THE DESPERADOES.

Rumors of All Kinds Concerning the Movement of Gross and Gay.

A Big Find in the Sub Cellar Under the Latter's Burned House at Castle.

LIVINGSTON, Montana, May 17.—The people of Castle are wild over the recent tragedy and all sorts of rumors are afloat about Gross and Gay. After the fight between the sheriff's posse and the desperadoes, in which Mackey received a mortal wound, the sheriff and his deputies went to Webster and Berry's ranch to stay that night. Word came to them that Gay and Gross had called at a rancher's for food and afterwards went to a ravine through which a creek flowed to the Musselshell river. Two men of the posse, Cook and Linton, tried to induce the sheriff to send out the posse, but the sheriff refused. Cook then went alone and laid on the rocks during the night and guarded the pass from the creek where it emptied into the Musselshell river, but the desperadoes did not go that way. Linton then went home on account of sickness in his family, and Cook, after vainly endeavoring to induce some one to go with him in pursuit, also gave up the chase and returned to Castle, where he arrived as the funeral of Mackey was in progress. The funeral services were conducted by Mrs. H. H. Barnes, the postmaster's wife, there being no minister in the camp. Mr. Boardman says that it was reported at Castle by telephone from Martinsdale that last Friday afternoon one of the desperadoes met a man on horseback, demanded the horse, and upon the owner's refusal to give the animal up he was shot dead, and the horse taken. When the funeral procession of Mackey was on the way to the burial ground last Monday a report was also circulated that one of the desperadoes had met a man near Red Lodge and killed him under similar circumstances, but all sorts of rumors are afloat, and neither of the above are credited.

Gay's residence in Castle was burned to the ground and a man resembling Gay was seen to leave the place and disappear over a hill back of the house. This person was shot at several times by the constable, but probably not hurt. Sunday morning after the fire a subcellar was discovered where Gay's house had stood, filled with plunder of various kinds. The house had been repeatedly searched, but the cellar escaped the attention of the searchers. Probably one thousand dollars worth of silks, satins, dress patterns of various kinds, and other plunder was found in the cellar. Most of these goods were stolen last winter from a Castle milliner, who identified her goods. Burglar tools were also found in the cellar, keys, saws, drills, sledges and two keys, ingeniously contrived, evidently intended to unlock jail doors with. The fire was of incendiary origin without doubt.

Sheriff O'Marr, is very much blamed for the escape of Gay and Gross, by the people of White Sulphur springs and Castle. Tuesday morning he left the springs by private conveyance for Townsend and there took the train east for Billings. It is supposed that he intends to guard the Yellowstone river and prevent Gross and Gay from crossing, and will enlist the services of Sheriff Ramsey, of Yellowstone county, in this undertaking. "At Castle it is said that Sheriff Deaton, of Fergus county, and ex-Sheriff Maurice Sullivan, now residing at Maiden, are both in pursuit of the desperadoes, who are evidently heading for the Big Horn mountains in Wyoming.

The families of Gross and Gay have been arrested on various charges and bound over in the sum $300 to the district court.

State Press Association.

ANAONDA, May 17. Gay hunting greeted the eyes and sweet music and pleasant words of greeting the ears of the members of the Montana State Press association in Anaconda today. The visitors were welcomed at the depot by Mayor Thornton, J. H. Durston of the Standard, L. O. Leonard of the Review, the local newspaper men and members of the Anaconda Typographical Union. Headed by the Boston and Montana First regiment military band the arrivals on the evening train from Butte marched to the Montana hotel and after handshaking was over sat down to dinner.

Twenty members were present at the business session in the evening presided over by President Quinn with Secretary Yorkes at his desk. Several names were proposed for membership and elected. President Quinn made a felicitous address and some routine business was accomplished. Adjournment was taken until seven-to-morrow evening and the members repaired to the parlors of the Montana where they met many pleasant people of the city. Dancing was indulged in and the band played choice selections. Later in the evening the visitors accepted the invitation of Mr. Durston to inspect the model plant of the Standard.

To-morrow a trip will be made to the great copper smelters and in the evening officers will be elected and a banquet tendered by the citizens of Anaconda and the local newspaper men, will be served at the Montana. Several more members are expected tomorrow.

Military Promotions.

WASHINGTON, May 17. The president has appointed Col. William P. Carlin of the Fourth United Infantry, to be brigadier general to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Brigadier General E. A. Carr. The president has also appointed Capt. William H. Hammer of the Twentieth Infantry to be paymaster in the army with the rank of major.

About Mills and Millers.

