The Army and Navy Journal says that Lieutenant William A. Phillips, of the Twenty-second Infantry, now stationed at Fort Keogh, is detailed as professor of military science and tactics at Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., to take effect July 1st, to relieve Lieut. George O. Cress, Fourth Cav., who on being so relieved, will proceed to join his troop. Lieut. Phillips will report in person at the college June 15th.

Manager Butler desires to call the attention of the ball players to the fact that he expects all of the regular men to note that there is a practice every night, and all should take enough interest in the game to be on hand. Half a dozen usually attend these meetings, and they cannot carry a hard game through without the support of the balance of the team. Practice makes perfect, and all should bear this in mind.

Petty Pilfering.

Last night the officers made another round up of tramps along the railroad track in the city limits, and succeeded in taking in five, who gave their names as Thomas Reddy, John Carroll, Peter Lux, James Burk and Dan O'Brien. This morning they were arraigned before Magistrate Gibb, and each had an excuse peculiar to his own condition, but they were taxed $10 and costs each, and will assist in cleaning up the streets for a few days.

During the examination of O'Brien he disclosed the particulars of a petty robbery which had not before been reported to the police. He said in substance that on Monday he fell in with a well-dressed stranger and they concluded to go to the Black Hills together. They got pretty well intoxicated, and O'Brien took the stranger to bed with him in the section house. When they arrived at the room, they found an occupant in the bed, and while O'Brien aroused him, the other fellow stole something over four dollars out of his pantaloons, making his escape.

O'Brien then hunted him up, and their meeting was ascribed as the cause of the bullet hole through O'Brien's arm, mention of which is made elsewhere.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

A Miles City Gentleman Distinguishes Himself Oratorically.

At Helena on Tuesday the grand lodge of the Knights of Pythias of Montana met in ninth annual session at the auditorium. The hall had been beautifully decorated and arranged for the convenience of the officers and members. Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Jacob Leach called the public session to order at nine o'clock, and after a few felicitous remarks introduced Mayor John C. Curtin, who welcomed the visitors in a neat speech.

After the applause which followed Mayor Curtin's address had subsided, T. J. Porter, of Miles City, delegate from the Crusader lodge, made the following response:

Mayor Curtin: In behalf of the Knights here assembled and the lodge which they represent, I would express to you their thanks for the kindly welcome to us. The official welcome you extended confirms and emphasizes the chivalric hospitality of our brother Knights of Helena and their friends already bestowed upon us since we entered your city's gates. Their reception committee has met the several delegations as they have arrived with cheering greetings, and have entertained them in the spirit of knightly hospitality.

Our entrance into your beautiful city and our stay here affords us pleasure. The object that meets the eye from the grandeur of the mountains and valley that surrounds your queenly city, the substantial buildings and manifold evidences of your city's stability and prosperity, the beautiful residences and grounds and your banks and places of business all conspire to call forth from the visitor the wish that peace and prosperity may ever abide within the walls of the Queen City of the Rockies. The history of Helena from the days of Last Chance gulch to the present time of electric cars and metropolitan improvements and the prospect of your future make us ready to say that while it is not competent under the laws of our order to carry the banner "Helena for the capital" still we unanimously declare that Helena is a capital city.

We assemble here as delegates from the thirty three lodges of this state to constitute the ninth grand lodge of the jurisdiction of Montana. Like the late legislature of Montana, we come to your city to legislate for the welfare of our state, but unlike the famous legislature, we propose to enact the laws that are necessary for the advancement of our order throughout this state. Like that legislature, we are expected to elect some officers, but unlike that same legislature we will not adjourn until we have elected a person to every office that needs an incumbent.

We have heard that the streets of your city contain considerable admixture of gold, and under the exhilarating effects of the delightful sunshine that floats down upon this locality we already feel that we are taking a preliminary walk over golden streets, and we trust that our stay here will in some measure accompany us to that kind of streets and that finally with you and all the residents of your city, we may be permitted ultimately to meet and walk the streets that are really golden. For the pleasant words you have addressed to us I again express to you the sincere thanks of these knights and the grand lodge of Montana.

Delegate Porter's remarks were frequently interrupted by applause. At 10 o'clock the grand lodge was called to order by Grand Chancellor Chas. S. Whitney. The morning session was devoted to the reception of delegates and the reading of reports. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $2,612.14. The afternoon session was devoted to the presentation of resolutions. At five o'clock the officers and members went out to the Broadwater where many took a did in the plunge, and all the visitors were photographed in a group.

