BACKBONE GONE.

Martial Law for the Pacific States Including Montana.

Situation at Chicago Quiet and Trains Running on All the Roads.

Work Being Resumed at the Stock Yards in St. Paul—Still Trying to Arbitrate with Pullman.

Special to the Journal.
ST. PAUL, 3:30 p. m. July 10.—Conditions improving. No trouble in Chicago since Sunday. All roads are running regular passenger trains and some freights.

The first train of dressed beef out of Chicago since the fourth left today. The receipts at the stock yards today were fifty steers and three thousand sheep.

MARTIAL LAW.

Today, after four o'clock, qualified martial law in effect in the Pacific states, including North Dakota and Montana. Strenuous efforts are being made by Debs and Sovereign to get a general strike of the Knights of Labor. Success doubtful. General opinion is that the worst is over, except at Sacramento, Cal., where trouble is expected today.
S. GORDON.

Have Nothing to Arbitrate.

CHICAGO, 3:15 p. m. July 9.—The joint committee from the city council and the federation of labor met vice president Wicks at the office of the Pullman company at 2 o'clock this p. m. The chairman of the council committee explained to Mr. Wicks the nature of the request, to receive the arbitration committee, and after a brief consultation with his attorney he refused emphatically to receive the proposed committee of five. "The Pullman company has nothing to arbitrate," said Mr. Wicks, "and we must refuse to accept the committee to which you refer. Our company has not receded from the position taken at the inception of the strike. This is final."

At 11:30 o'clock everything is quiet in Chicago and Hammond. There is a rumor that bridge burning has begun on the C. B. & Q. line. It is not verified.

Everything Quiet.

CHICAGO, July 10.—President Cleveland's proclamation went into effect at 12 noon yesterday. Everything is quiet here and the feeling is growing that there will be no more serious rioting. Roads all moving passenger trains and a number of starting freights.

Stock Yards at Work.

ST. PAUL, Minn., 8 a. m. July 10.—Quiet here. The passenger situation is unchanged and more freights are handled. The stock yards are again at work. The strikers still depreciate violence and charge it upon outsiders. The Omaha people intend to break the transfer blockade. The strikers say that if the attempt is made there will be trouble. The N. P. now has a full switch crew.

Detained Ten Hours.

BILLINGS, July 10.—Yesterday's train got through to Billings without experiencing any trouble. On their arrival a large crowd of citizens and strikers were on hand to greet them, some with cheers, while others hooted at the crew. The main line had been completely blocked by cars and damage done to switches and track, which took six hours to repair. Two box cars were found to be on fire but were promptly extinguished.

A non union crew took the train out in two sections for Livingston. None of the road men running out of here would go when called upon. Further trouble and delay is expected at Livingston. Detention at Billings ten hours.

In Control of Mob.

SPOONER, Wis., July 9.—Mob is in control of Spooner. Guards ordered to the scene and one regiment of Wisconsin national guards ordered there at once.

Afraid of Violence.

OMAHA, Neb., July 9.—The trainmen who started to work turn back, afraid of violence at the hands of the strikers. Aid has been asked for. Wires cut so no communication can be had by telegraph. Trouble believed to be serious.

The Proclamation.

Now, therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby command all persons engaged in or in any way connected with unlawful obstructions, combinations and assemblages, to disperse and retire peaceably to their respective abodes on or before 4 o'clock of the afternoon of the tenth day of July.

GROVER CLEVELAND,
Pres. United States.

Engines Ditched.

SPRINGFIELD, Wash., July 10.—Northern Pacific passenger train No. 2, coming into this city today from the west, with two companies of troops aboard was attacked by strikers. Engine was ditched and a burning car of oil was run down upon them wrecking the engine and burning about 40 feet of trestle work. A number of arrests have been made.

Will Walk Out if Arbitration Refused.

CHICAGO, July 9.—The allied trades of Chicago will walk out if Pullman refuses to arbitrate. At 2:30 p. m. it was announced that Mr. Wicks, vice president of the Pullman company, had absolutely refused to receive the committee of five appointed to wait upon him.

Found a Bomb.

TACOMA, July 10.—Deputy marshals found a dynamite bomb fastened to the rail on the stone bridge at 15th street. The bomb consisted of a half inch gas pipe filled with dynamite and the ends filled with waste. The evident intention was to have the bomb explode by the passage of an engine.

