A LITTLE BULLET

Thomas Cleary, the Pugilist Shoots Frank Dorrity in Helena.

Cleary Claims the Shooting Was Done in Self Defense—The Victim a Hard Character

HELENA, Sept. 30.—At 6 o'clock this morning Tom Cleary killed Frank Dougherty in front of the International hotel block on South Main street. Cleary and Dougherty, a few minutes previous, had left a gambling house and gone up the street to the Bristol block. Joe Pierce and John Luxen of Marysville were on the other side of the street and heard the men quarreling.

Accounts differ as to how the killing came about, but it seems to be the impression among the sporting fraternity, who are familiar with the character of both men, that Dougherty made threats against Cleary during the night, which justified him in arming himself. Two eye witnesses say that when Dougherty fell a knife was seen beside him, but when the authorities appeared it was not to be found.

After firing the shot Cleary ran around the corner of the International hotel and stood with his gun in his hand and was arrested by Policeman Reed and taken to the station house and searched. His shirt had a cut in it as if made by a knife, but there was no cut in the clothing over the shirt.

As soon as the shot was fired 100 men appeared on the scene and surrounded the body. It was taken to the police station where an examination showed that a bullet from a 44—Colt's revolver had entered the head at the base of the skull and came out of the forehead.

Cleary claimed that he shot Dougherty in self defense, and does not yet know that Dougherty is dead.

Dougherty is well known in Missoula where he had a gun fight in the street with Mitchell and Bennett. An inquest will be held to-morrow.

Missoula Knew Him.

MISSOULA, Sept. 30.—Frank Dougherty who was killed early this morning in Helena by one McCleary, is well known in this city. He has, when here, several times narrowly escaped committing murder himself. He was a confirmed hop fiend, a crooked bank dealer, and a very dangerous man in any community.

The Deadly Cocaine.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—Belle White, 23 years of age, daughter of Benj. S. White a wealthy lumberman, died at Wood's hotel this morning while under treatment for the removal of facial blemishes. Death was caused, it is supposed, by the use of cocaine to deaden the pain from the application of an electric current, which constituted the means of treatment. The operator was Dr. Sophie Santa, of the great Sophia Santa company. Eliza A. James the partner of Santa, was assisting in the operation at the time. In one hand Dr. Santa held an electric needle and in the other a sponge saturated with a four per cent solution of cocaine which she applied to deaden the pain caused by the needle. She had almost completed the treatment when Miss White gasped for breath and before the operator could assist her she fell from the chair to the floor, dead. Aid was hastily summoned and stimulatives applied, but without avail, the young woman having died almost instantly.

Dr. Santa with her assistant, who locked up until the exact cause of the young woman's death is known. There is no thought however that the death was the result of anything but accident.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shephard, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Ottumwa, O., had five large skin sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold at John Wright's drug store.

If you cannot get a spectacle to fit you any place, try Stein.

Prolific Oats.

What is best to sow, interests every farmer. Last spring A. H. Terrett, of Tongue river, sowed 70 pounds of Lincoln oats on 1 1/2 acres of ground. Although not irrigated the crop flourished, and notwithstanding the depredations of roving cattle, who broke into the field three or four times and destroyed not less than one-quarter of the crop, the little field thrashed out 100 bushels of choice oats. This result, without irrigation, is worthy of mention and speaks well for the Lincoln oats.

TURF TOPICS.

A pair of Morgans bred in Vermont compose the team used by President Cleveland at Gray Gables.

Colonel Benjamin Cockrill of Nashville has a watchguard made of hair taken from the tail of Lexington.

John Jacob Astor has established a stable of hackneys at his country seat, Ferncliffe, N. Y., and will breed them.

Archduke William, cousin of Emperor Francis Joseph, was thrown from his horse at Baden, Austria, recently and instantly killed.

Miss Lillian Cody, a Nebraska girl, has offered to bet $100 at the Texas state fair that she can ride any horse, broken or unbroken, in the Lone Star State.

Unknown persons recently entered the pasture owned by Major George Titus, at Langsville, O., and stabled two valuable trotting horses to death. Rewards are offered for the perpetrators.

English statistics prove false the charges that Rosebery's racing propensities have made him unpopular. There have been several thousand children named after Ladies since the Derby race.

Melvin Helm, the well known driver, had the bone of his left leg so badly shattered at Quincy, Ill., during the trotting meeting there recently that the limb will have to be amputated. Ben Wade met with a similar accident at Ottawa.

The Equinox.

The first of March and the first of September are days known by special appellation of the Equinoxes. This is because the relative position of the earth and sun are such that the great luminary on those days crosses the celestial equator, which is a great circle in the heavens of course imaginary) corresponding to the equator upon the earth. At the vernal equinox (March) the sun passes from south to north, and at the autumnal equinox is the opposite direction. It is a widely spread popular notion that at these periods the most severe storms occur. The fact is, that during the period of fourteen years observation in England, out of forty-five storms in March, none occurred on the first, and out of eighteen storms in September only one occurred on the first. Popular opinion, however, on many subjects is more reliable than in this case and especially so people have observed they affirm when they speak of the equinoxes on which they prefer to travel.

The continued popular favor long accorded to the Burlington Route, particularly during the past year, when it took five million people to the variety fairs, is not based on fancy, but on the solid basis of continuous service, rapid and comfortable travel, fine dining, comfortable sleeping, etc., and on any ticket agent, or address W.
