THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

SPRAY OF THE FALLS.

FRIDAY'S DAILY.

W. W. Humphrey of Barker is at the Park. J. J. Donovan returned from Helena yesterday. E. Ringwald returned from Last Chance yesterday. Smoke "Seal of Chicago."—Calkins & Featherly. Thomas Gabagan returned yesterday from Helena. Court stenographer Bishop went to Benton yesterday. Hon. T. E. Collins came back from the temporary capital yesterday. "Seal of Chicago," Serdenberg's finest clear Havana.—Frank Ervin. S. A. Smart, general baggage agent, passed through yesterday for Helena. Sol Yates is quite sick again with a bad sore throat and touch of neuralgia. SAFE FOR SALE.—Inquire of the Goodrich Lumber company. Telephone 14. For choice meats and poultry go to the Chicago market. —Herbert, Lloyd & Co. Latest styles in Duniap's celebrated hats at A. Nathan's, 222 Central avenue. The Scandinavian society of Great Falls gave a basket party last evening at Arion hall. Joseph Lessard, a prominent business man of Barker, came down from that camp Wednesday. For the best hats in the city go to the Windsor, Collins-Lepley block, Fred Peiper, proprietor. A. A. White of Moorhead, who stopped off a day to renew old acquaintances, went west yesterday. Burghart & Fray have a thousand shares of the Queen of the Hills mining stock for sale at a bargain. Daniel Keetison arrived from Belleville, Ont., to accept the position of stenographer in Supt. Mayer's office. T. W. Riley, accused of drunkenness, was fined $10 and costs yesterday, in default of that amount he went to jail. Step into Cosgrave's, 211 Central avenue, for a box of good cigars. He has 50,000 cigars for sale at less than cost. Remember the Park theatre benefit tonight. An attractive programme has been prepared and a big crowd is expected. There will be a rehearsal of the "Hatchet" entertainment this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Collins-Lepley block. Look over A. Nathan's stock of hats on opening day, February 28, and you will find the latest styles and best makes in America. Peter Erskind and Charley Johnson had indulged too freely in condensed barbed wire and each paid a fine of $10 and costs yesterday.

Parties from Butte inform us that there were thirteen funerals in that city on Wednesday—all of the deaths from pneumonia.

Wm. Yeoman and Wm. H. Taylor, natives of Scotland and England respectively, declared their intentions yesterday to become citizens.

The real-estate men of Great Falls are respectfully asked to solicit bids of land for the Congressional college. Pleasant hand in the same to Mayor Dickerman.

Robt. Sticht of Helena, the well known mining man who has been examining some mines around Barker, came down Wednesday and returned home yesterday.

Under Representative Harlin's reappointment bill Cascade county will have three representatives and a joint member with Ferguson. This is a gain of one member.

L. E. Johnson, general manager of the Montana Central, accompanied by J. Herone of the Great Northern engineer corps, took a trip over the line to Monarch yesterday.

A Nathan advertises next Saturday as a grand opening day, on which he will display his immense stock of spring hats, including Duniap's celebrated make, just received, and many others.

During the present Lenten season the services at the Catholic church will be as follows each day: Morning services from 8:30 to 10:30; catechism, 3 p. m.; evening services commence at 7:30.

W. L. Church, representing the well known St. Paul grocery house of Beauregard & Davis, has been calling on our business men and goes away pleased with Great Falls' present and future.

James Barnes, Oliver J. Wadsworth Jr. and Lowdon D. Crowinshield have formed a co-partnership to carry on a general real estate business, under the firm name of Barnes, Crowinshield & Wadsworth.

The west-bound passenger was two hours late yesterday owing to the snow. Taking into consideration the cold weather and daily fall of snow the Great Northern is making remarkably good time this winter.

T. G. Hathaway of the Black Foot Milling company arrived from the Gate city yesterday. The company he represents has the contract for furnishing the timber to be used in constructing the Barker and Neilhart branches.

District Court Clerk Cockrill went to Helena yesterday, taking the petition for a separate judicial district for this county. He will present the same to the judiciary committee and will do his best to induce the members to consider it.

George W. Thayer, representing D. Klein & Bros., merchant tailors of Philadelphia, is at the Park with a fine line of winter and spring goods. He expects to remain here some time and will be glad to show his samples of business and dress suits.

