be landing rails and other building material at and west of there. November and December have been exceptionally moderate, and should the weather continue as favorable as experienced thus far, we may expect a complete track to Gallatin in February and to Helena in June. From the west, with progress continued as now, Missouli will be reached by March and the western side of the Main Range before the end of June. It is perhaps possible to make the continental connection by July 4th, but the meeting of the two ends we place at a little later day, and the place which will witness the important event, will likely enough be the summit of the Rocky Mountains, fifteen miles west of Helena.—Helena Herald.

School Meeting.

The trustees of school district No. 1 met at their office last night, the full board being present. On motion, the school at Pumpkin creek was ordered discontinued after December 22nd, as the superintendent of public instruction recommended that it be closed by reason of the small attendance, there being but five scholars in regular attendance.

On motion, C. G. Cox was elected chairman. The following bills were presented by the clerk and ordered paid:

W. A. Burleigh, Jr. $59 05
A. C. Logan 9 92
Miles & Strevell 3 50
Henry L. White 2 00

On motion the salary of the female teachers was increased to $75 per month, and the salaries allowed for the month of December, to wit:

A. C. Logan $100 00
Miss Bessie McElrath 75 00
Miss Bettie Connell 75 00
Miss Flanigan 75 00

On motion, the teachers were instructed to close their schools on Friday, December 22nd and to re-open Tuesday, January 2nd. By reason of the small amount of school monies on hand it was not deemed advisable to rent any more school rooms for the present, and the principal of the school was ordered to refuse admission to all children under six years of age. The board then adjourned sine die.

PERSONAL POINTS.

J. Thompson, who is one of Rosebud's heavy cattle owners, is at the Inter-Ocean.

Dr. Girard returned yesterday from a pleasure and business trip up the Yellowstone valley.

Warren Carpenter, a heavy real estate boomer from Mandan, Dakota, was in the city yesterday.

Jerry Crimmins, of Junction City, is making his regular weekly visit to the city. Why is this thusly?

J. Walker, a California 49er, and the heaviest sheep owner on the upper Yellowstone, is registered at the Grand Central.

W. B. Andrews, of the firm of W. B. Andrews & Co., druggists, went east yesterday, to spend the holidays among relatives.

W. C. Graham and wife came in from Tongue river yesterday and autographed at the Inter-Ocean. Mr. Graham is a member of the extensive sheep firm of Foster & Graham.

H. R. Lyons, formerly cashier of the Second National bank of St. Paul, but now cashier of the First National bank of Mandan, Dakota, passed through the city yesterday on his way home from Bozeman, whither he had been on a business trip.

Yellowstone Lodge No. 26.

Yesterday, Worshipful Master E. A. Kriedler received the charter from the Grand Lodge of Montana territory for the new lodge recently established here, which will hereafter be known as the Yellowstone Lodge No. 26. This lodge is the first one in the Yellowstone valley, and is officered by the original eight charter members which are E. A. Kriedler, W. M. J. Barteman, S. W. Dr. Davis, J. W. Kenneth Price, S. W. Chas. A. Archer, J. D. Louis Taylor, secretary, and Fred Butcher, treasurer.

Another in the Field.

Johnny Hinein has opened his sample rooms on the corner of Bridge and Park street. He handles none but the choicest brands of liquors and cigars, and consequently is already having a big run. Johnny is an expert in mixing drinks, and to be convinced go there and try him. His brand of liquors and cigars are a treat that anyone should appreciate in this country.

MURDER ON THE TETO.

Albert Hunt Shot and Killed on the Prairie—The Deed Supposed to Have Been Done by a Band of Horse Thieves.

The River Press of Tuesday, December 12, says: Chas. Richton came into town yesterday morning and brought the news that his partner, Albert Hunt, had been found on the prairie dead, with two bullet holes in him. Mr. Richton gave the following account to a reporter: Some three weeks ago Richton & Hunt, who are engaged in the sheep business on the Teton, about forty-five miles from Benton on the Old Agency road, missed five of their horses, and after searching for them on the range they generally run on, came to the conclusion that they had strayed or been driven off. Sixteen days ago Mr. Hunt announced his intention of making an extended and thorough search for them and started out, saying that he would be gone at least a week if he did not find them before. But when ten days had elapsed Mr. Richton became uneasy at his continued absence and sent his man out to look for him. He visited Twenty-eight Mile Springs and then Lake Station. At the lake he was told that horse thieves had been around, and had had a little affair with two of the Montana Cattle Company's herders who had caught them trying to get away with some horses. The thieves had fired at the herders, who were unarmed, and had run them into the station. It was said that they had a large number of horses with them.

From here the man went to the Sun river, where, after telling his story, he was told his best show to find the missing man was to make towards the hills. He started across the country on Saturday last, in the direction of Teton, and when about twelve miles from home, near what is called Grass Lake, came on the dead body of Mr. Hunt. The horse the man was riding took fright at the sight, and jumping, fell forward on its breast, nearly unseating his rider, and in regaining its feet started like mad for home. It was all the man could do to hold him. He rode directly to the ranch and informed Mr. Richton, who immediately got a wagon and went after the remains of poor Hunt. Upon reaching the place an examination showed that he had been shot twice, once in the stomach and again in the thigh. The mare which he had ridden was found about a quarter of a mile from the spot, in the direction of the ranch, cold and stiff, with two bullet holes in her.

From the appearance of the bodies of the man and horse it was evident they had been dead for some time, and the supposition is that he had met the horse thieves on the first day after leaving home, that they had the animals he was hunting, and on his attempting to take them they had very deliberately killed him for the sake of the horses and to prevent him from giving them away. It is supposed that after he was shot from his horse the animal started on a run for home, and that as its appearance without its rider would give the alarm, it was followed and killed, thus giving them a chance to get a long start before their fiendish deed was discovered.

Mr. Richton took the body of his unfortunate partner home and immediately started for town and notified the authorities. Coroner Kelly left yesterday for the ranch to hold the inquest. He was accompanied by Jeff Tabert, whom, we believe, went as deputy sheriff to look up the case. The murderers, however, must have two weeks start, and are doubtless long ere this in Her Majesty's dominions. The chances are not very favorable for their discovery and conviction.

Mr. Hunt was a young man only 28 years of age, and bore a most excellent reputation. He was just getting a good start in life, and recently sent for his aged father and mother, who arrived from Nebraska about two weeks before their boy met his sad and untimely fate, and the tragedy will bear heavily upon them.
