WEEKLY CHRONICLE

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 5, 1883.

As an illustration of the early days of the settlement of this valley, we have had related to us an incident which, while it may not follow the ordinary modes of arriving at judgment, we commend its wisdom to those justices whose minds are often befogged by the positive and strenuous statements of opposing counsel as to what is the law. The justice we speak of is now a resident of Gallatin county, and when hearings were brought before him, when, as we said, law books and authorities were scarce, listened a long time to learned counsel who, each with a positiveness which almost carried conviction, stated what the law was, and which statements were diametrically opposite. After the conclusion of argument, court was adjourned for one hour, and when convened the justice ordered the counsel to stand up and give evidence. Mr. M. you have stated the law to be so and so, now I intend to put you both on oath as to which is the law. Mr. M. readily complied with the terms of the court, but Mr. O. declined. It is needless to say that the client of Mr. M. received judgment.

EDITORIAL NOTINGS BY THE WAY.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, August 29th, 1883.

White Sulphur Springs, the county seat of Meagher county, is pleasantly situated near the main fork of Smith river, and shows substantial signs of improvement since I was here several years ago. This county, at least this side of the range between here and the Missouri valley, is more of a stock country than a farming one, although there are quite a number of farms which produce enough for local consumption, and fair prices are realized, the average price of grain of all kinds being about one cent per pound more than in the Gallatin Valley. I say the principal industry however is at present stock raising, but there are many mines which promise at no distant day to become remunerative, and will no doubt lead to an industry. Forty miles from here in a northerly direction is the new mining district of Nichart which, if we may take the estimates of those who have visited it, will become a second Butte. Capital is already beginning to take hold of them, and great results are anticipated. Barker, Malden and Maginnis mines are also in this county, and not very far from here is Copperopolis, which was the scene a number of years ago of active and energetic prospecting for copper, many mines showing a very large percentage of that metal. About twelve miles from here in a southerly direction, our townsmen, J. L. Sanborn, J. W. Ponsford, Cy. Mounts and others are developing some leads which show promise. As a health and pleasure resort these springs have a wide and well deserved reputation, and only a railroad is needed to make it desirable for seekers after health and pleasure. There are two hotels, which furnish good accommodations, the principal one, however, the White Sulphur Springs hotel, owned by a corporation, who also own and control the Springs, is the one generally, if not almost entirely patronized by the travelling public. It is under the management of A. W. Sias, and presents courteous attention. At present the bathing facilities are inadequate, but work is now progressing upon commodious and comfortably arranged bath houses. The location and surroundings are beautiful and enticing. Any one seeking rest and retirement, a good climate, good accommodations, etc., can find at these Springs all that is desired. Business in all branches is, or will soon be represented. A building is now being erected by Dr. Parberry, 48x80. Two-story brick, to be occupied by a National bank and a drug store. Spencer, Mayne & Holtzman carry a very large assortment of general merchandise, comprising goods of all kinds from the fine Canton goods to the most improved farm machinery, and have a very large trade. The county has a very commodious court house and will soon have a good jail. The financial condition of the county is good, and the taxable property shows a very healthy increase. The fall "round up" of the Musselshell (the largest in the Territory) has just commenced. Stock of all kinds have prospered amazingly well, and the outlook is flattering indeed. The crops to have been better than for a number of years. In the absence of a railroad we think there are important requisites here for future prosperity, good roads both to Townsend and Livingston. While we find most people here favor the latter place as a shipping point for merchandise, as they say the road will always be passable, the other is needed as well for both freight and passenger travel. A road can be made to Townsend not to exceed 35 miles in length, while the one to Livingston must be 70. People who now-a-days are accustomed to ride on railroads look with fear and trembling on a long stage ride over dusty roads, and the shorter they can make it, the more visitors they will have, so that the road to Townsend for passengers alone, is worth considering. There would seem to be another consideration, they are both in the same county, and any benefits to be derived would result to the people of the county. A good public school building is among the needs—nothing can be done which would increase the growth and prosperity of a place more than ample and good school facilities. People from the east who have appreciated such advantages make among the first inquirers, what school facilities have you? and they are the class most to be desired as settlers. From here I return to Townsend, to spend the intervening days between now and the Territorial fair, among the farmers of the Missouri valley. The weather, that ever falling topic of conversation, has been very warm. I find the Chronicle is not unknown, its reputation as a live, new paper having preceded it. I have heard it repeatedly said that the digest of the lecture of Henry Wood and Boecher's book which has appeared in any territorial paper. Perhaps there is not another territory with like population where papers are patronized more extensively than in Montana. Not unfrequently do we come across parties who take nearly

VISITOR VILLARD

AND HIS 336 PROMINENT GUESTS TO STOP IN BOZEMAN TWO HOURS.

Arriving in Bozeman at 9 p. m., and will be taken around the city by our citizens.

On Monday morning it was learned that President Villard and his party of distinguished guests, composed of a large number of congressmen, eminent journalists and prominent Europeans, would arrive in Bozeman on Friday morning instead of on Thursday night, as was published in the regular programme. It was then arranged, at the solicitation of our citizens, that the party should stay over in Bozeman two hours, and be driven through the city to the high point near the cemetery, overlooking the Gallatin valley.

A meeting was at once called and on Monday night met at Alderson's hall, where several committees were appointed, a list of which follows. Inasmuch as our citizens have but a short time to prepare the exhibit of agricultural produce, minerals, etc., the exhibition will not be as complete as it is desired, but though well secured to give an idea of the fertility of our valley and the richness of our mines. All the carriages and vehicles that can be procured will be at the depot at the arrival of the regular programme. It was then arranged, at the solicitation of our citizens, that the party should stay over in Bozeman two hours, and be driven through the city to the high point near the cemetery, overlooking the Gallatin valley.

OSBORN'S DRUG STORE.

A REVIEW. Twelve years ago when I came to Bozeman I brought all my worldly wealth (less than two thousand dollars) with me and cast my lot with the pioneers of civilization hereabouts, with an expectation to make a home and live among the advance guard. Since that time my business has increased from five thousand dollars the first year to twenty thousand dollars the last year, and I am proud of the result I have made, and feel a just pride in my customers, who have enabled me to achieve such a success. A year ago, the march of improvement caused me to vacate the log house corner of Main and Bozeman streets, at which time I commenced the building of a more spacious and comfortable building to accommodate my increasing trade. After two removals and one fire, I am at last settled in my new quarters. OSBORN'S NEW BRICK BLOCK, where I hope to see all my old friends and customers, and the public generally, whether they wish to purchase or not. I hope they will come in and take a look around and compare the old with the new. You will find a larger and better selected stock of goods in the drug line than was ever before brought to Bozeman consisting in part of Drugs, proper, patent medicines, toilet and fancy goods, perfumeries, Sponges, fine pocket cutlery, gold and steel pens, pencils, stationery, brushes—all kinds, toilet soaps, paints and oils, window glass, lamps and chandeliers, lamp trimmings, trusses, supporters, braces, canies, pure liquors for medicinal use, and the best goods generally that can be bought for money.