Woodbridge hotel arrivals: F. A. Allison, Ira Aldrich, St. Paul; J. T. Lyons, Fort Assiniboine; Samuel Dean, Sand Coulee; Ed Armstrong, Monarch; R. H. Ackley, Joe Wagoner, Neilhart; George H. Speck, Letbridge; Ed Cunningham, Monarch.

Milwaukee hotel arrivals: F. Payetto, Helena; C. E. Felt, Salt Lake; John Hart, Minot; Capt. Payne, J. E. Ireland, George Flynn, Monarch; J. J. Murphy, Neilhart; James Lindley, Minot; George Jones, Kansas City; J. P. Peterson, Cutback.

C. B. Felt, general manager of the Montana Stage company, with headquarters at Salt Lake, spent Wednesday night at the Milwaukee hotel. He found the weather a little cooler than in the Sainly city, and was glad to start south on yesterday's west-bound train.

Joe Meeks has given a contract to Tom Thomson to run a 100 foot tunnel and shaft on the celebrated Meeks mine. The richest ore ever found in Barker was taken from this claim, and is gratifying to know that work on it is being resumed.—Belt Mountain Miner.

Messrs. Moody and Holmes of this city returned yesterday from a hunting excursion in the Flathead country. They brought down a goodly number of coyotes and mountain lions. The snow is reported as four feet deep in the mountains. One of their companions was lost for two days.

The hotel in Great Falls known as the Cascade hotel. This hotel has twenty-three bedrooms, a dining room which will seat thirty-five people, a good bar and fixtures. This hotel is well furnished and the proprietor will rent for $300 per month in advance. Call on or address JOHN BURK, Great Falls.

The amateur dramatic club gave a preliminary rehearsal in the court room last night. They rehearsed the court scene in the case of Bardwell vs. Preckwick and will soon be pleased to present that interesting farce to the public. It has not been decided when the public exhibition will be. We will publish a list of the dramatis personae later.

Supt. Mayer's 16 year-old boy had a close call yesterday morning. He was walking across the railroad bridge and coming frightened at the whistle of an approaching switch engine, jumped hastily to one side, lost his balance and fell to the ice below. Some onlookers hastened to the unfortunate boy's rescue. He was unhurt. He was taken home and will soon be all right.

H. V. Wheeler, a civil engineer of Helena, who has been surveying a number of claims in the Barker district for Messrs. Calkins & Featherly, came down from that lively burg Wednesday. He says mining matters are picking up since the railroad construction became a certainty. He made a preliminary survey for the Barker townsite and on his return from Helena will revise the same for final patent.

What has become of the fellow who prophesied this would be a mild winter? Possibly he has gone to Canada to join the once famous Prof. Wiggins in obscurity. A man who has the nerve to prognosticate in regard to Montana winter weather is thoroughly competent to fill any position in the choice of the people from city reporter on a Great Falls paper searching for news up to a lightning rod agent.

J. W. Sullivan, formerly of Hotchkiss & Hawkins, and Fred Gilbert of Helena have leased a store in the Realty block, where they intend to start in the plumbing, steam, and gas-fitting business. Both are thoroughly practical mechanics, so that when they are ready for business, which will be about March 10, or on arrival of stock from the east, they feel as if they merited a fair portion of the public patronage in their particular line.

The sociable given by the ladies aid society of the Baptist church at Mrs. Wm. Calkin's last night was a very enjoyable affair. There was a good attendance of both young and old. After partaking of a nice supper all participated in games of a humorous nature. The proceeds were very satisfactory.

Deputy United States Marshal Parker of Helena, who came down after George Craig, returned home with his prisoner yesterday. Readers of the TRIBUNE will remember the grave crime with which Craig is accused. Some time ago he prevailed upon Postmaster Taylor to cash a money order which was intended for another party of the same name. He will be given an opportunity to explain matters at the next term of the federal court in March.

The Belt Mountain Miner has at last put in an appearance. It is a neat six-column folio devoted to the interests of Barker and the Belt mountain mining district. It is neat typographically, is bristling with news of that locality, and, altogether, reflects much credit upon Messrs. Thompson & Sauer. The Miner will prove a valuable exponent of the resources of the section in which it is published. Success to it.

