A DEATH BLOW.

Vance Says Repeal Without a Substitute Meant the End of Silver Money.

The North Carolina Senator Makes a Strong Speech Against Repeal and For Free Silver.

WASHINGTON, September 1.—The Senate took up the bill to repeal the silver purchase clause of the Sherman act. Vance, of North Carolina, one of the minority members of the finance committee, spoke in opposition to the bill and in favor of free coinage. A large part of his speech was devoted to showing the inconsistency of the friends of repeal in both parties in view of the bi-metallic declarations of both national platforms. He quoted from these, commenting in an ironical strain on the way in which the pledges were being fulfilled. He said they seemed to think the only way to maintain the parity between gold and silver was to first strike silver a death blow. Unconditional repeal would be a death blow, for it was well known that Cleveland would veto any silver coinage bill. The effect on the condition of mankind following the destruction of half of the currency, aggregating seven and a half billion dollars, would be impossible to accurately describe.

He gave the history of demonetization of silver and declared that every government which had demonetized the white metal did so when it was at a premium. When coinage stopped in India the effort to have it stopped in the United States began, aided by the influence of the money power of all the world and our own government. If coinage were stopped here, silver would cease to live throughout commercial nations of the earth. The fall in price would be greater than that following the stoppage of coinage in India. Repeal without a substitute meant the end of silver money for this generation, unless a revolution of the people should restore it as after the fraudulent demonetization of 1873. Let no man doubt that the proposed repeal was the result of a conspiracy among the money holders of the world.

He declared the Sherman law did not drive out gold, else why did gold return with it still in force? The Democratic platform, he said, denounced the Sherman act as a cowardly make-shift, yet this bill for its repeal, striking silver a harder blow, was more cowardly and more of a make-shift. He closed with a declaration for the free coinage of silver.

Burned to Death.

MAIDEN ROCK, Wis., Sept. 1. Near Plum City the house of Wm. Lautz, occupied by Louis Hedine, was burned and a small child of Hedine's was burned to death. The mother was alone at the time. She started a fire in the stove, leaving it to burn while she went to milk the cow, a short distance away. When she was returning she discovered the house on fire. She managed to get the child, but it was so badly burned that it soon died.

The Wool Duty.

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 1.—The state wool growers association have adopted resolutions protesting against the removal of the duty on wool. The resolutions urge the wool growers of the United States to attend a mass meeting of growers, dealers, cotton planters, farmers and grangers organizations at the World's Fair, Chicago, September 28th and 29th, and the National Wool Growers' Association at the same place, October 5th.

Other parades are set for Tuesday and Thursday.

Will Try It Later.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Bland, chairman of the coinage committee, said today: "We shall at some time in the future present a bill for the free coinage of silver, but not until the excitement now prevailing subsides."

The Animals "Bored."

Several mankind are militant fanatics and fanatics of its own to answer for without being called upon to assume the responsibility of animal findings as well. An American author has discovered that domestic animals, such as cats or dogs, are not only subject to ennui, but also display their feelings under that affliction after very much the same fashion as their human friends, a fact which no one who has kept tame animals will be tempted to deny.

From this fact, our contemporary, The News, leaps to a perfectly unwarrantable conclusion and boldly asserts that one of the first, that mankind has invented is the least creation with its own particular degree and that it is civilization which produces ennui, not only in men, women and children, but even in cats and dogs. "We may well think," it continues, "when we think how man has demoralized the dog. We have taught the dog to be bored. We have corrupted him by our society." And again, "Ennui is one of man's many inventions, but he has taught the unprofitable vice to the domestic or at least to the household animals—puppies only to apt in evil."

Was ever so monstrous a charge leveled against our innocence! The next thing we shall be told is that we are the cause that dogs do bark and bite and that whatever may have been the morality of Dr. Watts his natural history is no better than his poetry. The News if it is so assured of the demoralizing influence it has exercised upon dogs, it welcome to blush for itself. We prefer to maintain that dogs sorrow under boredom for the same simple reason that they delight to bark and bite, "for 'tis their nature to."—London Spectator.

