

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE.

VOLUME VIII. GREAT FALLS, MONTANA, SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1891. NUMBER 79

THE PRIDE OF THE EMERALD ISLE.

This is not the land of the shamrock, but the shamrock thrives here in the memories of those who love it just as completely as it flourishes in its native soil. Though it is not cultivated here, it is not difficult to find some consolation for its absence. The realities of life in America are as quick and active as they are in the Emerald Isle, but they are less severe and cruel and they afford a wider scope for a display of that courage and enterprise which have counted so materially to the welfare of Columbia. This enterprise finds outlets in all directions. Those who are loyal to the memory of St. Patrick and to the sentiments which the shamrock recalls, find in the land of their adoption at least an equal chance with others to win fame and fortune here. They are handicapped by no special restrictions and harassed by no tyrannical interference. All they ask is an opportunity, and what we give them when we offer our

THE MAULIFFE-DALY FIGHT

It Takes Place in the Vicinity of Harrisburg, Pa., and is Largely Attended.

DALY IS SEVERELY PUNISHED BY JOE.

The California Senatorship Carried Off by Charles H. Felton—He Received 73 Votes.

Tom Power Gives Us Another Sample of What He Would Do in Reference to the Free Coinage of Silver.

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 19.—The much talked of prize fight between Joe McAuliffe of New York and Jim Daly of Philadelphia took place in the vicinity of this city tonight. Nearly 300 spectators witnessed the mill. Terms of the fight were that Jim Daly should stay six rounds for a purse of $1,000. This he managed to do. Although he took a lot of punishment, he was almost as fresh as his burly opponent at the finish. It is only fair to McAuliffe to state that he broke the first knuckle on his left hand in the fourth round, and was incapable of hitting the Quaker city man as hard as he might have otherwise done.

Round 1—McAuliffe fainted with his left and drove his right into Daly's wind, the latter retaliating with an upper cut which just missed his mark. The upper cut from the New Yorker fell short and then Daly rushed at his man swinging to his neck.

Round 2—The Quaker city boy cleverly dodged a hard swing but caught another in the face. Both sparred for wind and then Joe drove his man to the ropes. McAuliffe was mad and sending out his right, smashed Daly on the nose and drew first blood.

Round 3—McAuliffe opened up by giving his opponent a rib-roaster and knocking him down. He was soon up and hit Joe a hard one in the wind. The round ended by Joe and Daly clinching.

Round 4—Hot fighting was now beginning to tell, although each continued to slug. McAuliffe knocked Daly squarely off his feet in this round.

Round 5—McAuliffe drove Jim to the ropes, where some indignating was done, each catching a couple of hot ones. Daly was knocked down by right and left hands, which hit him in the wind and ribs.

No. 6. Daly hit Joe a hard one in the neck, the New Yorker attempting two heavy swings, which were harmless. The round clinched and Daly ducked. Daly gave McAuliffe a smash over the heart and was knocked down, but got up again second time. Another clinch, after which McAuliffe tried to push Daly down but failed. Time being called soon after, under the terms of the meeting, Daly was declared the winner. Neither man is much marked.

THE CALIFORNIA SENATORSHIP.

Charles H. Felton Elected on the First Ballot Yesterday.

SACRAMENTO, March 19.—Charles H. Felton was elected United States senator on the first ballot today or the eighth taken in joint convention of the legislature. The ballot on first roll-call stood: Estee 40, Felton 40, Johnston 4, Heacock 4, Blanchard 1. Twenty-three democratic votes were cast for White. Before the vote was announced a number of changes were made to Felton, and finally it became a stampee, which, once begun, was complete, and the ballot was announced as follows: Estee 15, Felton 73, Johnston 1, Heacock 4, White (democrat) 24. The convention then adjourned sine die.

ANOTHER FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Two Lives Lost and Twenty-two Families Made Homeless.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Two lives were lost and twenty-two families made homeless by fire tonight, which gutted a six story double tenement at 215 east Twenty-ninth street. The dead are: Peter Cryan, aged 50 and his sister Mary Cryan, aged 55.