The Workingmen's union will hold another interesting debate in the city hall next Tuesday evening, March 3. At that time the question to be decided will be, "Resolved, Congress should pass a bill for the free and unlimited coinage of silver." The affirmative side of the argument will be presented by Messrs. Oskland, Miller and Greely; while Messrs. Sutton, Farrell and Moore will speak for the negative. The general public is cordially invited to attend this debate for the subject is one which is destined to be an issue in the next presidential campaign.

Mr. Guthrie returned from Monarch on Wednesday's train, where he went to look over the ground preparatory to shipping out supplies, tools, etc., to commence grading on the Barker branch. He informed a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday that ground will be broken as soon as the weather permits. F. W. White is in the field with a corps of engineers and will cross section the line recently revised. Mr. Guthrie went to Helena yesterday to confer with Chief Engineer Beckler in regard to the work.

Peter M. Baum has formed a law partnership with E. L. Bishop, the well known court stenographer of this district. Both gentlemen are too well and favorably known in this community to require an introduction to the people of northern Montana. Since his advent to Montana last May, Mr. Baum has acquired a prominent position at the Montana bar. Mr. Bishop was for seven years court stenographer in Dakota and at the same time built up a good legal practice. When Montana was admitted as a state he came here and cast his lot with the people of Great Falls. The professional card of Baum & Bishop appears elsewhere.

Says the Belt Mountain Miner: "Dr. C. A. Prady, a brother of Thomas E. Brady, one of Great Falls' brightest legal lights, arrived last Sunday and will make his future home in the camp. The doctor is a graduate of Victoria university of Montreal, one of the leading medical institutions in Canada, having the renowned Dr. Hingston as dean. He left a lucrative practice in New York state to try his fortunes in the mining regions of this country. His certificates are of the best and he has received a warm welcome in the town. There being no physician here his coming is doubly appreciated. The Miner's union, which is already quite large, will hold a meeting Saturday night and give their satisfaction at the doctor's arrival by selecting him as their physician. He has been kept busy since his arrival, having been called to visit several patients in town and some in the adjoining country."

As all sorts of monstrosities seem to be the rage, Montana is loth to be outdone in that line. A telegram to an eastern paper reads: "Vital Jarrot, a half-breed, who carries mail between Fort McGinnis and Rocky Point, brings the news of the discovery of the petrifaction remains of a giant in the bad land of Choteau county, a few miles below the mouth of the Mussel shell river. The discovery was made by Leta Dona, another half breed, who started off to find a purchaser for his curiosity before Jarrot could get a complete description. The remains were not complete, showing the petrification had only taken place in a portion of the body, while the remainder had followed the course of nature and returned to dust. One leg was eight feet long, the thigh being about four feet. Arm-bone measured two and a half feet. Petrification is no unusual thing in the bad lands of Montana and the Dakotas. Wood in that state is frequently found. The petrified body of an Indian was found in North Dakota about a year ago."

THURSDAY'S DAAILY.

John Leyley returned yesterday from Benton.

Mrs. Roehl went home to Neilhart yesterday.

Hugo Mathies returned to Neilhart yesterday.

The west-bound train was three hours and a half late yesterday.

Jack Smith, division roadmaster, came home yesterday from St. Paul.

J. B. McKnight left yesterday for Chicago to be gone about a month.

H. F. Collett returned yesterday from an extended visit on the Pacific slope.

W. T. Parker, deputy sheriff of Lewis and Clarke county, came from Helena yesterday.

C. M. Shaw, vice-president of the Goodrich Lumber company, went to Neilhart yesterday.

L. E. Johnson, general superintendent of the Montana Central, came down from Helena yesterday.

Bernard Brown of Helena, who has been auditing the accounts of Choteau county, returned home yesterday from Benton.

G. C. Gates of St. Paul, division superintendent of the American Express company, passed through on yesterday's train to Butte.

Chas. Tolliet of St. Paul, book keeper for Foley Bros. & Guthrie, came in from the east yesterday and accompanied Mr. Guthrie up to Monarch.

Pat Graham, who has been sick in the city lockup since Monday, was tried yesterday and fined $10 and costs. In default of the required amount he was sent back to jail.

Parties from Dakota and Minnesota report a lighter fall of snow than around here.

C. C. White of Moorhead, Minn., a well known real estate dealer throughout the Northwest, stopped off yesterday and is at the Park.

