Northern Pacific Time Table

"Montana Short Line." New Time Table Taking Effect Nov. 1st, 1894. TRAINS ARRIVE FROM THE EAST-HELENA...

HE PUT ON HIS UNIFORM.

The following anecdote from an illustrated article in the Century, by Geo. F. Williams, the well known war correspondent, on "Lights and Shadows of Army Life"...

"But don't you see that this is Gen. Dix?" exclaimed the aid, angrily. "Well, between you and me, Major," said the zouave, his eyes twinkling with amusement...

STORY OF A BOTTLE.

A sea captain recently furnished the Boston Herald with the following interesting account of the drift of a sealed bottle thrown overboard in mid-Atlantic: "On June 4th, 1884, the schooner R. Bowers, Captain Thompson, bound to Gloucester from Messina, was pitching about in a long ocean swell in lat. 42 deg., 45 min., long. 60 deg., 47 min. We had made a good run thus far, but on this particular day struck a dead cala. There was little to do except watch the vessel and whistle for wind, and several schemes were invented by the officers to pass away the time. The second mate of the schooner, Mr. Cruikshank, had left a sweetheart at home, and naturally his mind drifted across the watery waste to her bright eyes. Noticing this preoccupied manner, the captain's wife suggested that he send his love a message from the sea. The idea seemed a good one. He wrote a note, inclosed it in an envelope, addressed it to the young lady at Big Brook, Cape Breton, inclosed the whole in a bottle and threw it overboard. There was great speculation at the time as to where the bottle would bring up, and, in working the vessel, all thoughts of the bottle and its contents were forgotten. The schooner in due time arrived at Gloucester, and Mr. Cruikshank started for Cape Breton. His arrival was expected, but his astonishment may be imagined when his lady love brought forth the identical bottle which the mate had thrown into the sea, and produced the note contained therein. The story of the drift was a singular one. It had been picked up on the shores of Little Dover bay, at the east end of Nova Scotia, after a drift of 41 days' duration and of 60 miles, and the finder sent it to the young lady. Another singular circumstance connected with the finding of the bottle was the fact that the finder turned out to be a relative of Mr. Cruikshank, although they never had seen each other."

A MONTANA FUNERAL.

"Big Red" was shot and killed in Anaconda, recently. The funeral services were simple, indeed. A horse, a dray and a driver comprised the entire procession. Not a friend followed the remains to the grave. There was no regret expressed except that Red's partner, Sam Binker, was not buried at the same time.

EFFECT OF MONTANA OZONE.

Patrick Clarke, the man who was cut out of Madison county on the establishment of the boundary line by Surveyor Mead, recently, is an inmate of the Gallatin county poor house. He is 105 years old. The Chronicle says of him that he was born in 1780, and came from Ireland to America during the potato famine of 1849. He married a 16-year-old girl when he was 71 years old and has a son 34 years of age. His wife died when she was 19. Mr. Clarke has a clear and vigorous mind, is an active old man and possesses a wonderful memory.

One of the largest ranch sales made for some time has just been reported from Fort Worth, Texas. The sale is said to comprise the entire property of the Espuety Land and Cattle company, embracing 70,000 head of cattle and 50,000 acres of land. It goes to an English syndicate incorporated in London. The consideration is not yet known, but the property is valued at $3,500,000.

A few weeks ago the cashier of a Western bank wrote to a distinguished resident of Canada as follows: "Dear sir—I have a splendid opportunity to gobble up sixty thousand dollars and join you in Canada. Can I have fun enough to offset the sacrifice of reputation, home and a large circle of friends?" The distinguished resident replied by the next mail as follows, and wrote "in haste" on the envelope: "Don't you do it. I got away with a heap more swag than that, and I can't find a Canuck who'll even drink beer with me." It is said that the D. R. misses his dear Bible class more than all else.
