ENBEZZLING CLERKS

One Takes the Pistol Route and the Other Pulls His Freight for Parts Unknown.

A Terrible Explosion from Natural Gas in Columbus, O., Causes Great Loss of Life.

Two Defaulting Clerks.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—B. P. Hutchinson, or "Old Hut," has again been robbed and one of his settling clerks in the board of trade is now across the line in Toronto, an embezzler of an amount ranging anywhere from $25,000. Hutchinson is not the only victim. W. R. Dickinson & Co., another firm on the same floor with him in the board building, had a clerk in their employ who, it is alleged, was in the conspiracy and Mr. Dickinson is loser of an amount which is estimated at from $7,000 to $15,000. His clerk, like Hutchinson's, has also taken to his heels and Mr. Dickinson says they are now together in Toronto. The revelation did not come till yesterday. Last Tuesday afternoon Dickinson's missing clerk, Bert King, complained he was ill and went home about the same hour that Hutchinson's clerk, who is only known as Stoner, also became a victim of a very severe attack of la grippe and he left, ostensibly for home. That was the last of them. They did not go home. Yesterday the exposure came. Dickinson, who had implicit faith in King, and had given full charge of the books, made an examination to his surprise and consternation. The books were mutilated so bad that everything was chaos and thousands of dollars were missing. Just how much Mr. Dickinson could not say, but an examination shows the deficit for one month alone to be $2,500. The reports of the defalcation spread with great rapidity and Hutchinson himself could not be found, having gone to his room and locked himself in. Dickinson said the old gentleman had been bled pretty freely and the big trader's losses would probably exceed his (Dickinson's) three or four times over. The stealing has been going on for some time, and until the accounts of both firms are settled there is no way of arriving at the exact amount. The plan of operation was simplicity itself. Stoner, Hutchinson's clerk, made out the clerk's slip which passed through the board of trade clearing house in the regular way. This slip was made out to Dickinson's firm as payee, and represented the sum said to have been lost by Hutchinson in the market. The slip after it passed the clearing house fell into the hands of Bert King, who stood in with Stoner, and the checks were cashed, the division being made at the end of each month.

A Terrible Explosion.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 24.—A few minutes past 5 o'clock an alarm of fire from box 33 at the corner of High and Main street called the fire department out. A crowd rushed to the scene of fire. An explosion had occurred in a one-story dwelling at the southeast corner of Wall street and Noble alley at the middle of the square bounded by High and Front and Main and Mound streets. Patrol No. 1 was on the street but no rope was stretched. The people crowded by hundreds into the narrow alley and pushed up close to the house. The fire was almost under control when another terrific explosion rent the air. A sheet of flame burst from the building at the northwest corner of Wall street and Noble alley. A great mass of bricks, beams and stone that thirty seconds before consisted a two-story brick building were flying with terrific force through the air then dived with death. The scene that followed was terrible. People ran shrieking in all directions, while the alley was instantly covered with a mass of debris from which means of buried men came. The explosion, as near as ascertained, resulted from natural gas in the cellar of that house occupied by Michael Bowers and Mr. Marrot. No natural gas pipes were ever put into that house, but the cause was the natural gas main in Noble alley, which leaked; the ground was frozen and the gas in seeking its way out, entered the cellar. It has no scent and its presence could not be detected. The force of explosion in Marrot's and Bowers' houses took a westerly and northerly direction and scattered bricks and lumber for a distance of twenty feet. The side of Marrot's house was blown out and the roof, freed of its support, fell over.

The exploded vapor, after doing its terrible work on the south side of Noble alley leaped over to the north side of the alley and completely destroyed a house at 34 west Noble occupied by Edward Otstot and Mr. James. This house is similarly constructed, being one and a half stories high, with three rooms down and upstairs. Here the terrible force of the gas was shown. Everything was blown to chips. A force of men in a week could not reduce a house to kindling wood so quickly as the explosion in one short moment. The explosion was upwards as bricks, doors, windows, ashes, etc., were piled in heaps about the building and only a dozen feet from it. The house shot up and fell back as do sparks from a rocket. It parted in two myriads of pieces. The work of getting out the dead and caring for the wounded is attended with great excitement. The killed are Chas. Becht, barber; Seymour, a colored boy, Mrs. P. Marrot, an unknown man and an unknown babe. Six persons were killed and thirty injured.