From all reports McChircheyville, on the Pacific extension, must be a pretty hard place, as nearly everyone carries a gun. More than one tragedy will be enacted in that vicinity before the road is completed.

A table is not the safest place in the world on which to take a nap, at least the fellow who fell off one while asleep yesterday morning in a Central avenue saloon thinks so. In the fall he cut his head quite badly and will wear a bandage for some time.

Some civil engineers went out to Monarch yesterday but we could not learn whether they were in the employ of the Great Northern or on special work. The former they probably go to cross-section the line ahead of the grading outfits of Foley & Guthrie.

Up to date the delinquent taxes on twenty-two pieces of property have been paid to County Treasurer McCliland. The sale of the same continues until the 15th of March and any property the taxes of which are unpaid after that date will be forfeited to the county.

Preparatory to closing the Park theatre for repairs, the employees of that place of amusement have decided to give Messrs. Gorin & Davenport a rousing benefit. A most attractive programme has been gotten up and no pains will be spared to make the evening an immortal one to the frequenters of the theatre.

A petition was circulated around town yesterday to be presented to the legislature, asking that a separate judicial district for Cascade county be created. It was very generally signed by all tax payers and we trust our representatives will be able to call the attention of the lawmakers to this all important subject.

Park hotel arrivals: John Lepley, Benton; G. H. Lippert, St. Louis; C. P. Stacy, Ems McCoy, Chicago; J. Wambold, Omaha; Albert Kain, New York; W. F. Parker, T. J. David, on Helena; J. G. Moody, San Francisco; W. C. Bryant, Butte; W. S. Church, St. Paul; G. G. Dobs, Dillon; A. A. White, Moorhead; Joe Smith, Glasgow.

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. Sinclair on the front page. John is an odd-timer, so to speak, and intends to keep at the head of the procession in the wholesale and retail liquor business in Great Falls. We might incidentally mention for the benefit of the ladies that he is a bachelor with ample means to fit up a snug cottage.

Mr. Walter O'Conner of St. Paul, a brother of the popular insurance rustler for Phil Gibson, arrived in Great Falls yesterday. Mr. O'Conner is a young man well known in the Twin cities, having for the past three years occupied the position of deputy clerk of the court there. He is so favorably impressed with our city that it is altogether likely he will locate permanently among us.

Mr. Ponce of Demersville, who has been here the past three weeks selecting some horses for the Flathead country, loaded and shipped them last night. They go to Ravalli, a small town on the Northern Pacific, the nearest point on that road for the Flathead country, and from there will be driven overland to Demersville. Mr. Ponce was at one time in business in Great Falls and has a host of friends here.

It is with deepest regret we chronicle the fact that the young man, Mr. Ed. Cook, a nephew of the late Mrs. J. O. Patterson, is in a very critical condition from an attack of pneumonia. His physician has little or no hope of his recovery. His sickness was brought on by exposure, he having walked some distance through a snow storm to reach Great Falls, from which point he came by train when he found he was threatened with a sick spell. He is receiving every care and attention at the hands of his relatives in this city.—River Press.

James A. Carrier, the general proprietor of the Milwaukee hotel, had a pair of unmounted mountain sheep and goat heads shipped to him some time ago from the Northwest territory. They got as far as the International boundary, where the deputy United States custom house officer held them for a duty of 20 per cent. Mr. Carrier has been searching a copy of the infamous McKinley bill for light on the subject, but up to date has failed to find anything bearing on commodities classed as "raw unmounted heads." J. R. deputy must be a good disciple of the man with Napoleon's features.

The committee of arrangements to prepare for the celebration of the 17th of March at their meeting Tuesday evening decided to hold the public exercises in the court house. These exercises will consist of singing and speaking. Local talent will furnish the musical part of the programme, and some prominent men—probably Maj. Mugnisis—will deliver an oration. The court house will be appropriately decorated with the national colors and the harp-embroidered flag of old Erin. A dance will be given the same evening in Arion hall. The committee will try to arrange a price of $1 for tickets of admission to both halls. The money so raised will be donated to the new Catholic church.

YE "HATCHET" PARTIE.

An Enjoyable Entertainment Offered by the W. C. T. U.

