The space occupied in the postoffice by Richmond is for rent. Apply to John McAusland.

George C. Randolph, city attorney of Butte, suicided on Saturday last. No cause is assigned for the rash act and the unfortunate man left no word or message.

Yesterday's west bound train arrived at 7:30 and the vicinity of the depot reminded one of a great railroad junction. Two freight trains and a crowd of visitors made things lively.

Maj. Borchardt, in an advertisement on our first page announces some rare bargains in gents' furnishings, clothing, etc. These goods are first class and will be sold extremely low.

It is a good rule to accept only such medicines as are known to be worthy of confidence. It has been the experience of thousands that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine ever used for throat and lung diseases.

Jas. Harn, a Tongue river rancher, was in town yesterday and states that anticipating a flood he has moved his family to a place of safety back some half a mile from the site of his home.

The west bound train of Sunday afternoon, thirty-six hours late, was received by a large number of city residents, who were tempted by the reasonable hour and balmy air to take an airing.

The visitors to the public school entertainment last evening were delighted by the successful rendition of the programme in commemoration of Longfellow's natal day.

Lost.
A gold ring with a small, white stone set. The finder will receive a liberal reward by leaving the same at this office.

"Coming events cast their shadows before," and the number of high water boots encasing the lower limbs of male and female yesterday evinced a desire to be found prepared for the flood when it does appear.

The failure of the Billings firm of H. Clark & Co., seems to have been brought about by a desire on the part of the head of the firm to drop the reident partner and Manager, Tom Hanlon, in which scheme they will doubtless be successful. H. Clark & Co. are adepts in that line and an objectional man does not long continue an associate after they have resolved to get rid of him. That firm once did business here and A. H. Bertrand was let out in a similar manner.

C. C. Gates, one of the pioneer settlers of Miles and some four years ago holding the office of county assessor of Custer county, was in the city yesterday for the first time in nearly two years. Cass was well entertained but was obliged to make his visit a brief one and returned on yesterday evening's train to his present location at Hathaway.

W. Modesty Carter arrived in town Tuesday from the ranch on Red Water. He says judging from the amount of riding he has done and the cattle seen while riding that the loss will be heavy on the other side of the divide. He has all Texas steers on the range and his loss will not be as heavy as his neighbors. Willie is too modest to give an estimate of the loss.—Glendive Independent.

In Justice Birkle's court yesterday the case of the Territory vs. Gumpel was on trial, and the jury brought in a verdict of $5 and costs. Milburn for the prosecution and C. R. Middleton for the defense. Gumpel and Bloomer had a row Sunday forenoon and a regular set-to followed, first one and then the other getting the worse of the combat but finally Bloomer retired from the field decidedly the worse conditioned of the twain.

Word was received by Lute Dear yesterday that his elegant homestead in the valley near Forsyth had been invaded by cattle during the winter and that the house itself was packed and jammed with dead cattle which had attempted to enter the shack for protection and warmth and had died there. Lute is very anxious over the prospects of his prairie dog herd being lamentably deficient, and thinks the calf round-up will show but a poor increase.

Spring and Summer Suitings.
Call at I. Orschel & Bro. and inspect samples of the finest line of spring and summer suitings ever displayed in this city. At the prices put on them you can afford to wear a custom-made suit almost as cheap as a ready-made one, securing in the former a perfect fit and elegant make-up.

The legislature performed some good work yesterday. Council bill No. 45, the municipal corporation act, which has been anxiously watched by the residents of this part of the territory, was put on its final passage in the council and carried. In the house the Sunday law, contrary to general opinion was passed. The relief resolution for J. X. Beldier passed the house, appropriating $2,500 in recognition of the services rendered the territory in early days by the irrepressible X.

Ten Dollars Reward.
If the party who took my buffalo robe from the sleigh at the Presbyterian church on Thursday night will return the same to the YELLOWSTONE JOURNAL office any time during the coming week, he will receive a reward of ten dollars and no questions will be asked or further steps taken in the matter. F. A. LISK.

One Overshoe and a shirt.
Edmond Butler incidentally visited his rooms at an unusual hour yesterday afternoon and ran across a full-fledged specimen of the genus scamp helping himself to such wearing apparel as happened to be convenient. Ed believes in the wide open policy and seldom or never locks the door to his apartments during daily absence but was somewhat amazed to see the scamp helping himself to the goods and chattels amassed by perseverance and hard work, so rather indignantly demanded his instant relinquishment of the same, not, however, before the scamp had signified a desire to carry some coal which happened to be at the foot of the stairs up to Ed's room for a slight remuneration. Ed having recovered the red flannel undershirt and lone overshoe, took the offender in tow and delivered him to the custody of Constable Carr, who promptly transported him to the jail. Complaint was made against the light-fingered gentleman and he will doubtless receive his just deserts.