Pendergast Will Hang.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 9.—Pendergast, the assassin of Chicago's mayor, Harrison, will be hung Friday, July 13, 1894.

Feathers for Women.

All kinds of composite feather decoration, perfect for the purposes to which they are applied, are now used for hats and bonnets, and a naturalist in the milliner's shop finds himself confronted with a hundred varieties of plumage never seen in nature, but excellent in art, for which it would puzzle any one but the plumbier or the taxidermist to find a name. The era of stuffed birds and natural wings adorning headresses is almost over.

Not long ago, for instance, terns were a favorite ornament. The whole bird was used. Large hats were fashionable, and two or three of the "sea swallows" were grouped on a single head. Speaking of these birds, a milliner said with regret, "They used to be only 9 pence, now they are 3 shillings each." That was in the second year after they were worn. At the same time and in the same shop a wide brimmed hat was decorated with 15 pairs of chaffinches' wings. These were left the natural color, but others were decorated with rose colored starlings, or grass parakeets dyed black, and in one was a jay, with all its beautiful plumage stained a greenish yellow.

To put creatures of such exquisite natural tints, but with no particular beauty of form, to such a use was to invite the charge of bad feeling, both for art and humanity. Now the milliners have discovered a substitute with which no lover of birds need quarrel, and which reflects no little credit on their craft. Poultry feathers, in some cases of natural colors, but more often dyed to tints suited to the material with which they are worn, are made up into plumes, wings, coronets and pompons with a grace and variety of outline which harmonize with the modeling of the human head far better than the natural bird forms.—London Spectator.

Children's Letters.

A little boy who in the absence of his parents had been sentenced to go to bed early by a relative was seen to be busy with a pencil and paper, after which he carefully buried the communication in a hole in the garden and retired to bed. The missive when disinterred ran as follows:

DEAR MR. DEVIL—Please come and take Aunt Jane. Please be quick. Yours, ROBERT.

It is to be regretted that not a single letter by a Roman or a Greek child survives, the nearest approach being, perhaps, some verses written by a child of 10 in the later empire, which his parents had engraved upon his tomb two years later. The ancients doted on their children. Catullus wrote an ode to his daughter's sparrow, Ovid to his children's parrot, and the Greeks wrote epigrams to their children's toys. They even made offerings of toys to their dead children for playthings in the world of spirits. But no voice of a Greek child comes to us across the gulf of time.—London Spectator.

The title of marquis was first given by Richard II to Robert de Vere, earl of Oxford, who was made Marquis of Dublin in 1366.

The perfumer is the handsomest man in the world at toasting up a scent.—New York Commercial Bulletin.

This Time Last Year.

For the convenience of those who wish to make comparisons and for the benefit of those who can never remember, the JOURNAL will hereafter keep standing a table of the corresponding month of last year, showing day by day the principal meteorological conditions, as obtained from the record kept by the United States weather observer in this city. Following is the record for July, 1893:

DAY.	WEATHER.	TEMPERATURE.
1	Clear	67
2	Clear	62
3	Part cloudy	77
4	Clear	69
5	Cloudy	64

The figures in the right hand column denote the average thermometer reading for the day. The average for the month was 74 above zero. The highest was 107 in the shade on the 21, on the 19, 20 and 21, the highest was 105, 106 and 107, respectively in the shade. On those dates 19, 20 and 21, the average was 86, 88 and 88. A very high average.

Johann Strauss.

Johann Strauss, the composer of the "Blue Danube" and other famous waltzes, is a thin, emaciated, sickly old man, with rheumatism and the gout and the various ills of fashion and wealth. A thousand wrinkles play hide and seek on the once beautiful face. The eye which used to mirror a genius in highest poetic ecstasy and fascinate thousands of enthusiastic devotees on the wared floors of festive halls now appears weary and clouded. The ideal of the muses no longer communes with the elves of fancy, but smokes a prosaic German pipe and longs for his "lager and schnitzel."—London Sun.

His Large Family.

"Yes," said the principal of the young ladies' seminary to the proud parent, "you ought to be very happy, my dear sir, to be the father of so large a family, all the members of which appear to be devoted to one another." "Large family! Devoted!" gasped the old gentleman in amazement. "What on earth do you mean, ma'am?" "Why, yes, indeed," said the principal, beaming through her glasses; "no fewer than 11 of Kate's brothers have been here this winter to take her to the theater, and she tells me she expects the tall one with the blue eyes again tomorrow."—Exchange.