The "hatchet" entertainment to be given by the Woman's Christian Temperance union next Saturday evening promises to be an enjoyable affair. The following is a program of the exercises to be given:

- 1. Music—Orchestra.
2. Music—"A Sailor's Dream."
3. Cornet Solo—"Sounds from the Alps."
4. Recitation—"The Christening."
5. Guitar Solo—"Miss Merriman and Mr. Barnes."
6. Solo—"My Lullaby."
7. Recitation—"The Business Day."
8. Tenor Solo—"When the Quiet Moon is Beaming."
9. Ye Hatched Partie:
1. Georgiana Adams Hatched.
2. Tomazine Jefferson Hatched.
3. Jameson Madison Hatched.
4. Quinciana Adams Hatched.
5. Andrew Jackson Hatched.
6. William Henry Harrison Hatched.
7. John Adams Hatched.
8. Mary Van Buren Hatched.
9. Jimmy Kestral Polk Hatched.
10. Zachariah Taylor Hatched.
11. Martin Van Buren Hatched.
12. Millard Fillmore Hatched.
13. James K. Polk Hatched.
14. Grover Cleveland Hatched.
15. Pinnit, Benjamin Harrison Hatched.

A GOOD WORD FOR GREAT FALLS

The "Future Great" Seen When it Consisted of Only a Paper Plan and Three or Four Cabins.

A Flourishing City Now Marks the Spot—Its Resources and Tributary Country Attracting Great Attention.

Mr. Guthrie, the Railroad Contractor, Makes a Trip to Monarch—Railroad Work to be Pushed.

"W. S. H.," a traveling correspondent of the Salt Lake Tribune, pays a glowing tribute to Montana, her railroads, and particularly Great Falls. He says:

The Great Northern line, made up of what was formerly the Montana Central and the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railways, has long drawn a good degree of patronage from Montana, and from Utah and Idaho people who wish to "take in" Montana points on the way. The fine equipment, light grades and fast time of that line attracted a good degree of travel in that direction, but Utah people had a wholesome fear of the narrow-gauge link between Ogden and Pocatello; and if going to St. Paul or Minneapolis, or other Minnesota points, would go via Omaha.

The writer has been in Montana so often, and so often sampled the service of the Montana Central in that "up north" country that when he learned that the line north of Ogden was to be opened, and he had a call to Minnesota, he determined to take that route and see for himself; and seeing was believing. Probably every one who has frequented Butte during the past years recalls how some public improvement is made between each visit. When the writer first went there he had to go "up town" by the "bus" of which "Jack" Somebody was the pilot, who was a typical New Englander—strayed "out west," and thoroughly acclimated physically and morally; then came the "steam motor" line; after that the "cable" line to Walkersville; and now the "electric" from the depot up town. So now one takes his choice and then pays his money. They help amazingly when one is bent on seeing the town, the mines and "works."

The Montana Central supplies a view of the city, the valley, the very rocky and treeless hillside back of Butte, and as the line climbs the side of the main range of the Rockies east of the town the whole is again seen in one grand view, over which in the morning hours the blue cloud of fumes from the smelters usually hangs, giving a weird and strange look to the deep lying valley, with the bare hill sides surrounding, and the green forested mountains beyond.

The ride through the Prickly Pear canyon and the Grand canyon of the Missouri river, suggested reminiscences of the early explorers—Lewis and Clark and others—picturesque Square butte in the direction of Fort Shaw and the thriving town of Great Falls fix the attention with deep interest. Just before the writer made his first visit to Great Falls he had read an account by an army officer of a boat trip down the Missouri in the vicinity of Helena, through the "Gate of the Mountains" to the falls and Giant spring of that river, which was printed in an eastern magazine. In the article the author had poked a little quiet fun at Paris Gibson because of his enthusiasm about his coming city, which at that time consisted of only a paper plan and three or four log cabins and board shacks. In less than three years the writer of this found it a sizable town, already a railroad center, crossed on the "opening day" a fine railroad bridge spanning the Missouri, lodged in the best hotel then in the territory, saw splendid wholesale and retail stores, and felt the unmistakable pulse throbbing of a coming large town. And on this trip found the promised town materialized with smelters on either side of the river; a railroad opened to the south to the Sand Coulee coal mines; to Monarch with its 15,000 mining claims near by and its tributary arable land which can be cultivated without irrigation, and the line projected to the Neilhart mining region; and another railroad (narrow gauge) to the north, opened by Canadians, to bring in the highly bituminous coal of Letbridge, 20 miles distant in the dominion. These things show the substantial character of the improvements at the new "city." The natural attractions supplied by the "Falls of the Missouri" and the "Giant spring" in its bank is enough to enthrall an easterner; but the matter-of-fact utilizing spirit of the westerner has harnessed the power of the falls, and a prosaic ditch has been dug from the Giant spring to secure some of its remarkably pure water. No one who has seen these steady changes and knows of the abundant undeveloped resources can doubt the steady and permanent growth of Great Falls.