Pigeon Pushers.

At the pigeon shooting last night the usual rivalry as to the best shots on the grounds led to considerable talk, and finally Skew Johnson and Elmer Batchelor became interested in it. The result was that Skew and Will Savage were matched to shoot at fifty clay pigeons, for $50 a side, at some day, to be mutually agreed upon, in the near future. Mr. Batchelor backing Will, while Skew remained faithful to his own accuracy of aim.

Both of the contestants will go into practice at once, as both are crack shots, and have made many excellent scores at the trap.

Tramps' Tricks.

After the raid on the tramps last night they were searched at the jail, and it was discovered that one of them who gave the name of Thomas O'Brien, had been shot through the left wrist. He was quite reticent about the transaction, but the story was finally pumped out of him. It seems that he and another tramp, whose name could not be learned, became involved in a difficulty near the water tank early yesterday morning, but O'Brien declined to state the cause of the wrangle; hot words were exchanged and the other fellow pulled out a .38-caliber revolver, and turned it loose. The ball entered O'Brien's wrist just above the joint, passing between the bones, and inflicting a flesh wound. He did not have it dressed, simply tying a handkerchief around it, and pays no attention whatever to the injury.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. John Wright, Druggist.

Cannot Be Suspended.

As there has been considerable talk in this section regarding the Chinese law and the probability of extension of the time of registration under the Geary act, the following from a Washington correspondent will be of interest:

Carlisle received many telegrams today asking for the suspension of the operation of the law for at least six months. The best opinion obtainable on the subject in the treasury department is that the law is explicit on the point, having set May 5, as the last day of registration could be made and, consequently, it is beyond the power, even of the president, to extend this limit. Among the telegrams received was one from the attorney of the Chinese Six Companies, who also ask for a suspension of the law. The treasury officials acquainted with the record of the Six Companies during the past three or four years, regard this request coming from them, as rather surprising in its cool assurance. These officials assert that, out of the 110,000 Chinese now in the United States probably one-third have come into the country illegally; that the Six Companies have persistently encouraged the violation of the law by furnishing transportation from China to this country to Chinamen supplying them with fraudulent certificates on arrival and taking collateral from them when they landed in the United States for money advanced for passage. In fact, the Six Companies, it is asserted, have practically mortgaged upon the labor of thousands of Chinese for years to come, and if they be now deported in accordance with the decision of the supreme court, the Six Companies will lose hundreds of thousands of dollars advanced by them to Chinese immigrants.

"Did you visit any of the fashionable people while you were in New York?" asked Major Yenger of his brother, Colonel Yenger, who had just returned to Houston from a trip to New York. "Yes, I called on our relatives, the Vanderclams, on Fifth avenue, and I've had the rheumatism ever since." "Treated you coolly, did they?" "I should say so. I felt precisely like I did when I was a clerk and was shut in a refrigerator by accident and had to stay there four hours."—Texas Sitings.

Tobacco Users Smile Sometimes. When told that tobacco hurts them; their wives never do, because shattered nerves, weak eyes, chronic catarrh and lost manhood tells the story. THE STERLING REMEDY CO., Indiana Mineral Springs, Indiana.

Danger! If you have a feeling of oppression and uneasiness a little above the diaphragm, and just below the right ribs, aggravated by lying on the right side, look out! As sure as fate, your liver is diseased. Perhaps not serious as yet, but -fatal hepatic abscesses are not uncommon. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the precise remedy to regulate the liver and to prevent its congestion and inflammation, and to disperse such minor indolence of its derangement as yellowness of the skin and ball of the eye, furrowed tongue, sourness of the breath, nausea on rising in the morning, dizziness, sick headache and constipation. By relaxing the bowels painlessly, it opens a channel of exit for the superfluous bile, checks a tendency to congestion and enlargement of the liver, at the same time giving a gentle impetus to its secretory action, and affords relief to the stomach, which is usually inactive, out of order and oppressed with wind when the bowels are costive. Use the Bitters also in fever and ague, rheumatism and kidney troubles.

A Million Friends.

A friend in need is a friend indeed and not less than one million people have found just such a friend in Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. If you have never used this great cough medicine, one trial will convince you that it has wonderful curative powers in all diseases of throat, chest and lungs. Each bottle is guaranteed to do all that is claimed or money will be refunded. Trial bottles free at John Wright's Drug store. Large bottles 50c and $1.