Worked by the Chinook.
All day Sunday and yesterday the glorious chinook with unabated vigor has been undoing the work of the ice king and under its warm influence the snow has disappeared as if by magic. Dripping eaves and slushy streets give evidence of the good work performed and the hill tops loom up black and rugged, a strong contrast to the appearance presented during two long, cold months. Our stock men smiling; our merchants likewise. At the risk of a set back we cannot refrain from the third and last call, springtime has surely come gentle Annie. Viewing the Yellowstone yesterday, it was discovered that the snow had all melted upon its broad course and pools of water warmed by the sun's rays were slowly but surely working the destruction of the icy fetters which have enchained its turbulent waters for so long a time. On the Tongue the same state of affairs was observable. Telegrams received yesterday announced the breaking up of the Yellowstone in the vicinity of Livingston, and as Tongue river is solid as far as heard from the Yellowstone may go out first, and then good bye all fears of a flood. We feel for the high water boot owners in such event, but they can find plenty of exercise in the mammoth pond which flashes back the morning sun in front of this office.

The Station Agents' Association.
A large number of the station agents employed by the numerous railroad companies operating throughout the territory, arrived in Helena yesterday morning for the purpose of forming a state division of the National Station Agents' Association of the United States, a meeting of which had been called to meet in this city, February 25th at 3 p. m. At the appointed time the meeting was called to order in the parlors of the Grand Central hotel by J. H. Williams, of Townsend, who, after stating the object and benefits of the organization, proposed that the officers to serve for the ensuing year be nominated and elected, which was accordingly done, and the positions were filled by the following named gentlemen, viz:
President—G. F. Carpenter, of Billings.
Vice President—J. I. Woodrige, of Avon.
Secretary and Treasurer—J. H. Williams, of Townsend.

The association will be known as the Montana Division of the Station Agents' of the United States, and is somewhat similar to the Locomotive and Firemen's association. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Helena (owing to the central location) on the third Saturday of February, 1888, at which time new applications for membership will be considered and general matters attended to.—Helena Independent.

Cupid's Arrow.
One of the first indications of the gentler and more refined growth of civilization in a young community is the acquisition of works of art, and in this direction we are glad to note that Miles City is slowly but surely developing. We have among us quite a number of amateur connoisseurs in painting, none of whom, however, exhibit better taste or more enthusiasm in the enjoyment of their hobby than Mr. E. J. Chapin. He is ever on the alert for any gem that is within his reach, either physically or peculiarly, and it was this mastering passion that led him yesterday to become the possessor of a bijou canvas that had just been received from the east by Abe LeRoy, himself a devotee to the art. The consideration that induced Mr. LeRoy to part with the picture has not been made public, but it must have been a considerable sum, as it is the most perfect of its kind that we have ever seen, and having just added it to his gallery it is reasonable to suppose that its full value or more must have been paid before he would be induced to part with it. The picture is a dainty little gem, about twelve by fourteen inches, entitled "Cupid's Arrow." The subject is most effectively handled by the artist (whose name we did not learn) and represents a rosy little cupid, arrow in hand, tripping gaily away from four young maidens, who are in hot pursuit of him, eager to be transfixed by the arrow, which pleases the little God of Love coyly denies them. The flesh tints on Cupid are superb and counterfeit nature so closely as to cause an enthusiast to go wild with pleasure; the four maidens, though slightly in the background, are clearly and effectively brought out by a thoroughly artistic perspective, that permits them to be shown as clearly in the act of pursuit, while the expression of their faces—no two alike—but all consumed with anxiety lest the prize should not fall to them, is indeed a study which has been most elaborately and successfully handled by the artist. That such a choice work of art should be in the possession of a citizen of our town is a matter for congratulation by us all; and when it is added that Mr. Chapin has kindly consented to place it on exhibition for a few days, at his residence on Pleasant street, we feel that the acme of good fortune has been reached. In order to avoid a too continuous demand on his time, Mr. Chapin has set the hours of exhibition at from 2 till 4 o'clock every afternoon until further notice, at which hours a strong north light is had in his gallery, and "Cupid's Arrow," as well as other valuable pictures in his collection, may be seen to best advantage. Mr. Chapin's residence is No. 46 West Pleasant street, where, at the hours named, he will be pleased to receive all who like himself are admirers of fine art.

Useful and Hurtful Medicines.
There is a certain class of remedies for constipation absolutely useless. These are bulbus and pelions made in great part of podophyllin, aloes, rhubarb, gamboge, and other worthless ingredients. The damage they do to the stomachs of those who use them is incalculable. They evacuate the bowels it is true, but always do so violently and profusely, and beside, grip the bowels. Their effect is to weaken both them and the stomach.

Better far to use the agreeable and salutary aperient, Hostetter's St. Mach Bitters, the laxative effect of which is never preceded by pain, or accompanied by a convulsive, violent action of the bowels. On the contrary it invigorates those organs, the stomach and the entire system. As a means of curing and preventing malarial fevers, no medicine can compare with it, and it remedies nervous debility, rheumatism, kidney and bladder inactivity, and other inorganic ailments.