Parnell's Agents Hold Their First Meeting.

NEW YORK, March 19.—O'Kelly, Redmond and Harrison, the agents of Parnell, who arrived here last Sunday, tonight addressed their initial meeting to raise money for Parnell and his followers. About 2,500 or 3,000 were present. Resolutions endorsing Parnell were adopted and a collection was taken up.

Joe Conrad is sole agent for Dr. Warner's celebrated Corsets at all prices and all styles.

POWER HEARD FROM.

He Ventilates His Views on the Free Coinage Question.

NEW YORK, March 19.—United States Senator Thomas C. Power of Montana yesterday said that he thought silver advocates in the last congress made a mistake in trying to adopt a measure providing for the absolute free coinage of silver. The senator was rated one of the most ardent of silver men, because his own state was full of bullion owners. He said yesterday, however, he did not think it was sound policy to jump too quickly to the free coinage of the white metal. "It will not do for three silver-producing states to attempt to dictate the financial policy of the whole country," he said. "Colorado, Montana and Idaho, of course want to dispose of their silver at the best possible prices. I think the rest of the country is willing to act fairly with these states if they do not ask too much. I do not believe it is best to adopt free coinage while bullion is worth only $1 per ounce. When legislation is enacted that will advance the price of bullion, which, I hope, will soon come; free coinage will follow naturally."

Senator Power is at the Fifth Avenue hotel nursing a wrist, sprained about a week ago, as he was alighting from his carriage.

The Cattle Court-Martial.

OMAHA, March 19.—The first witness called in the court-martial of Capt. Cattleley this morning was Gen. Wheaton. He testified that Cattleley did not accompany the command into the field from Pine Ridge, and the witness did not believe him capable of commanding under fire. The captain had been once court-martialed for cowardice in the face of Indians in Idaho and found guilty, but the finding of the court had been reversed by President Hayes and Cattleley had been reinstated. The accused cross-examined Gen. Wheaton and asked if he (Wheaton) had not been once court-martialed. After some objections and a lively wrangle Gen. Wheaton replied that he had never been arrested, and Train Capt. Cattleley then asked the court to send for witnesses by which he could impeach Gen. Wheaton's testimony and show that they would not believe him under oath. The court refused to comply with the request. Lieut. Turner testified that the officers of the Second regiment believed Cattleley unreliable and not capable of commanding a company of parade ground. Adjourned till tomorrow.

An Engine House Burned.

HOCHEMUS, Mich., March 19.—The engine-house of the Franklin mine burned last night. Loss, about $30,000; insurance, $17,000. Six hundred men are thrown out of employment. It will take several months to repair the machinery.

Murder in the Second Degree.

ST. PAUL, March 19.—The trial of the Italian, Radino, charged with the murder of Binder, resulted tonight in a verdict of murder in the second degree.

Mine Explosion at Butte.

BUTTE, March 19.—By an explosion of giant powder at the the Elda mine this morning, Walter Trestal was fatally injured and Jos. Stewart and Ray Crum almost smothered.

Telephone Companies Must Pay.

MADISON, Wis., March 19.—The senate today passed the bill requiring telephone companies to pay an annual license fee of 2 1/2 per cent. on their gross earnings.

The Tongue of a Toad.

The toad, which is one product of the tadpole, has some wonderful peculiarities. Did you ever see this clumsy and rather lazy looking hopper in the act of catching a fly? He darts his tongue out several inches so quickly that you can hardly see it, and with all its activity the fly hasn't a ghost of a chance to escape. How does the toad do this?

You may have heard the saying that a toad's tongue is hanging in the middle, and thus wags at both ends. In the case of the toad the tongue is hung exactly the reverse of the human tongue—that is to say, the fastening is at the front of the jaw, while the loose end hangs backward to the throat. Now, when the lazy toad sights a fly he works his way up to it slowly until he gets within range for his tongue-shooter. Then he suddenly opens his mouth, the tongue flies out like a line from a fishing pole, it strikes the fly and a glutinous substance on the tongue holds the victim until it is dumped into the toad's capacious mouth.—Exchange.