Short in His Accounts.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Word was received in this city this afternoon that Geo. Lounsbury, who was cashier of the postoffice in this city, had shot himself at his home in Hackensack, N. J. Investigation also developed the fact that his accounts were short to the amount of $20,000. He had been away from duty for three days, and this morning he sent a telegram to Postmaster Vaneott, stating he was confined to his house by illness and would sit up to his duties as soon as he got better. It was then that investigation was put on foot and the discovery made that $20,000 were gone. Shortly after the discovery came the news that Lounsbury had committed suicide by shooting himself through the temple. He was thirty years of age and married, and besides his salary as cashier of the postoffice, he had an income of $5,000 from his feed store in Hackensack.

"Davy Crockett."

In our advertising columns appears the announcement of the appearance of Mr. Frank Mayo at the Rink Opera House on Thursday, Feb. 6th, in his interesting play of "Davy Crockett." A number of our people have doubtless seen this wonderful creation and do not need to be told what it is, but for the information of those who have not we are glad to be able to say that as rendered by Frank Mayo, it is one of the most perfect stage illusions, and as far removed from the ordinary play as one can imagine. It is a delightful backwoods poem, which to be appreciated needs to be seen. Both the play and the actor are entitled to the largest patronage that Miles City can bestow.

A Brutal Assault.

Last night about half past ten o'clock as Mr. Buxmann was walking along Main street near Rhode's he was assaulted by four soldiers, who, without any provocation whatever, knocked him down and bruised him severely about the head and face. The assault occupied but a few minutes, and when the attention of persons near by was attracted, the assailants made themselves scarce, one of them taking with him Mr. Buxmann's fur cap. Special Police Officer Blanck was quickly on the trail, and with a few citizens tracked the offenders to a Park street saloon, where they were all arrested, but in taking them to the jail one of them got away, the other three being safely landed in the cooler. The one who got away is known and will be arrested to-day. The assault was brutal in the extreme and totally without provocation, as Mr. Buxmann is well known to all to be a most quiet and unoffending citizen.

A SCARE AT DEER LODGE.

A Surplus of Convicts and a Paucity of Accommodation.

Helena Independent: Marshal Geo. W. Irvine, II., came over from Butte yesterday but not to steer a rump senatorial campaign. He is on more important business. He says that unless legislative action to provide an appropriation for the Deer Lodge penitentiary is soon taken the situation will become very serious. The penitentiary which was given by the national government to the state can comfortably accommodate 144 convicts. There are now 191 convicts in the institution and in weak log structures on the grounds. They are guarded by fourteen men. The prisoners confined in the log buildings are only partially confined. Ordinary padlocks are used to close the doors, as there is nothing more available and the construction of the building is alarmingly weak. If a revolt occurred the consequences might prove serious. But this is not the worst of the situation. The number of convicts increase almost daily. Instead of holding convicted men back until the end of the term of court as was formerly the case they are sent forward to the penitentiary as soon as convicted. The marshal estimates that the number of convicts in the penitentiary will be increased to 550 at the end of sixty days. Now what is to be done with these men? There is not a dollar to be used to provide further quarters. The marshal has sufficient money to take care of the men, but there is nothing on hand for any other purpose. He is, in addition, deprived of the annual government appropriation of $2,500. The only way by which proper accommodation of the convicts can be secured is through an appropriation from the legislature. The money can be secured through no other channel. Now then will the men elected to serve the state get down to business, get together and adjust this matter, or are citizens of Deer Lodge to live under the increasing danger of losing their lives and property and having town looted by a lot of desperate convicts? The marshal consulted with Gov. Tole yesterday. They are unanimous in the belief that the situation at Deer Lodge demands immediate attention in order to avert serious results.

AFTERNOON PROCEEDINGS.

Court opened at 2 p. m.

The grand jury came into court at 3 p. m. and reported as follows:

Your Honor—The grand jury beg leave to submit the following report:

We have visited the county jail and find it in fair sanitary condition, and the prisoners reasonably contented.

The sewer pipes communicating with the jail, should, in the judgment of this jury, be thoroughly overhauled.

We notice that many cases of trespass are tried as state offenses, thereby throwing the expense upon the people of the county instead of upon the corporation where it belongs.

We have examined a few fully executed cases brought before us, the results of which we herewith hand you.

Thanking the court for courtesies extended during our labors.

Respectfully,
WM. HARMON,
Foreman.