The Cost of Living in Boston.

A young man in Boston asks for a bill of fare "from Monday noon to Saturday noon, at a cost of $3 or less." This young man must be a humorist or a stranger in Boston. He can live for $3 for a week on fine, warranted beans, pork in moderation, Cambridgeport selected crackers, iced water. In fact this would be extravagance. Dio Lewis lived for a week or two on 2 cents' worth of beans and a cent's worth of vinegar, and we believe he always looked back to this period of his life with a feeling that he had been squandering money and living grossly. One portion of vinegar for two would have been enough and more than enough.

The Impurities of Frozen Water.

The popular idea that water is purified by freezing has been disproved by careful experiments, which show that the average amount of impurity retained by the ice is 34.3 per cent of organic matter and 21.2 per cent of inorganic matter. As organic matter is the more objectionable of the two, the case is worse than was formerly supposed.—New York Journal.

Few Pipes to Be Seen in Spain.

The tobacco pipe is never seen in Spain in use among the natives, nor are tobacco pipes to be purchased in any of the shops. Cigars and cigarettes manufactured in the government factories in Spain, or imported from Cuba or the Philippines, can alone be procured and are universally smoked by the people.

It Should be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay st., Sharpsburg Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of the grippe, when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cookport, Pa., claims that Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at John Wright's drug store.

Dramatic Taste in San Francisco.

A San Francisco audience will be much more amused by the manner in which the professor breaks down Mrs. Brooklyn Bridge's ceiling than it will over the splendid merriment of Sir Toby Belch, Sir Andrew Aguecheek and Malvolio. It is like the French audience, which is infinitely more amused by wit than by humor.

But comedy is not held in great favor here. The San Franciscans being the most pleasure loving of people, prefer tragedy. A good, old fashioned, blood spilling tragedy, where every one is killed in the last act, is highly approved of. If Edwin Forrest were alive today, he would count his most frantic admirers in the city by the Golden Gate.

Tragedy as he must have understood it—tragedy played with all the force of the lungs—tragedy where the murdered victim and the despairing suicide took half an hour to die and died acrobatically from the footlights to the door at the back of the stage—would meet with the heartiest approval here. The element in the theaters which loved and worshipped Forrest and his energetic methods is larger in San Francisco than in most cities of its size. It is not that the audiences here do not contain individual spectators of the highest artistic insight and cultivation, it is that the majority of the audience is formed of spectators whose taste in the drama is very much on the same lines as the taste in the drama of the gods in the gallery. The spectators of insignificant education and uncultivated taste are more numerous than the spectators of cultured mind and trained powers of appreciation, and the majority rules.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Why Not Be Fair?

If the Boston Post really thinks that a campaign of fair dealing and plain speaking is the best policy for all concerned, why does it not find the courage to state in its editorial columns the Chicago tariff plank just as it is, instead of as it wishes it were?—Boston Journal.

The World's Fair—What It Means.

It means that from May 1st until Oct. 31st there will be an exhibition in Chicago the triumphs of all the ages. The rarest and choicest specimens of the handiwork of man from the nations of the earth will be there to instruct and delight.

That for six months Chicago will be the most cosmopolitan spot on the globe. That the American people will have the wonderful opportunity of mingling with and observing the habits and characteristics of the people of every nation in the world.

That "villages" of the different foreign countries, constructed by and made up entirely of people direct from such countries, will be a most interesting feature of the fair.

That the American citizen, of whatever foreign birth or parentage, may carry himself back again to the land of his origin by visiting and studying these foreign "villages."

That a few days or weeks spent at the World's Fair will be worth years of travel.

That this is the grandest opportunity the American people have ever had for interesting study and pleasure, and that a trip to Chicago during the next six months would be the event of a lifetime.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway offers the best and most frequent train service from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Chicago. The only line lighting its trains by electricity.
