If Mr. Bennett proposes to spend $50,000 advertising the New York Herald, he should remember that the YELLOWSTONE JOURNAL, is an excellent medium.

Two emigrant cars attached to a freight engine, pulled through town about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, which were loaded down with families returning from the Pacific Coast.

The Livingston Daily Enterprise has, for some days past, been issuing a six page paper, well filled with live paying advertisements, and good newsy matter. Surely Messrs Wright & Hendry are rustlers, and doing lots for their town. All they now need to make the Enterprise a "real" paper is to get the Associated Press franchise, and then they can control the whole upper Yellowstone country, even unto and into the city of Bozeman.

The performance of Prof. Martin last night at Brown's hall, was fairly attended and was received with much satisfaction. His sleight of hand performances were excellent, and the wonder of the evening. The Professor will give one more performance to-night, and we can assure our readers that they will be more than pleased to see him. This is no clap-trap performance but one that possess genuine merit. We hope a better attendance to-night will be accorded him.

Curstoves will be here this week. We had to wait to get the new styles. We have bought a very heavy stock and will close them out at a very low price.

The Value of Willow Wood.

On account of its comparative incombustibility, the willow is eminently useful for the floors of buildings designed to be fire-proof. It grows to a large size and furnishes a great amount of lumber. There is a white willow growing at Stockbridge, Mass., which, from its feet from the ground measures twenty-two feet in circumference, and extends its branches fifty feet in elevation. Tradition says it was brought from Connecticut in 1807 by a traveler, who used it as a riding switch. The Hon. Jesse W. Fell, in giving an account of experiments in tree planting on an extensive scale in Illinois, says: "Were I called upon to designate a tree which, more than all others, I could recommend for general planting, I would say, unhesitatingly, it should be the white willow." Prof. Brewster says: "In England, where it is often fifty or sixty feet high in twenty years, there is no wood in greater demand than good willow. It is light, very tough, soft, takes a good finish, will bear more pounding and knocks than any other wood grown there, and is used for cricket bats, for floats to paddle wheels of steamers, and brake blocks on cars. It is used extensively for tarring, planing, coasting vessel furniture, ox yokes, wooden legs, shoe lasts," etc. Fuller says: "It grows incredibly fast, it being a by-word that the profit by willows will buy a cow or a horse before that by other trees will pay for a saddle." The basket willow, well cultivated, will yield a net income of $150 a year to the acre. On the whole, therefore, it would seem that the various kinds of willow, the economic value of which has been hitherto entirely overlooked in this country, are eminently deserving of attention, and will amply reward those who cultivate them. -Popular Science Monthly.