When man solved the question—"How did the milk get into the coconut?" may not have been long ago, but it was in very ancient time that man became a miller—that is, found out how to get at the inside of a wheat kernel and separate the flour from the bran. Handmills, with revolving burr-stones, were used in early biblical times, as appears from the many allusions to it in holy writ. At that time, woman did the world's menial work, and the fatigue of the milling methods was not considered. In later centuries, and among European nations, this labor fell on man, and he soon harnessed the wind, and then the waterfall to do his work. As commerce grew between nations, milling became a recognized industry, and an indispensable necessary one. The greatest milling center in the United States is Minneapolis, and no man engaged in milling is more widely known than Mr. Chas. A. Pillsbury, the managing head of the largest flour-milling plant in that city. The opinions of a man successful in his business must have weight, even about other things than milling. At the close of an interview in the Minneapolis Evening Tribune, Jan. 31st last, on business matters, Mr. Pillsbury said: "Another thing which gratified me on returning home, was the magnificent train service on the Burlington road. I found on the eastern roads a class of cars which the northwest had discarded years ago, and I found some new compartment cars on the Burlington which surpass in elegance anything I have seen in the world." For tickets, maps, time tables, etc., apply to any ticket agent of the Burlington route or connecting lines, or address W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

The Grand Central

Railroad station, Chicago, is being fitted up for hotel purposes during the world's fair. This magnificent fire proof structure located at the corner of Harrison street and Fifth avenue in the very heart of the city, will devote the 3rd, 4th and 5th floors to this purpose. It will be run on European plan; each room will have hot and cold water, electric lights and steam heated. The office and ladies' parlors, etc., will be located on the third floor and the building will be supplied with all modern conveniences. There will be from 100 to 200 rooms for guests.

This acquisition to the hotel facilities of Chicago will be appreciated by those who wish to be safely housed in a fire proof building, conveniently located itself. Those desiring accommodations can secure them by addressing Mr. T. P. Clifford, the manager, at Chicago. The hotel will be opened May 15th, 1893. The Grand Central station is the Chicago depot of the Northern Pacific railroad (Wisconsin Central division) and by taking that through car line to the world's fair city, visitors will avoid the discomfort of transfer of themselves and baggage through the city.

GOSSIP ABOUT MEN.

Governor Flower of New York and J. Sterling Morton spent their boyhood days in school together.

Cardinal Vaughan, the archbishop of Westminster, keeps himself in good physical condition by taking a 5-mile walk every day.

M. Godefroy Cavaignac is a reserved, cautious and even unpopular sort of man. Like President Carnot, he is a civil engineer by profession.

Judge R. R. Nelson of the United States district court of Minnesota is the only man on the district bench appointed before the civil war.

As a memorial to their father, Jay Gould's children are arranging to build a church at Treasury, N. Y., where the Wall street wizard was born.

Blaine was superstitious in regard to seven and believed that if he should outlive the completion of his ninth sever years he would recover. He did not.

Charles S. Hamlin of Massachusetts, who has been appointed one of the assistant secretaries of the treasury, is a distant connection of the family of Hannah Hamlin.

Mr. Olney is the sixth Bay State man to become attorney general of the United States. His predecessors were Theophilus Parsons, Levi Lincoln, Caleb Cushing, Ebenezer B. Hoar and Charles Devens.

The Duke of Argyll, who is the father-in-law of Queen Victoria's daughter, has no sense of humor whatever. He is an earnest writer and has contributed some profound essays to the British quarterly reviews.

The Hon. Philip Stanhope, recently sent to parliament from Berwick, is married to Countess Tolstol of Russia, who continues to use her own name, though she took his. He is a brother of the Earl of Stanhope.

ODDS AND ENDS.

It is computed that there is $41,000,000,000 in gold and silver at the bottom of the sea on the route between England and India.

The Languier ship canal in France by a short passage of 118 miles saves a sea voyage of 2,000 miles by the straits of Gibraltar.

The sounding board of pianos, the most important part of the instrument, is made of American spruce and is as carefully chosen as the wood for a violin.

It is asserted that waterproof sheets of paper gummed and hydraulically compressed make a material as durable as leather for the soles of shoes. It also makes serviceable horsehoes.

About $100,000 worth of pearls have been taken from the waters of Wisconsin streams during the last few years. Some single pearls obtained there have been estimated to be worth $1,000.

The headquarters for the sale of false hair is at Versailles. Twenty huge bales of Chinese human hair arrived there recently and will be manufactured into curls, frizzes and crimps for English ladies.

Too Much Boiled Down.

The effects of excessive condensation are abundantly exemplified in newspaper advertisements. Some one advertises this in an English journal: "For Sale—Airdale terrier dog, 2 years old; kill anything; very fond of children. Apply to ————

The World's Fair—What It Means.

It means that from May 1st until Oct. 21st there will be on exhibition in Chicago the triumphs of all the ages. The rarest and choicest specimens of the handiwork of man from the nations of the earth will be there to instruct and delight.

That for six months Chicago will be the most cosmopolitan spot on the globe. That the American people will have the wonderful opportunity of mingling with and observing the habits and characteristics of the people of every nation in the world.

That "villages" of the different foreign countries, constructed by and made up entirely of people direct from such countries, will be a most interesting feature of the fair.

That the American citizen, of whatever foreign birth or parentage, may carry himself back again to the land of his origin by visiting and studying these foreign "villages."

That a few days or weeks spent at the World's Fair will be worth years of travel.

That this is the grandest opportunity the American people have ever had for interesting study and pleasure, and that a trip to Chicago during the next six months will be the event of a lifetime.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway offers the best and most frequent train service from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Chicago. The only line lighting its trains by electricity. The most perfect dining service and the best sleeping cars in this country. Ask your agent for tickets via "The Milwaukee"—the Government's Fast Mail Line, or address