THE BARKER BRANCH. Mr. Guthrie, the Contractor, Arrives in Great Falls. Mr. Guthrie of the well known firm of Foley Bros. & Guthrie came in from St. Paul yesterday. He reports railroad construction as rather quiet in Minnesota, but hopes for more activity in the spring. Work is being pushed on the Duluth and Winainipg railroad, that company at last having obtained permission to cross the Indian reservation, which was finally granted by the interior department. The road is already completed from Duluth to Cloquet, and the contractors are increasing their forces as fast as the weather will permit. The Grants and Foley Bros. have large contracts on the work. Mr. Guthrie took yesterday's train to Monarch, and he will make arrangements to do the grading on the line to Barker.

This will be welcome news to a host of our Great Falls, Monarch and Barker readers. The people of the Belt mountains and Great Falls have waited patiently for the construction of the two lines from Monarch to Neilhart and Barker, and we trust that trains will be running to the two last-named by the middle of May.

AN ANGRY SUBSCRIBER.

The "Tribune" Will Prosecute All Such Cases.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Feb. 26.

ED. TRIBUNE: I would like to ask your opinion of a man who is too penurious to even buy a newspaper and so much of a thief that he almost daily steals a copy. In a city like Great Falls where efforts to make a newspaper pay expenses, to say nothing of profits, the daily borrowing of a paper by consent of the owner, is a most contemptible exhibition of miserly stinginess, but to almost daily steal a copy from a neighbor's door is not only contemptible but is also, as I understand, nothing less than larceny, punishable by imprisonment. The few, and I trust they are few, who think so little of a paper that they will not pay the pittance asked for them, still think enough of it to steal it, not even having the grace to return it after reading it, are nothing more nor less than leeches upon the public, sponging out of this one and that one whatever they can get and are indifferent to everyone's good or interests but their own which latter they serve regardless of law, right or the principles of the golden rule. There are a few such in Great Falls, and when the full extent of their underhanded and pre-eminently contemptible tricks are fully understood, the success of their plans will come suddenly to an end. I will close by adding that I shall expect my paper to be left at my door as before, and failing to find the same shall take such action as may appear most likely to be effective. W. B. BURLEIGH.

[The righteous wrath of Mr. Burleigh is commendable, and he certainly goes for the class of persons that the newspaper publishers of Great Falls would like a chance to prosecute. The TRIBUNE offers a reward of $10 for the arrest and conviction of parties found guilty of stealing the same.—Ed.]

Death of E. W. Allen.

Belt Mountain Miner: "This camp was shocked Friday morning at the news that E. W. Allen, proprietor of the Allen house, had died at 11:10 Thursday night. About two weeks ago he had a severe spell of erysipelas with which he was confined to his bed for several days. He recovered from this attack, however, and was again at work in the hotel. On Tuesday he stood out in the snow sawing wood with carpet slippers on his feet and as a result took a severe cold which settled in the region of his heart. He was out of his bed several times on Wednesday and no one thought him seriously sick. A short time before he died he walked from his room into one adjoining and lay down on the bed. He was suddenly seized with a paroxysm of pain and before that had passed away death ensued. The cause of his death is supposed to have been paralysis of the heart."

Mr. Allen was formerly a resident of Great Falls and his friends here will regret his untimely taking off.

United States Marshal's Office.

Marshal Furay has returned from Deer Lodge, where he struck a young bizzard Monday. He brought with him Dennis Rice, a colored man, who was bound over by the United States commissioner at Missoula for selling whisky to Indians. Deputy Marshal W. F. Parker will leave for Great Falls today to bring George Crane to Helena. Crane cashed a $65 money order at Great Falls which belonged to another man of the same name.

There are now five United States prisoners in the county jail awaiting the action of the grand jury, which meets in March. After this the marshal intends to keep all of his prisoners here until led.—Independent.