A Good Word for the Silent Steed.

Scriffler—This bicycle craze is going to develop a race of bright novellists. Pedalman—Why? Scriffler—Well, I have noticed that in many cases the bicycle makes its rider baggard.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

The death of the ocean we care not to know, Nor the height of Mount Helens' peak; We care not the death of Grand Missouri's flow, Nor the mine where the gold miners seek; We care not how deep is the bars of a well, Nor the depth of a potting "good-bye"; But the depth of the mud on the streets of Great Falls Makes a woman want wings for to fly. —MASHLEN POETRY.

CHARGED WITH INCOMPETENCE

The Captain of the Lost Steamship, Utopia, Unfit for the Position He Occupied.

TERRIBLE ACCOUNTS GIVEN BY DIVERS.

The Hatches and Chartroom of the Utopia Closely Packed With the Bodies of the Unfortunate Passengers.

The Sailors of the British Squadron Receive Unstinted Praise for Their Heroism.

GIBRALTAR, March 19.—Captain McKrague of the Utopia has been arrested for wrongful acts, improper conduct, negligence and mismanagement. He was released on bail. The accounts given by the divers who are engaged in work on the wreck of the terrible sights which they have witnessed on the vessel still further increases the appalling character of the catastrophe. These men in describing the horrible scenes say they found the hatches and chartroom of the Utopia closely packed with the bodies of the unfortunate passengers who had become wedged into an almost solid mass in their frantic rush to reach the decks of the steamer after she had crushed into the ram of the ironclad. The positions in which the bodies were found show the poor people made a terrible struggle for life, and that desperate attempts were made to escape from the doomed vessel as the sea came rushing in through the rent in her side. Owing to the lack of accommodations in the naval hospital here many of the crew and emigrants who were rescued have been compelled to encamp on the Glacis. The military are closely patrolling the shore for the purpose of rescuing any more bodies that may be washed in by the waves. The inhabitants of the place who from the shore witnessed the horrifying scene of hundreds of persons being swallowed up in the raging waters of the bay, are unstinted in their praise of the great gallantry displayed by the men of the British squadron anchored here, who boldly hurried to the rescue of passengers without stopping to consider the risk they ran in launching their small boats on the angry sea and in the teeth of a heavy gale. Much praise is also bestowed on the men of the yacht Resolute, who also manned a boat and succeeded in saving 16 persons, who, but for this brave and timely assistance, would soon have given up the struggle and sank to the bottom. The two blue jackets of the British ironclad Inconceivable, who, while engaged in the work of rescue, were drowned by their boat, the steam pinnace, drifting on the rocks, were buried here today with full naval honors. The coffins were covered with wreaths of flowers which bore tribute to the self-sacrificing heroism of the two sailors. FIVE HUNDRED AND SIXTY-TWO LOST. The revised official count of the lost and saved passengers and crew of the Utopia shows that there were 880 souls on board when she ran on the Anson. Of those the saved number 319 and lost 562.

Will Apply Retaliatory Measures.

NEW YORK, March 19.—A Washington special to the Mail and Express says: "President Harrison has determined upon summary measures to relieve American pork which is the subject of much German opposition. Minister Phelps has been notified by the state department at the request of President Harrison to demand of the German authorities that the embargo be at once removed else the president will proceed to exercise the authority given him by the last congress and by proclamation close our ports against German imports."

He Was Not Tascott.

ABERDEEN, S. D., March 19.—Barnes, the alleged Tascott, was confronted this morning by Clark, the Chicago witness, who said the resemblance was remarkable, but that Barnes was too old for Tascott, his face long, and his mustache unlike. He was positive that Barnes was not Tascott and thereupon Barnes was discharged.
